

Everyone Should Be Counted in the Census and Help Weymouth

Weymouth

START
The New Story
TODAY

Gazette

WHOLE NUMBER 2775

AND TRANSCRIPT

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

VOL. LIV NO. 6

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1920

PRICE SIX CENTS

Memorial Town Hall Report Endorsed

The Memorial Town Hall was endorsed Wednesday evening at an open meeting of the Weymouth Board of Trade which was held in the Clapp Memorial Building and was more largely attended than usual. By special invitation the members of the town committee, the architect, the Selectmen and others were present.

Frederick Humphrey, the president of the Board of Trade was in the chair, and told of the objects of the meeting, to seek light relative to the proposed Town Hall.

Bradford Hawes, the secretary of the committee on the new memorial, was then introduced, and read the report which will appear in print in the forth-coming Town Report, which is printed in full below:

Report of the committee appointed by the Town to consider the erection of a Memorial Town Hall in honor of those men who have gone from this Town to serve in the military or naval forces of the United States in the several wars in which the Nation has been engaged.

At meeting of the town held March

3, 1919, this committee was appointed for the above purpose and was authorized to have plans prepared for such a building as the result of its deliberations determined to be suitable for the purpose named. George L. Barnes was chosen chairman and Bradford Hawes secretary of the committee.

The committee was unanimously of the opinion that the time was ripe for an undertaking of this nature. About eight hundred of the young men of the town served in the army and navy of the United States in the war of 1861 to 1865 which resulted in the preservation of the Union. Several men from our town served the country in the Spanish war of 1898. About seven hundred and fifty were in the military, naval and aerial forces of our country in the late European war.

They entered the service well knowing that they might be called upon to make the supreme sacrifice for the welfare of our country and for the good of humanity throughout the civilized world.

What more fitting tribute to their devotion can we erect than a noble structure through the portals of which every person when he passes must be reminded of the service of those who, on land and sea and in the air, have struggled—many of them even unto death—for the making of a better world and, we trust, for a still more glorious future for the land we love.

On May 27, 1913, our Town Hall was destroyed by fire. Since that time we have been without any suitable place in which to hold our town meetings. Our accommodations for the office work of the several departments are fast becoming inadequate. This committee feels that it is little short of a disgrace that one of the oldest towns of the Commonwealth, now with a population of more than fourteen thousand and a valuation of $13,600,000, and within six miles of the metropolis of New England, should longer content itself without a municipal building suitable for its needs. In view of the above facts the committee was unanimously of the opinion that the time had arrived when such a building should be erected and that the memorial feature should be made prominent. We early in our deliberations found that the assistance of an architect was desirable, if not indispensable.

The services of Harold F. Kellogg of Brookline were secured in an advisory capacity and for perfecting plans, and he entered with enthusiasm into the work.

We have had joint meetings with the members of the Planning Board and are assured of their hearty co-operation without reservation, except that the building shall be of generous proportions and becoming dignity, and that the ground shall be of ample area. We also have had hearings to which the several patriotic organizations of the town and the various town officers were invited and at which we received numerous valuable suggestions.

We submit the accompanying plans, prepared by Mr. Kellogg for the consideration of the town's people. These plans are subject to minor changes in arrangement and designation of the rooms. A brief description of the plans is as follows:

The building should be placed in a commanding position with a fore-court or Court of Honor, in which war relics may be set up. This approach should be used in connection with the Memorial Hall in the building, as the whole building is in itself a memorial. Ample steps do more towards increasing the monumental effect of the building than probably any other landscape feature.

From this fore-court, we enter, through the vestibule, the Memorial Hall itself. The character of this room should typify the character of the whole building. It has on each side a colonnade, and at either end a monumental staircase to the Veterans Association Hall directly above. The walls of this hall will be treated in a monumental way, leaving adequate surface for bronze tablets and wall paintings, which may be added from time to time.

The main Assembly Hall, where the town meetings will be held, is directly back of the Memorial Hall and is entered by three doors. It has also four means of egress in addition. This hall will seat 1100 on the floor, and has on the front portion of it a balcony seating 400 more. It is the opinion of this Committee that this hall will take care of the voters of the town for many years to come. At the furthest end of the hall is a stage with dressing rooms on each side.

Grouped around the Memorial Hall are the town offices. Thus the significance of this hall will be predated by every building.

By opening these doors they can be turned into one room for large hearings. The Selectmen have their own toilets and coat closets. On the other side of the hearing room, are the Town Accountant's and Treasurer's offices with adjacent vaults. The Collector's office is at the left of the main entrance, and the Clerk's on the right. Each of these are accessible to the vaults. The Water Board have a large public office and a private office. The Superintendent of Streets shares an office with the Engineer, leaving an unassigned office for future development. There is also a committee room for small hearings and committee meetings.

The second floor has in the central portion a two-story room dedicated to the Veterans Associations of Weymouth. It has a small ante-room to be used either as a coat or dressing room and has four means of egress. The Assessors' office is on the left, and has its own vault. On the right are

(Continued on Page 5)

Trains Stalled All Night on Railroad

Only one or two trains were run over the South Shore branch yesterday because of the snow storm that raged all day.

Trains were stalled during the day, and all night the Quincy avenue and Commercial street crossings were blocked by a train with two engines. Those who were on the train stayed all night either at the depot, the Tufts Library or some hospitable house.

Some of the street railway lines were opened last evening by the huge snow plough, but no attempt was made to run cars then or this morning.

Business generally was suspended both yesterday and today. No mail has arrived at the Weymouth post-office since the first mail of Thursday.

No Boston papers have arrived since Thursday morning.

Yesterday's snow storm was the toughest of the season, though not as cold as last Saturday, when zero temperature prevailed all day.

Yesterday electric cars were conspicuous by their absence.

Few trains were run and were hours late.

Mail service was crippled by non arrival of mail.

The food supply is threatened because of the freight strike and the storm.

Some of the Gazette help was unable to reach the office, and it was quite an effort to get the paper out this week. Some news was too late for insertion.

WEYMOUTH POST

With the recently installed commander, Thomas F. Coleman presiding, Weymouth Post American Legion held a meeting in Music hall, South Weymouth, Monday evening, with a large number of members attending. A resolution favoring the Memorial Town Hall for the boys making the supreme sacrifice, was passed by a unanimous vote. It was also voted to call a special meeting to be held at the High School Thursday night, to take steps for the formation of a ladies auxiliary to the Post. At the close of the business session boxing bouts and wrestling exhibitions were a part of the entertainment, and refreshments were served.

At the State convention of the American Legion in Boston last Saturday, Weymouth Post was represented by Thomas F. McCarthy, Thomas F. Coleman, Russell F. Riley, Cornelius Condrick and Mrs. J. Walter Howley. The Root constitution was adopted. National Commander D'Olier addressed the convention.

Next Tuesday is the date for the dance for the benefit of the relief fund.

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

Ward Caucuses

Notice is hereby given that there will be a Caucus of and for the Republican voters in the following places

MONDAY FEBRUARY 16, 1920

at 7.45 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of selecting candidates to be presented for nomination for the Town offices to be nominated at the general caucus.

Ward 1—Engine House Hall.
Ward 2—Grand Army Hall.
Ward 3—Engine House Hall.
Ward 4—Engine House Hall.
Ward 5—Engine House Hall.

REPUBLICAN Town Caucus

Notice is hereby given that there will be a Caucus of and for the Republican voters in the Town of Weymouth, Massachusetts, in the Grand Army Hall, East Weymouth (Commercial Street opposite Station Street)

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1920

at 7.45 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the several offices to be balloted for in the Annual Town Election, March 8, 1920 as follows:

A Town Clerk, a Town Treasurer, five Selectmen, five Overseers of the Poor, two Assessors for three years, a collector of taxes, three Auditors, two School Committee for three years, one Park Commissioner for three years, a Tree Warden, three Trustees of Tufts Library for three years, one Water Commissioner for three years, one Commissioner for the Sinking Fund of the James Humphrey School House for three years, one Member of the Board of Health for three years, ten Constables, and any other officers, and for the transaction of any other business which may properly come before said caucus.

This Caucus is called under the provisions of Chapter 11 of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts and amendments thereto, and will be called to order by the chairman of the Republican Town Committee.

Per orator

Republican Town Committee,
John P. Lovell, Chairman,
Burgess H. Spinney, Secretary.

OPERA HOUSE

EAST WEYMOUTH

Mat. 2.30. Sat., Feb. 7 Eve. 6.30 & 8.30

TOM MIX in "The FEUD"
HAROLD LLOYD in "The Captain Kid kids"
Pathe News Literary Digest

Mat. 4.00 Mon., Feb. 9 Evening, 7.45

Charlie Chaplin

— IN —

"A Day's Pleasure"

Forest Turner--Maurice Tourneur
PRESENTS

"VICTORY"

Wed., Feb. 11

Eve. at 7.45

WILLIAM FARNUM

IN

"Wings of the Morning"

ALHAMBRA THEATRE

QUINCY

Continuous 1.30 P. M. to 10.30 P. M.

1.30 to 5 P. M. 11c 5 to 10.30 P. M. 17c (Includes War Tax)
(Air Changed Every 30 Seconds)

Thursday—Friday—Saturday
FEB. 5, 6, 7

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ
Alhambra Topical Review.

MARGUERITE CLARK
"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch"

Arbuckle Comedy
"THE DESERT HERO"

MUTT & JEFF
FORD—Educational Weekly

Harry Morey

"The Birth of a Soul"

Monday—Tuesday—Wednesday
Feb. 9, 10, 11

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

CHAS. RAY

"The Clod Hopper"

ETHEL CLAYTON

"Men, Women and Money"

OUTING CHESTER

News Weekly

Vitagraph Comedy
"RUBES AND ROBBERS"

QUINCY THEATRE

Formerly The KINCAIDE
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

CHANGE OF BILL

Mondays

Wednesdays and

Fridays

Feb. 6 and 7

Nazimova

"Stronger Than Death"

A Romance of India—the mysterious land of purple shadows.

"The Black Secret"

PATHE NEWS

Feb 9 and 10

THEDA BARA

Kathleen Mavourneen

The Sweetest Irish Drama ever written.

THE SPEED

A Truex Comedy

PATHE NEWS

Feb. 11 and 12

Robert Warwick

"Told in the Hills"

A Paramount Art-Craft Picture

The Speak Easy

Sennett Comedy

Burton Holmes' Travel Picture

BATES OPERA HOUSE

WEYMOUTH AND BRAINTREE

Sat., Feb. 7

Fred Stone in "Johnny Get Your Gun"

AN ARTCRAFT PICTURE

Episode No. 5

Pearl White in "The Black Secret"

PATHE NEWS

HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

Tues., Feb. 10

Enid Bennett in "Law of Men"

KINOGRAM NEWS

COMEDY

DeNeill's 5-piece Orchestra

Thurs., Feb. 12

To be omitted until after Lent

Sat., Feb. 14

"The Romance of Happy Valley"

A GRIFFITH MASTER PICTURE

HEARST NEWS

CHRISTIE COMEDY

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

Dancing Every Tuesday and Saturday Evening during Lent

1—The old seaport of Flensburg in the part of Schleswig-Holstein which Germany must return to Denmark. 2—American blue jackets taking part in the dedication of the site for the Louisiana monument on the Vicksburg battlefield. 3—Mrs. George Bass of Chicago (left) and Mrs. May E. Foy of California, the only women on the committee of arrangements for the Democratic National convention.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Idea of Russia for the Russians to Govern as They Please Gains Headway.

GOMPERS SCORES BOLSHEVISM

Germany Objects to Extradition of Accused Officers and Soldiers—Jugo-Slavs Reject Adriatic Compromise—Edwin T. Meredith Appointed Secretary of Agriculture.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Russia—including Siberia—for the Russians, to do with as they please and govern as they please, is the slogan that seems likely to win in the vast realm that the czars once ruled. And though just now the bolsheviks are the controlling faction in almost all of European Russia, and in much of Siberia, they are discarding much of their "bolshevikness" and other factions are coming around to the belief that, if they cease fighting, the most radical leaders will speedily lose their power and the country will settle down under a liberal government and will be able to make peace with the rest of the world. In southern Europe the Don Cossacks are still holding out, though with waning chances of success. In Siberia, when the Czech forces have departed, the liberal Russians will find themselves opposed only by the reactionaries who have the support of Japan. The latest cables from Vladivostok tell of an abortive revolution there by soldiers who feared they were to be disarmed by the Japanese troops, and therefore started an uprising against the liberals who had planned to take over the government peacefully. The rebels were taken prisoner by General Rozanoff's student officers, after which Rozanoff proclaimed amnesty for all political prisoners and let the peasant prisoners go home with their arms. The Siberians, it is said, believe that their country will join hands with the Moscow soviet government as soon as the Japanese have left, and that bolshevism will then rapidly disappear. How soon the Japanese troops will depart is not known. The American evacuation is already under way.

Delayed dispatches from South Russia say the Cossack federation which met in Ekaterinodar decided that they would continue to fight the bolsheviks unless their independence were recognized. They wanted Denikine to remain as their commander in chief with the understanding that he should have no voice in civil affairs. This proposition he probably rejected, as later dispatches said he and his staff had taken refuge on a British vessel at Constantinople. Meanwhile the bolsheviks moving westward from the Caspian were threatening the Cossacks in the flank and rear.

Admiral Kolchak, it develops, surrendered to the Siberian revolutionists on the advice of General Janin, the Czech commander, in order to avert a fight in which the Czechs might have been annihilated. Kolchak is to be tried by court-martial. Russian officers under Semenov's command are so enraged against the Czechs that they have formed a league whose slogan is "Have Janin's blood." In England organized labor continues to urge complete and immediate peace with soviet Russia, at the same time disclaiming any belief in the soundness of the political and social theories on which the soviet government is based.

Realizing how bolshevism propaganda in America is imperiling the American Federation of Labor, its president, Samuel Gompers, has come out with an article in which he condemns bolshevism "completely, finally and for all time." He thinks that the propaganda which emanates from those who say they are quite free from Russian influences and Russian pay is especially dangerous, and he decries their arguments that we should not pass judgment on bolshevism until we know more about it and see more of its results. Mr. Gompers addressed himself particularly to trades unionists, and he tells them that the bolsheviks have split up the reserve funds, of trade unions, throttled the labor press, killed labor organizations, split up trade unions as a class and put down strikes by force of arms and by executions. The constitution of soviet Russia, he adds, provides for and enforces compulsory labor. It may be this pronouncement by the great labor leader will have a beneficial effect on those union labor men of this country who have been submitting too much to the leadership of disloyal radicals; but there are signs that Mr. Gompers' influence is declining somewhat.

Although the German government, as such, is ostensibly doing all it can to carry out the terms of the treaty, many of the individual members of it are openly in sympathy with the general sentiment throughout the country against the surrender of officers and others for trial by the allies on charges growing out of their misdeeds during the war. Great mass meetings to protest against such action are being held in Berlin, and while the government does not officially countenance them, it does not prevent them and various high officials have declared that they will not take part in the surrender of the accused. The Ebert government has sent a note to the allies urging them to abandon their demands in this matter on the ground that execution of article 228 of the treaty would certainly cause political and economic troubles in Germany that would seriously hamper production. It suggests that the trials of the accused persons be held in Germany with the participation of allied representatives.

What will be done in the matter of Holland's refusal to extradite the former kaiser is not settled. The juristic experts at the supreme council took up the study of the case anew and it is believed the council dispatched another note to the Dutch last week.

Probably connected with the agitation against the extradition of officers and soldiers was the attempt on the life of Mathias Erzberger, German minister of finance, who signed the armistice terms. He was seriously wounded by a student. The incident was succeeded by rumors of a coming monarchist uprising and Minister of Defense Noske filled the strategic positions in Berlin with troops. The revolt failed to materialize.

The troublesome Adriatic problem is not yet solved. In response to the ultimatum of the supreme council, the Jugo-Slav government sent a note rejecting the compromise that had been offered by Italy and agreed to by the other great powers. The reply from Belgrade was couched in conciliatory terms, however, and left the way open for further discussion. The suggested solution was based on the pact of London, and the Jugo-Slavs say that as this treaty was secret they cannot consider a solution based on a pact which they have never had an opportunity to examine and discuss. They suggest a new basis of compromise along the lines of President Wilson's proposals. Indeed, all through this quarrel the Jugo-Slavs have justified their stand by that taken by Mr. Wilson, and they still seem to think that our president can enforce his views on Great Britain, France and Italy, though just how this can be done it is not easy to see.

So far Hungary has declined to sign the peace terms submitted by the allies. She says she cannot fulfill the demands made, and cannot agree to the loss of territory. Premier Huszar, addressing a meeting of women Wednesday, declared that Hungary would be a monarchy, without doubt, and that the new king would be chosen immediately after the national assembly convenes. In the recent elections the national Christian party was overwhelmingly successful, the socialists declining to vote.

President Wilson, in a letter written to Secretary Glass, has made an appeal to congress to pass the bill granting credits of $150,000,000 for Poland, Austria and Armenia to alleviate conditions in those countries. He says: "It is unthinkable to me that we should withhold from those people, who are in such mental and physical distress, the assistance which can be rendered by making available on credit a small proportion of our exportable surplus of food which would alleviate the situation."

Prospects of agreement in the senate on the peace treaty dwindled still further last week. The bipartisan committee, unofficial, was looked to by the more hopeful for a solution of the tangle, but the chances were not good. Article ten and the Monroe doctrine clause were the sticking points. Senator Hitchcock, peeved by the continued delay, threatened to take the whole matter before the senate in open session, but later said he would not do that until all hope of settlement by private negotiation had failed. Other senators said nothing would be gained by throwing the treaty back into the senate in the near future.

The president has "promoted" Secretary of Agriculture Houston to succeed Mr. Glass as secretary of the treasury, and has appointed Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa to the place Mr. Houston will vacate. The changes will take effect as soon as Mr. Glass is sworn in as senator. The new secretary of agriculture is a well-known farmer and a business man, the editor of Successful Farmer, before establishing that paper. He is president of the Farmers' Trust Co. of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank and was one of the executive advisers of the treasury department appointed in 1917. He has been one of his first undertakings is to get the department of agriculture to try to work out some means of getting crops to market "without too much lost motion." There has been evidence that Mr. Houston was not very popular with the farmers, and the change is counted on by the leaders of the Democratic party to restore good relations between the farmers and the administration.

It was said in Washington that Secretary of the Interior Lane desires to retire from the cabinet in the near future. There has been no suggestion as to his successor.

Three favorite sons dropped out of the race for the Republican presidential nomination last week. They were Governors Goodrich of Indiana, Sprout of Pennsylvania and Coolidge of Massachusetts. The managers of the Wood, Lowden and Johnson booms renewed their activity in the chase for delegates. The boom for Hoover, though still restricted, gave indications of early expansion. In that connection a statement by Secretary Daniels to a graduating class in Philadelphia is interesting. Said he:

"I can tell you who the next president is going to be. Do you want me to tell you who he is? I don't know whether he belongs to my party or yours. If he has one drop of reactionary blood he will not have a chance of election. No old-fashioned politician will do. He must be progressive and meet the new conditions."

When reporters asked Secretary Daniels whom he meant, he smiled. Asked if the name of the man he had in mind has been included among those suggested as presidential candidates, Mr. Daniels replied: "We will not discuss that."

The senate committee on military affairs voted, 10 to 5, to retain universal military training in the army reorganization bill, and the measure was formally reported to the senate by Chairman Wadsworth. The bill was changed by the committee so that it provides for two training periods each year, and a youth eligible to training is permitted to select any one of the six periods immediately following his eighteenth birthday. Republican Leader Mondell in the house attacked universal military training, declaring it would cost the government a billion dollars the first year and $700,000,000 a year thereafter. Senator Wadsworth in reporting his bill showed that Mondell's estimates of the cost were greatly exaggerated.

RED CROSS LAYS PLANS FOR 1920

Substantial Sum Is to be Kept in Reserve in Case of Sudden Disaster

Out of a fund of $30,000,000 available for its work this year, the American Red Cross has set aside $15,000,000 for European relief, $13,750,000 for use at home and $1,250,000 for completing its program in Siberia.

In making public plans for carrying forward peace time activities, Dr. Farrand, head of the organization, declared that a considerable reserve must be held for emergency calls "incident to such possible events as the opening of Russia to intercourse with the United States." This determination, Dr. Farrand said, was reached after long and full consideration with government representatives in this country and Europe.

With appeals infinitely beyond its resources, and unable to count on additions to its total fund during the year, the executive committee, Dr. Farrand said, found it "both wise and necessary to consider the application of its funds so that the soundest possible sense of proportion might prevail."

All obligations to soldiers, sailors and their families must be provided for, Dr. Farrand reported, while the Red Cross must be ready at the same time to meet relief demands due to disasters.

"We are pledged," he added, "to the establishment of a peace-time program in America for which $13,750,000 will be made available. In considering this item it must be kept clearly in mind that while expenditures in this country arising directly out of the war remain high they should rapidly diminish, and while our work for establishment of peace-time undertakings will increase in some measure, this increase will be inconsiderable as compared with the reduction of war items."

THE EGYPTIAN LOTUS

(In an artificial pond.)

Proud, languid lily of the sacred Nile,
"Tis strange to see thee on our western wave,
Far from those sandy shores, that mile on mile,
Papyrus-plumed, stretch silent as the grave.

O'er dark, mysterious pool and sheltered bay,
And round deep dreaming isles thy leaves expand,
Where Alexandrian barges plow their way,
Full freighted, to the ancient Theban land.

On Karnak's lofty columns thou were seen,
And spacious Luxor's temple-palace walls,
Each royal Pharaoh's emerald queen Chose thee to deck her glittering banquet halls;

Yet thou art blossoming on this fair lake
As regally, amidst these common things,
As on the shores where Nile's soft ripples break,
As in the halls of old Egyptian kings.

Thy grace, O lotus, say by day, men's curious eyes
But he who senses thought hath probed,
Looking at thee, lately temples rise
About him, and white-robed priests,
gazing on thee,
sing lines of priests,

That chant strange incantations as they slowly pace
Dip-columned overhead, Echoes that loiter in that vast space,
Of Egypt's solemn ritual for the dead.

Aye, deeper thoughts than these, though undefined,
Wake in the quickened soul at sight of thee,
For this majestic orient faith enshrined
Man's yearning hope for immortality.

And thou wert Egypt's symbol of the power,
That under all decaying form lies hid:
The old world worshipped thee, O Lotus flower,
Then carved its sphinx and reared its pyramid.
—Arthur Wentworth Hamilton Eaton.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

There are no points of the compass on the chart of true patriotism.

All good ends can be worked out by good means. Those that can not be bad, and may be counted so at once and left alone.

While we walk through the valley of youth, its beauty, its variety, its pleasant greensward and dancing lights and shadows make us forget that it lies low. As we climb into middle age the road is steep, but we know that each step takes us nearer the sun.

Elder Ducks Pluck the Down; Later Gathered for Export

Elder ducks breed in thousands on some of the smaller islands off the coast of Iceland. The birds are so tame that they will allow anyone to stroke their feathers or lift them from their nests. This is because they are protected for the down, which is a large item of export from Iceland. The birds pluck the down from their breasts to line their nests. When these are well lined the owner of the land takes the down from the nests. The ducks take more down from their breasts, and again it is removed from the nests. For the third time the ducks pluck down from their breasts, and this time they are not disturbed till the eggs are hatched, then the remaining down is taken.—The Girls' World.

The Perfect Man.

To be perfectly proportioned a man should weigh 28 pounds for every foot of his height.

Home Town Helps

PROLONGING LIFE OF TREES

Filling Cavities With Cement Ends the Spread of Decay, and Is a Simple Operation.

Filling the cavities of trees with cement to prolong their lives is being commonly and successfully practiced. It is not only worth while in preserving fruit trees, but is also the means of saving valuable shade trees. Trees with cavities several inches deep are often cut down when, by using a little cement and sand, they could be kept alive for ten or fifteen years longer.

Of course, the cavities are small at first, but continue to get larger. They favor decay, weakening the tree.

With a knife or a chisel remove all of the decayed wood. Trim the edges of the wound smoothly with a sharp knife. Then a coat of paint or shellac should be given the outer edge of the wound. Successful growers recommend the use of creosote and coal tar to disinfect the inside of the cavity after it has been thoroughly cleaned out. This may be applied with a brush.

The cement may then be put in immediately. A good mixture may be made of one part cement to two parts of clean sand.

After the cement and sand have been stirred a few minutes add enough water to make the mixture into a thick paste. Begin filling the cavity

Putting a new heart into a tree. Cement has been substituted for the "heart" and most of the body.

from the bottom and tamp the material thoroughly. The work may be done on a warm day, and cement must be protected from freezing at least forty-eight hours. Remember that warmth and moisture are essential for the uniform and rapid hardening of concrete.

UNEVEN PAINT COATINGS BAD

Great Care Should Always Be Taken to Have Them of Equal Moisture Resistance.

Coatings of equal moisture resistance should be applied to all surfaces of a wood product which would give dissatisfaction if it were to warp in service. Tests at the forest products laboratory, Madison, Wis., have shown that even when wood is properly kiln dried, no coating entirely prevents it from picking up or giving off moisture and, consequently, from swelling and shrinking under the influence of varying atmospheric conditions.

Varnish, shellac, and other moisture-resistant finishes merely decrease the rate at which the moisture changes in wood occur. The higher the grade and the more coats applied, the slower will be the moisture changes.

Unequal coatings on opposite surfaces of wooden articles cause unequal rates of change in moisture content and hence unequal shrinkage on the two sides of the piece. The result is that the wood tends to cup or twist out of shape.

Planting Memorial Trees.

Planting of trees in honor of heroes who gave their lives in the late war is becoming a favorite method of perpetuating the memory of these men. In Cleveland, O., May 30, Memorial day will be made memorable by the dedication of Liberty row, which will extend for nine miles and will contain 694 trees each planted in memory of a gold star hero of Cleveland.

The trees will be called Victory oaks and each will contain a tablet bearing the name of a soldier, and the date and place of his death.

Do Away With the Billboard.

Signboards more than ever are becoming a nuisance on account of their increasing size and number. Our roadsides are boarded up with great signs in flashy colors. Just as a traveler along roadways reaches a point where a fine view is expected a glaring sign completely obstructs the view. It is exasperating to have a merchant intrude and force attention to his business on an individual at a time and place where it is not wanted. No good salesman conducts himself in this manner.—Exchange.

CLUB and SOCIAL

—The Miami Florida Herald of Jan. 27 has an extended report of an interesting meeting of Everglades chapter, D. A. R., of that city held at the estate of the regent, Mrs. E. G. Sewall. Among the guests were Mrs. R. H. Cunningham of Louisville, Kentucky, former National vice president. Susannah Tufts chapter of this town was represented by Mrs. Harriett Bachelder, Mrs. W. B. Clapp, Mrs. Ella C. Richards, Mrs. Herbert Goodspeed, Miss Lucy Crane and Miss Harriett Nash, all of whom are spending the winter at Miami.

—The engagement has been announced of Miss Ruth A. Wheeler of Fairhaven, to Frank E. Loud, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Loud of Torrey street.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Linnehan and daughter Helen, of Pond street, South Weymouth, attended the Boston Lodge of Elks grand charity ball at the Copley Plaza on Monday evening. Mr. Linnehan was a member of the reception committee of which Lieutenant Governor Channing Cox was chairman. During the evening Miss Helen gave selections of fancy dancing.

—The Weymouth King's Daughters Union will hold their quarterly meeting at the Congregational church, East Weymouth, Monday evening, Feb. 9, at 7.45.

—The social club of the Union Congregational church held its first meeting of the year in the vestry Wednesday evening. A supper was served followed by a play entitled "A Pick-Up Dinner" and a one-act play "1750-1920", in charge of Miss Dorothy Avery.

—The engagement of Joseph Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Sullivan of Main street, and Miss Harriet E. Arnold of North Abington, is announced.

—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Torrey of Pleasant street celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary at their home Monday, January 23, with a number of guests present. Many gifts were received and music and games enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

OLD COLONY CLUB

Lincoln Day will be observed by the club at its next meeting Feb. 12 in the Fog Opera House. Mrs. Elliot Scudder is in charge of the children's entertainment by home talent. Cake sale.

On Feb. 11, Mrs. Maybin Brown and Mrs. Arthur Taylor will be delegates from the club to the federation meeting in Revere. Bills of importance will be voted upon at that time.

MONDAY CLUB

The Monday Club met in the Masonic Temple, Feb. 2, at 2.30, with Mrs. Jewell, the president, presiding. There was community singing with Mrs. Worster as pianist.

A very fine entertainment followed when Miss Evelyn Nadell rendered several beautiful piano selections.

Mrs. Grace M. Poole of Brockton, who was the speaker of the afternoon, spoke on Current Events at home and abroad. The Radicals and the Socialists, different bills before Congress, the return of the railroads to private ownership, why the country went dry, the duty of woman as a voter, the signing of the Peace Treaty, the first meeting of the League of Nations, German Commerce, the different governments in Russia, the new President of France, the Japan-China problem: all of these subjects were presented to the club in a very intelligent manner and gave the members a better insight to these knotty problems.

A social hour followed, Mrs. Arthur Bryant hostess, assisted by Mrs. Fred Alden, Mrs. F. P. Virgin, Mrs. F. C. Aborn and Mrs. G. A. Walker.

The whist party to be held Feb. 9 will be in the Pythian hall at 2.30 instead of the Special Aid rooms.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Landry celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home, 303 Middle street, last Friday evening. Guests were present from Boston, Quincy, Braintree, Dedham, and the Weymouths. Mrs. Landry before her marriage was Miss Annie Mattie of Traridde, N. S., and Mr. Landry is a native of Ponquet, N. S. They were married in Quincy by Rev. Fr. Cuff. They lived in East Braintree 24 years, moving to this town a year ago. Mr. and Mrs. Landry received their friends in the costumes they were married in. There was a program of vocal and instrumental music, and a banquet was served. Mr. and Mrs. Landry were the recipients of many handsome gifts. They have two daughters and one son, Emily, who is a teacher in the Braintree schools; Margery and Walter H. Landry.

MEMORIAL TOWN HALL

(Continued from page 1)

two club rooms. The hallway, crossing the building, gives three entrances to the Veterans Association Hall and the balcony of the large Assembly Hall on the first floor.

In the basement will be offices for the Tree Warden, the Sealer of Weights and Measures, a room for the Registrars of Voters, which may be used for a polling place, and a Janitor's room. There will be a large banquet hall with its kitchen, toilets, coat rooms, etc., and a small banquet hall with its independent accessories. The boilers will be located in such a manner that the coal can be easily handled and the ashes removed. There will be two boilers, one for the offices, which are heated during the week and the other to heat the large rooms which will be heated only on occasions. This piping will be so arranged that it will be easily drained to avoid freezing. There will also be large storage space in the basement for tables, chairs, etc. As the basement has its own independent entrances, a public utility station will there be installed. There will be a large vault for the records of the town which are not in daily use.

The general design of the building will be Colonial, as Weymouth is one of the oldest towns in the Commonwealth. The facade will have two-story columns in the central portion with balconies opening from the Veterans Association Hall on the second floor. These balconies could be used for public speaking or for military reviews. The roof with its cupola is not unlike the old State House in Boston.

The materials to be used will be red Harvard brick with limestone trimmings. A slate roof of varied colors will give the attractiveness of age. The detail will be of wood. The interior will be simple but of the best finish. The only elaborate room will be the Memorial Hall, which will have a marble floor with inlays showing the seal of Weymouth.

From the start we have been confronted with the difficulty of determining the best available site. Several things had to be taken into consideration, viz: its proximity to the centre of population and of two main lines of travel; the area; the cost of acquiring; the grade from the street, which should be moderately rising and general contour; a southerly exposure if possible; the outlook from the front, and protection against undesirable developments in the neighborhood.

It is hardly to be expected that all of these advantages are to be found in any one site, but it is desirable to obtain as many of them as possible.

The committee felt that the selection of a site was of such importance that the greatest care should be exercised in determining it. To this end we secured the services of Mr. Arthur Shurtleff, an expert town planner, who has made a careful study of the town and especially of various proposed sites that have been under consideration.

At this writing a decision has not been arrived at, but in a general way we consider that the location of the building should be not more than one-fourth of a mile from the crossing of Broad Street and Middle Street.

The committee has been much gratified with the spirit of helpfulness and co-operation shown by the members of the several organizations and by the town officers who have met with us on various occasions, and hereby tender thanks for the numerous helpful suggestions received from them. It will be seen from the foregoing description that the plan contemplates the bringing of all of the town business under one roof, where any one wishing to meet any of the officers of the town may do so at any time during business hours.

The creation of a civic centre with facilities which such a building as is contemplated will provide for assemblies of one character and another, will, we feel assured, be a strong factor in bringing the citizens of the several villages into closer and more harmonious relations than have heretofore existed.

If such a result shall follow we feel that the enterprise will have been fully justified and will be well worth all that it costs.

In entering upon its work your committee felt that this is the most important movement in relation to the future development and welfare of the town which has ever been undertaken. We have therefore given it our best thought and have spared neither time nor pains to secure a result which will be acceptable to the inhabitants of the town. Seventeen meetings have been held, at several of which representative citizens have been asked in for counsel and advice. We have endeavored to consider the subject faithfully in all its bearings.

If the result of our labors shall meet the approval of our fellow citizens and be instrumental in securing the object which we seek we shall feel amply rewarded.

GEORGE L. BARNES,
RUSSELL H. WHITING,
GEORGE W. PERRY,
JOSEPH KELLEY,
BRADFORD HAWES,
Committee on Memorial Town Hall.

Mr. Hawes then introduced Architect Kellogg who explained in detail the plans and answered several questions which were asked.

Relative to proposed sites Mr. Hawes said all but three had been eliminated: one near the High school, the Cohen lot and the car barn lot opposite the Clapp Memorial Field.

Ex-Selectman E. W. Hunt considered the report a splendid one, and thought it just as well to start now. He moved, that we approve the report with recommendation.

An opportunity was given for debate, and then the motion was adopted, but there were a few in the negative.

A debate followed. One said town should first build an almshouse. John H. Whelan favored a new hall, but not on the location talked.

M. Sheehy favored location near Central Square and spoke of the future growth of the town.

Ex-Selectman Hanley would leave site in hands of committee.

Selectman Hastings said South Weymouth was not optimistic. He favored Mr. Hanley's proposition.

Selectman Fern would reduce floor space and curtail expense.

Selectman Hawes contended that the town could not longer afford to be without a Town Hall.

E. W. Hunt, President Humphrey and others spoke, and it was nearly 10 o'clock when the meeting adjourned for three weeks, date to be left to the president.

—The usual budget of North Weymouth news is in the mail bag somewhere.

—Ernest, son of Seth Arthur Pratt of 426 Bridge street, died at a Boston hospital Tuesday afternoon where he underwent an operation for stomach trouble a short time ago. He was born in Zanibar 30 years ago, his father being at the time American consul at that place. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 at 426 Bridge street, North Weymouth.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Thursday evening during Lent.

—Friends are invited to forward news items to the Gazette.

—The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

Nash's Corner and Main Street

—Miss Evelyn Johnson of Main street is confined to her home with pneumonia.

—Thomas Rushton of Boston was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Howard of West street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ellis and family of Main street are confined to their home by illness.

—Miss Ruth Munroe who is at the City Hospital, Boston, is slowly improving from an attack of diphtheria.

—The community extend their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. George Munroe of Mill street in the death of their 7 months old son, Sherman L., who passed away Friday from an attack of pneumonia. Funeral services were held Sunday at 2.30 P. M., Rev. Ora A. Price of the Old South Union Congregational church officiating. Interment was in the Village cemetery at Weymouth.

—Mrs. James B. Tirrell held a "Parchesi" party at her home on Main street Monday night with a number of friends present. Ices and cake were served to the guests.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson and infant child are slowly improving from their illness.

—Miss Angie Fearing, teacher at the Shaw School is confined to her home with the grippe.

—Mrs. Burt Poole and son Wendell are confined to their home with severe colds.

—Mrs. Thomas F. Howard has accepted a position with the Edwin Clapp Shoe Co. at East Weymouth.

—Arthur Ross of Middle street is improving from an attack of pneumonia.

—Mrs. F. E. Arnold and daughter Priscilla of Dorchester were the week end guests of Mrs. Arnold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Lovell of Main street.

DAUGHTERS OF THE NATION

The regular monthly meeting of Old Colony chapter will be held at the Braintree Boys Liberty Club room at South Braintree, Monday February 9, at 2.30 P. M. Members from Weymouth please take 1.45 P. M. car from Weymouth Landing and get transfers to the South Braintree 2.05 P. M. car.

A large attendance is requested as State delegates must be elected for the year, committees appointed, and other important business transacted. Former members are cordially invited to be guests.

Lieut. Stella Young, S. A., who served at the front lines for 18 months and was there when the Armistice was signed, and afterwards in Germany, will tell of her experiences, accompanied by someone who will sing us the "Sally" songs.

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

GIRL SCOUTS BUSY

Plan to Enlighten Massachusetts Concerning Work

The Girl Scouts of Massachusetts will conduct during Girl Scouts Week, January 26th to February 1st, a campaign to enlighten the people of Massachusetts concerning the value of their organization to the community and state. There are approximately

A TYPICAL MASSACHUSETTS GIRL SCOUT

100 Girl Scouts Troops in Massachusetts, with a membership of more than six thousand.

The Officers of the Girl Scouts' movement plan to greatly extend the work during 1920, and for this purpose have asked the Scouts to aid them in raising $100,000 during Girl Scouts' Week. Each Scout will be expected to obtain pledges from ten persons that they will contribute at least $1 to support the expansion work of the organization.

A campaign committee has been organized with headquarters at 725 Boylston Street, Boston, to aid the girls in making their movement successful. Mr. James J. Storrow is state chairman and Charles F. Weed, President of the First National Bank, state treasurer.

The motto of the Girl Scouts' Week campaign is "For a Better Womanhood." The campaign posters also declare "We work for Home, Town and Nation."

Since the first Girl Scouts' troop was organized in Massachusetts the movement has done much to develop good health and character among the members. The organization is non-sectarian and non-political. Each scout must promise on her honor to try to do three things:

1. To do my duty to God and to my country.

2. To help other people at all times.

3. To obey the laws of the Scouts.

The Girl Scouts' Laws embody the following provisions:

A Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted.
A Girl Scout is loyal.
A Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.
A Girl Scout is a friend to all, and a sister to every other Girl Scout.
A Girl Scout is courteous.
A Girl Scout keeps herself pure.
A Girl Scout is a friend to animals.
A Girl Scout obeys orders.
A Girl Scout is cheerful.
A Girl Scout is thrifty.

H. H. Wotherspoon, director of the Girl Scouts' Campaign, has explained why it is necessary to raise a fund for the work. He said: "Great educational movements like the Girl Scouts cannot support themselves. The Girl Scouts is not a money making institution. Its purpose is much broader than that and it is deserving of the whole-hearted support of the public."

There is a great need of money to meet the demands of a rapidly growing organization. Trained leaders are necessary for the proper supervision and enlargement of this movement. Hundreds of girls each month are applying to become Girl Scouts who cannot be registered because of lack of funds to train the leaders. The Girl Scouts' organization needs more camps for summer time where the members of the troops can meet and profit by contact with one another, and by the healthful recreation which they provide.

There is hardly a community in Massachusetts which cannot boast a Girl Scouts' troop and the officers hope that by the aid of Girl Scouts' Week in 1920 they will be able to provide leaders so that every community can have such a valuable asset as a Girl Scouts' troop.

Some of the Reasons Why You Should Make The East Weymouth Savings Bank Your Bank:

Bank is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. daily except Saturdays; Saturdays from 9 A. M. to 12 M.; and on Monday evenings from 7 to 8.30 for YOUR accommodation.

The Bank will take United States Government bonds of depositors for safe keeping without charge.

The Bank has Safe Deposit Boxes to rent to persons at reasonable rates.

The Bank will buy Liberty bonds for its customers who feel obliged to sell them.

The Bank has money to lend on first mortgages.

The officers and clerks of the Bank are ready to extend every courtesy within their power to depositors or friends of the Institution at all times.

Any amount from one dollar to two thousand dollars will start an account.

F. L. ALDEN, President.

H. J. T. PRING, Treasurer.

?

Do you know how convenient a gas steam radiator is or how cheaply you can heat your kitchen with the beautiful new Radiant Fires?

CANNING FOR ECONOMY

Methods of canning and preserving fruits and vegetables were unknown to this housewife, helpmeet of a Pennsylvania coal miner, until Community Service expert showed her the way. Since taking the canning lessons, the woman has learned the value of conservation of foodstuffs. Nothing goes to waste in her home now.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR TO CAZETTE ADVERTISERS

THE LIBERTY CALENDAR EXACTLY FOUR WEEKS IN EVERY MONTH 13 MONTHS IN A YEAR

Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa	Su
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

THIS IS THE WHOLE CALENDAR. EVERY MONTH JUST LIKE THIS FOR A MILLION YEARS.

New Year Day is not included in any week or month.
"Correction Day" once each four years not included in any week or month.
The remaining 364 days divided into 13 months of exactly 4 weeks each, every month commencing with Monday. A Bill already in Congress. The months are January, February, Liberty, March, etc.

January Thaw

We beg to announce to the many Patrons
of the

L. A. Cook Insurance Agency

that we have acquired the same and will give your interest our careful attention.

A. E. BARNES & CO.

South Weymouth, Mass.

GENERAL SURVEYS TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEYS

RUSSELL H. WHITING
CIVIL ENGINEER and SURVEYOR

56 Sea Street
NORTH WEYMOUTH, MASS.

SURVEYS MADE AND PLANS PREPARED FOR THE LAND COURT

WANTED

List Your Properties in the Weymouths

HENRY W. SAVAGE

OPPOSITE PARK ST., SUBWAY STATION

129 TREMONT ST. Tel. 4229 OAKLAND BOSTON, MASS.

REAL ESTATE

C. H. CHUBBUCK, Jr.

EAST WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Telephone Weymouth 149-W

Insurance

OF EVERY
DESCRIPTION

BOSTON OFFICE, 99 MILK STREET

Tel Main 5020

Coal - Coal - Coal

Best Quality of All Kinds

All-Rail Anthracite is Superior

Charles T. Leavitt

Successor to
H. M. CURTIS COAL CO.

YARD—WHARF ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Tel. 19

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

Remember

That every added subscriber helps to make this paper better in every way for everybody. Subscribe!

The KITCHEN CABINET

Labor is very precious these days; so much to do, and so few to do it, has brought the wise housewife to economize without sacrificing the comfort of the family.

Happy, indeed, is the woman who has the richness of health back of her and the faculty for doing things. If the war has taught us anything it is that idleness is unpopular. The woman who has time "to kill" is not recognized among the intelligent.

GOOD THINGS FOR DINNER.

If one has a good-sized French potato cutter there may be made any number of attractive dishes using potatoes. The scraps need not be wasted, for they may be cooked and mashed, served as mashed potato or used in bread or potato muffins, as desired.

Potatoes Cooked in Broth.—Cut the potatoes with a cutter into balls, or they may be cut in cubes; cover with boiling salted water and let boil five minutes. Drain and set to finish cooking in well seasoned broth. When tender, drain and sprinkle with salt and finely minced parsley. This dish is especially good for those who cannot eat solid meat.

Hamburg Steak With Brussels Sprouts.—Chop one pound of steak from the top of the round, add one-half cupful of cold water and a teaspoonful of salt. Mix thoroughly and shape into small cakes. Rub over a hot frying pan with a bit of suet and lay in the cakes. When the juice is seen on the top of the cakes turn at once to cook on the other side. Have ready a smooth brown sauce; cook in it a little chopped ham and a few tablespoonfuls of mushrooms. Have cooked until tender some brussels sprouts. Drain off the water, add salt, pepper and butter to season, then shake the saucepan over the fire till the sprouts have taken up all the seasonings. Set the sprouts in the center of a hot platter, the steak around them, and pour the sauce around the steak.

Potato Doughnuts.—Sift together four and one-half cupfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of soda, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of mace or nutmeg. Beat three eggs; add one cupful of sugar and beat again, then beat in one cupful of boiled and riced potato and two-thirds of a cupful of sour or buttermilk. If the sour milk is skimmed, a generous tablespoonful of melted shortening should be added. The fat for frying should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in one minute. The cake when dropped into the fat should rise at once to the surface. Turn at once and often during the cooking.

Escalloped Cabbage.—Shred and boil a cabbage as for hot slaw. Make a white sauce. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of boiled cabbage, then a layer of white sauce, and sprinkle with grated cheese. Continue until the cabbage is used or the casserole is full. Season each layer with salt and pepper and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

A tiny house; a plot of earth;
And thou, and I, ah, these make home!
Speak not of poverty nor dearth—
A tiny house, a plot of earth
Are ample cause for thanks and mirth.
For bliss we need no further roam.
A tiny house; a plot of earth;
And thou, and I, ah, these make home! —Blanche E. Wade.

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS.

When hot applications are necessary, dip a cloth in hot water, wring out and lay it between folds of paper placed on top of the kitchen stove or in the oven.

When beating egg whites add a pinch of salt, which makes them beat more quickly and stand up better, as the salt toughens the albumen.

Lemons will keep a long time if kept in a dish of cold water, changing the water from time to time.

To clean discolored white enamelware: Make a strong solution of baking soda and soft water; put the utensils into it and boil them hard.

Goose fat well tried out makes fine shortening for cakes, biscuit and pastry.

To prevent the cream pitcher from dripping put a little butter under the edge of the spout.

An old organ or piano stool makes a fine kitchen stool as it may be raised or lowered at will and is out of the way when pushed under the table.

Lace curtains may be patched with a piece of net as near like the curtain as is possible to get. Dip the net in starch, cover the place to be mended and place over it a cloth. Iron until dry. The torn place will be unnoticed if the edges are carefully trimmed.

When soaking a salt fish remember to put it skin side up in the water as the salt, being heavier than water, will go down to the bottom of the pan.

"The laboring man deserves all he can get out of life and then some. But he will never be strong for his own welfare economically, socially or politically until he learns to save systematically."

CEREAL FOODS.

Oatmeal bread, when made carefully and well baked, is light and digestible. Boil potatoes to make two cupfuls when mashed. Save the water in which they were cooked and add enough water to make a quart of liquid. Pour this over the potatoes, add two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one tablespoonful of sugar and one of salt. Put the mixture over the heat, and when it boils stir in two cupfuls of rolled oats. Let it cook two minutes, then remove and cool. When lukewarm, add one and one-half yeast cakes dissolved in a quarter of a cupful of lukewarm water, a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda and two quarts of flour. Mix until the dough is smooth.

Let it rise over night, and in the morning make into three loaves, and let rise until light. Bake one and one-quarter hours in a moderate oven.

Oatmeal Cookies.—Beat one egg in a mixing bowl, add one and one-half cupfuls of brown sugar, six tablespoonfuls of sweet milk, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, three-quarters of a cupful of shortening, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-third of a cupful of cold water, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Stir in two cupfuls of flour and two cupfuls of rolled oats. Let stand two or three hours to chill before baking. When ready to bake, drop from a spoon onto a greased sheet, leaving place for the cookies to spread. A few raisins and nuts may be added if desired.

Bran Gems.—To one cupful of flour add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of soda, and sift. Stir in two cupfuls of bran, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, one-fourth of a cupful of shortening and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Stir until smooth, drop in greased pans and bake three-quarters of an hour.

Spoon Corn Bread.—Take one cupful each of cornmeal, boiled rice, boiling water. Scald the meal with boiling water, add two cupfuls of sweet milk, two eggs, half a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of sugar. Bake it in a well greased baking dish and serve from the dish. Serve with the spoon bread, liver and bacon.

The only people who make no mistakes are in the graveyard. To fail is to grow. Do you know how to make mistakes? Nothing requires more constant practice than mistake-making. America is at it constantly, and knows how. We blunder on and on, but always forward.—Doctor Crane.

SIMPLE GOOD THINGS.

Almost everybody likes a tomato soup either cream or clear. The following is an easy to prepare:

Tomato Bisque.—Scald one quart of milk with a stalk of celery and two slices of onion. Press enough cooked tomatoes through a sieve to make one pint. Add half a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. Stir one-third of a cupful of flour and a teaspoonful of salt with milk to make a smooth batter. Dilute with a little hot milk, stir until smooth, then add the rest of the hot milk. Continue stirring until smooth and thick. Cook fifteen minutes well covered. Strain into the hot tomato, mix thoroughly, and serve at once with croutons.

Parsnip Fritters.—Take left-over parsnips and press through a puree sieve. To a cupful of the puree, add one-fourth teaspoonful each of salt and pepper, a beaten egg and a dash of cayenne. Mix thoroughly and mold into five or six flat cakes. Cook in a small amount of butter, browning on both sides.

Bacon Fritters.—To prepare the fritter batter, dissolve one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt in one cupful of cold water and add it to the well-beaten yolks of two eggs which have been blended with one and one-half tablespoonfuls of melted butter or olive oil. Add one cupful of flour, beat well, cover and put in a cool place for two hours or over night. When ready to use, beat the whites stiff and fold in the mixture. Dip the slices of bacon in the batter or chop in rather coarse pieces. Fry in fat to float the fritters.

Corn Balls.—Put three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan. When the butter is melted, add two cupfuls of molasses and two-thirds of a cupful of sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Boil until, when tried in cold water, the mixture becomes brittle. Pour over six quarts of popped corn. Butter the fingers and shape into balls.

MODERN DEVICES HELP HOUSEWIFE

Easier Laundry Methods Aid Considerably in Saving Strength and Material.

HARDEST OF WEEKLY TASKS

Soap Solution Makes Suds More Quickly Than Soap in Cakes—Soft Water is Necessary for Easy Work—Other Good Points.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Nearly all women regard washing as the hardest of the weekly household tasks. Many who have plenty of strength for the work dread wash day because when the task is once started it cannot be put aside readily if something comes up. Modern methods of laundry reduce the time and strength needed and save the clothes, say specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Good Laundry Methods.

Clothes should be sorted according to the kind of garment and the amount of soil. Stains should be removed, and the clothes soaked in cool water, or if it is convenient, soap badly soiled parts, roll up, just cover with water and let them stand over night.

A soap solution makes suds more quickly than soap in the cake. It also cleans more evenly, with less wear to the material, than soap rubbed on. A quantity for use as needed can be made up at one time by dissolving one cake of white soap or two cups of soap flakes, chips or scraps, in three quarts of hot water. For blankets add two tablespoonfuls of borax and one-fourth cupful ammonia.

The clothes may be washed either in clean, hot, soapy water or in cold water and naphtha soap. After rubbing, put in boiler of cold soapy water and boil five minutes. Boiling helps to sterilize and whiten the clothes. Rinse until no dirt or soap comes out into the water. Use warm water in the first rinsing so the soap will not harden.

A Hinged Ironing Board and an Electric Iron Put Comfort in Ironing.

If clothes are dried in open air and sunshine, bluing should not usually be necessary; but if white clothes have become very yellow or if they must be dried indoors, bluing may be used in the final water. It is better to make a dark bluing water and then add enough to the final rinsing water to bring the desired shade. Stir well. Use less bluing for fine, soft materials and linens and more for coarse thick materials. Some bluing contains a compound of iron which will cause rust spots if it comes in contact with soap. Therefore it is necessary to rinse out all soap before bluing.

The rolls of the wringer should be set tight for cotton materials and loose for linen, or linen can be squeezed out in the hands. Hard wringing creases it badly. Fold buttons in flat to prevent tearing in the wringer.

An excellent starch is made by adding one cupful of water to from one to four tablespoonfuls of starch, according to the stiffness desired. When the paste is smooth add one-half tablespoonful of borax, one-half teaspoonful of paraffin or white fat and one quart of boiling water. Boil 20 minutes, stirring thoroughly until clear and smooth. If a scum or lumps form, strain. Use hot for all except colored clothes. Turn garments wrong side out before starching and starch first those things in which the most stiffness is desired, as water from the garments thins the starch. Freezing and wind both take the starch out of clothes.

How to Soften Water.

Soft water is necessary for easy laundry work. Soften either by boiling or by chemicals carefully measured and thoroughly dissolved in the wash water before putting in the clothes. To each gallon of water add one-half tablespoonful of washing soda, or one teaspoonful of lye for ordinary white cotton and linen materials and one tablespoonful of borax for other fabrics.

For silks, woolsens, and colored materials use lukewarm water with no change of temperature between the washing and rinsing. A soap solution is much better than soap rubbed on the fabric. Use a kneading motion with these materials rather than rub-

SUPERIOR HINTS THAT REDUCE LAUNDRY WORK

Sit erect. Have tubs and ironing board at comfortable heights. Use portable tubs. Fill through a piece of hose attached to the faucet or pump. Empty through a hole cut in bottom or in side near bottom.

Use a washing machine, if possible. It saves rubbing. A good hand machine may be obtained at small cost.

Use a smooth, well-made washboard. A jagged washboard tears the clothes.

Use a wringer. It presses out the water without straining the fibers.

Have clean, well-kept irons. A smooth clean iron makes for good results.

Wash clothes frequently and before they become too soiled. It saves your strength and the clothes.

Save ironing by choosing simple clothing and linen. Many articles, including crepe, seersucker, and knitted garments, may be pulled into shape instead of being ironed.

Silks should be put through a wringer with very loose rollers.

In hanging and drying have the clothespins and line clean. Put similar clothes together and hang all clothes wrong side out. Hang garments by bands, belts, or seams. Dry white cotton and linen clothes in the sun, because sunlight whitens them. Colored and woolen materials should be dried in the shade. Lay knitted and crocheted articles flat and dry them indoors. White silks should be rolled in a heavy cloth and let stand at least one-half hour before ironing.

Much of the drudgery is taken out of the ironing of white cotton and linen materials if the clothes are evenly dampened and the irons are clean and hot. Iron with the thread of the goods, preferably with the lengthwise threads, until thoroughly dry. Iron as large a space at one time as possible and iron first the parts which hang off the board when finished, and which would dry out quickly.

For silks, woolsens, and colored materials a medium hot iron is best. Iron on the wrong side, excepting colored cotton and linen garments that need a smooth surface to keep clean longer. Silks and woolsens may be covered with a damp cheese cloth and ironed or pressed on the right side with a hot iron.

Special Points to Remember.

Remember that strong soap hardens and shrinks woolsens, yellows white silks, and removes color in colored materials. Rubbing wears all fabrics, hardens woolsens, gives silk a rough and wavy look, and injures color. Sunlight bleaches and whitens white cotton and linen material, hardens and shrinks woolsens, yellows white silks and woolsens, and fades colors. Sudden changes in temperature harden and shrink woolsens, and anything hotter than lukewarm injures silk and may change or remove color from any fabric.

FIRELESS COOKER IS HANDY

No Radiators Are Used in Some, While in Others Iron or Soapstone Is Employed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Any woman who cannot afford to buy a factory-built fireless cooker can make one with little expense. Home demonstration agents of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges are teaching women all over the country how to make them. No radiators are used in some homemade fireless cookers, while in others radiators of iron or soapstone are put in to supply extra heat. In place of the regulation type of radiator, some ingenious club women in Alameda County, Cal., are using flat, water-worn rocks as a substitute. The stones were gathered from a creek. Ordinary baling wire was wound around the stone and made into a handle. Data has been kept by one of the women as to the length of time required to heat such a stone as compared to heating a radiator of soapstone or iron. Her conclusion was that the rocks heat as quickly as the usual type of radiator and give as satisfactory results.

FRESHENING OF STALE BREAD

Waste May Be Avoided by Slightly Moistening Loaf and Placing in Hot Oven.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Waste of stale bread may be avoided by moistening it, by freshening it—slightly moistening the loaf and placing for a few minutes in a hot oven—or by drying it and using the crumbs in place of flour or starch in recipes.

All Around the House

Work along the grain of the wood when staining floors.

During the winter, pickles and relishes will replace lettuce and salad greens.

Mother-of-pearl articles should be cleaned with whitening and cold water; soap discolors them.

Nellie Maxwell

MAKE THE East Weymouth Savings Bank YOUR BANK

Open an account now and add to it regularly.

Every courtesy extended to depositors.

BANKING HOURS:

9 to 3 daily except Saturday.

Saturday 9 to 12.

Monday Evening, 7 to 8.30, for deposits only.

F. L. ALDEN, President.

H. J. T. PRING, Treasurer.

The Bank has money to lend on mortgages, also has a very desirable DOUBLE HOUSE located in East Weymouth FOR SALE.

Call and see us if interested

NEW ENGLAND NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Items of Interest From All Sections of Yankeeland

The Hotel Woodcock, long time famous Boston hostelry, has gone into bankruptcy.

Mrs. Fred B. Woodman of Salem, Mass., fears her sister is a captive of the bolshevik in Siberia.

J. J. Ballam of Boston, editor of a communist paper, has pleaded guilty to a charge of provoking anarchy.

Compulsory gymnastic work is now required at the Middlesex school, Concord, Mass., with John W. Wallen instructor.

Charles B. Maguire, one of Rhode Island's most active contractors and builders, died at his home in Providence last week.

Louis Lanz, who was confidential secretary to the Greenwich, Conn., town treasurer, wrongfully used $192,000 of the town's funds, it is alleged.

Out of 253 physicians in Hartford, Ct., only 15 have applied for permits to prescribe liquors, according to the estimate of Collector of Internal Revenue J. Walsh.

Prying open with crowbars a 600-pound safe in the wholesale grocery of Daniel F. Howe, Worcester, thieves made away with $200 in Liberty Bonds, $50 in cash and several bankbooks.

Lewis S. Gordon, Jr., principal, has closed the Clinton, Mass., evening school. Original registration was 200 but had dropped to the vanishing point. Americanization classes will be continued.

Milkmen of Cumberland and York counties, Me., have lost their fight in the courts against the pasteurization rule made by the Portland board of health, and designed to become effective at the beginning of the year.

Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Mfg. Co. of Framingham, Mass., has announced the gift of a $50,000 gymnasium to the Framingham Civic League, with an additional gift of $50,000 as a maintenance fund.

Samuel F. Flanzbaum, Geo. M. Goldsmith and A. M. Collins, all of Boston, officers of the F. G. Collins Shoe Co. of Providence, were each fined $1000 on charges of profiteering after they had pleaded nolo contendere in the federal court here.

A Voluntown, Ct., party of young people returning from a sleigh ride down through long woods at midnight report seeing a huge meteor in the northern sky falling like a ball of fire leaving showers of sparks behind. It was half a minute in sight.

Probably the most unusual ground given for a divorce in Newport, R. I., appears in a petition filed in the Superior Court. The names are withheld. The petitioner sues on the ground that her husband is a "Bolshevik." The case will be heard May 17.

During the summer 180,200 Boston horses were watered and 51,530 were showered by agents of the Work Horse Relief Association, says the society's report of that society. At the Ashton Lawrence Free Hospital 232 horses were treated, an increase of sixty.

Farmers in the sparsely settled section of Hebron, Ct., and Columbia, have lost hens, turkeys and chickens due to night visits of a wild animal, that must be either a lynx or wildcat. In several instances people out late have been frightened by the animal.

Robert Matteson Johnson, professor of modern history at Harvard, who served during the recent war as official historian to the American Expeditionary Forces, and was widely known as an authority on military affairs, died of heart trouble at his home in Cambridge.

The Mass. state department of health has wearied of making analyses of liquor for federal authorities, and if a bill reported to the House by the committee on public health is successful, will thereafter confine its liquor work to cases initiated under state law with probably some exceptions.

Pending further hearings in the Supreme Court, members of the Massachusetts Fishermen's Association, composed principally of independent captains from Nantucket and Vineyard Haven, are protected by temporary injunction against interference with their business by the Fishermen's Union and allied organizations.

Major-General Edwards denies that he is going to retire from the army and enter the grocery business. "I simply allowed my name to be used in a business firm which my father started years ago, in order to get it in shape since the recent death of my brother. I am not going into the grocery business and I have no intention of leaving the army," explained the general.

Coal confiscations by the United States railroad administration have almost entirely depleted the Connecticut Street Railway Company supply and the Connecticut company has wired Congressman John Q. Tilson at Washington that trolley service would have to be suspended within three days unless the railroads were called off at once. On account of seizures of coal in transit, the company has been unable to get shipments of coal past New York.

Governor Coolidge has accepted the honorable chairmanship of the Massachusetts state committee for "America's Gift to France," according to an announcement made by Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France and chairman of the national executive committee. The personnel of the local committee will be made known later.

Postmaster William J. Kenney of Attleboro, Mass., has received word from Washington that after Jan. 31 the Dodgeville postoffice will be discontinued, and he was instructed to care for the patrons of that office. The village will be served by general delivery from Attleboro until arrangements are made to cover that section by rural carrier.

Dr. Merrill E. Champion of the state board of health, addressing the fifth annual meeting of the Massachusetts Association of Directors of Public Health Nursing Organizations, declared that if this state adopts the bill introduced by Representative Young, which provides measures relating to maternity care for all who desire to avail themselves of it, Massachusetts will lead the world.

The State Department of Education has approved and transmitted to the Legislature the petition of Arthur J. Johnson and others that the Co-operative Engineering School of Northeastern College of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association be empowered to grant the degrees of civil engineer, mechanical engineer, electrical engineer and chemical engineer to graduates of the four years' course.

A $700 scholarship, donated by the Massachusetts Department of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is awaiting a boy or girl who was made an orphan by the war. The American Legion is looking for orphans, whose cases will be considered. Leo A. Spillane is sending to Massachusetts Legion posts a request for the name of every American child orphaned by the war.

Andrew J. Casey, collector of internal revenue for the Boston district, issued a statement reminding women who had incomes during 1919 that they are subject to all provisions of the federal income tax law. The collector's office estimates that the high wages received by women during the past year possibly will double the number who are required under the law to file returns.

John Szala, a hermit living in a wretched hut off the Boulah road, New Bedford, was saved from starvation when Deputy Sheriff John Parkinson took him into custody on an insanity warrant. For three weeks Szala had not left his hut. Distant neighbors said they had seen no signs of a fire in the house this winter, but every attempt to help the hermit was repulsed and he would admit no one.

Thousands of dollars' worth of scallops will die in Onset Bay, Mass., this season because of restrictions placed upon catching, local fishermen say. In spite of recent discoveries of new large beds of the shellfish, only ten bushels to a man per day are allowed, Sundays excluded, and more than half the time, of late, fishing has been impossible on account of weather conditions. The season opened October 1, and closes April 1.

The Right Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Connecticut, states that he has joined with other churchmen in signing a protest against deportation of foreigners without full trial. The bishop said: "I was glad to sign the statement. I am not sure that some of these men have been deported without trial, but it has been asserted that such is the case and I am afraid that it has happened. I want to be sure that each man, before being deported, has had entire justice."

In filing his inquest report with Dist. Atty. Frederick Katzmann of Norfolk county, Mass., Judge Harrison H. Plympton has found that the death of Mary C. Lopez, in a Wellesley sanitarium last November, was due to the improper negligence of Margaret Coumans, night nurse at the institution. The result of the autopsy made by Dr. Andrew H. Hodgson showed the body to have had multiple scalds from head to foot. The dead woman was receiving treatment at the hospital, was placed in a specially constructed bathroom, and was subsequently scalded to death.

Prohibition and high wages are given much of the credit for the phenomenal gains made by Connecticut savings banks during the three months ending Jan. 1. According to Bank Commissioner Everett J. Sturgis, the increase in the assets of the savings banks of the State amounted to $12,512,120.41, and in the assets of State banks and trust companies, during the three months, $9,073,695.71. This is the largest ratio of increase in bank assets during any three months' period in the history of the State. The total amount of assets of savings banks in Connecticut Jan. 1 was $431,769,000, and of trust companies $177,940,000.

The 5th Regiment of the Marine Corps which was demobilized at Quantico, Va., over ten months ago, will be reorganized, according to information given Major Joseph Murray, a former member of that regiment and now recruiting officer for the Marine Corps in Boston. This regiment was for a short time attached to the 26th Division and was made famous by its action in Belleau Wood. It was cited three times by the French and wears the Fourragere.

Sternberg Motor Car Co.

Nathan Sternberg, Proprietor, successor to Bicknell's Garage

Sole Agent for

CHEVROLET CAR

in the Weymouths and Hingham

TIME PAYMENT TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES

Look Over Our Stock of Slightly Used and Rebuilt Cars

AGENTS FOR

Goodyear, Goodrich, and United States Tires, Mobiloils and Greases

Exceptional Bargains in all Automobile Supplies at a Saving of 15 to 25 per cent

Water Street East Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 330 for Service Car

SKATES Sharpened

Concave Ground
25c

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

Frank S. Hobart & Co.

Hardware, Paints, Oils, Auto Supplies and Greases

WASHINGTON SQUARE, WEYMOUTH

Tel. Wey. 307-M

The B & B Carage

AUTHORIZED FORD SERVICE STATION

Washington Square, Weymouth.

FORD PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

All Ford work at contract prices guaranteed.

Eagleline Oils and Greases

Winter Storage of Cars

Car service, night or day, at reasonable rates.

Careful drivers.

R. E. O'Connor & Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 397-M

FOR HEAT

Selected Stock

COAL

Fresh
Mined

CLEAN COAL

Our Specialty

J. F. Sheppard & Sons, Inc.

EAST BRAINTREE

QUINCY

Telephones:—BRAINTREE 25

Quincy 232-W or 2420

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

The Sue Rice Studios

wish to call your attention to the unusual assortment of Gifts and CARDS FOR ALL ANNIVERSARIES

Have that Portrait Enlarged and Handsomely Framed for a gift. Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your Portrait.

Have That Panorama Framed Now

WE CHARGE YOU
JUST ONE-HALF
WHAT THE AVERAGE
DENTIST
DOES

By coming to us for dental work you cut your dental bills just one-half. This money saved is just as good in your pocket as in the other fellow's pocket. Let us estimate what your work will cost and you will be surprised at the saving.

Absolutely NO Pain

This is a positive fact, no matter how sensitive your teeth are or how nervous you may be.

Full Set Teeth
$8.00 up
Gold Crowns
$5.00
Bridge Work
$5.00

PAINLESS EXTRACTING FREE

This is the only office in Quincy where gold crowns and teeth without plates (undetectable from the natural ones) are inserted without pain.

DR. T.J. KING

CLARENCE W. KING, D. D. S. (Inc.)

1365 Hancock St.

Quincy, Mass.

9 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

NURSE IN ATTENDANCE

Telephone, Quincy 2678-M

GO After Business
in a business way—the advertising way. An ad in this paper offers the maximum service at minimum cost. It reaches the people of the town and vicinity you want to reach. TRY IT--IT PAYS

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

Published every Friday by the

GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY

FRANK F. PRESCOTT

Managing Editor

At 52 Commercial Street, Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 145

Subscription per Annum, $2.50

Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagussett, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 6, 1920

Daily High Tides

	A. M.	P. M.
Friday, Feb. 6	12.30	12.45
Saturday	1.15	1.30
Sunday	2.00	2.15
Monday	2.45	3.00
Tuesday	3.30	4.00
Wednesday	4.15	4.45
Thursday	5.15	5.45
Friday, Feb. 13	6.00	6.30

Last quarter moon, Feb. 11

Weymouth Temperature

	6 A. M.	12 M.	6 P. M.
Friday, Jan. 30	26	38	35
Saturday	—5	—3	0
Sunday	—5	9	17
Monday	26	38	42
Tuesday	42	46	39
Wednesday	28	32	31
Thursday	28	30	30
Friday, Feb. 6	26	—	—

—The body of Myron P. Cressey was brought here Saturday afternoon and services conducted by Rev. J. C. Justice of the Union Congregational church of Weymouth and Braintree were held at the chapel in Village cemetery. He was a Boston contractor, and passed away in Malden. He is survived by his widow who before her marriage was Miss Cora Richards of Summer street this town.

—Mrs. Ellen M. Hahn, widow of John J. Hahn, for years a resident of this town, died at her home in Quincy on Saturday. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Ellen Linton, Mrs. Franz E. Hyland, Mrs. Rose Condrick and Mrs. Jennie Babin.

—Mrs. Mercie T. Gustin, widow of Edwin A. Gustin, died in South Braintree on Saturday. She was before her marriage Miss Mercie T. Williams of this town.

—Miss Edith Gorman of Framingham has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles N. Glines.

—Mrs. Mary A. DeNeill, wife of James DeNeill, died at her home in Roxbury on Sunday. Mr. DeNeill was a resident of this town up to the time of his marriage a year ago being a son of Mrs. Ellen DeNeill of Broad street.

—Harry Bloom is on the committee of arrangements of the big ball to be given in Quincy on the evening of February 12 by the Y. M. H. A. of that city.

—Harry Lipman is home from a weeks visit in New York.

—Mary, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Connell of 84 Broad street who has been under treatment for several weeks for scarlet fever at a Brighton hospital, is now seriously ill with pneumonia.

—A family on Prospect street, East Braintree, eleven members of whom are ill with the influenza, had quite an experience in getting whiskey that had been ordered by their physician. It was impossible to purchase any in Braintree or Weymouth and a trip was made to Boston to the State Board of Health, where an order was obtained and the liquor purchased at a drug store in that city.

—Miss Helen Dwyer, clerk at the Savings Bank, is kept at home by a severe cold.

—Albert N. White, one of the best known and a lifelong citizen of East Braintree, died at his home 136 Shaw street, Tuesday night following an illness of but a few days of pneumonia. He was a most estimable citizen and noted for his sterling character. He was a foreman at the pattern shop at the Fore River shipyard where he had been employed for many years. He was 64 years old and is survived by his wife. The funeral will take place this afternoon from his late residence.

—Dr. Robert Vincent Mullin is convalescing at the Parker House, Boston, following an operation for throat trouble.

—James McGonagle has resumed his duties at the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy yard, after being confined to his home on Front street, Weymouth, for a week with a severe cold.

—Arthur Ross, clerk at E. W. Hunt & Son store, is ill with pneumonia. He is reported as comfortable.

—Fifty of the young friends of John Ramsey tendered him a surprise party at his home on Richmond street last Friday evening.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Thursday evening during Lent.

—Police Officer Edward Hofessa, who does traffic duty at Uphams Corner, Dorchester, had a narrow escape from being killed Monday, when the gas blew the cover off a manhole near where Officer Hofessa was standing. The cover which weighed nearly one hundred pounds was blown fifty feet in the air. Officer Hofessa who was recently appointed a member of the Boston police force, was for years connected with the Weymouth police and fire departments.

—Fred O. Sterling a former well known Weymouth shoe manufacturer died Tuesday at his home 74 East Elm avenue, Wollaston, in his 68th year. He was a son of the late Auburn H. Sterling of Weymouth, a prominent boot and shoe manufacturer. When he became of age he was admitted to partnership in his father's firm. In his younger days he was quite prominent in athletics of all kinds.

—There will be a Lincoln tea party under the auspices of the Ladies Benevolent Society at Union church on Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, at 3 o'clock. The admission will be as many pennies as one is old. Come and bring your friends and have a good time.

EAST WEYMOUTH and WEYMOUTH CENTER

—Mrs. Pauline Murray of Detroit has been a visitor at the home of her father in law, Gideon Murray of Putnam street for the past three weeks.

—Edward Butler has moved into his new house on Pleasant street.

—William Toohier left Tuesday on a trip to the middle west and south. He intends to call on Captain Riley of Company K, who lives in Indianapolis.

—Dominick Ventre and Sarah Noszella, both of East Weymouth, were married Thursday, Feb. 5, at the church of the Immaculate Conception.

—Clinton Page, manager of the Peoples Express Company, is at home suffering from a slight attack of the flu.

—The recent erratic fluctuations of the temperature have been the cause of sending a great number to bed, either with heavy colds, the gripple, or the flu. Mrs. Frank Cowing and Miss Helen Cowing are confined with the gripple.

—Extensive alterations are under way at the Electric Light station to make room for a new transforming station.

—Frank Wyman started Saturday afternoon in his Ford for New Bedford but was unable to proceed further than East Bridgewater. He arrived back home at 3 A. M. Sunday reporting all roads impassable below that point.

—Dr. Jacoby's machine became stuck in the snow on Raymond street, Saturday. In trying to free it the rear end was put out of commission.

—Max Stoneberg arrived in East Weymouth Tuesday night after 48 hours spent on the road from New York. He reported the roads in fair shape as far as Springfield but between there and Boston he had to be pulled out of snow banks three times.

—The condition of Harley G. Carter remains about the same. A nurse from the Massachusetts General Hospital is in attendance. Mrs. Carter and Maynard are confined with tonsillitis.

—It has been reported from New York that an operation on Pat Nugent's arm was successful. The dance held last week for his benefit was a great success financially as well as in other ways.

—Indications are that the dancing party to be held Feb. 10 by the local post of the Legion will be as well attended as was the memorable ball on Armistice Day.

—It seems that there must be a scarcity of something or life wouldn't be complete. Now that there is enough sugar to go round, people in the outlying districts are deprived of fruit owing to the tieup occasioned by the freight handlers strike.

—A meeting of the Ladies Fairmount Cemetery Circle will be held at the home of Dora Cushing, Broad street, on Monday evening, Feb. 9.

—The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Thursday evening during Lent.

—Alexander Strasses of Commercial street claims the skill championship of Weymouth. He recently made a record jump on Drew's Mountain.

—If we must have snow it is perhaps better that it should stay a while when it comes. With a thick blanket of it on the ground water mains will not freeze. In past years at this time the town employees and the line gang of the Electric Light Company have been worked to the limit in thawing out the mains but so far this winter there has been no trouble.

—The funeral of George W. Howard was held Tuesday afternoon at his late home, 123 High street. The service was conducted by Rev. Frank Kingdon of the Methodist Church. A delegation from Paritan Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Braintree attended and the Odd Fellows' burial service was read by the officers of the lodge. Arthur W. Richards, Edward Cullinan, Henry Mellin, and Charles F. Mellen were pallbearers. Interment was in Fairmount cemetery.

—Ambrose Ashton of Hawthorne street, who works in Boston, came into the local railroad station last Saturday morning with both ears white and also a white patch on the tip of his nose; mute testimony that Jack Frost had got in his work during his walk to the station. First aid rendered by commuters in the form of snow and ice vigorously applied to the affected parts enabled Ashton to continue his journey to Boston.

—Mrs. Clara B. Woofen, formerly Miss Clara Brassill, who has been seriously ill with an attack of bronchitis, is improving and able to get out again after a month's sickness.

—Funeral services for Pauline Hazel, 15 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry York of Pond street, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Ora A. Price of the Old South Union Congregational church officiating. The little girl passed away Sunday morning after a short illness from bronchial pneumonia. Interment was in the Lakeview cemetery, Pond Plain.

—John Greenwood is seriously ill at his home on Union street, with an attack of pneumonia.

—Miss Edith Stewart of Hollis street is reported on the sick list.

—Rev. Richard Gesner who has been preaching in Newton, has returned to his home in Oswego, N. Y., having been the guest of Mrs. Joseph Grant of Columbian street, the past week.

—Mrs. Fred Mielbye is confined to her home on Central street with an attack of the gripple.

—In the vestry of the Second Universalist church Sunday evening a little sketch entitled, "The Light of the World" was enacted by several young girls, who had been instructed by Mrs. W. B. Baker. Mrs. Mary Shaw Attwood, wife of Rev. L. W. Attwood, a former pastor of the church, is the author. In place of the regular service at 6 o'clock, this little sketch was given at 7, following the opening exercises, conducted by the president of the Y. P. C. U. A large audience attended.

—Miss Delia Nelligan of Central avenue is improving from a two weeks illness.

—C. H. Parker is seriously ill at his home on Tower avenue.

—Charles Parker of Providence has been called here by the critical illness of his father, Mr. Charles H. C. Parker, on Tower avenue.

—Freeman Putney Jr., is improving from his recent illness which has kept him indoors, the past week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loud and son are confined to their home on Pleasant street by illness.

—Mrs. Timothy Quill and daughter, Emily, of Grafton, have been the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kohler of Main street.

—Tirrell Brooks of Fogg road is on the sick list being kept indoors with an attack of the measles.

—Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Men's Community Bible Class, connected with the Old South Union church, a social consisting of a supper and entertainment was held in the vestry Friday evening. Following supper which was served at 6.30, under the direction of Mrs. Perry N. Sippelle, and a corps of assistants, Mr. William McKenzie of Boston, entertained with impersonations, recitations and vocal selections. Community singing was enjoyed by the audience.

—A small farm on Forest street consisting of eleven acres of land, a house of seven rooms, stable and the usual outbuildings, has been sold by Henri Hermann to Wyman S. Eldredge and Lillian B. Eldredge, for a residence.

—Ernest Bowker's name of Randolph street is another one to be added to the list of indisposed.

—Miss Emily Sampson has been substituting at the High School for Mrs. Helen C. Barnard who has been absent on account of tonsillitis.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Thursday evening during Lent.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Denbroeder of Pond street are suffering from the gripple which is so much in evidence locally.

—Mrs. Marshall Gallant is confined to her home on Union street with the gripple.

—Mrs. Charles Locke of Randolph street has recovered from her illness and is able to be out again.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poole of Pleasant street are reported on the sick list.

—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gridley of Main street are entertaining their nephew, Richard Pickett of Somerville.

—Mrs. Edward Whittemore is confined to her home on Fogg road with a severe cold.

—Alverdo Mason who returned home from the Naval service Friday, has accepted a position with the A. O. Crawford Box Co.

—Miss Alice Nelligan is confined to her home on Central avenue with the gripple.

—Miss Miriam McGrory is on the sick list, being confined to her home with the gripple.

—Mrs. Everett Gardner of Tower avenue is kept indoors with one of the severe colds that are prevalent.

—An estate on Lake Shore Drive, Middle street, comprising 5000 feet of land, a six-room house and usual outbuildings, has been sold by E. E. Rayney to H. A. Larson.

—Papers have been passed in the sale of six acres of land, bordering Whitman's road, by Solomon Ford, et al, to D. Arthur Brown. These sales were made by Henry W. Savage, Inc.

—The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

—Miss Marion Lunt was the guest of relatives in Hyde Park over the week end.

—Mrs. James B. Jones visited her brother and his family at Providence, R. I. last week.

—Miss Florence B. Nash entertained her friend Miss Bernice Biggs of Plymouth on Saturday and Sunday.

—The Y. P. C. U. are invited to attend a Clark Union social in honor of Christian Endeavor's thirty-ninth birthday, to be held at North Abington Baptist Church this evening.

—Henry E. Hubbard of Gilbert road is ill with influenza.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Sladen had as guests on Sunday Mrs. Fred Humphriss, and Mrs. John E. White and small daughter Pearl White, from Lowell.

—The social of the Y. P. C. U. held in the chapel last Friday evening, proved to be very successful, for a goodly number attended, and each and every one had a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Carey & Curran

HIGH GRADE
PLUMBING AND HEATING
GENERAL REPAIRS

815 Broad Street - East Weymouth
Tel. 938-R tf. 4

FRANK A. MACK, M.D.

6 Beechwood Road East Braintree
Corner Quincy Ave. Tel. Braintree 295-W
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 P. M.;
Sundays, 8 to 10 A. M.
Boston Office: 165 Dartmouth Street, 4 to 6 P. M.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and by appointment. Telephone, Back Bay 58991. tf.

Ralph S. Carr, M.D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
27 FRONT STREET, WEYMOUTH

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 P. M.
Tel. 656-M tf. 4

LET THE Quincy Awning Company

furnish estimates on your awnings.
Now is the time to place orders for Spring delivery. Phone or write

E. M. Woodbury

113 Marlboro Street : Wollaston
Quincy 2783-M tf. 4

Please Tell Others

WHAT

You Know

ABOUT

The Gazette
And Transcript

QUALITY—NOT PRICE
HAS WON
OUR BIG BUSINESS

The TEA you drink should be the best CHASE
A
SANBORN'S PACKAGE TEA is the best to buy and the best to drink

WE WANT YOUR PATRONAGE.
WE HAVE HUNDREDS OF SATISFIED CUSTOMERS
NOW.
WHY NOT JOIN THEM?

SPECIALS—MONDAY ONLY—SPECIALS

Pork and Beans White and Gold Brand.	can 15c	Evaporated Milk small cans	3 for 20c
Pillsbury Flour	bag $1.90	Corn Auto Brand, Sweet sugar.	can 19c
Spaghetti	can 15c	Macaroni Hatchet Brand.	2 pkgs. 25c

FREE FREE FREE
We shall give away one can of "20 Mule Team Borax" with the purchase of a one pound package of "20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips." THIS OFFER IS FOR ONE WEEK ONLY.

HUNT'S MARKET GROCERY
Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephones 152 and 551-W. Opposite Post Office.

TEAS and COFFEE FRUIT and NUTS

Come Here For Meats

IT'S HERE QUALITY
NOT QUANTITY COUNTS

Home Cooked Corned Beef

WHITE AND GOLD
CANNED COODSBroad St.
E. Weymouth F. H. SYLVESTER Telephone Wey. 121

CREAMERY BUTTER VEGETABLES in season

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford car can well be called the "people's car," because there are more than 3,000,000 of them in daily operation. That is about four to one of the nearest follower in the motor car industry. This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. Let us have your order for one now to avoid delay in delivery.

ROY E. LITCHFIELD
Authorized Ford Dealer
Weymouths, Hingham, Hull, Hanover
TELEPHONE HINGHAM 3

Why Not Fill Out and Mail to Gazette, Weymouth, Mass.

I desire to become a subscriber of Gazette and Transcript, and enclose $2.50 for one year from date, the paper to be sent by mail.

Name

Street

Post Office Address

BOARD OF SELECTMEN

BRADFORD HAWES, Chairman, E. Weymouth
JOSEPH A. FERN, Secretary, East Weymouth
ALFRED W. HASTINGS, South Weymouth
GEORGE L. NEWTON, North Weymouth
JOHN F. DWYER, Weymouth

Meetings Savings Bank Building
East Weymouth, Every Monday
DURING THE MUNICIPAL YEAR FROM
2 TO 5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Town Clerk

Clayton B. Merchant

OFFICE HOURS:

In rooms of the Selectmen, Savings Bank
Building, East Weymouth

8 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M.
Saturdays, 8 to 12 A. M.

Residence, 912 Commercial Street,
East Weymouth

SOUTH WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

OFFICERS 1919

President—R. Wallace Hunt

Vice-Pres.—Ellis J. Pitcher

Almon B. Raymond

Treasurer—Fred T. Barnes

BANK HOURS:

8 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M.
Also Mondays 7 to 8 P. M.
Saturdays 9 to 12 A. M.

Deposits go on interest second Wednesday of January, April, July and October.
Dividends payable on and after the second Wednesday of January and July.

The January, 1918, dividend was at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, and the July, 1918,
dividend at the rate of 5 per cent.
Incorporated March 6, 1868

WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

CHARLES A. HAYWARD, President.

CHARLES T. CRANE, Treasurer

Vice-Presidents:

EDWARD W. HUNT JAMES H. FLINT

Board of Investment:

CHARLES A. HAYWARD

CLARENCE P. WHITTLE

EDWARD W. HUNT

ARTHUR E. PRATT

CHARLES G. SHEPPARD

Bank Hours—8:30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Saturdays, 9:30 to 12.

Monday Evenings, 8 to 9.

Deposits placed on interest on the first Monday

January, April, July and October.

Joseph Grehan

Plumber and Sheet Metal Worker.
Steam, Hot Water and Furnace Heat-
ing. Stove and Furnace Repairs.

Tel., Wey. 767-F 20,11

11 Foye Avenue, Weymouth

S. GREEN

Jackson Square
East Weymouth, Mass.

Custom Tailor

SUITS MADE TO ORDER
Cleaning, Pressing, Dyeing and all kinds of Repairing at Reasonable prices

JOHN LYONS & SON

BRICKLAYERS

MASONS and

PLASTERERS

General Jobbing of All Kinds
promptly attended to

Address

81 Prospect St. Weymouth

M. LIPSHEZ

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR JUNK

and Second hand Furniture

Patronize a Weymouth man

Mail and Telephone will receive prompt attention. Phone Weymouth

113-M. Address, 66 Norton St.,

North Weymouth. 21,11

JUNK COLLECTED

Metal of all kinds. Rags, Magazines and Papers. Umbrellas mended. True weight and honest deal-
ing. J. Gibbs, 116 Charles St., East
Weymouth. Telephone, Weymouth,
558-W. Please telephone or send postal. Will buy or sell second hand furniture. 21,11

SEDATE ALL-DAY FROCKS

ONE-PIECE dresses serving the same purposes that suit-skirts and blouses do are better described by their newer name, all-day dresses.
It tells their story of good service, morning or afternoon. They have been made in a few very good styles, of the same serviceable materials that are used for suits, and they have come to stay. The all-day dress and the separate skirt and blouse make a welcome variety in the apparel of active women and especially of business women. Worn under heavy coats in midwinter they are warmer than suits, and worn without a wrap when the weather is mild they are less burdensome. But leaving out these practical considerations altogether, they hold a secure place in our regard because they are dependable and offer variety in the dress of busy women.

Nearly all these one-piece frocks are simple in design and many of them have been converted into frocks after doing service as suits. It is an advantage to have them simple because one does not grow tired of simple things. We may become unconscious of them, but they will not get on our nerves as fussier things do if we wear them often. As an example of simplicity the all-day dress shown above challenges comparisons. Except for a little braid couched on in the simplest of patterns and a few bone buttons set in a row at each side, it offers nothing to take our attention away from its trim fit and businesslike air.

A silk cord with tassel pretends to adjust the frock to the waist line, but that matter is taken care of in reality without its help. It makes a very fine finishing touch, however.

Silk braid has been cleverly used as a decoration for these smart all-day frocks, as it has for suits. In the dress above, long lines at the sides are accented by buttons, but in a new model short tabs of silk braid were used for this purpose. Sometimes both braid and buttons appear on a frock and they seem even better suited to it and to each other than embroidery and buttons. Some models are embellished with embroidery in bands or squares, or triangles, in set designs that are in keeping with the character of the dresses, which is sedate. But they make the right kind of background for crisp collars and cuffs if one chooses to furnish them up a bit.

Silk Culture Old.

Silk culture, according to Chinese authorities, was begun in 2600 B. C. by Si-Ling, wife of Emperor Hoangti.

EVERY scrap of linen is precious these days and cotton cloth is better worth saving than for many years.
Both are high priced and nothing in sight just now indicates that they will be lower priced. Tablecloths and sheets wear out much faster in the middle than about the edges and their usefulness can be prolonged by making them over or converting them into other articles.

Take a large tablecloth, for instance, that has thin spots where stains have been bleached or washed out. When it is not strong enough to make darning worth while it can be converted into a smaller cloth and into dollies and center pieces. For a square lunch cloth and these parts are cut into four squares and these set together with a strong band of hand crochet or imitation cluny lace. This makes a smaller cloth in four sections crossed by two bands of lace at right angles.
The edge is finished with a narrow hem and an edging of crochet or other lace may be added to this.

Enough linen can be salvaged from a worn cloth to make the handy and attractive breakfast or luncheon sets that replace cloths so often. They are more easily laundered and stay clean longer than table cloths. A circular centerpiece and dollies in two sizes—also circular—are cut from the best parts of the cloth and hemmed in a very narrow hem about the edges.
After hemming the edges, a narrow crocheted edge makes a pretty finish, either in white or colored mercerized cotton; the narrow hem may be basted down and buttonhole-stitched in white and black floss or machine-stitched with a narrow torchon edging basted over it so that the hem and lace are put on with one stitching of the sewing machine. Many housewives convert the good parts of worn linen cloths into square table napkins, machine stitching narrow hems in them, and use even the worn parts for cup towels or wash cloths.

Wide sheets that have become worn at the middle are cut in two pieces.
Then the outer edges are sewed together in a flat seam. This puts the unworn parts of the sheets at the middle. The raw edges are hemmed down. If the sheet is considerably worn it is made much narrower to serve for a single bed and the worn portion cut away.

Old sheets are relied upon to make new coverings for ironing boards, as the used ones become discolored. They serve, also, with old pillow cases, as pressing cloths when woolen clothes need freshening up. The garments which are pressed under dampened cloth which is ironed until dry, as every one knows, and the steam penetrating woolen fabrics freshens them up as nothing else will.

Worn pillow cases are very useful for protecting blouses, waists and children's dresses from dust when they are kept hanging in closets. For light-colored and dainty garments provide hangers of wire or wood. Cut a hole in the middle of the end of an old pillow case to slip the hook on the hanger through. After the waist or frock has been placed on the hanger put the pillow case over it. This is a great protection to light colors and to fabrics that gather dust, like velvet.
It is much better to have one or two poles extending across the closet and hang the clothes from them than to flatten them against walls by hanging to the ordinary wall hooks.

Julia Bottomly

Scout Naturalist Advises
Boys Not to Limit Walks to Roads and Beaten Paths

"Do not limit your winter walks to the roads and the beaten paths," advises Edward F. Bigelow, the scout naturalist, in Boys' Life. "That may be necessary in the marshland of the summer, but when the freezing weather has been prolonged take to the swamps. But be careful. Even the coldest weather sometimes leaves treacherous places in the underbrush and in other sheltered spots. Sometimes the frost is only superficial even when ice on the open ponds is thick. A little good, plain common sense will discover the riches and avoid the danger.
One never can see the best parts of a brook bank from the opposite bank.
They must be seen from the middle of the stream. I never thoroughly realized that until I started out with camera and rubber boots so that I could safely go into water about a foot and a half or two feet in depth.
The ice fringes, the ornate palaces, the wonderful recesses, the strings of jewels, the fairyland caves are all beyond our most vivid dreams. I cannot sufficiently emphasize this, because I know that there are scouts who will not believe, no matter how often I reiterate, I did not believe it myself until I tried it, and the trial was almost by chance. But when I discover this foreign fairyland, I hold it in my possession and frequently explore it.
There are many puzzles in that icy region. One cannot even imagine how some of those formations could have been made, but some of them may be puzzled out, and solving the problem is always entertaining and more so than finding the answer to word riddles.
Things are more interesting than words."

YOUR LAUGH

Contrary Statement.

"That was a paradoxical report our doctor made about the typhoid in the family."

"What was it?"

"That it was the well water which made us sick."

False Notes in the Harmony.

Young woman
(scoffingly)—
Life is one grand,
sweet song.

Old Bach (dole-fully)—Yes, but some of us have very poor voices.

A Sad Materialist.
"Your favorite musical instrument is the ukulele?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox. "It doesn't make much noise at best; and when you get tired of listening to it you can demolish it without anything like the expense that would attach to smashing a grand piano or a good violin."

Fatal Defect.

"Why did you dismiss Henry, a fine steady fellow, sure to make a good husband?"

"Yes, I know all that, but how could I be happy with a man who pronounces garage to rhyme with carriage?"

Fatal Mistake.

"How was it you didn't keep that splendid cook of yours?"

"Unfortunately, I invited an old millionaire to dine with us."

His Preference.

"It is queer our lawyer friend is so fond of dogs."

"Why is it queer?"

"You would suppose his preference was for something more in the fee-line species."

Like From Like.

"An amateur detective I know gave his wife for a present a magnificent cat's-eye ring."

"I suppose he earned that cat's eye by pussy-footing."

Each Chinese Syllable Has an Average of 105 Meanings

The Chinese language, before the attempt was made to give China a national writing in which is now known as the Chu Yin Tzu-Mu, was entirely made up of monosyllables, there being 420 in all in the official Pekingese dialect. The imperial dictionary, still the standard, although it is two centuries old, contains 44,449 words. Each Chinese syllable has an average of 105 meanings. They are distinguished by the slight difference of pronunciation and by the association of one word with the one next to it. Each of the 105 variations of the same monosyllable is an entirely distinct word to the Chinese. Each has an ideograph which bears no suggestion of the 104.

Must Have Good Tools.

As long ago as the time of the cave dweller, prehistoric man learned that the best arrow or spear was tipped with the best piece of flint. In brief, to do good work you must have good tools. In the terms of today, this means that the expert or specialist must be preferred to the untrained.—
William Roscoe Thayer.

CALL ON US

WE BUY, WE SELL, WE MOVE

We pay the highest cash prices for all kinds of used Furniture worth buying

We sell at the lowest possible prices, on time payments or great discount for cash, of our entire stock of Furniture,
Carpets, Ranges and Bedding
to furnish your home.
We do long distance Furniture
and Piano Moving as we have ample facilities for doing such work, and have only experts in handling same. So call on us if you want to furnish your home, sell your home or move
your home. We take Liberty
Bonds for face value.

Berman Furniture Co., Inc.

Complete Home Furnishers

1601-1603 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

Tel. Quincy 52334

Monuments and Headstones

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND MATERIAL.

The largest and most varied selection in the United States for you to choose from.

Inspection cordially invited.

Satisfied patronage is the bulwark of our progress
and we guarantee every Memorial furnished.

ESTABLISHED 1884.

A call will amply repay you. Booklets sent on application.

Do NOT WAIT FOR DECORATION DAY.

JOHN R. RICHARDS

Phone, Quincy 220

Works—QUINCY ADAMS

BRANCHES:

970 Main Street, Malden, Mass. Tel.

977 North Main Street, Providence, R. I. Tel.

227 Broadway, Taunton, Mass. Tel.

Brookville, Mass. Tel.

ROOF REPAIRING

Consider NEPONSET SHINGLES and the

NEPONSET ROLL ROOFINGS when

repairing roofs on any of your buildings.

A successful repair is made with Neponset.

M. R. LOUD & CO.

Columbian Square, South Weymouth

WOOD

Seasoned or Green

Delivered in Any Quantities Desired

Long Lengths $12

Sawed $14

Sawed and Split $15

A. J. RICHARDS & SON

Telephone, Weymouth 51 and 270

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD?
REMODEL or REPAIR?

For over twenty years I have served Weymouth's people and have attended to the carpenter work for hundreds of property owners.
If you have decided to build or remodel do not hesitate to consult me.
I shall be pleased to give you an exact estimate of just what your work will cost.

YOU CAN DEPEND UPON

JAMES P. HADDIE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

COMMERCIAL STREET EAST WEYMOUTH

Telephone Weymouth 287-M

Now Is The Time To Advertise

POPULAR PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE

CLASSIFIED "ADS" INCLUDING LOST, FOUND, WANTED,
TO LET AND FOR SALE THAT BRING RESULTSOne Week 50c. Three Weeks 75c—Terms in Advance
But nothing less than 50 cents for One Week

WANTED

WANTED
An energetic woman as canvasser for Victorias and the White Sewing Machine. Mrs. Bahr, 1454 Hancock street, Quincy. 3t,6,8*

HOUSEKEEPER WANTED
Wanted—housekeeper for elderly woman; middle aged woman preferred. Call or write, 27 Lincoln St., North Weymouth. 2t,6,7*

WANTED
Mother's helper; no night work. Apply to Mrs. Carl Gridley, Fogg road, South Weymouth. Phone, Weymouth, 318-W. 3t,5,7

WANTED
Girls wanted to work in Bag factory. Apply Amer. Agri. Chem. Co. office, North Weymouth, Mass. 2t,5,6

WANTED
Wood choppers at $3.50 per cord. J. O. Severance, 224 East street, East Weymouth. 3t,4,6

SALESMEN and COLLECTORS
By Casualty Ins. Co. Prospectus furnished. Whole or spare time. Dist. Manager, Rm. 11, Durgin & Merrill blk. Quincy, Tel. 3412. 4t,4,7*

HELP WANTED
Girls for general work. Good wages. Pray & Kelley 2tf

GIRLS WANTED
Girls over 18 years of age at the factory of Edmund S. Hunt & Sons Co., Weymouth. 50tf

Wanted

MACHINISTS

GRINDER HANDS

GIRLS over 16 for light machine work over 16 to learn machinist's work

Gale-Sawyer Co.
South Weymouth 2t, 5-6

WOOD FOR SALE

Long and sawed wood for sale; also sand and loam. Apply to James T. Hill, 661 Main Street, South Weymouth. 1t, 12

For the Busy Farmer Who Raises Chickens

THIS YEAR, don't bother with troublesome all kinds to raise your chicks.
Get your birds out early and brood 300 to 500 in one flock with one Candee Colony Brooder, and you will have to tend only one heater—buy coal for but one fire—save labor and fuel and have more poultry profit at the end of the year.

Attention once or twice a day is all the Candee needs because it is self-regulating and gives the chicks a correct heat all the time, and because its coal magazine feeds the fuel to the fire evenly and continuously.

CANDEE COLONY BROODERS
CAST IRON
COAL BURNING—SELF REGULATING

You need a big Brooder with big features like the Candee to raise big flocks. The heater, the grate, the hover, the depth of the felt curtain, the "breathing space" for the chicks under the hover—everything about the Candee is big.

And you want real value for your brooder money. The Candee is built on honor to last a lifetime. Its heater is all cast iron and it is a stove for business.

Its guaranteed all-wool-felt curtain keeps the heat under the hover, where it belongs, so that the stove is not required to heat the whole room to keep the chicks warm, which saves much fuel.

A safe size 12-inch grate—a special safety grate shaker and sealed base that prevent hot coals falling into the litter—and a swinging hover section that makes it easy to get at the heater to attend the fire and clean up—are other features that make the Candee your one best investment.

Drive over to my place and see this up-to-the-minute method of raising more chicks at less expense and greater profit. I will be glad to show you my Candee Colony Brooder and how it works.

JAMES THOMAS NETTLES
440 Pleasant Street
SOUTH WEYMOUTH

FOR RENT

BLACKSMITH SHOP
TO LET March 1, at 247 Washington street, Weymouth, the blacksmith shop conducted for years by Lot Lohnes. Apply to John Cochran on the premises. 3t,6,8

TO LET
Six room house, two minutes from Lincoln Square. Apply to F. A. Pray, Tel. Weymouth 101 J

ROOM TO LET
Furnished room to let, steam heat and electric lights. Apply 32 Cain avenue, East Weymouth. 3t,4,6

TO LET
An apartment of seven large rooms, will be ready for rent Jan. 20. Near Weymouth R. R. station. $20 and water rates. Geo. H. Baker, 45 Commercial street, Weymouth. 3t,6

ROOMS TO LET
TO LET—Large, sunny, clean rooms. 27 Front St., Weymouth. 3t,3,5*

FOR SALE

FOR SALE
25 A. B. Joan breed of Belgian Hares, a fine large breed; 2, 5 and 7 months old. No time to care for them. Call and see, Sat. afternoon or Sunday. P. Kelly, 23 Commercial St., E. Braintree. 3t,6,8*

FOR SALE
Ford Touring car. Fine condition. Good tires, cheap for cash and quick sale. Wey 464-W 1t,6*

EGGS FOR HATCHING
Single comb R. I. Reds, utility strain all-the-year-round layers, $2.00 setting. Hilendale Farm Poultry Yards, 578 Commercial St., East Weymouth. 5tf

EGGS AND CHICKS
R. I. Red and White Rock eggs $12.00 per hundred. Day old chicks $25.00 per hundred. From trap-nested hens that lay and pay. Pullets $3.00 each. Lualben farm, 875 Pleasant St., E. Weymouth, near Lovell's cor. Tel. 146-J. 3t,5,7*

FOR SALE
Nearly three tons of good hay for $60, or sell by weight, by ton or half ton. 26 Adams Place, South Weymouth. 3t,4,6

FUR REPAIRING
Neatly done by expert operator, either hand or machine work. Terms cheaper than Boston stores. Operator formerly with Furriers in Boston. We make a specialty of making Muffs and Scarfs or small repair jobs on fur coats, etc. Will also attend to raw skins. For appointment or particulars, address, Star Agency, Box 67, East Weymouth, Mass. 48tf

WANTED
Men or women to take orders among friends and neighbors for the genuine guaranteed hosiery, full lines for men, women and children. Eliminates darning. We pay 50c an hour for spare time or $24 for full time. Experience unnecessary. Write. International Stocking Mill, Norristown, Pa. 5tf

SPRING SEWING

The only way to have pretty and necessary clothes the coming summer, is to get back to the old-fashioned way of MAKING THEM.

A Butterick or other pattern, and one of those "Sit Straight."

WHITE Sewing Machines

Small down and monthly payments. Old machines in exchange.

BAHR'S
1454 Hancock St., Quincy
Phone Quincy 1120

February 1920

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 12.)

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL East Weymouth

Rev. Frank Kingdon, pastor. Morning worship at 10:30 with pastoral sermon on "Christian Perfection." Church Bible School at 12. Probationer's Class at the parsonage at 3:30. Epworth League service at 6 P. M.; topic, "John Bunyan;" leader, Miss Isabelle McIsaac. Popular evening service at 7 o'clock, 20 minutes of song followed by evangelistic message on "The Ancient Landmark."

Tuesday, 7:30 P. M., weekly prayer meeting followed by election of delegate to the lay Electoral Conference. Wednesday evening, Esther Mission Circle and Probationer's Class at the parsonage.

Thursday evening, Epworth League minstrel show in the vestry of the church.

Everybody is welcome to all our services. The time and place of the cottage prayer meeting will be announced.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL Weymouth and Braintree

Sunday evening there will be a patriotic Community program at the Union Church at 7 o'clock. The Life Story of Abraham Lincoln will be given with illuminated patriotic songs and hymns—47 slides, many colored. Orchestra of 7 pieces, chorus choir and good singing. All are welcome to the church where none are strangers, all are friends.

At the service of morning worship the minister will preach on "Unconscious Influence or the Song in the Night" at 10:30. Church School at 12. Young Men's Forum at 12:15, debate: "Resolved, that it would be to the best interests of Mexico for the United States to interfere to bring about a stable government." Young People's meeting at 5:45. Social half-hour of luncheon and good cheer at 6:30.

Next Tuesday evening the Flower Circle will meet at the home of Miss Bessie Miller.

A meeting really worth while is the devotional study of Jesus' character, Thursdays at 7:30 o'clock.

We are looking forward to the Men's "Challenge to the Church" in their own words, Sunday evening, February 15. Mrs. Hans Hagan is to give a violin solo and a male quartet will sing, besides the regular orchestra and chorus choir. These Sunday evening meetings are proving very popular.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

At the last meeting of Tent 32, president Mrs. Mae Barrows announced her committees for the year.

President with members of the Tent attended the exemplification of the work, by the Department officers in Dorchester, Jan. 30.

W. R. C. 112 has invited P. I. Mrs. Baker to furnish part of the entertainment in G. A. R. hall Feb. 10, in honor of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

In UNITY There Is STRENGTH

If everybody in this town SPENDS HIS MONEY in town the TOWN WILL BOOM.

You are free to admit that if THE TOWN BOOMS you will GET YOUR SHARE of the prosperity.

This is YOUR town. Your interests are here.

Trade at Home

THE POWER OF THRIFT

By WILLIAM MATHER LEWIS

Director Savings Division, Treasury Department

National Thrift Campaign is Helping Americans to Financial Independence.

A pessimistic citizen was relieving himself of a few gloomy thoughts relative to this fast dying year, 1919. "The trouble with America," said he, "is that the people won't get together on anything. Talk about the rapidity with which we organized our national resources to lick the Hun. Why say,—our speed in demobilization makes that look like a funeral procession. Every man for himself and the Devil take the ultimate consumer is the national slogan. At forgetting the lessons of the war our batting average in the League of Nations is 1000."

All Behind Thrift Movement

On the face of the returns it seems as if the depressed one was right. But fortunately here and there are indications that after all the disintegration of national solidarity is more apparent than real. It is rather significant, for instance, that the American Federation of Labor, the American Bankers' Association, the National Educational Association, the Elks, the Rotary Clubs, the Modern Woodmen of America, the Ladies of the Macabees, the National Catholic War Council, the Council of Jewish Women, and hundreds of other organizations representing every shade of thought and policy have all pledged themselves during the year to stand behind one great national movement.

Need of Thrift Today

The man whom the Chicago police forcibly disarmed from feeding ten dollar bills to a horse is president of the lodge attended by the youth with the fifteen dollar silk sash; the stenographer with the four hundred dollar fur coat, the munition maker's wife with the $350,000 pendant, and all the joyous train who are making the judicious gripe.

And in this period of reaction, of wild and nervous extravagance. The Treasury Department of the United States arose and said: "At this moment when the captains and the kings depart we will call the people back to the thrift of war days. We will justify what the war cost in money and material. We will bring out of this chaos of reconstruction a stronger America." And there was created the Treasury Department's Thrift and Savings Movement, built upon the splendid foundation of the Savings Campaign conducted during the war. Among the instruments of war finance Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps offered a means of saving by which lessons of the accumulation of capital through small steady investment could be taught. These Stamps had been the means of raising almost a billion dollars of revenue for the Government during the war and had become popular. It was therefore decided that they should be continued and their name, W. S. S., which was assuming the importance of a trade-mark, should be permanently adopted.

America Faces Financial Freedom

Occasionally Government Departments are charged with duplication of effort, but in the thrift movement the Treasury Department has been blessed with intelligent and cordial cooperation by other official agencies. The farmers of America have received the thrift message because the Department of Agriculture has acquainted its County Agents with the principles of the Thrift and Savings Movement and has instructed them to carry it to the workers in the fields.

NEARLY A MILLION WOMEN ENROLLED IN THRIFT ARMY

A thrift army of a million women in New England is now being raised by the women's organizations identified with the sale of Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates, under the supervision of the Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District.

Most of the large national women's organizations have endorsed the movement, and the work of enrolment has already commenced in each of the New England states. Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney is state chairman for Massachusetts. In New Hampshire the work is under the direction of Mrs. Mary I. Wood. Mrs. William C. Eaton of Portland has charge of the enrolment in Maine. In Vermont, Mrs. D. C. Jones of Waterbury, has charge of this state's work. In Rhode Island, Mrs. Caesar Misch of Providence, is directing the work in this state. In Connecticut, Miss Gertrude Bretzke of Hartford, has charge of the enrolment in this state.

Reports received by Mrs. Myra B. Lord, who has supervision of the work of raising this Thrift army in New England, states that one hundred per cent reports have already been received from Island Pond, Vermont and many districts throughout Connecticut. Island Pond was the first to report that the women's organizations were all members of this new Thrift army.

It is expected that within a couple of weeks reports will show that the ranks of this new Thrift army have been filled and there is little doubt but what the number will total more than one million.

SAVINGS STAMPS MUST BE ATTACHED TO CARDS

Because of a misunderstanding on the part of some people to the effect that Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps are redeemable when detached from the official Thrift card or War Savings Certificate issued to contain these securities, Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, director of the Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District, is sending out information calling attention to the government ruling which states that neither Thrift Stamps nor War Savings Stamps are cashable unless they are affixed to the official cards issued by the government for this purpose.

Information which has reached the headquarters of the Savings Division shows that some people have attempted to cash either their Thrift Stamps or War Savings Stamps when not attached to cards. When refused payment they have been rather at sea as to why they should be refused. Mrs. Higginson points out that if the people will be sure that these securities are affixed to the cards issued by the U. S. Government only, it will not only save trouble for themselves, but will also make things easier for the postal officials.

JOHN WANAMAKER:—The first principle of money making is money saving.

HENRY FORD:—Thrift is one of the cornerstones on which manhood must be constructed.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. A. B. Austin wishes to thank her many friends and customers for their kindnesses and thoughtfulness during her recent illness. Weymouth, Feb. 5, 1920. 1t,6

BORN

LINDSAY—In North Weymouth, Jan. 17, a daughter to James and Josephine (Enright) Lindsay of 53 River street.

CALARUSSO—In North Weymouth, Jan. 20, a daughter to Pasquale and Josephine Calarussio, of 176 Bridge street.

McDONALD—In North Weymouth, Jan. 27, a daughter to John S. and Sarah (Pitts) McDonald of 1 Sea street.

LEVANGIE—In East Weymouth, Jan. 30, a daughter to William Edward and Edith (Taylor) Levangie of 42 Putnam street.

LILLA—In East Weymouth, Jan. 30, a son to John and Carmella (Alverez) Lilla, 30 off Lake street.

BURKE—In East Weymouth, Jan. 30, a daughter to Thomas and Louise (Bates) Burke of 38 Iron Hill street.

MARRIED

NASH—ANDERSON—In South Weymouth, Jan. 31, by Rev. Ora A. Price, Homer Clayton Nash of North Abington and Ella Anderson of Weymouth.

DIED

PRATT—At the New England Baptist Hospital, Feb. 3, Ernest Khalifa, son of Seth Arthur and the late Carrie Louisa Pratt, in his 30th year. Funeral services at 426 Bridge street, North Weymouth, on Saturday at 2:30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited.

HUMPHREY—In Boston, Feb. 1, Edward Irving Humphrey, formerly of Weymouth, in his 83d year.

HAHN—In Quincy, Jan. 31, Ellen M., widow of John J. Hahn, formerly of Weymouth aged 69.

GUSTIN—In South Braintree, Feb. 7, Mercie T., widow of Edwin A. Gustin, formerly of Weymouth.

STERLING—In Quincy, Feb. 3, Fred O. Sterling, formerly of Summer street, Weymouth, aged 68.

WHITE—In East Braintree, Feb. 3, Albert N. White of 136 Shaw street, aged 64.

HOWARD—In East Weymouth, Feb. 1, George W. Howard of 123 High street, aged 75.

YORK—In South Weymouth, Feb. 1, Pauline Hazel, daughter of Harry E. and Nellie York of 20 Pond street, aged 15 months.

MUNROE—In South Weymouth, Jan. 30, Willard S. son of George W. and Laura S. Munroe, aged 7 months.

CALARUSSO—In North Weymouth, Jan. 26, Pasquale, widow of Angelo Calarussio of 176 Bridge street, aged 76.

VICINI—In East Weymouth, Jan. 26, Benedict, son of Lee and Olive Vicini of 15 Washburn street, aged 3 months.

Willard J. Dunbar & Son

UNDERTAKERS

AND

EMBALMERS

802 BROAD ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Automobile service when desired.

Telephone Weymouth 93

C. C. Shepherd

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

AND EMBALMER

Lady Assistant Automobile Hearse

Telephone Connection

134 Pleasant St. "Qu'h Weymouth

DANIEL H. CLANCY

UNDERTAKER

4 Richmond St., Cor. Washington, Weymouth

CARRIAGE AND MOTOR SERVICE

Telephone, Weymouth 814 W

C. L. RICE & SON

Funeral Directors

AND

Embalmers

294 Union Street, Rockland

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

VICTOR H. HALL of Ward 3 has severed his connections with the Federal Reserve Bank and taken a position with the Weymouth Trust Co. where he would be pleased to meet and make Business acquaintances.

Weymouth Trust Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 67

Big Land Sale At North Weymouth

Announcement is made of the transfer to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston of more than 20 acres of North Weymouth land having a frontage of about two-thirds of a mile on Fore river. The negotiations were conducted by Whitcomb & Co., real estate brokers and agents.

The tract acquired comprises 406,965 square feet of land of $13,300 assessed value, purchased from Solomon Ford; 463,500 feet of $31,350 assessed value, purchased from Joseph H. Van Auker; 70,900 feet of $1500 assessed value purchased from Emma F. Welch, and 4535 feet of $275 assessed value, purchased from G. W. Sargent.

Included are the properties known as Lovell's grove or New Downer Landing and the Grave's lot or Green's Neck.

This sale means much to Weymouth as it is reported that the Edison Company will erect a $4,000,000 plant. It will not compete with the Weymouth Light and Power Company, but may supply the local company with electricity both for power and lighting purposes, thus assuring a large supply at all times.

The Edison Company may also supply several of the South Shore towns. The sale includes all the land bounded by Bridge street, Monatiquot street and the Weymouth Fore river.

It adds another big plant to those already located on Weymouth Fore river. While Quincy has its shipyard, and Braintree its Oil Refining plant, Weymouth will have the biggest electrical power plant in New England.

CONSERVATION OF COAL
The important part that the gas industry of the country is playing in the conservation of our natural resources is revealed in a statement issued from headquarters of the American Gas Association, 120 East 15th Street, New York City.

Taking up the subject of coal and its utilization, the Association says: "Every pound of coal that is burned as fuel before it is distilled means that the nation is losing just that much of its resources. The gas industry is a party to no such waste as that."

"Instead of completely destroying the most valuable elements contained in coal by burning it to generate a little heat, the gas industry separates the coal into its constituent parts, making each part available for use in the most efficient and effective manner. It is evident, therefore, that the gas industry is one of the greatest conservators of our coal supply."

"It is estimated that 7,000,000 tons of bituminous coal were used in gas manufacture in 1919. From this vast amount of coal the gas industry extracted and delivered free of all impurities gas of a high illuminating and heating value and in addition recovered a number of valuable by-products, such as coke, tar and ammonia."

"The industry's work in the production of toluol, a raw material for the manufacture of high explosives, stands out among the important contributions to the success of our war program and activity from beginning to end free from any suspicion of profit or self-interest, and solely in the public service."

NO ROOM FOR IDLERS
In his sermon at the 7.30 mass Sunday morning Rev. C. I. Riordon, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, East Weymouth, touched upon one of the vital topics of the present day, when he alluded to the great unrest prevalent throughout the world. Fr. Riordon stated that there were three kinds of labor, mental, spiritual, and physical, and that they were all necessary to each other. That everyone had to produce so much labor of one kind or another to pay his way, else they were sponging on others. Only by putting our shoulders to the wheel and putting forth our greatest effort could we hope for normal times. By each working our hardest, we not only help our country in the present crisis, but have a great deal of satisfaction and happiness. Work was a cure for evil, he concluded.

HOWLEY AGAIN A MANAGER
Daniel Howley of Broad street, who was with the Detroit baseball club last season as coach, is to manage Hartford in the Eastern Association next season. When he received the offer, Manager Jennings of the Detroit club would not stand in his way and gave him his release. He is making his home in Hartford and has lines out for some fast players. He has a good opportunity to make good in Hartford as he did in Montreal for

Notice To Voters REGISTRATION

Weymouth, January 30, 1920. Meetings of the Registrars of Voters for the purpose of receiving qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1920 will be held as follows:

Precinct 1—Engine House, North Weymouth, on Friday, February 13, from 7.30 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 2—At Town Office, Savings Bank Building, East Weymouth, on Saturday, February 21, from 12 M. to 10 P. M.
Precinct 3—Engine House, Weymouth, on Tuesday, February 17, from 7.30 to 9 P. M.
Precinct 4—Hose House, Nash's Corner, on Wednesday, February 18, from 7.45 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 5—Engine House, South Weymouth, on Thursday, February 19, from 7.30 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 6—Engine House, East Weymouth, on Thursday, February 12, from 7.30 to 9 P. M.

REGISTRATION WILL CLOSE on Saturday, February 21. The Registrars will be in session at the Town Office from 12 M. to 10 P. M.

The Board of Assessors will meet with the Registrars of Voters at all of their sessions.

BENJAMIN F. SMITH,
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
PATRICK E. CORRIGAN,
MARSHALL P. SPRAGUE,
Registrars of Voters of Weymouth, 36.8

Incorporated March 6, 1868 South Weymouth Savings Bank

Officers 1920
President, R. WALLACE HUNT
Vice-Presidents,
Ellis B. Pitcher Almon B. Raymond
Treasurer, Fred T. Barnes
Clerk, Ralph P. Burrell

Board of Investments
I. Wallace Hunt Ellis J. Pitcher
Almon B. Raymond Gordon Willis
Theron L. Tirrell George L. Barnes
G. L. Wentworth

Trustees
I. Wallace Hunt Alvin Hollis
Ellis J. Pitcher Howard H. Joy
Almon B. Raymond J. Frank Martin
Fred T. Barnes Elbridge Nash
George L. Barnes Theron L. Tirrell
Geo. L. Wentworth B. A. Bennett
George W. Conant Gordon Willis
E. Wilbur Dyer Matthew O'Dowd
Valter R. Field Frank E. Loud
Arthur C. Heald Walter L. Bates

Auditors
Theron L. Tirrell Arthur C. Heald
Howard H. Joy

Corporators
William Shaw Theron L. Tirrell
Alvin Hollis Walter L. Bates
Almon B. Raymond George W. Conant
H. Stetson J. Frank Martin
I. Wilbur Dyer J. B. Reed
Ellis J. Pitcher Gordon Willis
Elbridge Nash George L. Barnes
Howard H. Joy Fred L. Bagley
C. H. Kelley C. W. Fearing
E. A. Bennett E. A. Bennett
Anassa D. Stoddard Matthew O'Dowd
Arthur C. Heald Walter R. Field
Geo. L. Wentworth John F. Reardon
Charles T. Foster Frank E. Loud
I. Wallace Hunt Fred T. Barnes

Bank Hours
9 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M. Also Mondays, 7 to 8 P. M. Saturdays, 9 to 12 A. M.
Deposits go on interest second Wednesday of January, April, July and October.
Dividends payable on and after the second Wednesday of January and July.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
Whenever a Gazette subscriber wants a change of address he should promptly notify the publisher—address, Gazette, Weymouth, Mass. Don't expect the post office authorities to do it.

For the same reason, please notify the publisher when you desire the Gazette discontinued. Usually the publisher does not stop a paper without notice, although the subscription has expired.

The Big Sale Event of the Year ANNUAL February Clearance Sale

A YEARLY EVENT THAT CAUTIOUS BUYERS WAIT FOR

Starts Saturday, Feb. 7 and Continues Thro the Month

SAVINGS AMOUNT TO 15 AND 30%

Some selections are limited and cannot be duplicated at these prices

IMMEDIATE BUYING IS NECESSARY IF YOU WOULD REAP THESE BENEFITS

Henry L. Kincaide & Co.
1495 HANCOCK ST., QUINCY

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

Why Not Enjoy Your Sleep?

Bedsteads
Mattresses
and Comforters

Ford Furniture Co. Broad Street
East Weymouth
Phone Wey. 272-M

How do you like the Anniversary Events?

OAK AND PINE WOOD

$12 per Cord — Cord Length
$13 per Cord — Sawn
BY CORD OR HALF CORD

Delivered in Weymouth or Braintree.

Hingham Wood Co.
Telephone, Hingham 226-M

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

AGood Bank in a Good Town

Member American and Massachusetts Bankers
Association

WE BELIEVE we have one of the most serviceable banks in one of the best towns of its size in the state.

Our continually increasing number of satisfied customers is the best evidence that we are serving each one individually in a satisfactory manner.

Our Officers and Directors are men of good sound business judgment, well and favorably known throughout the community.

We endeavor to work for the betterment of our town and district, as well as for the interests of the individual.

The Hingham Trust Company

B. A. ROBINSON, President. SETH SPRAGUE, Treas.

Suits and Overcoats $29.50 to $50.00

AND

MACKINAWS

AND

EVERYTHING A MAN WEARS

— AT —

C. R. Denbroeder's

750 Broad Street, East Weymouth

Rubbers! Rubbers!

For the Family

Every Style First Grade

— ALSO —

ARCTICS

And RUBBER BOOTS

Are You Prepared for Snow?

W. M. TIRRELL

Broad Street Jackson Square
East Weymouth

CORSETS

Front Lace—COSSARD
Back Lace—NEMO, R. & G., WARNER, REGAL
AND OUR OWN STYLE LYNETTE

A model and price to fit every figure.

EXPERT FITTERS always in attendance

Special Attention to

Medical and Maternity Fittings.

HOME SERVICE IF DESIRED AND

Brassieres

that are so necessary to complete the FIT of the Corset.

SELF-REDUCING

The Corset Shop

S. E. DUNPHY
8 MAPLE STREET
QUINCY

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

CHANGE OF SOME SORT SURE

Returning Soldier Feels He Has at Least Earned a Better Chance Than He Has Hitherto Been Granted.

Article III.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

Europe wears an anxious look. One thought is arousing her from the stupor of her misery. She opens her eyes in wide amazement when she notices and notes the striking change that has come over her children. It is puzzling her, although she well knows what they have gone through, how patiently and uncomplainingly they suffered. It isn't strange to her that they have changed, when she remembers the peace of the years before the war, the quiet, sane lives they lived, and the four years in which they lived in wet, foul sewers called trenches, slept in tombs on the edge of a strip of hell called No Man's Land, breathed the smell of burning flesh, saw their pals "go west," buried their dead, grinned at pain, laughed at death. Nerves of steel could not stand what they have gone through without being changed by it.

They have put on mufti again. It is strange to them. The quiet streets are dull. The demobilized soldier feels the lull. The tenseness over depression sets in. During the war he didn't have time to think of anything except the job ahead of him. Every minute, every move was life or death to him. Now he realizes for the first time what he has gone through, wonders why he is alive. Two thoughts possess his mind; one the memory of every minute of the days and nights of the war—the other, of what is ahead of him, what he is going to do with his life! He is at a strange crossroads. The word "job" doesn't mean much to him. It isn't that he is lazy. He has to pinch himself to realize that it is over and that he is back from the war.

Earned Right to Better Place.

Between the whizz of machine bullets and the shriek of shrapnel he spent his time thinking, and his thoughts were not all about the war. He never got used to the war, but he learned to forget it. He has brought more than souvenirs and memories from his experience. He has brought home thoughts, ideas and ambitions from the trenches. Many a night, looking over No Man's Land, listening to the "banshee" of the war, he thought and resolved that if he ever came back he wanted, and would have, a better chance in this queer thing called life. He feels that he has paid for a place, and he has paid. He has earned the right to a decent place in the world, for which he fought. He helped save the world and he looks to that world to save him from a meaningless machine existence. If it doesn't he has made up his mind to use force. He is willing to work, wants to work, but he insists on being part of his work, rather than his work being all of him. He sees, feels and measures things from an intensely human angle. He feels his humanness. The war emphasized the value and meaning of the human being. It was life or death. He is alive. He wants a human interest in his work.

Hundreds of demobilized soldiers in different parts of Europe, in different words, in different languages, have said to me: "If the world isn't going to give us a better chance than it gave us before the war, then the world wasn't worth fighting for. When we fought, they told us it was to make the world safe for democracy and to make life worth while. We thought this meant us and ours. We have learned that life isn't only a question of a job and enough to eat, we want to be treated like human beings. A man wants to feel that his work means more to him than just wages. He spends most of his time at work, the rest of it is spent with his family and in sleeping so he will be able to work the next day. Why shouldn't he have an interest in the business, and why shouldn't the business have an interest in him? We don't want to run the business, all we ask is a say in it, a friendly say in it. Some people think that to be fed is to be free—it isn't. Being free means being treated like a human being."

I have found many good honest men and women who have lost interest in work. They say, "We don't get a fair share of what we make. We fight among ourselves for jobs because we have to or starve, and they pay us as little as they can." I am not reasoning or arguing this question. I am stating a fact which indicates the state of mind of millions of men and women in Europe who did their bit for civilization during the past four years.

Fair Hearing Must Be Granted.

Calling these people bolsheviks doesn't silence them nor solve the problem. Such tactics irritate and deepen the unrest. Their grievance must be given a fair, patient hearing. Their attitude of mind must be reckoned with if we hope to get back to normal living. I have heard some say that these people must be given to understand that they must work or starve. No law or government in the world is powerful enough to compel people to work. This is particularly true of the people today. To think of using force is foolish, suicidal.

We have had enough of force during the last four years and the farther we get away from the idea of beating one another into submission the better off we all shall be. The present unrest is positively dangerous. It isn't like any unrest we have ever had before. It is the restlessness of human beings who have been face to face with death. We need a lot of calmness and common sense. By kindly conference we must try to understand each other, and by just compromise help each other. Of one thing I am sure, and that is, if an effort is made to use blind, brute force on the working people of the world, the present unrest will be set in motion, a whirlwind will break upon the world.

The plain, open road back to happiness is co-operation. If we stop for a moment and realize what we have been through, and the changes that have come upon us while we were going through it, we will find getting together easy. Unrest blocks the road. It fetters the will to work. We must face the truth, and the sooner we do, the better. The world is broke. The war has bankrupted Europe. One thing, and one thing only, will bring us back to sane, normal living. It is work. Sympathy and understanding will do more to secure peace, stimulate work, than defiance, challenge and threats.

A normal world is one in which men live and work together in peace, where all men have a chance to be happy. This means an interest in work, a joy in working—living to work, rather than working to live. Men must have food, clean wholesome food, and enough of it to do their work without exhaustion. Men must have clothes. Not only the quantity and quality necessary to protect their bodies from the weather, but clothes that satisfy the normal instinct for appearing clean and neat. Decent clothes sustain self-respect. Men without them are less normal and moral.

All Need a Playtime.

There must be a time between the end of the day and the beginning of sleep in which men can know and enjoy their families. The man who is so used up by his day's work that he falls asleep at his supper table isn't playing fair with his wife and children, and his employer isn't playing fair with him. All men are boys, even after they have gray hair. This quality is probably the finest and best in them. They need a playtime, a recreation time. They lose something and the world loses more when they do not get it. It is not enough that bodies are fed, minds must not be starved. Light is the right of every human being with eyes. Education is light. The human race must have light. None of us were intended to live in darkness. Children are entitled to a school time, a jump-the-rope time, a top time, a play time. A child who enters manhood or womanhood without ever having known a childhood goes through life with something missing, something lost. The creed of the changed world is that while the world doesn't owe anyone a living, it is obligated to give every human being a chance to make a decent living. The new commandment is that this chance must be given.

I found these thoughts planted in the unrest in Europe. They are strongly, deeply rooted in the consciousness of the people. They are growing. Men and women are gardening, cultivating, protecting these ideas. Any effort to uproot or destroy these flowering thoughts will be resented and fought by the gardeners. They are not weed thoughts—they are the blooms of hope and they belong to the poor. They will fight and die before they will see these hope growths trampled under foot. This is the only garden they have. The blood of the dead fertilized it. The living care for it.

Words.

"And now," concluded the super orator, as he bowed to the frenzied applause of the common people, "if I have made any point clear to this intelligent audience I will feel that I have failed of my purpose. However, the greatest of mortals is prone to err, so, in justice to the great issue at stake, I trust that anyone who understands what the League of Nations really is will ask such questions as will enable me to obscure such parts of it as may be clear to you now."

..... Silence. More silence. And then some.

"Ah! Your silence is flattering, indeed. If you will now dispense with shaking my hand, I will bid you adieu, as I must save my energy for the speech I am to deliver tomorrow before the former munition makers on 'How to Combat the High Cost of Living.'—Life.

Little Drops of Water.

It has been stated that people are as ignorant of the size of the sea as they are of matters dealing with astronomy. Few are aware, for instance, that the Pacific ocean covers 68,000,000 miles; the Atlantic 30,000,000 miles, and the Indian ocean, Arctic, and Antarctic 42,000,000.

To stow away the contents of the Pacific it would be necessary to fill a tank one mile long, one mile wide, and one mile deep, every day for 440 years. Put in figures, the Pacific holds in weight 884,000,000,000,000,000 tons.

The Atlantic averages a depth of not quite three miles. Its waters weigh 325,000,000,000,000,000 tons, and a tank to contain it would have each of its sides 430 miles long.

LIMITATIONS OF NATURE.

"It's no use," sighs the nature wizard, "I may as well give up."

"What is bothering you?" we asked, sympathetically.

"I got started a few years ago on a whim of mine. I took a head of cabbage and crossed it with a white potato and grew eyes on it, then I crossed them with a cornstalk and grew ears on it, then I crossed that with a squash and grew a neck on it, then I crossed that with a coconut and grew hair on it, but hanged if I can figure out what to do for a nose and mouth."

On the Watch.

Mrs. Styles—I see an inventor has combined a cigar cutter with a watch for men.

Mr. Styles—Is it in the shape of a lady?

"I don't know. But why?"

"Well, they're always on a watch for men."

Called Him.

The sour-faced man looked at his seat companion on the train, who was littering the floor with shells, and said sneeringly: "Down where I come from they use peanuts to fatten hogs."

"That so?" said the other. "Here, have some."

No Motor Immunities.

"Anyhow," remarked the hant friend, "this old boat of yours will never get you arrested for speeding."

"No," answered Mr. Chuggins, "but I'll get arrested just the same, only it'll be for standing still in the wrong place."

POOR TENANTS.

Bug Landlord—Drat those Appleworms, they've skipped their rent and eaten half the house besides!

Contention.

How oft has fierce contention flared, Then faded all inert!

Men very frequently are scared, But very seldom hurt.

Just So.

"Have you ever reflected how paradoxical the second hand of a clock is?"

"How so?"

"It is right up to the minute."

The Way of It.

"Are you in good odor with her father?"

"Well, as far as he is concerned, I am afraid ours would be a centless marriage."

To Keep a Secret.

Mr. Multitox—I'm going to send you a bunch of orchids for your birthday tomorrow. Shall I make it one for each year?

Miss Peachblow—Then all the girls will count them and find out how old I am. Better send me a hundred. They'll know I'm not that old.

How He Does It.

"His wife believes everything he tells her."

"That so? How does he manage it?"

"He makes it a practice not to tell her much."

After the Exertion.

"Some officeholders are not very industrious."

"Well," explained Senator Sorghum, "after a man has been running for office he's liable to feel tired enough for a good, long rest."

Bank on Checks.

Bill—The word Czechs should be pronounced as though it were spelled "checks."

Gill—But can I bank on that?

He Didn't Know.

Sentimental Mary—Oh, don't you just love to cuddle up against the good old spring and feel the gloriousness of it!

Mere man—I don't know. I've always slept on a mattress.

Truth and Poetry.

"You should keep to the straight and narrow path."

"True," said Mr. Chuggins, with great earnestness. "The journey of life, like every other journey, seems to be at its worst in the detours."

FIRST COMPLETED BRIDGE ON THE OLD SPANISH TRAIL

A flock of northern homeseekers on the old Spanish Trail highway bridge at Lake Charles, La., the first of the bridges to be completed on the famous old Spanish trail running between Jacksonville, Fla., and the Pacific coast. The bridge cost over $2,000,000.

WHERE DEMOCRATS WILL MEET IN NATIONAL CONVENTION

The San Francisco Civic Auditorium, where the Democratic national convention will open June 28, 1920. It was erected at a cost of one million dollars and will seat from 10,000 to 15,000 persons.

THIS AIRPLANE MODEL RISES VERTICALLY

Wm. J. Beach of Australia, a pioneer in aviation, and his model helicopter, which he recently demonstrated before a committee from the American Flying club. The little plane actually rose vertically from a standing position on the table, and, to quote Mr. Beach, "there is no reason why an actual plane built along the same lines should not do the same."

IT WOULD NOT WORK IN WASHINGTON

When two Washington photographers mounted a hay wagon and had it tilted by the grounds of the White House they started something. Even if the White House policemen had not heard how the Dutch photographed the x-kaiser, the secret service men had, so in about a minute the hay wagon was surrounded with bluecoats. The incident was closed when the photographers explained that they had not exposed a plate, and even if they had, the president was indoors.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

An imperial institute of patentees will be organized in England to guard the interests of patentees and patent owners.

A cylindrical blotter that can be mounted on the end of a fountain pen has been invented.

Direct wireless communication be-

The bulk of coal imported into Italy is now coming from the United States. The Italian government is looking to Asia Minor as a possible source of supply.

In a new comb for drying the hair a rubber bulb forces air heated by electricity in the handle through perforated teeth.

The gradual melting of the snows

MISS ANNE GORDON

Miss Anne Gordon, one of the most popular debutantes of the season in Washington, is the daughter of Mrs. George Barnett, wife of the commandant of the United States marines.

NEW PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

Paul Deschanel, who is the new president of the French republic, has been president of the chamber of deputies for many years and is considered one of the strongest and most brilliant public men in France. This is a recent portrait.

The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY
HALL

Copyright by
Dodd, Mead & Co., Inc.

"AND HERE IS HIS CROIX DE GUERRE."

Synopsis.—In a base hospital at Neuilly, France, his face disfigured beyond recognition, an American soldier serving in the French army attracts attention by his deep despondency. Asked by the surgeons for a photograph to guide them in making over his face, he offers in derision a picture of the Saviour, bidding them take that as a model. They do so, making a remarkable likeness. Invalided home, on the boat he meets Martin Harmon, New York broker, who is attracted by his remarkable features. The ex-soldier gives his name as "Henry Hilliard" and his home as Syracuse, New York. He left there under a cloud, and is embittered against his former fellow townsmen. Harmon makes him a proposition to sell mining stocks in Syracuse, concealing his identity. He accepts it, seeing in it a chance to make good and prove he has been underestimated.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

He knew, from meticulous study and practice, the full effect of his manner, which was distinguished, patrician. He knew the almost irresistible magnetism which had befallen him by accident. He had been prepared—in his own imagination—for the battery of interest which was promptly trained upon him. And yet, as he pursued his luggage toward the desk, he faltered in his pride, he felt as though the sorrowful eyes of all Syracuse were riveted upon him; the well-recalled surroundings unmaned him, and he was impelled to halt, lift up his hands in token of surrender, and to cry out: "This is not I! This is not I! It is the man I might have been—if you and I had understood each other!" So great was his anguish that in that moment he honestly believed that it was the equal fault of the city, and of himself, that he had gone forth discredited.

Behind the desk stood a clerk and—Hilliard's heart tripped—the manager who had tendered him the ultimatum. Hilliard's pen split a blot of ink on the register; his ears were tuned for the speech of recognition which would blast his dreams of triumph, and send him off again in multiplied disgrace.

"Yes, sir," said the clerk with extreme deference, "and about what price, sir?"

The manager, who had been scrutinizing Hilliard intently, whispered something to the clerk; the clerk hit his lip and looked up sharply; the prodigal winced, and stiffened. "Parlor C—ten dollars?" asked the clerk. "Very comfortable room, sir . . . Front!"

The manager, as Hilliard retreated, said impatiently to the clerk: "What's the matter with you, Jimmy, anyway? Don't you know how to size up a man yet? Don't ask a man like that what he'll have—tell 'em what we've got!"

Upstairs, Hilliard went limp from the reaction. He had doubted what he knew—and this was proof of his lack of innocence. But the manager—who two years ago had called him by his first name—the manager had looked him full in the face, and made not the faintest sign of recognition!

It was in improved confidence, then, that he went down to dinner; and deliberately chose a central seat in the most popular of the three available rooms. He was actively eager to be observed; now that he had passed his first examination, he craved test after test; no inquisition could be too urgent for him. And at the nearest table sat a business man he knew, and a girl he knew; from their matter-of-fact attentiveness, he judged that they had been married during his absence; they gazed intently at him, but only in admiration. He mentally checked off his list—that made a trio of old acquaintances who failed to know him. Facing him, a dozen feet away, sat a man who had been Hilliard's employer for an epochal six weeks—this man, too, was obviously interested, but unlightened. Four!

A dinner party, comprising six girls and six young men, fled gayly past him; every one of the twelve he had known well, some of them intimately; they looked down at him in passing, and, without exception, went on in ignorance. A tiny roseleaf of a girl was rather noticeably attracted to him; she spoke to her partner, who turned, and stared, and nodded in the bored fashion of any escort to whom a handsome stranger is pointed out; and Hilliard could have laughed aloud at the irony of the incident. They had known each other for a dozen years, that girl and Hilliard; in the dozen and first, her mother had forbidden him her house.

He dined with considerable leisure, and smoked a cigar almost to the end before he left the table. When he quitted the room, it was with practical assurance that his gravest fears were groundless, but for an additional precaution he read an evening paper in the lobby and endured in safety the inspection of a score of men who had known him well enough to refuse to loan him money.

At half-past eight, vastly heartened and refreshed, he equipped himself with certain documents from his suitcase, and called for a taxicab. The address he gave the driver was high on the eastern hills; during the last half mile, Hilliard was peering out at the shaded lights of houses where he had played in his earlier youth. The car stopped; Hilliard went up a stone-flagged walk, up broad stone steps, and stood on a huge veranda. He was calm, and yet his knees were disconcertingly unsteady; he was determined, and yet his heart was pumping in uneven beats; for the moment, his throat was dusty dry.

As he gained the level of the veranda, there was a stir of activity off to the right, and an erect, middle-aged man clambered out of a hammock, and came briskly forward. Back in the shadows Hilliard could detect the soft outlines of a white dress.

"Yes?" The middle-aged man was politely brusque.

"Is this . . . Mr. Cullen? Mr. James Cullen?"

"Yes, sir!" The middle-aged man was very convincing about it. "Yes, sir. What can I do for you?"

Hilliard bowed stiffly from the hips—a touch of foreign courtesy which had its effect.

"If you're at leisure, Mr. Cullen, I should like very much to have a word with you. On—I think I may call it so—urgent private matters. My name is Hilliard. In brief, I've come up from New York today to bring you a letter from a young man named Richard Morgan."

"Morgan!" said the older man sharply, "Dick Morgan!" Back in the shadows there was a sudden rustle. "Where's he?"

"He's dead," said Hilliard. "He died in France." Mr. Cullen stood perfectly still, and Hilliard, watching him intently, was overcome by resentment at the knowledge that two years ago this man had held Hilliard's fate in his thick fingers.

"No!" said Mr. Cullen. "Of all things! Well, what do you know about that! Dick Morgan dead!" There was surprise, but little polynacy in his tone. "Isn't that terrible! And over in France! . . . Angela, did you hear that?"

More rustling from the shadows, and a slim figure stepping out of them into the foreground; it was Angela Cullen, just over the brink of seventeen, exquisitely small and blonde, and profoundly agitated by the news. Hilliard bowed mechanically; he had remembered her as a vivid little hoyden. Queer, that his heart should skip a beat or two at beholding her now. But she had brought the first remembrance of untroubled days back to him, and the contrast hurt—abominably.

"Oh, dad!" she said with a quick intake of her breath. "Oh . . . dad!" And clung to him for refuge, staring the while with wide and fearful eyes at the tall stranger who had delivered the laconic message.

Cullen held her close, and cleared his throat. He was in the common-enough situation of a man who feels that he ought to be deeply moved, and isn't, and wonders why; and his transparent effort to be funeral was slightly overdone.

"It's a great shock to us—of course," he said, speaking slowly. "A great shock. . . . Oh! Mr. Hilliard—my daughter. Well, I must say I . . . Suppose we sit down and talk this over—"

Hilliard bowed again; Mr. Cullen, his arm encircling Angela, led the way to the hammock and its reinforcement of wicker chairs. The trio was seated; Hilliard coughed delicately, and after that, there was a brief silence. Gradually, the air was charged with constraint. Here he was, and there was Angela and Mr. Cullen—all of them a little older, all of them a great deal more repressed, but even so, here they were, these three, just as they had sat in the same place, on the same sort of summer evenings, when Dicky Morgan wasn't yet anathema, and when . . .

"This . . . this thing happened some time ago, did it? You were abroad yourself?"

"Yes, I was."

"I want to hear about Dick," said Angela in a dry little voice. "Please! And . . . and who are you, Mr. Hilliard?"

"Angela!" said her father, reproachfully, but Hilliard, coughing with great vehemence, felt a sudden influx of triumph which gave him confidence. It was the triumph of dramatic success; the consciousness that whatever might come next, he had actually appeared before people who knew him best, and that they saw a stranger. He smiled, as a churchman smiles.

"All I pretend to be is a friend of Dick's. I—"

"Oh! A friend!" Cullen's intonation was curiously warped.

"Perhaps you'll understand better if I go back to the beginning. Shall I?"

"Do." Cullen motioned him carte blanche, and Hilliard took a long breath, and began.

"Back in May, 1915," he said, "I went to England and then to France to arrange some government contracts for copper products. In France, I was stunned—as everyone—by the backlash of the war. And like everyone else, I did what I could on the spot . . . bought tobacco for the soldiers, and all that sort of thing. It isn't a question of charity, once you see the circumstances—you simply look, and realize that the most you can do is so trivial in comparison with what there is to be done that you . . . well, you do all you can and wish to heaven it were ten thousand times more. And then you try to find out where your mite will do the most good, and it staggers you because there are so many places where they need everything you have and everything everybody else has. It so happened that a friend of mine was in one of the American surgical units at Neuilly. I couldn't spread my own little contributions over all the institutions that needed it—there wouldn't have been enough to notice, so naturally I spent most of my time and most of my money at Neuilly. The cases there are all severe. The men need more help than the average, and there was one ward in particular . . . I won't describe it to you, but the first time I ever set foot in it, I knew I'd found the place to take all I had to give. And it was there that I met this man Morgan." He paused a moment. "And Morgan needed me more than anyone else in the ward."

"Was he . . . hurt so badly?" The girl's voice was taut with feeling.

"Yes, badly," he said, "but that wasn't the point. He was alone. He was friendless. He was under the darkest cloud that ever man can live under. You know what it was, Mr. Cullen."

The older man nodded tardily. "I have an idea," he conceded.

"Well, there he was—wounded, and marooned in France, and with a bad conscience. Perhaps you can understand why he got my sympathy."

"Poor Dick!" said Angela, barely above a whisper, and Hilliard, looking across at her, was stirred by vague intuitions which rendered him guiltily uncomfortable. It had simply never occurred to him in announcing the death of a man who had run away from Syracuse in disgrace, he might find pity and forgiveness waiting for expression. Was there still an opportunity for him to change his tactics, to admit that it was only the unregenerate soul and the outward countenance of Dicky Morgan that had perished, and to maintain that a new being, a penitent and resolute being, had arisen phoenixlike to make atonement for the wasted years that had been ended by shrapnel fire from the Huns? And suppose he did so, what would they say? If public opinion were to model itself upon the sorrow of poor little Angela Cullen, was it not better to confess at once, to wipe the slate clean, and to begin afresh? Had he said so much that the pathway to truth was closed—or was a lie well stuck to better than the truth, half told?

Morals, which are nothing but negative virtues anyway, hang on trifles. Hilliard was tottering on the utter-most edge of decision—and Mr. Cullen flung the weight of an aimless charge against him, and settled the matter out of hand.

"He certainly had plenty to be sorry for," said Mr. Cullen.

"Oh, dad!" said Angela, with a quick intake of her breath.

Virtuous, was Mr. Cullen. A church-goer and a communicant, was Mr. Cullen. A giver of alms, and a friend to his friends—but in forgetting that the evil that men do shouldn't rightfully be allowed to live on after them, and in remembering, perhaps too clearly at that moment, the final interview he had held with Dicky Morgan, Mr. Cullen throttled repentance into a state of furious helplessness, and brought back Hilliard to his senses.

"Yes," said Hilliard, "he had plenty to be sorry for, and he was. Of his troubles here, I'm not capable of sitting as judge. Instead, I sat as confessor. So that you'll be more interested in that part of his life which you evidently haven't known about, and I have. He left here, I think, in December. He hadn't any fixed purpose; all he wanted was to find a place where he could begin over again on a fresh basis, and make a man of himself. . . . For that much, at least, you can give him credit."

"And I do," said Cullen, approvingly.

Hilliard, swept again by the nearness of deliverance from his doubts, leaned forward. A strong indorsement of Morgan's ambition at this juncture might yet have brought about a recantation.

"I'm glad you do, Mr. Cullen. . . . I think myself it was the only course he could have taken." He hung perilously upon the response; it would either justify or condemn his present attitude.

"That's probably why he took it," said Mr. Cullen. "Oh, I'm fair enough to him, Mr. Hilliard, but as for judgment—" He shook his head firmly. "What made him go to France?"

Hilliard sat back. The gates of truth clanged shut.

"That came to him as the logical course," he said shortly. "He'd met with some brother adventurers in New York, and they put the idea into his head. He had no money, so that he worked his passage across on the Mouette, a French tramp, in January, 1915. On the other side, he met a lieutenant of artillery who took a fancy to him. As you undoubtedly know, he spoke French like a native, and that made it easy for him. France is a land of papers, and of records; and papers and records can be created, shuffled—when there's a reason. The reason was that a republic needed men—and the lieutenant was willing to be a forger if that were a condition to his being a patriot. His conception of patriotism was to enlist every able-bodied man in the service of France. But at that time, the war was still rather exclusive as far as Americans were concerned. So that Dicky Morgan disappeared from earth—and there was a new soldier of the sixty-ninth Territorials by the name of Pierre Dutout . . . 'Peter Nobody.'"

"What?" said Mr. Cullen.

Hilliard shrugged his shoulders.

"I said he told me much about himself. He sailed under his own name, and I dare say you can verify that in New York. But when he landed, he took an alias. He had wanted to start over again, unhampered. Nothing could have been more opportune than this chance. See what it gave him! He simply dropped out of the world. . . . It was the possibility of losing himself utterly that first appealed to him. And there must have been a good cause."

"Yes," said Mr. Cullen absently. "There was. But . . . always theatrical, Dick was. That was so like him—to do just that sort of thing, and to do it just that way."

"As nearly as I could gather," said Hilliard, "he had been practically ostracized here. Is that correct?" He noted that Angela flinched at the suggestion, and that her head was drooping very low.

"Y-e-e-s," there was a good reason for it."

"Oh! dad!" said Angela, pleadingly, below her breath. "Please don't say things like that—I can't stand any more—"

"What his offense may have been, I don't know," said Hilliard, plunging doggedly into his narrative. "But he left town, so he told me, in a tremendous revulsion of feeling. His one ambition was to make something of himself, to wash out the past—to justify his existence. And he went overseas with the idea of genuine service and sacrifice. And very soon, terribly soon . . . during a night attack . . . they got him." Hilliard paused effectively. "There wasn't a chance in a hundred for him to recover, and he knew it. And then it came to him, blindingly and desperately, that the world—that is, the world which had known him in his failures—would never hear what he had done. He had made his sacrifice, and it was useless. In hospital, he was Pierre Dutout, you see . . . and between that character, and his own, was the barrier of the subterfuge he had grasped so eagerly—his alias, and his false record. No one would have any reason to doubt that he wasn't what he purported to be. He craved to tell someone; to send back a message to his old friends; and I happened to be there—and he confided in me. And here I am, Mr. Cullen. Bringing credentials. Now, in the first place, I have a photograph of him, taken from his original passport." He produced it from his pocket, and offered it to Mr. Cullen. "Is there any mistake, sir? Or is it the Dick Morgan you know?"

Mr. Cullen switched on a standing lamp; Angela hid her face, and shrank back from the white electric glare.

"Yes—yes." He gave the tiny picture to his daughter. "There's no question about it, Mr. Hilliard."

"That's Dick!" said Angela agonizedly.

"With his signature, of course—you recognize it, do you?"

"It's his handwriting fast enough," conceded Mr. Cullen. He looked up at Hilliard, and his brows were furrowed, as though he were struggling to comprehend what all this had to do with the Cullen family. "Yes. Dramatic boy, he was—always. Shows—don't it?"

"Dramatic—yes. That is—imagine—" tive. Venturesome. And it's a quality that sometimes makes heroes, Mr. Cullen. . . . Would you have called him brave?"

"I'm not sure of that, sir. I—"

"I would!" said Angela. "I would!"

"Foolhardy, often. But brave . . ."

"Wait, then!" said Hilliard, motioning. He was transfixed by the vision of Angela Cullen, who had started up in passionate defense of an old-time playmate; her cheeks were flushed, her eyes were shining, she was ineffably appealing in her tearless grief and in her loyalty. For the first time, Hilliard could see how the passing years had brought out the woman in her; he could see, under the dazzling light of the porch lamp, what an adorable champion he had left behind him. Her vehemence thrilled him; his own cheeks reddened, and his heart was abruptly quickened at the sight of her at the same time that it congealed from her father's estimate. "You know," he said, "that bravery under fire has a peculiar reward. It's called a citation. In orders. You think that Morgan wasn't brave, Mr. Cullen. But there's proof. A proof that even you must recognize." He tempered his voice. "For here," he said, whipping a folded paper into view, "is what the republic of France says about him! Here is the record that will endure as long as France does. Here, Mr. Cullen, is Dicky Morgan's citation! . . ."

Dead quiet—for second after second. Angela had turned pale; she was winking hard.

"His . . . citation!" Mr. Cullen mopped his forehead.

"His own copy of it was lost, but I brought the official journal . . . shall I translate?"

"Pierre Dutout, private of the sixty-ninth Territorials, during the battles of the fourth of May and the days following, has made exhibit of the highest devotion and the greatest courage; and especially by carrying out a volunteer duty, under heavy fire on the night of the sixth of May, has given to his whole detachment an extraordinary example of loyalty and heroic sacrifice."

He gave the newspaper to Mr. Cullen. "And here—is his Croix de Guerre." On impulse, he handed it not to Mr. Cullen, whose palm was ready for it, but to Angela.

She had taken the decoration half fearfully, and she had glanced at Hilliard with an expression so curiously combined of awe and joy and jealousy that his own eyes wavered, and he had momentarily averted his gaze. When he had ventured to turn to her again, she had carried one hand to her breast, pressed tightly, she was looking down at the bronze cross in her lap, and her shoulders were shaking perceptibly. Hilliard gripped the arms of his chair, and every muscle of him was drawn tense . . . his face was sudden tragedy, and horror clutched at him. Angela was crying . . . stoical, by supreme effort, at the news of Morgan's death, she was crying, now that she believed he had died gloriously. It was a hard problem for him to analyze . . . it was so magnificently complimentary and inconsistent . . .

"It would seem to me," said Mr. Cullen, somewhat thickly, "that he wiped the slate clean enough for all practical purposes, anyway." He took the war cross from Angela's reverent fingers, and examined it curiously. He looked at Angela, and slipped his arm around her; she sat up straighter, and drew a shivering breath. "I may have been wrong in my judgment," said Mr. Cullen soberly.

Hilliard, who had been moodily sunk in reverie, fumbled a third time in his inner coat pocket.

"He sent you a letter," he said. "I suppose you've been wondering, under all the circumstances, what brought me up here to you. It wasn't to eulogize him particularly; it was to bring you my message. And perhaps I'd better say now that he made me read it . . ."

Enter the one and only girl in Dick Morgan's life.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Just as Good.

Bobby, just home from his first visit to the country, was telling the folks of its wonders. "And say, ma," he said, "out on the farm they get milk from cows, and it's just as good as any."—Boston Transcript.

TWO BREEDS IN SAME FLOCK

Crossing Is Prevented by Keeping Male of One Breed One Year and Another the Next.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

While keeping two distinct breeds of poultry in one yard without mixing the breeds seems difficult, it can be accomplished easily and with satisfactory results, as shown by the account of an experience just received from a New England poultry raiser. One of the kinds kept is a so-called egg breed, the other being a general-purpose variety of poultry. The method of preventing crossing is as follows:

One year, roosters of the egg-laying breed are retained and used for breeding, no other males being kept. The following year roosters of only the general-purpose stock are kept. The difference in the color of eggs of the two breeds selected is so great that hatching eggs have always been selected with a certainty as to the breed laying them. The plan necessitates introducing new males, but the advantages of keeping the blood lines of two breeds separate outweigh the slight cost of purchasing the males. The department of agriculture points out that when this method is followed on two neighboring farms an exchange of roosters might readily be arranged.

First Prize White Rock Cockerel.

REMODELING POULTRY HOUSE

Many Stuffy Old Structures Can Be Rebuilt With Little Trouble—Cost Is Small.

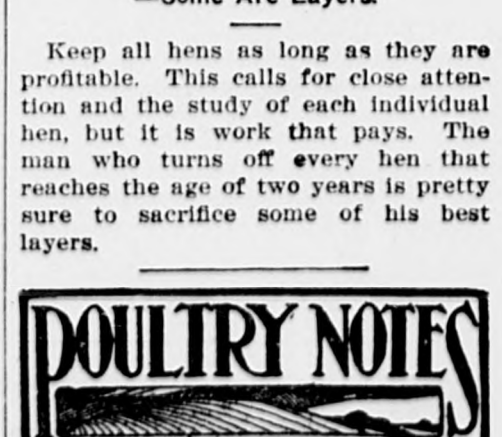

Many farms have old style, closed-up poultry houses with poor light and ventilation; also old sheds and other buildings of little use for other purposes that can be remodeled or built over with little difficulty into satisfactory poultry houses, according to the United States department of agriculture.

A building of that kind usually can be made over for less than one-half the cost of constructing a new one, and if the work is well done should give just as good results. Furthermore, the work performed in remodeling the building serves as a good poultry club demonstration in poultry house construction.

Keep all profitable hens

Close Attention and Study Must Be Given to Each Individual Fowl—Some Are Layers.

Keep all hens as long as they are profitable. This calls for close attention and the study of each individual hen, but it is work that pays. The man who turns off every hen that reaches the age of two years is pretty sure to sacrifice some of his best layers.

Clean, dry litter, clean water pans and mash hoppers are essential to the health of good layers.

All air that is admitted for ventilation should be so handled that it will not blow on the fowls, especially when they are on the roost at night.

One of the best ways to furnish green food is to hang a cabbage head just high enough so that the fowls will have to jump for it.

A warm, comfortable henhouse will do much to secure a good egg yield, for fowls that are not comfortable cannot lay well.

There is not much danger that healthy, vigorous fowls will become too fat, if compelled to exercise by scratching for the grain part of their ration.

It is necessary to provide the hens with some reason for exercising in winter because they have no incentive to exercise naturally, as they do in summer hunting for bugs and worms, etc.

Town Clerk's Notice — TO — Physicians, Midwives and Parents Birth Returns

Town Clerk's Office,
Weymouth, Feb. 5, 1920.
Attention is called to the following law in relation of births which was passed by the legislature of 1912.
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
Town Clerk.

[CHAP. 280, ACTS OF 1912] AN ACT RELATIVE TO REPORTS AND RECORDS OF BIRTHS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:
Section 1. Physicians and midwives shall, within forty-eight hours after the birth of every child in cases of which they were in charge mail or deliver to the clerk or register of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a notice stating the date and place of the birth, giving the street and number, if any, the name of a ward in a city and the family name. Failure to mail or deliver the said notice shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense. The notice required by this section need not be given if the notice required by the following section is given within forty-eight hours after the birth occurs.

Section 2. Physicians and midwives shall make and keep a record of the birth of every child in cases of which they are in charge and shall within fifteen days after the birth: mail or deliver to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a report of the birth, stating the date and place, the name if any, of the child its sex and color, and the names, ages, places of birth, occupations and residence of the parents, giving the street number, if there be any and the number of a ward in a city, the maiden name of the mother, and whether or not the physician or midwife signing the birth return personally attended the birth. If the child is illegitimate, the name and other facts relating to the father shall not be stated except at the request in writing of both the father and the mother filed with the return. The record to be kept by the physician or midwife, as above provided, shall also contain the facts hereby required to be reported to the city or town clerk. The fee of the physician or midwife shall be twenty-five cents for every birth so reported, which shall be paid by the city or town where the report is made upon presentation to the city or town treasurer of a certificate from the city or town clerk stating that the said birth has been properly reported to him. The report required to be made by this section is in addition to the report required to be made by the preceding section, and as above provided, if made within forty-eight hours of the birth, the report required by the preceding section shall not be required. A physician or midwife who neglects to make and keep the record hereby required, or who neglects to report in the manner specified above, each birth within fifteen days thereafter shall for each offense forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars. The city or town clerk or registrar shall file daily with the local board of health a list of all births reported to him giving the following facts: date of birth, sex, color, family name, residence, ward, physician or midwife.

Section 3. Section three of chapter twenty-nine of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter ninety-three of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and ten is hereby repealed.
[Approved March 21, 1912.] 4t.6.9

For Sale 6 Room Dwelling and Store

It is centrally located, near the square, railroad station and electric cars. Will pay 12% on investment. Price

$3,200

Russell B. Worster
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Oh, my yes! you can trust us with your fine linens and your delicate fabrics. We will treat them with as much consideration as they receive in your own home. We will call for and deliver the washing and can assure you that you will be pleased with the moderate cost.

Monarch Wet Wash Laundry
EAST WEYMOUTH
Tel. 530-769-M

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 8.)

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Weymouth
Service Sunday at 10.30 A. M. Rev. A. M. Foster of Marblehead will preach. Mr. Foster is a candidate for the pastorate.

Sunday School at 11.45 A. M. Miss Esther Bicknell superintendent.
The social and supper under the auspices of the Ladies Social Circle will be held Friday evening, Feb. 13.

PILGRIM CHURCH (Congregational)

North Weymouth.
Rev. Thomas Bruce Bitter, minister.
Morning worship 10.30. Special service for the Boy Scouts; subject, "Manhood in the Making."

Church School at 11.45. Subject for discussion in the Men's Fellowship Class, "The Situation in Russia."

Junior Endeavor at 3.45.
Senior Endeavor at 6.00.
Evening service at 7.00.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7.30.

The monthly meeting and supper of the Ladies Circle will be held Wednesday evening.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Lincoln Square
Rev. C. W. Allen, pastor. Morning service at 10.30; subject, "The Blessing of a Pure Heart."

Sunday School at 12 o'clock.
Junior C. E. at 4 o'clock.
Senior C. E. at 6 o'clock.

Evening service at 7 o'clock; subject, "Love, the greatest thing in the world."

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7.45.
Social this evening in the vestry of the church for the benefit of the Armenian fund.

PORTER M. E. CHURCH

Lovell's Corner
Rev. Arthur S. Emig, minister.
At the 10.30 service on Sunday Feb. 8, Mrs. Emig will speak on "Faithful Service." In the evening at 7.00 there will be a presentation of the situation in the "Near East." Mr. Vahan Dukmejian, whose home is in Constantinople, Turkey, will give his testimony as an eye-witness of what has happened there.

Bible School at 11.45.
Junior League at 3.30.
Epworth League at 6.15.
Prayer service on Thursday evening at 7.30.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock, Feb. 9, Mr. Frank Reynolds who so successfully entertained in Dec. will again give one of his delightful programs.

On Friday evening Feb. 13, the Junior League will serve a Valentine supper in the vestry. Service will be a la carte.

OLD SOUTH UNION CHURCH

South Weymouth
Rev. Ora A. Price, pastor. Sunday morning service of worship at 10.30 A. M. with sermon by the pastor on the subject "Man's Neglected Gift—the Gift of Spirit Power." The pastor will give two sermons on this theme, the second one to follow this one will be entitled, "The Secret of Spirit Power." One and all are welcome to this service and we most cordially invite your presence. We extend an invitation especially to all strangers and newcomers in the village.

Sunday School service at 12 o'clock. Classes for all ages. Baraca Class for young men will be found in the rear balcony. Mr. C. B. Coleman is leader and teacher. Men's Community Bible Class in lower vestry. Men are urged to attend.

The Christian Endeavor service at 6 o'clock. All people are welcome and are urged to attend, especially young men and women, boys and girls.

Thursday evening devotion and prayer service at 7.30 P. M.

At 7 o'clock Sunday night the pastor will again conduct an informal group discussion in the church vestry. He will tell of some Gentile hopes for a Divine interposition to save the world; some teachings about the coming of a golden age or Millennium held by other religions than the Jew and Christian. This will be preparatory to some discussions concerning the Jewish and Christian hopes.

LOVE SCENES OF BIBLE

The love scenes of the Bible will be the subject of a series of Sunday evening programs at the Baptist church at Lincoln Square, the subjects for February being:

Feb. 8—"Love, the greatest thing in the world."

Feb. 15—"Isaac and Rebekah, or choosing a wife."

Feb. 22—"Jacob and Rachael or working for a wife."

Feb. 29—"Ruth and Boaz, or love and religion."

The subjects for March will be announced later.

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

HAS STIRRED UP ANTIQUARIES

Englishman Believes He Has Discovered the Site of Edward the Confessor's Palace.

In Windsor's great park the discovery has been made of what appears to be the site of Edward the Confessor's palace. The discoverer, Capt. Vaughan Williams, had his attention drawn to two moats where rabbits had been burrowing, and here he unearthed some tiles like Norman bricks. He next came upon flints, sandstone and tiles, and he is continuing the search. In the days of Queen Victoria a tower with walls 12 feet thick was pulled down which was said by archeologists to have been built by Edward the Confessor. The secretary of the Berkshire Archeological society in connection with Captain Williams' find, states that there was before the foundation of Windsor castle a palace in Windsor forest where many notable events happened. This palace had a tower as a means of defense. In a Harleian MS. an illumination occurs which represents a palace where a lady is seen giving alms and earning for herself the title of "loaf-giver." The manor of Old Windsor belonged to the Saxon kings, and Edward the Confessor certainly held court there. Edward being prevented by his nobles from going to Rome caused Westminster to be built with the money which he would have spent on his journey. He then gave Old Windsor to the monks, but the gift was revoked by William the Conqueror, who found Windsor convenient for his hunts in the forests.

CITY MAY HAVE BIG FUTURE

Dakar, in South Africa, Promises to Develop Into Something Like Another Liverpool.

The city of Dakar in South Africa, less than half a century ago in a really primitive condition, with naked children running around the streets and mothers working with babies strapped upon their backs, has suddenly come into prominence as the prospective "Liverpool" of Africa. In the keen competition that is expected between America and Europe for trade in South Africa, Dakar, it is believed, will have an important role to play.

The French are today making extensive improvements at Dakar. They have spent much money in enlarging the dry dock and making the harbor deeper as well as increasing the facilities for transferring cargo from boat to train. The Dakar of today is a thriving town of about 25,000 people, with wide well-laid-out streets, a large technical school, hospitals and workshops. There are, however, a great majority of natives, being in fact, only about 3,500 Frenchmen.

These natives have been said by some to have formerly been the masters of the Mediterranean. They are wonderful fighters and it was only with great difficulty that in 1862, Gen. Faidherbe, the French governor, was able to overcome them. Thus he paved the way for the founding of Dakar. We may know a great deal more about it later.

Navy's Great Airship Hangar.

The navy is purchasing its first rigid airship in England at a cost of $2,500,000. To house it a huge hangar is to be erected at Lakehurst, N. J., which will be 800 feet long, 265 feet wide, and will have a clear inside height of 174 feet, while the total height from the ground to the peak of the roof will be over 200 feet. The steel framework will be over 6,000 tons. Two elevators and several stairways will lead to the roof. The many shops necessary for the maintenance of the airships will be built in between the great arched trusses that support the roof. Three railroad tracks will run the entire length of the building. The hangar will be large enough to hold one ship of 10,000,000 cubic feet capacity, and a smaller one at each side, or two 5,000,000 cubic feet ships side by side.—Scientific American.

Loggers Use Electricity.

A lumber company cutting timber from one of the national forests has installed over a mile of electric transmission line through the woods to supply an electric logging engine with power. It is planned ultimately to use electricity for the entire camp. Current is developed at the mill. Since many forest fires start from logging equipment and camps, the government foresters regard the introduction of electrical equipment with much favor.

Portable Electric Grinder.

A portable electric grinder for the machine shop, designed to be moved over the work, has the motor of one-eighth to one-half horsepower placed above the work out of the operator's way. The spindle is bored with a five-sixteenth-inch hole to receive an adjustable shaft for interior grinding, and the use of interchangeable grinding wheels adapts the little machine to a wide range of work.

Practical Economy.

"Wife ever get an economical streak?"
"She does. Only this summer she figured out she could save $8 in one week by doing her own housework."
"How did it work out?"
"She got a cook book. I got dyspepsia and the doctor got the $8."—Boston Transcript.

Unavoidable.

Hub—Oh, don't worry about the cook's crankiness. Don't take any notice of her.
Wife—I have to; she's just given it.—Boston Transcript.

PUBLIC HEARING

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss.

To the Honorable the County Commissioners of the County of Norfolk: Respectfully represent your petitioners, inhabitants of the town of Weymouth, in said county, that common convenience and necessity require that the way known as Union Street, a public way in said town, be relocated and repairs made between the Rockland line and Central Street for the purpose of improving the conditions now existing and estimate the cost at $15,000 and desire to have aid from the county for 1-3 of the total or $5,000. Wherefore your petitioners pray that said way may be so relocated within the limits above specified.
Dated January 21, 1920.

Bradford Hawes, Chairman of Selectmen

Joseph A. Fern, Clerk of Selectmen
George L. Newton
John F. Dwyer
Alfred W. Hastings
Irving E. Johnson, Supt. of Streets

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-seventh day of January, A. D. 1920, by adjournment of their December meeting next preceding:

On the petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners meet at the Selectmen's Room in Weymouth, in said County.

ON TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1920.

At 2.30 o'clock P. M. and thence proceed to view the route described in said petition (if they consider it expedient, or if requested by any party interested) and to hear and act on said petition. And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the town of Weymouth thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper printed at Weymouth, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places in said Weymouth fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

R. B. WORTHINGTON, Clerk.

A true copy of petition and of order of notice thereon.

Attest:

R. B. WORTHINGTON, Clerk.

3t.5.7

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss.

At the District Court of East Norfolk, holden at Quincy, within the County of Norfolk for civil business, on the twenty-third day of January A. D. 1920.

Joseph Mastrianno of Weymouth in the County of Norfolk, Plaintiff, vs. John Gabrieli of Weymouth in said County of Norfolk, Defendant, and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation (Fore River Plant) a corporation duly existing by law and having a usual place of business in Quincy in said County of Norfolk, Trustee.

This is an action of Contract to recover two hundred and fifty dollars, alleged to be due to the Plaintiff from the Defendant on the seventh day of January, A. D. 1919 as set forth in the Plaintiff's writ of that date.

And it appearing to the Court by the suggestion of the Plaintiff and on inspection of the officer's return on the Plaintiff's writ, that the Defendant was not an inhabitant of this Commonwealth, nor a resident therein at the time of the service of said writ, that he has no last and usual place of abode, tenant, agent or attorney in this Commonwealth known to the Plaintiff or to said officer; and that no personal service of said writ has been made upon the defendant.

It is ordered by the Court, here, that the Plaintiff give notice to the Defendant of the pendency of this action, and to appear before said Court, on Saturday, the twenty-eighth day of February A. D. 1920, to answer to the same, by causing an attested copy of this order to be published in the Weymouth Gazette a newspaper published in Weymouth, once in a week, three weeks successively; and that this action be continued to the said twenty-eighth day of February A. D. 1920, or until notice shall be given to the Defendant agreeably to this order.

LAWRENCE W. LYONS, Clerk.
3t.F.13.20.

JOHN NEILSON Jeweler

Jackson Square East Weymouth

PIANOS TUNED

Expert player-piano repairer

Work Guaranteed

Edward E. Nash

777 Broad Street - East Weymouth.

Tel. 522-R

Formerly Inspecting tuner with Hallet & Davis. Expert Repairing.

Felting. Stringing. Examine Free.

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

3t.F.13.20.

No. 7463
Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
LAND COURT

To Gabriel Costanza, Lucy M. Loring, Pasquale Garofalo, Filomena Garofalo, Frank H. Holmes, Abby J. Bicknell, Arthur C. Bicknell, Marinda D. Denton, and James H. Flint, of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth; Ruth L. Harrington and Mary L. Miles, of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Nellie E. Raymond and Mildred R. South, of Braintree, in said County of Norfolk, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Weymouth, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point marked by a spike in a fence in the southeasterly side of Shawmut Street forty-seven and 78-100 (47.78) feet distant north-easterly from a private way, the line runs southeasterly fifty-four and 70-100 (54.70) feet to an old post; thence continuing southeasterly thirty-two and 86-100 (32.86) feet to a spike in a post; thence continuing southeasterly twenty-seven and 70-100 (27.70) feet to a point marked by a nail in a fence; thence turning and running northerly by a fence and wall sixty-two and 12-100 (62.12) feet to a point; thence northerly but more easterly fifteen and 15-100 (15.15) feet to a point; thence westerly sixty-three and 83-100 (63.83) feet to a point, and thence continuing westerly but more northerly thirty-eight and 50-100 (38.50) feet to a spike in a post on the southeasterly side of Shawmut Street; thence southeasterly by the southeasterly line of Shawmut Street by three courses, twelve and 19-100 (12.19) feet, thirty-five and 21-100 (35.21) feet and thirty-seven and 87-100 (47.87) feet. Being bounded southeasterly by land of Lucy M. Loring and Pasquale Garofalo et al; easterly by land of Frank H. Holmes; northerly by Pasquale Garofalo et al and Frank H. Holmes and northwesterly by Shawmut Street; and containing 9129 square feet, more or less.

Petitioners admit the above described land is subject to a right to pass and repass, cart and drive, when necessary, to his own land, granted to Lovell Bicknell and his heirs and assigns, over the northerly end of the above described land, as shown on the plan hereinafter mentioned.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the sixteenth day of February A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of January, in the year nineteen hundred and twenty.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
3t.J23.30.F6

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Norfolk, ss.

Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

LOUISE G. NUTTING

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Addie L. Humphries of Braintree in said County, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the eleventh day of February, A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register.
3t. J23.30.F6

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Norfolk, ss.

Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of

MARY E. BRADY

late of Weymouth in said County, deceased.

Whereas Katherine T. Brady the administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of her administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the eighteenth day of February A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administratrix is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register.
3t.J30.F6.13

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Norfolk, ss.

Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of

MARY E. BRADY

late of Weymouth in said County, deceased.

Whereas Katherine T. Brady the administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of her administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the eighteenth day of February A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administratrix is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register.
3t.J30.F6.13

Club Sale of Columbia Grafonola

TERMS AS LOW AS
$2.00 FIRST PAYMENT
$1.00 Weekly
Immediate Delivery

KINCAIDE'S
MUSIC PARLORS
1495 HANCOCK ST., QUINCY

PROBATE NOTICES

Probate court is held in Norfolk county on the first four Wednesdays of the month. At Dedham, the first Wednesday; at Quincy, the second Wednesday; at Dedham the third Wednesday; and at Brookline, the fourth Wednesday.

Administratrix's Notice
Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of late of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, Massachusetts, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

HELEN BURGESS

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscriber.

EMERY B. GIBBS, Adm.

(Address) 73 Tremont street,
Boston, Mass.

January 15, 1920 3t.J23.30.F6

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Norfolk, ss.

Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

MARY F. LOUD

late of Weymouth in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Joseph Prince Loud of Medford in the County of Middlesex, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving surety on his official bond;

You

Beauty is a Blessing to every woman, but good health is vitally important. Attention to liver, kidneys and bowels will improve beauty and health.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are a boon to women, because they regulate the functions of all these organs without any irritation or disagreeable effect.

Storage Rooms

For Furniture and Other Merchandise

C. W. JOY'S

Bonded Storage Warehouse
159 Middle Street, East Weymouth
Second Hand Furniture For Sale
Tel. 242-M

Insure Your Automobile

AGAINST
Theft Collision, Fire, Liability,
WITH

H. FRANKLIN PERRY

104 Front Street, Weymouth, Mass.
Tel. 513-M

Best Companies Lowest Rate
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

PFEFFERKORN & TREDENICK CO

Furniture and Piano Movers
GENERAL TRUCKING
42 Myrtle Street East Weymouth
Telephone Wey. 265-M

M. MIRKIN

UPHOLSTERER
is the one who will give you the full satisfaction in work and prices of repairing furniture, mattresses and cushions, 102 HANCOCK STREET, near the Quincy High School. Tel. Quincy 501-W

M. CESMER

COLLECTOR OF JUNK
Second-hand Furniture, etc.
41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY
Phone, Quincy, 679-M

MULTIGRAPH LETTERS

The Gazette and Transcript is now equipped to do Multigraph work in any quantity. Only a few hours necessary to get out big order. Our telephone call—Weymouth 145. 12:12

BOSTON TRAINS

In effect Dec. 24, 1919.
All inward trains from East Weymouth on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. stop at Weymouth Heights (4 min. later), Weymouth (5 min. later), East Braintree and Braintree.
All trains from Boston also stop at Braintree, East Braintree, Weymouth (5 minutes earlier) and Weymouth Heights (4 minutes earlier).

E. Weymouth to Boston		Boston to E. Weymouth
Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive
5:09	5:44	5:40	7:18
7:03	7:44	8:59	9:54
7:41	8:19	11:15	11:51
7:58	8:35	12:49	1:26
8:55	9:37	2:42	3:25
9:40*	10:14	3:40	4:20
10:47	11:29	4:25	5:10
11:15	11:55	5:19	5:56
12:40	1:20	6:01 ex. Sat.	6:39
1:15	1:55	6:27	7:15
4:47*	5:25	6:59	7:45
5:44	6:25	7:19	8:01
6:49*	7:29	8:15	9:01
11:56	12:15

*From Plymouth.

South Weymouth Trains

In effect Dec. 24, 1919.
(Subject to change without notice.)

To Boston		From Boston
Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive
5:10	6:50	5:42	6:36
7:14	7:50	6:37	7:11
*7:42	8:15	7:30	8:20
8:42	9:15	8:54	9:27
9:42	10:15	12:30	1:12
*9:36	10:07	1:26 Sat.	2:13
*11:01	11:30	11:20 Sat.	12:07
		8:54	9:42
		4:48 ex. Sat.	5:21
*12:51	1:29	5:19	5:57
*4:40	5:20	5:48	6:27
5:42	6:16	6:24	7:00
*7:10	7:45	7:20	8:00
8:10	8:45	8:20	9:00
11:50	12:45

*From Plymouth.

Anniversary Column

10 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 4, 1910

Knights of Columbus celebrated their seventh anniversary. Banquet served; and dancing enjoyed until a late hour.

Comedy-drama "A Fisherman's Luck" given at Jonas Perkins school hall by Universalist Dramatic Club.

Mrs. R. T. Rollins entertained members of Puritana whist club at her home on Elm street, East Braintree. Maxwell Preston tendered a surprise party by thirty of his young friends, presented watch fob.

Ladies Social Circle of Universalist church held annual fair.

Rock Island Gun Club held dance in Music hall.

W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Stoddard. Entertainment given in chapel of Old North Church under auspices of Boys Athletic Association, a drama entitled "The Hypochondriac" presented.

Ladies of Pilgrim church circle netted $192 at their fair.

Y. P. C. E. of Pilgrim church held an "old fashioned social," in vestry of church.

Deaths, Patrick Coleran, Christopher Wise, Mrs. Anna Louise Spear.

20 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 9, 1900

Ladies Cemetery Improvement Association held its eighteenth annual bazaar. Miss S. Jane Clapp, president, Mrs. Edward T. Jordan, treasurer, and Mrs. Frances M. Drown, secretary of the Association.

Percy Cook and companions in a lively runaway. The horse became unmanageable near Erastus Nash estate, and dashed off in direction of Washington Square.

Republican Town Caucus organized with W. C. Earle, chairman, and Bradford Hawes as clerk.

Men of the M. E. Church at East Weymouth give a successful supper, much to surprise of Ladies Social club. Recital by Lord Family of Quincy at Lincoln hall.

Harbor Light lodge, I. O. G. T., entertained guests of out of town lodges. Stove exploded causing small blaze at residence of George F. Lord.

Bowling tournament started at Burrill alleys with four teams and schedule of games to last until April 6.

Abigail Smith chapter, Daughters of Revolution meet with Mrs. John Stevens, Miss Lillian McGregor read a paper on "Historic Boston." Music by Miss Emma E. Bates and Mrs. Cutter. Mrs. Jeannette Lovell gave a brilliant classic and enjoyable concert at Opera House.

Cashier Robinson of Hingham National Bank secures for the bank the privilege of acting as a government depository.

Deaths, Mrs. Nancy Thomas Shaw, Miss Grace Hunt, Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gay, Henry Lukeman, C. Addison Cushman and Mary Amy Wolfe.

30 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 7, 1890

Rev. F. H. Palmer's impressive sermon at Old North Church, entitled, "The Heavenly Mansions" has at request of many been printed in pamphlet form at Gazette Press.

M. C. Dizer donates flag to Franklin School.

Division 6, A. O. H., hold dancing party at Lincoln hall with Cushing orchestra and John F. Dwyer, floor director.

Grand coffee party in aid of St. Jerome church given by the young men Social Club. Grand march led by James Pitt and wife. Many present from Boston, Hingham and Quincy.

Jacob F. Dizer, John P. Burrill and Thomas H. Humphrey candidates for selectmen.

Painters Union, No. 120, institute officers at the Town Hall. Voted, nine hours as a day's labor after April 1. Annual meeting of Ladies Social Circle of the Baptist Church; Mrs. W. L. Smith chosen president.

Annual meeting of Weymouth Savings Bank corporation; President, Henry A. Nash.

Paper read before Weymouth Historical Society by Quincy L. Reed on the "Origin of the early roads of Weymouth and the early settlements."

Married, Ella V. Tupper to Joseph Partridge; Mary A. Egan to Henry F. Boyle; Mary F. Cullen to John F. Edwright; Cora Curtis to John M. Reed, at Denver.

Deaths, Patrick Scully and Rachael A. Pratt.

50 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 4, 1870

Jeremiah Shaw purchased home at Sea and Athens streets, North Weymouth, returning from Rouse's Point, New York where he has lived a number of years.

Work on new Catholic church edifice at North Weymouth began. Dimensions, 196 x 62 feet of Gothic architecture.

M. C. Dizer lost pocket book in Boston containing over $12,500 in notes. J. Binney & Co. quote for at $7.00 per bbl.

Rev. G. W. Whitney of Beverly receives call from First Universalist church of Weymouth

New song books and service under direction of Prof. Tourjee at the Union church.

Evening train at Weymouth Landing runs into platform car; engine only slightly damaged.

Asa French of Braintree made district attorney for this district.

Collection in all the churches for the Little Wanderers Home at Boston. Marriages, Miss Melora E. Newcomb to Everett A. Harris; Miss Jennie W. Whitcomb to John G. Worster.

TREMONT THEATRE.

With an expectation of receiving something new and funny in the line of musical entertainment the Boston public awaited the coming of the Ed Wynn Carnival with the inimitable comedian, Ed Wynn, himself, which opened at the Tremont Theatre Monday evening. But it is a fact that there was no preparation for the extremely happy surprise that first night audience received. They saw a show which compared with and excelled any of the best and most opulently produced of that line of theatrical entertainment. And the emphatic declarations voiced with happy unanimity proclaimed that the carnival was the best show seen in this most prodigal of theatrical seasons. The result has been that the succeeding performances have had absolutely capacity audiences. Ed Wynn as a comedian needs no extollation to the mass of theatre-goers who remember him as the funniest comedian the Ziegfeld Follies ever had and as star in many another musical show or revue.

WEYMOUTH FIRE ALARM BOXES

- 12—River and Parnell Sts.
- 13—Bradley Fertilizer Works
- 14—Wessagusset Road
- 114—Wessagusset & Hobomack Rds.
- 15—Bicknell square
- 115—Pearl and Norton Sts.
- 16—Bay View St.
- 116—Bridge and Saunders Sts.
- 17—Sea and North Sts.
- 18—Lovell and Bridge Sts.
- 19—Church and North Sts.
- 21—Broad and Whitman Sts.
- 23—Jackson Square
- 24—Electric Light Station
- 25—Grant and High Sts.
- 26—Cedar St.
- 27—Wharf St.
- 28—Commercial and Putnam Sts.
- 29—Strong's Factory
- 221—Shawmut St.
- 223—Broad St., near Essex St.
- 224—Central Square
- 225—Middle St., near Lake St.
- 226—Charles St.
- 227—Lake Shore drive
- 272—Keith's shoe factory
- 31—Summer and Federal Sts.
- 32—Congress and Washington Sts.
- 34—Front St., beyond Federal St.
- 35—Prospect and Granite Sts.
- 36—Garfield Square
- 37—Engine House No. 3
- 38—Washington Square
- 39—Lumber Wharves Commercial St.
- 41—Lumber Wharves
- 42—Elm and Pleasant Sts.
- 43—Nash's Corner
- 45—Park Ave. and Main St.
- 46—Middle and Washington Sts.
- 47—Pleasant and Canterbury Sts.
- 48—Lake View Park
- 49—Pratt Schoolhouse
- 441—Pine and Park Sts.
- 51—Pleasant St., front Otis Torrey's
- 52—Engine House No. 5
- 53—Independence Square
- 54—Pond St., front Hollis' Mill
- 55—Pond St., front W. H. Robinson's
- 56—Thicket and Pond Sts.
- 57—Union St., May's Corner
- 58—Union St., front Henry Chandler's
- 61—Randolph and Forest Sts.
- 62—Main St. front E. C. Staples'
- 63—Columbian and Forest Sts.

SIGNALS

SECOND ALARM—Six blows, followed by box number.

GENERAL ALARM—Five blows.

ALL OUT—Two blows.

Three blows on the alarm calls the Chief. LOST CHILD: ————, followed by box number nearest to where child lives.

NO SCHOOL: ————, sounded twice. It will be sounded at 7:30 A. M. for no sessions in all the grades; at 8 A. M. for no sessions in Grades I to IV inclusive in the forenoon; at 11:45 A. M. for no sessions in Grades I to IV inclusive during the afternoon; and at 12:45 P. M. for no sessions in all the grades in the afternoon.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.
A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Weymouth resident has withstood the sternest of all tests. Mrs. P. J. Fryer, 56 Phillips Street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are fine for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I have had pains in my back over my kidneys at times and I have used Doan's with fine results. Doan's Kidney Pills have been a reliable kidney remedy for us. My mother had faith in them and I remember seeing them in the home when I was a girl in Belfast, Ireland."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Fryer said: "My faith in Doan's Kidney Pills is as strong today as ever. Doan's have never failed to give me wonderful relief." Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Fryer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 2t, 6, 7 (Advertisement)

HOMES FOR ALL WAR VETERANS

Law Would Help Men Regain Start in Life Given Up For Country's Sake

WOULD COST STATE NOTHING

Senator McKnight's Plan is Statesmanship of the Constructive Sort.

That the Commonwealth of Massachusetts shall buy a home for every one of her residents who served in the army or the navy in the war with Germany and who is ready to accept easy terms of payment is among the most important proposals that will be considered by the Legislature of this state this year.

Massachusetts has already done much for her returned fighting men. She has helped them in their immediate needs, even to the extent of expending the impressive sum of $20,000,000 in bonuses of $100 each for every veteran. Those who have the welfare of the soldiers and sailors at heart, however, realize that the state, generous as she has been, has really done nothing of permanent benefit to the man who is trying to regain the start in civil life that he sacrificed when he went into the service. For those who needed the money, the $100 bonus was not enough; for those who did not need it, it was too much.

HON. EDWIN T. MCKNIGHT
Author of Bill to Encourage Veterans to Own Their Own Homes

The Massachusetts soldiers and sailors' homestead plan, devised by the Hon. Edwin T. McKnight, president of the Massachusetts Senate is, briefly, this:

The veteran will select the home he wants. It may be in a city, a town or, if he desires to be a farmer, it may be a farm. The state will purchase the property, erect a dwelling thereon, if necessary, and, on receipt of an initial payment by the veteran, give him immediate occupancy of the premises. The first payment must be sufficient to indicate that the beneficiary is in earnest and proposes to "go through" with his part of the transaction. This initial payment may be fixed anywhere from $100 to $500.

The veteran, in possession of his home, would pay the balance of the purchase price in monthly installments that may extend through a period of 20 years. Each installment would be not less than 1/240 of the whole purchase price, which shall not exceed $5,000. To each monthly payment would be added interest on that part of the principal still unpaid, at a rate not greater than five per cent per annum.

Senator McKnight, who is a lawyer and a banker with state-wide connections, has demonstrated that this land to do something really worth while for the veterans may be accomplished without a cent of expense to the taxpayers of the state. He shows that the difference between the rate of interest the state would pay on the bonds that it would issue to finance the project and the rate paid by the home-holders would pay only cover the cost of administering the law but would meet the expense of certain concessions that would be made to meet vicissitudes that might come to the home purchasers.

That the state shall be absolutely fair with the veterans. Senator McKnight's bill provides that should a veteran die before he has completed payments for his home, leaving a dependent widow or child, the state may cancel the indebtedness on the home. This may be done, however, only with the approval of the Governor and his council in each case. The mortality tables of the great insurance companies indicate that men who young enough and in sufficiently good health to have gone to war and to have survived its hardships are not likely to die before reaching reasonably old age. By that time every veteran's final payment on his home will have long since been paid.

The McKnight bill provides, further, that payments may be modified if a veteran is disabled by illness or other causes that were no fault of his, but in such cases, also, gubernatorial consent would be required.

This Massachusetts idea is regarded as superior to the federal soldiers' land reclamation scheme and the various homestead acts adopted by other states, in that it is not designed exclusively to benefit men who wish to go farming. Under Senator McKnight's bill, a man employed in a city would be assigned a home in that community, if he desired it, as he probably would.

The plan will be opposed by ultra-conservatives as "paternalistic." By others it will be regarded as a notable piece of constructive statesmanship. Its progress will be watched with close interest in these days of unprecedented social conditions.

"My bill serves four important purposes," said Senator McKnight, discussing his plan. "It gives really substantial evidence of the state's gratitude to her sons who fought that American ideal might be preserved. It aids the taxpayers by creating new property that will yield needed additional revenue in the form of taxes. It will relieve the famine in dwellings and thus tend to reduce high rents. Most vitally momentous of all, it will create a tremendously effective force to combat the rising influence of the rising and sinister tide of bolshevism or dangerous radicalism called by any other name."

Senator McKnight contends that a home owner is always a good citizen because of his material interest in the community welfare. Albert P. Langtry, secretary of state for Massachusetts, whose efforts to arouse the people to the dangers of the Red Peril, puts it another way. "When a man is able to put a spade into his own soil or when he owns his dwelling, he is immune to the teachings of those who would destroy the American government," he said, discussing the Senator McKnight bill.

STRING FROM MILK WEEDS

Something Worth Remembering on the Next Camping Expedition You May Take.

"Take the stalk of any of the common milkweeds and break it, and you will find that the outer bark does not break and may be stripped off into silkenlike threads, which can be twisted together and used as thread with which to sew ditty bags, knife scabbards, etc." says Dan Beard, boy scout chief, in his department in Boys' Life.

"No one showed the chief how to use the milkweed; that is, no human being showed him, but there is a little orange and black woodcrafter who builds its nest of string and yarn, when he can find it, in the shade trees of the village streets, but in the wilderness, like the rest of us, he must use material he finds in the woods, and it is there that the chief discovered that the Baltimore oriole was using milkweed fibers with which to build its hanging nest."

"The chief also discovered that the vireo was using the inner bark of the chestnut with which to make its cup-shaped nest, and the chief immediately began to experiment with the inner bark of the chestnut, and with it he made a rope the size of an ordinary clothesline, which could support him without danger of breaking, and ever since then he has used this bark for string or rope wherever chestnut trees were handy."

"Not only are these things good with which to sew and with which to do up bundles, as was pointed out to you readers in the chief's story of the 'Rest Cure,' but one may also use them for ropes with which to bind together the logs of a raft, for a boat or a canoe, or as material with which to braid a belt, or as fiber to be used as raffia in basket making."

HOW CLERK "GOT IN WRONG"

His Desire to Please Mother of Small Shopper May Have Cost Store a Customer.

Mother took her three-year-old Ruth downtown the other day to get her a pair of shoes. Now Ruth had set her little mind on brown shoes and mother, on account of the care the brown ones demanded, wished black ones. So she enlisted the aid of the clerk in prevailing on Ruth to be satisfied with black. Together they argued and Ruth finally accepted the black ones. Then mother and Ruth started out of the store. The clerk said: "I hope these will be all right."

Before mother could assure him that they would, Ruth spoke up. "Yes, these will be all right this time," she said, "but the next time we'll go to another store—won't we, mother?"

While behind a rather amused clerk wondered whether or not it was wise to take sides on a question like this one.—Indianapolis News.

NO MARY PICKFORD

The sergeant had been having a trying time with some very raw recruits.

For a long while he kept calm, but at last, exasperated, he shouted, "Hang it all! I know I'm not a Mary Pickford, but you might have a look at me occasionally!"

A broker had rung for the elevator. Five seconds later it passed him going to the second floor. He was exasperated.

"What kind of a blank building is this?" he cried. "Do they use the skip-stop system here?"

"Have you ever taken a tail spin in an airplane?"

"No, but I have been called upon unexpectedly to make a speech, and I guess the sensation is about the same."—Detroit Free Press.

Thomas Carrigg & Son

Designers and Manufacturers of

ARTISTIC MONUMENTS

In All Kinds of Granite

ALSO BUILDING WORK JOBBING

SHOW YARDS AND WORKS:
WEYMOUTH STREET

HOLBROOK, MASS.

TELEPHONE
RANDOLPH 196-W

SAVE AGENTS COMMISSION

Buy off the man who does his own work, with thirty-six years' experience.

Telephone or write and auto will go any distance to show you our stock on hand.

DORT CARS

SEDAN $1535 f.o.b.
TOURING $985 f.o.b.

AGENT FOR EVERREADY BATTERIES
Overhauling and Repairs

Clark's Garage

245 Independence Ave., Quincy, Mass.
Q. Tel. 1243 Res. M. 2, 10

T. J. CONNOR

Practical Plumber

Steam, Hot Water and Warm Air Heating
Sheet Metal Work
General Repairing

Estimates cheerfully given.
Satisfaction guaranteed.

25 Pleasant St., South Weymouth
Tel. 312-W

W. H. FARRAR & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Repairs
Tin Roofing and General Jobbing.

ESTIMATES GIVEN

Business Established 1883

Peakes Building, Jackson Square

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER.

Constipation invites other troubles which come speedily unless quickly checked and overcome by Green's August Flower which is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. It is a sovereign remedy used in many thousands of households all over the civilized world for more than half a century by those who have suffered with indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, sluggish liver, coming up of food, palpitation, constipation and other intestinal troubles. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Try a bottle, take no substitute.—Adv.

The Newspaper in North Africa.

"Extra!" shouted in the streets of Algiers or any other North African town would not bring the people of the streets crowding around the newsboy, but would send them hurrying, as much as it lies in an Arab to hurry, to the "office" of the public reader. He holds an important position, his duty being to pass on the news of the day to illiterate citizens.—The Christian Herald.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Barbo Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

Some men are satisfied with empty honors, but the toper prefers his full.

Put your business before pleasure or by and by you won't have either.

Weak and Miserable?

Does the least exertion tire you out? Feel "blue" and worried and have daily backache, lameness, headache, dizziness, and kidney irregularities? Sick kidneys are often to blame for this unhappy state. You must act quickly to prevent more serious trouble. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy recommended everywhere by grateful users. Ask your neighbor!

A Massachusetts Case

Mrs. B. J. McFadden, 16, 1/2 Maple Ave., West Newton, Mass., says: "My back was sore and stiff mornings. Nights I couldn't sleep, owing to that dreadful ache through the small of my back. My kidneys didn't act right. I had dizzy spells and felt weak and tired. My feet swelled and I was laid up in bed for nine weeks. I decided to use Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me and the cure has been permanent."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

COLD ON CHEST
AND SORE THROAT
ENDED OVERNIGHT

You Get Action with Mustarine—It Drives Out Pain in Half the Time. It Takes other Remedies — It's the Quickest Pain Killer on Earth.

Stops coughing almost instantly; ends sore throat and chest colds over night. Nothing like it for neuralgia, lumbago, neuritis and to speedily drive away rheumatic pains and reduce swollen joints.

Mustarine is the original non-blistering prescription that takes the place but is 3 times as efficient as Gray's famous old-fashioned mustard plaster. Use it for sprains, strains, bruises, sore muscles, stiff neck, swelling, sore, painful or frost-bitten feet and chilblains. Be sure it's Reg's Mustarine in the yellow box. S. C. Wells & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

STOPS PAIN MUSTARINE
CANNOT BLISTER

BAD BREATH
Often Caused by
Acid-Stomach

How can anyone with a sour, gassy stomach, who is constantly belching, has heartburn and suffers from indigestion have anything but a bad breath? All of these stomach disorders mean just one thing—Acid-Stomach.

EATONIC, the wonderful new stomach remedy in pleasant tasting tablet form that you eat like a bit of candy, brings quick relief from these stomach miseries. EATONIC sweetens the breath because it makes the stomach sweet, cool and comfortable. Try it for that nasty taste, congested throat and "head feeling" after too much smoking.

If neglected, Acid-Stomach may cause you a lot of serious trouble. It leads to nervousness, headaches, insomnia, melancholia, rheumatism, sciatica, heart trouble, ulcer and cancer of the stomach. It makes its millions of victims weak and miserable, listless, lacking in energy, all tired out. It often brings about chronic invalidism, premature old age, a shortening of one's days.

You need the help that EATONIC can give you if you are not feeling as strong and well as you should. You will be surprised to see how much better you will feel just as soon as you begin taking this wonderful stomach remedy. Get a big 50 cent box from your druggist today. He will return your money if you are not satisfied.

EATONIC
(FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH)

Cuticura Soap
Is Ideal for
The Complexion

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c.

MARY ANN

By LILLIAN ARDELL.

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Mary Ann's father died he left behind plenty of good will toward himself and his family, but very few worldly goods. There was the homestead, heavily mortgaged, and many bills receivable. His best traits, good humor and forbearance, which had gained the love of his townspeople, had made of him an easy creditor and a lax collector. When his wife spoke to him on the subject he would drawl, "Wal, I think a heap more of Hiram Jones' good feelings toward me than I do of the $10 he owes me."

So this was the state of affairs Mary Ann had to face—many half forgotten bills as assets. She carried the big book of accounts out to the hammock, so that she could enjoy the golden autumn day while she worked. Systematically she started at the beginning to take a list of her debtors. As she worked a long gray roadster sped by and a young man jauntily waved his cap. Mary Ann tossed her golden head. What right has a pestiferous boy to think he can wave at any girl, just because he happens to drive a roadster, she thought rebelliously.

As she pored over the accounts, she was amazed with the age of the unpaid bills. One, in particular, had been incurred almost 15 years before. As she looked at the name she sniffed disgustedly. "Jan Worthens," she said aloud. "No more time for him."

Everyone knew Jan Worthens, the most prosperous farmer in the county, and everyone secretly envied him. Jan's son and two daughters had always been to boarding school.

Two weeks later the mail man had an extra load of business-like looking envelopes, addressed in a round, girlish hand. There was a bill for every debtor, and a little letter asking for a settlement. Yes, there was even one for the cold and unapproachable Jan Worthens.

Mary Ann waited for results. A week brought a few checks and many promises, but nothing from Jan Worthens, the biggest debtor. A few days later when Mary Ann returned from town, her mother handed her a letter. "It's from Mr. Worthens, dear. I do hope there's a check in it," Mary Ann tore it open eagerly, but her face fell as she read it. "Mother, he says that the bill will be outlawed tomorrow, and we'll never get a cent on it."

Mary Ann was quiet and thoughtful the rest of the morning, and after dinner she put on her things and started toward the village. Her mother shook her head, and told herself for the hundredth time, that Mary Ann certainly was a problem.

She walked rapidly, as was her habit when she had a definite purpose to accomplish. She was thinking so deeply that she didn't hear the whir of an approaching motor, and was quite startled when a long gray roadster slid a few feet beyond and a cheery voice said, "Want a lift?" She was about to accept gladly, for she still had another mile to go, when she remembered that a young girl should never accept a ride with a strange young man. So she gracefully declined, and the roadster slipped out of sight around the bend.

At last she came in sight of Jan Worthens' farm. She could see the men a little farther on gathering the pumpkins into great piles. Soon she came up to them. There was the gray roadster, and the good-looking young driver was talking with Jan Worthens. Mary Ann's heart gave a big leap, but she was determined to accomplish her purpose.

She walked up to the nearest pile of pumpkins and picked up the largest one. "Oh, sir!" she exclaimed, "will you sell me this pumpkin? It is quite the largest I've seen." Mr. Worthens swelled with pride and jumped at the chance to get a fancy price. "That's a mighty big one, miss. I couldn't sell it for less than one dollar."

"All right," said Mary Ann. "I'll take it and we'll let it go on the bill you owed my father. I am Mary Ann Hackett. And you may send the rest any time."

Mr. Worthens' face grew crimson. The young man of the gray roadster laughed aloud.

As Mary Ann started down the road he overtook her. "I'm Dick Worthens," he said. "You surely put one over on dad. But that pumpkin is too heavy for you to carry. Let me take it home for you, and you may come along to hold it if you wish." Fatigue overruled Mary Ann's prejudice, and she accepted.

That was not the only ride she took in Dick's roadster, and a year later, on their wedding day, Jan Worthens congratulated his son on winning such a "shrewd young lady."

Development is Nature's Law.

Life isn't worth much unless it is constantly growing out of its old self. We naturally cling to the past with its traditions and its memories. The happy days of childhood throw a glamour upon the past. It is only after the youth has become acquainted with the world and returns to visit the old home that he sees things in true perspective. Even then there will linger a sacredness hard to dispel. Common things will have a value not assigned them by anyone else. And yet the youth has grown out of his boyhood haunts and realizes he can never be the same again. The past has made the present and the present aims at the greater future that ought to be.—Grit.

If You Need a Medicine
You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Pen-ury.

Said the almost philosopher, "It's a mean man who will lead his little boy to believe he is penniless when the kid asks for one."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletch
In Use for Over 30 Years.
Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

A rural editor refers to his mother-in-law as the "queen of terrors."

Some men like to fish because it's the next thing to doing nothing.

112 Millions used last year to KILL COLDS

HILL'S
CASCARA
QUININE
BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy for 20 years—in tablet form—safe, sure, no opiates—breaks up a cold in 24 hours—relieves grip in 3 days. Money back if it fails. The genuine box has a Red top with Mr. Hill's picture. At All Drug Stores

16799
DIED

In New York City alone from kidney trouble last year. Don't allow yourself to become a victim by neglecting pains and aches. Guard against this trouble by taking

GOLD MEDAL
HAARLEM OIL
CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles. Holland's national remedy since 1896. All druggists, three sizes. Guaranteed. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation

DON'T SUFFER
HEADACHE OR NEURALGIA

Get the long established remedy

-KOHLER-ANTIDOTE

gives relief in 15 minutes
TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE

PRICE 12 CENTS EVERYWHERE
AT DRUG STORES AND
GENERAL STORES

Kohler Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md.

STOP COUGH

the safe easy way before worse troubles follow. Take
HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR
The tried home remedy for breaking up colds, relieving throat troubles; healing and soothing—quick relief for coughing and hoarseness. Use at all druggists. See Pike's Toothache Drops.

It's Time to Take
Celery King

the good old-fashioned vegetable tea that gently yet surely regulates the bowels and puts the entire system in fine condition.

Say "I want Celery King." Your druggist will know he is handing you the king of tonic laxatives.

FRECKLES
Positively removed by Dr. Barry's Cream. Free trial. Druggist or write to Dr. Barry, 297 Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

THE RECLUSE

By MARY WINIFRED FORD.

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Jack, will you ever come out of your shell?" asked Guy Tremont laughingly.

"Well, it just depends—"

"Always the same old reply, 'It just depends.' Have a heart, old man." And Guy made a dash for the door of the restaurant leading to the street, entirely out of patience with Jack Hamilton, who for a year or more had taken it upon himself to play the part of a recluse, refusing all invitations to affairs tendered him by either sex, but instead of making enemies by so doing, he won them over to a certain degree—not to his way of thinking, but they were still his friends, even though he did refuse their many invitations. It must have been the way Jack smiled when he declined, for Jack did have a beautiful way of declining; that is, he smiled so charmingly and looked so innocent that—well, as his friends would say: "Well, it's almost impossible to get angry with Jack, but he does try our patience."

As Guy Tremont was entering his home he almost collided with his younger sister, Virginia.

"Guy Tremont, you must be in love to actually look at me and then run right into me," and Virginia's merry laugh echoed through the house.

"Sis, I am sorry, but if I appear grouchy today, have pity on me and don't scold," and Guy walked into the pretty little sitting room, and made a brave attempt to interest himself in a magazine, and as Virginia looked at the magazine Guy held in his hands, she turned away and smiled.

"Well, of all things—Jack has something on his mind when he will take up a ladies' magazine and hasn't discovered as yet what he is reading," she thought.

"You are a great little pal, Virginia, and I am going to tell you, dear, I am not in love, but it is Jack Hamilton—" "Why, who is Jack Hamilton, Guy?" you mentioned him in several of your letters, but you never explained just who and what he was."

"To begin with, he is a giant with a smile that provokes a fellow, and he is the fellow I met out West in 1915. Well, he came on here about two years ago. He didn't come to this town directly. While in New York he met a young lady, whom he thought he loved, and who later told him very nicely that she didn't care for his company any longer."

"It's rather queer you never asked him up here, Guy, but then I forgot—perhaps you had him here, while I was in New York with Aunt Mary."

"It's next to impossible to get him any further than the club," and Guy sighed in such a way that set Virginia thinking. She was going to help Guy—how or in what way she was not sure—but help him she must; so a few evenings later, when she was certain Guy was at an affair some miles distant, she called the clubhouse and asked for Mr. Jack Hamilton.

"Mr. Hamilton, will you come up to Mr. Tremont's house at once, please—it is very important—yes, 415 Longwood drive. Thank you."

"But, Virginia," urged her aunt, who was making her home temporarily with them, "Guy will be provoked with you."

"Now, aunt, you just let me attend to this 'Mr. Jack Hamilton.'"

"Aunt, there goes the bell—you must usher him in—please, aunt, just this once," and giving her aunt a gentle push toward the door, she flew into the sitting room, half tempted to fly from the house, and regretting at the last moment what she had done, but before she could move, aunt had ushered in "Mr. Jack Hamilton," and as she left the room, she failed to hear an exclamation from both Virginia and Jack at the same time.

"Why, Maids!—I can't believe it—is it really you?" and Jack stood rooted to the spot.

"Ted Thompson, where did you come from—why, I thought—"

Virginia, unable to go on, just dropped into the nearest chair, and regarded Jack with questioning eyes; eyes that asked a thousand questions at once.

Jack recovered himself, and he, too, sat down, quite near Virginia. "Why did you run away like that, Maids?" he asked tenderly. "I searched nearly all New York for you after that night."

Virginia burst out laughing, and cried happily: "Tell me, are you Ted Thompson, or Jack Hamilton, or did we both deceive one another, for I am Guy Tremont's sister, and when Helen Orr introduced us, I had warned her beforehand not to reveal my real name—just a whim of mine, and then when I found you really cared, Ted—er, I—"

"Yes, dear, it is Jack," he said smilingly.

"Well, I felt so mean for deceiving you regarding my name, that I just couldn't go on, and that last night at Helen's reception, I just had to run away from you because—"

"Well, Maids—"

"Virginia," supplied Guy's sister, her face now radiant with smiles.

"Virginia, I can't explain why I changed my name, but, like yourself, I suppose it was a whim of mine, and I had never given up the hope of finding you some day," he smiled.

After a talk that satisfied both of them, Virginia asked: "But, Jack, why have you been such a recluse? Poor Guy is nearly distracted."

"Nothing seemed to interest me after I lost you, but now I am going to come out of my shell to stay."

WRIGLEYS

After a hearty meal, you'll avoid that stuffy feeling if you chew a stick of

WRIGLEYS

Other benefits: to teeth, breath, appetite, nerves. That's a good deal to get for 5 cents!

Sealed Tight—Kept Right

→The Flavor Lasts←

Where the Feathers Go.

"A man might succeed in feathering his own nest," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "if so much of his money didn't go toward putting them on his wife's hats."

Not Idle.

"I'm afraid you're an idle fellow, Sam."

"What's that, sah?"

"I'm afraid you like to idle away your time."

"Oh, no, sah, I doesn't, sah. Why I gits m' wife m' work dan she can do, sah!"

CREAM FOR CATARRH
OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How to Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds, It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.—Adv.

A Number of Them.

Horace—Did any man ever kiss you before I did?

Helen—Yes, dear.

Horace—Tell me his name so I can beat him up!

Helen—I'm afraid that he might be too many for you.

UP A SINGIN'!

Tomorrow will be clear and bright, if you take "Cascarets" tonight

Feeling half-sick, bilious, constipated? Ambition way below zero? Here is help! Take Cascarets tonight for your liver and bowels. You'll wake up clear, rosy, and full of life. Cascarets act without griping or inconvenience. They never sicken you like Calomel, Salts, Oil or nasty, harsh pills. They cost so little too—Cascarets work while you sleep.—Adv.

Peruvian petroleum ranks next to Russian for the quality of lubricants it yields.

Garfield Tea, taken regularly, will correct both liver and kidney disorders.—Adv.

If we always prepare ourselves for the worst that may happen, we will never be disappointed.

Use MURINE Night Morning Keep Your Eyes Clean—Clear—Healthy Write for Free Eye Care Book Murine Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
FOR INDIGESTION
6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
FOR INDIGESTION

for Flavoring Cakes Ice Cream Puddings Water Ices Confections Etc.

BAKER'S Pure Fruit EXTRACTS
For Sale at All Grocers
BAKER EXTRACT COMPANY
Springfield, Mass. and Portland, Maine

COLDS are unnecessary—but if you feel one coming on take immediately HURLBURN'S Camphor Pills and stop the cold at the very start. 25 Cents at All Druggists. THE KELLIS COMPANY, Newburgh, N. Y.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if kidneys feel like lead or bladder bothers.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

Forced Honesty.

I picked up a quarter today and gave it to the owner.

That's a good, honest boy. I couldn't help it. The quarter had dropped it had me by the tail.

A Lady of Distinction.

Recognized by the delicate fascination of the perfume she uses, with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores, followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum Powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Adv.

Even the lines of a poor poet are apt to be cast in pleasant places—when he goes fishing.

A cup of Garfield Tea before retiring will next day relieve your system gently and thoroughly of all impurities.—Adv.

Nothing is made in vain except the extremely fashionable girl—she is a maiden vain.

LOW FREE FROM PAIN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Frees Another Woman From Suffering.

Bayonne, N. J.—"Before I was married I suffered a great deal with periodical pains. I had pains in my side and back and also headaches, and got so weak I could not do anything. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt better. Now I am married and have two little boys. Before the first one came I was weak and nervous, could not eat and was dizzy. After I took the Vegetable Compound I could work and eat. Now I am strong and recommend your medicine to my friends."—Mrs. ANNA SLEVA, 25 East 17th Street, Bayonne, N. J.

Women who recover their health, naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for women's ailments, try that well known and reliable remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consult) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

Women who recover their health, naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for women's ailments, try that well known and reliable remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consult) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

Yes, Cold All Gone—Not A Bit of Cough Left

Feel great this morning. As soon as I felt it coming on yesterday I used Gray's Syrup and nipped it in the bud. Just couldn't miss an hour at the office, we are so busy and short-handed. Gray's Syrup is a habit in our family, the folks have used it for sixty years. I always buy the Large Size.

GRAY'S SYRUP
RED SPRUCE GUM
Manufactured by D. WATSON & CO., New York

OLIVE TAR
For internal and external use
Unexcelled for winter throat trouble—coughs, sore throat—soothe—prompt relief.

HALL & RUCKEL, Inc., 215 Washington St., New York

for Bronchitis
For Irritated Throats

Take a tried and tested remedy—one that acts promptly and effectively and contains no opiates. You get that remedy by asking for

PISO'S

RUMOR HAS IT THAT HUGH JENNINGS IS READY TO QUIT AS LEADER OF TIGERS

MANAGER HUGH JENNINGS

JACK COOMBS

Manager Hugh Jennings and Jack Coombs, Who Has Been Engaged to Coach the Detroit Pitchers.

It would not be a surprise if Detroit's signing Jack Coombs as assistant manager to Hugh Jennings proves a step toward making the man from Maine manager of the Tigers in another year.

Jennings has been active as a ball player and manager for 20 years or more, and it is rumored he plans to purchase a substantial block of the stock of the Detroit club now held by the William Yawkey estate and become an official of the club, probably vice president, writes Henry P. Edmunds in Cleveland Plain Dealer. In that case, he would merely supervise the campaign of the team about as Comiskey does at Chicago.

Hughey Is Forty-Nine.

Hughey is nearly forty-nine, and has been identified with the national game for nearly 30 years. He was a member of the Louisville National league club in 1891. He remained a player and one of the game's greatest stars for more than ten years. Then, after a few seasons as manager of the Baltimore Eastern league team, he came to the American league as manager of the Detroit team. That was in 1907 and he proceeded to win three pennants.

He suffered two accidents in the off-season that would have crippled an ordinary man for life, but he has been able to train each spring with his players and got out every day of the season and hit grounders in batting practice. He still is in splendid health but he would welcome a change that would be a promotion and relieve him of the wear and tear of traveling all season and the strain of sitting on a bench during a close game.

Strange as it may seem, Jennings never has been able to get as much out of his pitchers as the baseball world believed could be extracted.

Hired Jim McGuire.

Hughey realized that and did his best to hire someone who could. He had Jim McGuire catching the pitchers. There was no improvement. He got Billy Sullivan. He failed to get results. He tried Jimmy Burke and then Dan Howley, but was not satisfied. In Coombs he thinks he has the man.

Jack did wonders with the Brooklyn pitchers in 1916 and, while he did not have wonderful success as manager of the Phillies last season, it was largely because he was handed no material.

When he joins Jennings at Macon, Ga., in March, Coombs will find a pretty fair pitching staff, but one that can be improved. Boland, Daus, Leonard, Elmke, Love, Cunningham and Ayers are good pitchers, but under the coaching of Coombs they should be even better.

BOXING ON BROADER LINES AT OLD YALE

Undergraduates Are to Don Gloves in Competition.

Plan Discussed for Two or Three-Round Bouts as Intermission Events
—Moses King Will Have Charge of Classes.

The popularity which boxing enjoyed in both the army and the navy during the world war has led to decision by the Yale faculty to allow the organization of the sport along broader lines than heretofore. A boxing association will be formed and bouts will be held by the undergraduates at the different weights.

It is uncertain whether matches with representatives of other colleges will be allowed or not, as the sport is not organized among the Eastern universities, but a plan which has been discussed is that of having two or three-round bouts as intermission events during the winter season. For instance, if a Yale-Princeton basketball game is scheduled, it has been suggested that, during the intermission, a three-round bout might be held between boxers of the two universities.

Moses King, the former Connecticut lightweight champion, will have charge of the boxing classes as well as the individual instruction. He has been boxing instructor at Yale for nearly 20 years, but no undergraduate championships have been held before, and no bouts with other colleges have been permitted. King was instructor of boxing at Camp Devens during the world war, and also had charge of the mitt instruction of Yale undergraduates as members of the Reserve Officers Training corps.

Herman P. Olcott, the Yale all-around Freshman coach, was athletic director at the Great Lakes naval station, and regards boxing as a fine training for football and other major sports.

Eddie Egan, winner of the middleweight boxing tournament, which was held at Paris, of the American expeditionary forces this spring, will probably be chosen head of the proposed boxing association. He played half-back on the Yale eleven last fall and will be on the track team next spring. He headed the Yale delegation to the student volunteer congress in Des Moines, Iowa, during the holiday recess.

MIKE WOULD FIGHT GEORGES

Middleweight Champion Now Anxious to Secure Bout With Joe Beckett's Conqueror.

Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, wants a match with Georges Carpentier, Europe's champion. O'Dowd could have had a bout with Georges Carpentier in Paris months ago if he hadn't been balky. General Pershing and other commanders of the American forces wanted O'Dowd in the Mike O'Dowd.

A. E. F. tourney and then, if he won, to fight on through the interallied games. O'Dowd was told that if he would do this the army would consent to let him meet Carpentier in Paris while he still was in service. But Mike wouldn't fight in the tourney.

MAY LAND CATCHER SNYDER

Brooklyn Club Figures on Filling Place of Outfielder Griffith—Also Wants Backstop.

President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club says Outfielder Tom Griffith never has told him he intends to retire from baseball, but the club head thinks that may be Tom's intention and will set out to fill his place unless he hears to the contrary. The Brooklyn club also is seeking a catcher, maybe two catchers, and there is a story that it may get Frank Snyder from the New York Giants.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

GET a package today. Notice the flavor—the wholesome taste of Kentucky Burley tobacco.

Why do so many "regular men" buy Lucky Strike cigarettes? They buy them for the special flavor of the toasted Burley tobacco.

There's the big reason—it's toasted, and real Burley. Make Lucky Strike your cigarette.

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.

Steel Needles Chinese Invention.

The Chinese were the first people in the world to use steel needles. The Chinese needles slowly made their way westward until they were brought into Europe by the Moors.

WOMEN WONDER AT HER MANY CLOTHES

"Diamond Dyes" Make Faded, Old,
Shabby Garments New.

Don't worry about perfect results. Use "Diamond Dyes," guaranteed to give a new, rich, fadeless color to any fabric, whether it be wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods—dresses, blouses, stockings, skirts, children's coats, feathers—everything!

Direction Book in package tells how to diamond dye over any color. To match any material, have dealer show you "Diamond Dye" Color Card.—Adv.

Only a wise girl selects for a husband a man whose mother didn't know how to cook.

Cautiously Stated.

The American officers who came to the courts at Cannes to compete for the army tennis championship were required on their arrival to report to Colonel Johnson, the organizer. When one competitor came in, Colonel Johnson, according to American Lawn Tennis, looked up and said:

"Are you a tennis player?"
The lieutenant looked a little bashful and replied:
"Well, I think I am—at least, I have orders to prove it."

Hard-Wear Department.

Advertisement—"Bedroom suits, oak and satin walnut." Woodn't suit us; our pajamas must be of more pliable material.—Boston Transcript.

If not already acquainted, get to know Garfield Tea, the advance agent of Abundant Health.—Adv.

What has become of the old-fashioned girl who, when a love affair went wrong, pined away and died?

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff, Itching, Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair.
Sole and $1.00 at drugists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. Use by mail or at drugists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Best Quality Maple Syrup Cans: Gallons $18.75 per hundred, direct from factory, cash with order. Price advancing, don't wait. You will soon need them. Order now and save money. Howard Bros., S. Shaftesbury, Vt.

NEW ENGLAND FARMS FOR SALE, with best of location, elevation from 500 to 1,000 feet. Write for catalog. Racine's Farm Agency, Danvers, Conn.

IF YOU WILL INVEST IN A GOLD MINE showing promise of raising another crop of millionaires, write the Mountain Flower Gold Mine Company, St. Joseph, Missouri.

500 Social or business Cards, leatherette case and copy of "The Decillion Song." $1.50. Gold Book, Box 528, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Safe Oil Production Investment. Big Profits. Dividends paid monthly. Highest bank and business ref. Harry Green, Palestine, Texas.

Mackintosh Gloves—Mits Leather Palm, 25c pair; extra heavy, all leather, 75c; knitted wristers. Jos. Demenkov, Holbrook, Mass.

W. N. U., BOSTON, NO. 6-1920.

Getting Up

COMFORTABLY—when with a portable Perfection Oil Heater you may have a warm bed-room and bath-room in a jiffy. You are independent of the regular heat with a Perfection handy. Tip top for auxiliary use—a comfort in emergency. The Perfection gives a glowing warmth in a minute. It's safe, clean, odorless, always ready. Creates no soot or dust. Easy to fill and re-wick. Its habitual use in any household makes for fuel economy. It burns 10 hours on a gallon of kerosene. 8,000,000 now in use.

Use SoCony kerosene for best results.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

PERFECTION Oil Heaters

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

Published every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY

FRANK F. PRESCOTT

Managing Editor

At 52 Commercial street, Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 145

Subscription per Annum, $2.50

Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagussett, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 6, 1920

WEYMOUTH FAIR

It is reported that the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society's board of directors are making arrangements for one of the best fairs ever held by the society. The fair this year will be held on Sept. 3, 4, and 5. Larger stage shows, more horse racing, more tubs of firemen's muster, more sports for the children, in fact everything that will assure everybody a good time will be the motto of this year's directors.

OPPORTUNITY

Opportunity is working overtime. "Opportunity hasn't missed a working day since the Garden of Eden was laid out in building lots."

So wrote a popular writer six years ago. But that was before the war.

Today—opportunity is not only putting in a full day's work, between sun-up and sun-down, but it is working overtime. The country has never been so prosperous.

Take advertising for instance. There's opportunity right here in these pages —for the men who sell,

—for the men and women who buy.
Don't miss the advertisements. They are guideposts to better buying. They will save you money.
Try the Gazette-Transcript.

J. B. CAN NEVER COME BACK

When prohibition was talked of a few years ago it always called forth a laugh from staunch supporters of "the cup that cheers." Even the most sanguine of the prohibitionists were none too hopeful that their pet amendment would be in force at this date.

Then came the war and economists and officials of the conservation essential to the winning of the war. This is the story of Old John Barlow.

His finish is recorded. Former admirers still will come back. When we are healthy and happy, having plenty of clothing and enough to eat we find the best reasons for prohibition. Money that was formerly spent in the saloon goes into the home—where it belongs.

BUSY AT SHIPYARD

A rush of business will continue at the shipyard according to a financial report which reads:

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation has orders on its books amounting to $232,000,000. Private American owners have ordered 31 vessels of 382,000 deadweight tonnage, which will cost about $80,000,000. The balance of the orders are for naval and Emergency Fleet vessels. The contracts for these ships were all taken during the latter part of 1919 and delivery is to be made this year.

During last year the Bethlehem Company built 22 oil tankers, costing approximately $2,500,000 each; 12 cargo vessels and 20 tugs for the Emergency Fleet, in addition to 65 destroyers and 13 submarines for the navy. In all 146 vessels were launched and 132 delivered. The total engine power represented in this construction was 1,850,000, a figure which it is said exceeds any previous shipbuilding production record.

REAL ESTATE SALES

The following Weymouth transfers of real estate have been recorded this week at the Norfolk registry at Dedham.

Mary A. Bannon to Michael J. Killey, Broad street.

Margaret B. Burhoe to Mildred S. Clark, street from Union street.

Dennis Galvin to Nora Galvin, Madison street.

Nettie F. Grover to Carl H. Manuel private way.

Morris Hatfield to Cortes A. Stucker North street.

Louis M. Keene to Anna M. McCullagh, Green street.

Mary L. Lovelace to Aden G. Why-not, Greenvale avenue.

Alfred Taylor to Elizabeth I. Taylor, Cedar street.

Elizabeth I. Taylor to Alfred Taylor et ux, Cedar street.

Town of Weymouth to Ernest D. Wych, Samoset street.

Carrie E. Trussell to Lucinda A. Cook, Prospect and Granite streets.

H. Forest Wilson to Grace T. Wilson, Summer street.

Leonard F. Wolfe to Frank H. Miller Sea street, Leonard road.

EPISCOPALIANS TO STAGE A PAGEANT IN EVERY PARISH CHURCH

Great Progress Made This Past Week in the Work of the Nation-Wide Campaign

RT. REV. CHARLES W. BRENT

Bishop of Western New York, as he looked while in service. Bishop Brent will address the great mass meeting of Episcopalians to be held in Symphony Hall, Boston, on the evening of February 19.

Bishop Brent, formerly of the Philippines, and now of Western New York, with a Symphony Hall speech on "The Church and the Nation" is the outstanding figure in coming events of the Nation-Wide Campaign of the Episcopalians.

How the Sioux Indians are pushing the Nation-Wide Campaign in the Episcopal Church was very interestingly described by the Rt. Rev. Hugh L. Burleson, D. D., Missionary Bishop of South Dakota, at several services in Boston last Sunday.

There are 30,000 Sioux in the Episcopal Church there, of whom 50% have been baptized in the Christian faith, and 5,000 of whom are actual members of the Episcopal communion. Sunday morning in an average Indian community presents the strange sight now of Sioux braves in blankets and moccasins trudging along the road to worship, beside the motor cars driven by their more progressive brothers attired in the ordinary habiliments of civilization.

No man is better able to urge this doctrine than Bishop Burleson, because no man has been more successful than he in putting across successful missionary enterprises. He was, so to speak, "born a missionary." His father was for many years both priest and physician to the Oneida Indians in Wisconsin, and he is himself one of five brothers, all of whom entered the ministry of the Church, and all served as missionaries.

Sharing the interest with Bishop Burleson's message concerning Indian co-operation in the far west, came tidings brought by the women of the Church Service League during their all-day conference in St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, last week of the effective way in which women of the Diocese are rallying to "The Church's Call."

Gathered by the officers of the Woman's Auxiliary to inaugurate new methods of serving, the various organizations present at this service, which have been working more or less independently in the past, showed how in the future they intend to work together under the authority of the Church. The essential things that they must remember were stressed as unity of spirit and willingness to adopt new methods.

Bishop Lawrence in his address alluded again to this necessity for using new methods. In the past, he said, a woman to whom the work of the Woman's Auxiliary might not particularly appeal would evade her responsibility by saying, "I have no interest in missions." Now, she can be given something else to do. Her attention can be called, for instance, to the Guild of St. Barnabas for Nurses, of which Miss Marion H. Penno is secretary, an organization which assists members of the nurses' profession to realize the greatness of their calling and maintain a high standard of life and work.

Again there is the work of the Girls' Friendly Society, an organization which was started in England in 1875, introduced into this country at St. Anne's Church, Lowell, two years later with four members, and which has now a membership in the Episcopal Church of 500,000.

Another interesting branch of the woman's work set forth at this St. Paul's Cathedral meeting was that of the Massachusetts Altar Society, which takes orders for ecclesiastical embroidery, and equips the mission field with the things they need for their church services. Through the Church Service League it is hoped that the importance of this contribution will be better recognized, and that many women skilled in the use of the needle will enlist with Miss M. T. Bush at the Diocesan House, 1 Joy Street, Boston.

Miss Sarah Lawrence, daughter of Bishop Lawrence, spoke at this same meeting of the secular opportunities in social work through which church women can be of help, stressing the importance this year of working for the bill to maintain a good standard of moving pictures. Any women interested to help in this way should get in touch with her at 122 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

Conducted in the spirit of friendliness, the Church Periodical Club has been of great value by means of the letters, pictures, jig-saw puzzles and periodicals which it has sent to lonely people in remote sections of the country. The Club has an office at 1 Joy Street, Boston, and would be very glad to receive contributions or to hear about new workers.

Under the auspices of the Church Periodical Club, there will be a meeting in Emmanuel Parish House, Monday, February 9th, at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. Carroll Perry will give an illustrated talk upon the Rev. A. R. Hoare's work among the Eskimos in Alaska, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Augustus Thordike, Jr., speaking for the Committee for Young Women, made the valuable suggestion that forums be established to discuss modern topics from the standpoint of the Church.

Miss Katherine P. Hewins, Executive Secretary of the Church Home Society, pointed out the need of more church families who will be willing to take children into their own homes for board or free of expense to the Society. Further information may be obtained at the office of the Society, 376 Boylston Street, Boston.

A very delicate work, calling for most intelligent and sympathetic service, is that of the Association for the Work of Mercy, which, under the jurisdiction of the Church, looks after the case of unmarried mothers.

All these admirable organizations are to be unified and co-ordinated through the Church Service League, not only in the Diocese at large, but in the individual parishes.

Another important new movement launched last week was that of the Church Officers' Training Corps, by means of which picked young men and young women, by attending Tuesday evening meetings in St. Paul's Cathedral, can equip themselves to lead Outpost meetings in their individual parishes.

Under the direction of the Rev. John W. Suter, Jr., Rector of Christ Church, Hyde Park, plans are being pushed forward to present, all over the Diocese on Sunday, February 15th, in the chancels of the churches, according to ancient custom, the pageant, "The Builders of the City of God," which was written by Rev. Phillips E. Osgood of Philadelphia, and which has already been produced in more than half the parishes of the country as part of the Nation-Wide Campaign. Copies of this pageant are now being printed, and will be distributed to rectors and chairmen of parish committees. There are twenty-six characters in the pageant, of which some half dozen are grown-up people. The remainder of the parts will be taken by boys and girls of high school age. Miss Lotta Clark, who has successfully produced a number of pageants in Boston, is Director of the work as it will be performed next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in St. Paul's Cathedral. Miss Alexandra Carlisle, who will be remembered for her work in Caliban, is also bringing her professional skill to bear on this demonstration production, by means of which it is expected to assist those who are planning to produce the pageant in other places. The performance of Saturday afternoon will be repeated in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, February 1st at 4 o'clock.

A MODERN HOUSE IS EQUIPPED FOR ELECTRIC SERVICE

WHEN YOU MOVE, BE SURE your new home has electric service. House owners will improve the value of their property if they wire for electricity. It means a better class of tenants that will stay longer and owners will save money on decorations.

WEYMOUTH LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY

Jackson Square East Weymouth, Mass. Phone 62-W

EMERSON COAL & GRAIN COMPANY

EAST WEYMOUTH. Tel. Weymouth 430

COAL GRAIN FLOUR

All Rail—Best Quality

Special
ANTHRACITE "BOULETS"

TRY OUR

Mixed Grain or Scratch Feed

E. A. CO.

$1.90---E. A. CO. FLOUR---$1.90

The Collection of "Slow" Telephone Accounts

THE PURPOSE OF THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is to show that it is desirable to save the time and labor that is expended in collecting bills that remain unpaid after the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

BILLS ARE DUE when rendered on the first day of each month, and while most telephone accounts are paid promptly, there are a number of "slow" accounts that require labor, time and expense that might better be devoted to other work that is more directly in the interest of the public's telephone service.

WE BELIEVE that this method of bringing the matter to the attention of the public, this frank and open discussion of our aims, is all that is necessary to secure proper understanding and co-operation.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

M. L. FLYNN, Commercial Manager.

RAY O. MARTIN Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Ranges, new and second-hand; also Repairs.

Agent for the famous

GLENWOOD RANGES.

Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of work.

Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 103-R

E. E. Lunt & Son Builders

52 Church Street, Weymouth Heights
Estimates Given.

All Kinds of Repairs
Promptly attended to.

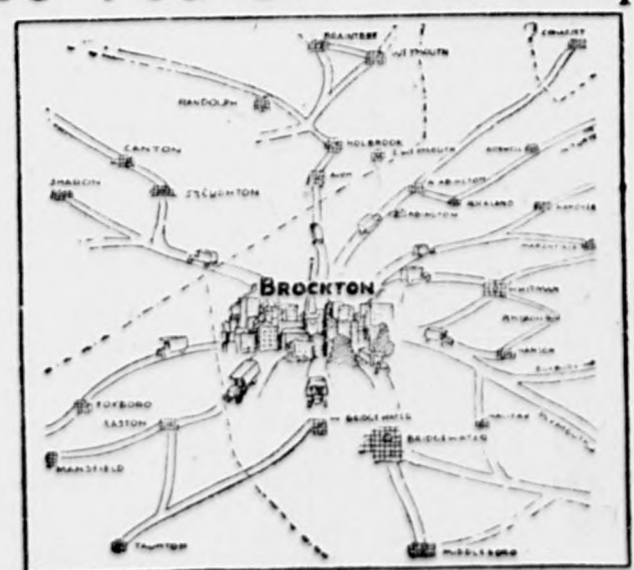

Telephone Connection.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN PIANO TUNER

PIANOS FOR SALE

78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Telephone 1627-W Quincy.

Are You On The Map?

Then Be Sure And Demand

OAK HILL COFFEE The Absolutely Fresh Coffee

Delivered to your neighborhood dealer—WEEKLY or oftener, in sealed packages, by our own motor trucks.

E. C. Hall Co., Brockton, Mass.

Roasters and Packers of Fine Coffees

Weymouth

WEYMOUTH'S
Proposed Memorial
(Illustrated)
In Second Section

Gazette

WHOLE NUMBER 2776

AND TRANSCRIPT

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

VOL. LIV NO. 7

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1920

PRICE SIX CENTS

Weymouth Isolated For Several Days By Heavy Snowfall

Weymouth, Braintree and the South Shore towns have not yet fully recovered from the three days snow storm that struck here a week ago yesterday and paralyzed transportation and business.

From Thursday to Monday there were no trains over the South Shore branch, and only two or three each way on Monday. Since Monday there has been but little improvement, as many of the locomotives are disabled and their crews are exhausted.

The only street railway line that kept open was the East Weymouth and Braintree route, which runs cars every day, and with the exception of Thursday and Friday maintained its half hour schedule. This was a remarkable record, considering that some of the routes have not yet been reopened.

No mail arrived at the Weymouth or East Weymouth post offices from Thursday morning to Monday morning, and no attempt at delivery was made until Monday afternoon. During the four days letters were collected at the mail boxes and dispatched to the depots, but got no further until Monday.

No Boston papers arrived from Thursday morning to Sunday morning. The demand for the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript was unprecedented, as it was the only paper on sale with the news.

From Thursday noon until Sunday two trains were stalled near the Weymouth station, one near the East Braintree station, one on the South Shore Branch at the Braintree station, and near the East Weymouth station one of the large snow ploughs left the rail and went over the embankment.

On these trains were many residents of Hingham, Cohasset and Hull, who were unable to get home until Friday or Saturday. Some stayed in the depots, others at the Tufts Library, and several were entertained at private homes.

It was very thoughtful of the Traveler to send news bulletins on Saturday to the Gazette, which were posted in the show window.

William M. O'Brien, the station agent at Weymouth, and W. W. Dyer the clerk, did all they could for the comfort of the marooned passengers and train crews. They inform the Gazette, that the train crews and men in the employ of the New Haven Railroad, wish to express their gratitude for the exceptional kindness shown them by the people of Weymouth while snowbound here. To use their own words, "we have been used white by the good people of Weymouth. We particularly wish to thank Father Holland and the Sisters at the convent. But also all the people of Weymouth and Braintree who had a hand in the good work done for the train crews and passengers. Tell the people we won't forget them in a hurry for what they have done for us."

Boston papers reported that Weymouth was without bread or yeast cakes, and that other supplies gave out, but Weymouth stores were equal to the big demand. While some things were sold out there was food enough for all.

It is said there was some profiteering among speculators who made passengers on the stalled trains pay fancy prices for fruit, crackers, etc. On Sunday at least eight bodies were on their way to Weymouth for burial, the funerals having been delayed by the storm.

Because of the storm the Firemen's ball was postponed for two weeks, and the "movies" at the Bates Opera House were cut out.

The power snow leveler of the street department did good work for a while Thursday morning, but the snow was too damp and heavy, and the mileage was too great for one machine. On Monday and Tuesday a harrow drawn behind a big sled did good work leveling the snow.

Although about half the Gazette force was unable to reach the office on Friday, and some were out four days, the Gazette went to press on time. It was not possible however to maintain the usual delivery, as transportation could not be secured. The paper however reached the Weymouth and East Weymouth post offices and agents on Friday, and the South Weymouth and North Weymouth post offices on Saturday.

The editor of the Gazette and Transcript was able to reach his office fairly early on Thursday. At night he realized he could not get home, but through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Bates it was unnecessary, and he was their guest not only for that night, but also on Friday night. The hospitality extended was very much appreciated.

About 11 A. M., Sunday, a man was seen walking along the railroad track at East Weymouth, coming from the direction of Hingham, but he told the Gazette man that he had walked all the way from Scituate Harbor. He did not know that the East Weymouth and Braintree route of the street railway was open, but an hour later he reached the Braintree depot afoot. Impatient to reach Boston, he did not wait for a train but started down the track toward Quincy. A train soon passed him.

But Weymouth men and women also showed that they were good walkers, some to and from the shipyard, others to and from Boston or their place of employment. Early Monday morning when it was thought the worst was over, a locomotive of the 5.08 A. M. train from Braintree to Boston jumped the rail just north of the School street bridge in Quincy and tied up traffic until after noon. Many passengers on the trains behind walked to Quincy.

Those who wished to reach way stations between Braintree and Boston received a shock on Monday when it was announced that all trains would be run express between Braintree and Boston. With the Quincy and Brockton, the Quincy avenue line and the East Weymouth and Quincy line closed it was quite a problem to reach Quincy from the Weymouths.

There was almost a riot on Sunday at the news store of G. H. Hunt when the Sunday papers arrived soon after 9 A. M. With considerable enterprise the firm chartered an electric car, and transported the papers from the Braintree depot. Everybody wanted a paper and there was a mad rush to get one. In the crowd were Hingham and Cohasset people, as well as East Weymouth, but the supply was limited, and as far as possible papers were refused to out of town people.

Wednesday morning no attempt had been made to open the Quincy avenue line between Weymouth Landing and Quincy.

Tuesday evening the Brockton line was open from Quincy to the Braintree depot, and on Wednesday as far as South Braintree square.

The town of Weymouth came to the relief of many of the passengers marooned on the N Y N H & H R R near the Weymouth station. Combination 3 was called to supply the locomotives with water, but was permitted to make several trips with passengers to East Weymouth, carrying 10 or 12 at a time. Some of the

(Continued on Page 5)

Ward Caucuses

Notice is hereby given that there will be a Caucus of and for the Republican voters in the following places

MONDAY FEBRUARY 16, 1920

at 7.45 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of selecting candidates to be presented for nomination for the Town offices to be nominated at the general caucus.

Ward 1—Engine House Hall.
Ward 2—Grand Army Hall
Ward 3—Engine House Hall
Ward 4—Engine House Hall
Ward 5—Engine House Hall

REPUBLICAN Town Caucus

Notice is hereby given that there will be a Caucus of and for the Republican voters in the Town of Weymouth, Massachusetts, in the Grand Army Hall, East Weymouth (Commercial Street opposite Station Street)

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1920

at 7.45 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the several offices to be balloted for in the Annual Town Election, March 8, 1920 as follows:

A Town Clerk, a Town Treasurer, five Selectmen, five Overseers of the Poor, two Assessors for three years, a collector of taxes, three Auditors, two School Committee for three years, one Park Commissioner for three years, a Tree Warden, three Trustees of Tufts Library for three years, one Water Commissioner for three years, one Commissioner for the Sinking Fund of the James Humphrey School House for three years, one Member of the Board of Health for three years, ten Constables, and any other officers, and for the transaction of any other business which may properly come before said caucus.

This Caucus is called under the provisions of Chapter 11 of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts and amendments thereto, and will be called to order by the chairman of the Republican Town Committee.

Per order
Republican Town Committee,
John P. Lovell, Chairman,
Burgess H. Spinney, Secretary.

Recital of The Monday Club

MASONIC HALL, EAST WEYMOUTH
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1920

The Ora Larchard Trio
ANNA EICHHORN, VIOLIN | EDITH G. BARRY, PIANO
ALMA LAPALME, CELLO | JAMES S. WHYTE, BARITONE
OPEN MEETING

First Annual Theatricals American Legion, Post 86

"His Dream Maid"
Book and Lyrics by Lowell Ames Norris and F. W. Mahr. Music by Herman C. Mahr.
BEAUTY CHORUS LOCAL CAST
Hear Song Feature—In the Shadow of the Tower On Old Third Hill Original Company of Children Players. Vaudeville.
Tickets—75c, 50c and 35c

BATES OPERA HOUSE EAST BRAINTREE
FRIDAY, FEB. 13 and MONDAY, FEB. 16 11.7

QUINCY THEATRE

Formerly The KINCAIDE
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

CHANGE OF BILL
Mondays
Wednesdays and Fridays

Feb. 16 and 17
A Special Attraction
Mary Miles Minter
— IN —
Judy of Rogues Harbor
A wonderful story made wonderful by a wonderful star.

WEEK OF FEB. 23—BIG VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Sunday, Feb. 15, at 3 P. M.
Band Concert by YD Club
The 26th Div. in Moving Pictures
TEMPLE QUARTET

Feb. 18 and 19
ENID BENNETT
— IN —
"STEPPING OUT"
A Paramount Art-Craft Picture.

NEWS REELS
TRAVEL PICTURES and COMEDY
with every show.

BATES OPERA HOUSE

WEYMOUTH AND BRAINTREE

Sat., Feb. 14
A GRIFFITH MASTERPIECE

"The Romance of Happy Valley"

Episode No. 5
Pearl White in "The Black Secret"
MATINEE, 2.30—10c and 15c
Dance Floor 30c Balcony 20c

Tues., Feb. 17
Ethel Clayton in "Vickey Van"
KINOGRAM NEWS COMEDY
DeNeill's 5-piece Orchestra

COMING—Mon., Feb. 23—
MARY MILES MINTER in "ANNE OF GREEN GABLES"
Dancing Every Tuesday and Saturday Evening during Lent

ALHAMBRA THEATRE QUINCY

Continuous 1.30 P. M. to 10.30 P. M.
1.30 to 5 P. M. 11c 5 to 10.30 P. M. 17c (Includes War Tax)
(Air Changed Every 30 Seconds)

Thursday—Friday—Saturday
FEB. 12, 13, 14
OVERTURE—Pipe Organ
Alhambra Topical Review.

All-Star Cast
— IN —
"The Woman
Thou Gavest Me"
Arbuckle Comedy
News Weekly
MUTT & JEFF
FORD—Educational Weekly

Norma Talmadge
— IN —
"The Social Secretary"

Monday—Tuesday—Wednesday
Feb. 16, 17, 18
OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

Dorothy Dalton
— IN —
"The Flame of
The Yukon"
Vitagraph Comedy
"THROBS and THRILLS"
OUTING CHESTER
News Weekly

Wallace Reid
— IN —
"THE LOVE BURGLAR"

GERMANS ARE DEMOLISHING THEIR GREAT FORTRESSES

In accordance with the armistice terms, the Germans have been demolishing their strong fortresses. Workmen are here seen leveling the ramparts and turrets of Fort Kuestrin, a fortress of the first class in Prussia.

ANCIENT RACE
DUG FROM ICE

Hidden for Centuries Under the Ice Fields North of Alaska.

WIPED OUT BY CATASTROPHE

Village of Six Igloos Discovered at Northern Tip of Alaska by Van Valin Expedition—Not Like the Eskimos.

Philadelphia.—Hidden for centuries under the ice fields north of Alaska, a scientific expedition, headed by William Van Valin of the University of Pennsylvania has discovered the remains of a prehistoric arctic race.

This remarkable find includes the fully clothed remains of no fewer than 100 individuals who apparently met sudden death in a village of six igloos, afterward covered by ice and snow, where they remained sealed until the present time.

The life, habits and physical appearance of this remarkable people bore little resemblance to the Eskimo. They were seemingly more nearly related to the natives of Siberia, and the scientists are proceeding on the theory that they constitute the long-sought link between Asia and America.

Northernmost Tip.

The discovery was made near the northernmost tip of Alaska. Mr. Van Valin, head of the expedition, was sent out two and a half years ago by the University of Pennsylvania to make an exhaustive study of the Eskimos.

He was investigating a shallow swall in search of Eskimo relics when his attention was attracted by the peculiar character of some debris. This led to a still further examination. Buried beneath four feet of ice, snow and tundra were uncovered what was recognized at once as the wreckage of a collection of ancient huts, or igloos. They had been constructed of drift woods of various kinds, covered with dome-shaped roofs cut from the tundra. The roofs had long since fallen in, while little remains even of the sides of the huts.

The great discovery, however, was made when the explorers came upon the first of the frozen bodies. In many instances the positions of the bodies, all in perfect state of preservation, frozen in solid blocks of ice, suggested that death had overtaken them unexpectedly. Some had died in the act of drinking, at least that is the supposition from the presence in their hands of what appeared to be long tubes, one end of which was held between the lips.

Of the hundred or more bodies, nearly all were fully attired. Many were lying on beds of musk, often under polar bear skins. The apparel worn by some showed that the race had learned to fabricate clothing from the skins of birds and that they also understood the art of tanning or curing skins of animals.

One thing seems certain. The community was overtaken by some suddenly developing catastrophe.

Included among the bodies found in a perfect state of preservation were men, women and children of all ages. The clothing, furs and skins were in perfect condition. Exposure to the air, however, quickly caused much of it to disintegrate. As a result but few specimens of the clothing are included in the collection brought back by Mr. Van Valin.

No Means of Preserving.

Unfortunately the fate which befell the skins and furs and birdskin suits awaited the wearers as well. Although when discovered many of the bodies still retained their flesh there was no means at the command of Mr. Van Valin for preserving them. But a few hours' exposure to warmer air was required to cause the fleshy portions to sluff away. Fortunately, however, the skeletons remain intact, perfectly articulated, and within a very short time will be in the University museum.

Many interesting and valuable relics were discovered in the ruins of the six igloos. Some idea of the anomalous relationship between the inhabitants and the Eskimo is suggested by pieces of pottery found amid the ruins. The Eskimo of today uses soapstone utensils. No trace of such utensils could be found in the igloos.

Among the implements used by the ancient race some are of similar construction and shape as those used by the Eskimos. Of particular interest is the fact that jade was used by the lost race. It must have been secured from points as far as 500 miles away.

Inquiries by Mr. Van Valin among the Eskimos proved that the latter race had no traditions connected with the inhabitants whose remains he had discovered. This is taken to indicate that the race must have disappeared centuries ago, for the Eskimo's "ancient story" goes far back.

WILL BECOME AIR NEWSBOY

West Virginia Club Plans to Deliver Papers and Merchandise by Airplane.

Charleston, W. Va.—The Bluefield Aero club of Bluefield, W. Va., which will operate aerial taxi lines in southern and eastern West Virginia, has been incorporated. The club will purchase airplanes and in addition to the taxi business will engage in transporting missionary workers, carrying prisoners, ambulance service and delivery of merchandise, newspapers and other articles.

Stray Cat Has $100 Breakfast.

New York.—A stray cat slipped into the annual poultry show in the Madison Square Garden and had a $100 breakfast on two carrier pigeons exhibited by a Baltimore fancier.

ARMY SUPPLIES ARE SOLD

$760,000,000 Is Realized on U.
S. Stuff in France.

Value of Entire Property Is Estimated at $1,700,000,000 by General Connor.

Antwerp.—The sum of $760,000,000 was realized from the sale of American stocks remaining in France after the departure of the American army, said Brig. Gen. W. D. Connor, chief of staff of the American department of supply. He estimated the value of the stocks at $1,700,000,000, and declared it would have cost $75,000,000 to take them back to America.

Had they been retailed in various countries great losses would have been entailed, as the expense would have been heavy, he said.

"France paid $400,000,000 for stocks it took over, while other allies and smaller nations purchased supplies for $300,000,000. As an offset against the stocks bought by France that country undertook to pay damage claims amounting to several million dollars as a result of American operations in training areas. When the American army went to France it was agreed that farms and buildings used by it in training would be left in the same condition as found. Miles of trenches were dug and buildings were demolished and American forces were rushed into Germany before the land could be restored to its former condition.

General Connor again denied the old story that the French made the American army pay for the trenches it occupied in France.

"The whole truth," he said, "is that the American army has not paid a cent for any ground used or for anything destroyed at the front.

General Connor sailed on the liner Lapland, which was the first ocean passenger steamer to clear from Antwerp for America since August, 1914. There were 450 passengers, including Henry D. Morgan, American consul general at Brussels, and Mrs. Morgan. Just before Mr. Morgan left the capital he was received in special audience by King Albert.

Deer Is Caught Fast in Ice in Trinity River

Chico.—E. N. Todd, a stockman near Paulsen ranch, reports catching a forked-horn deer that was held icebound in the middle of the Trinity river.

Todd believes the deer was chased by coyotes and ran out on the ice, breaking through when near the middle of the stream.

The deer could not get out and was frozen in during the night, leaving only its head and a part of its back above the ice.

The deer was pulled out and taken to a stable, where it is recovering from the effects of the cold. Todd will give the buck an earmark and brand before turning it loose.

These ledges have been almost completely eroded by the elements in the lapse of years, and it is safe to say, according to Mr. Powell, that the dwellings there have been undisturbed for many centuries.

The discovery of the cliff dwelling in the picture came as a complete surprise to Mr. Powell. He has decided, however, to make an early investigation of the place, and believes that a skilled Alpine climber may be able to pick his way up the almost destroyed ledges which the ancient inhabitants were wont to climb.

Got Horned Doe.

Renfrew, Canada.—A spotted fawn, another freak of nature, was shot on the Madawaska river, where John S. Box of Calabogie last week shot a horned doe. It fell before the rifle of Thomas Fraser, whose home is near Calabogie. Hunters and others have viewed the spotted fawn with a great deal of interest, and old hunters report that on two former occasions a freak of nature of a similar kind was brought down from the same part of the Madawaska.

BUNGALOW MAKES ECONOMICAL HOME

Design Will Appeal to Man of Modest Means.

IS NOT EXPENSIVE TO BUILD

Five-Room Bungalow of Frame Cottage Type Makes Comfortable Home for the Family of Average Size.

By WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Steadily increasing rentals are being demanded by the owners of houses of all kinds, and the person who has not a large income is finding it more difficult to find a comfortable home for himself and his family. While these families, perhaps, cannot afford to build an elaborate house, there are many designs that will provide a home that will suit their needs and their pocketbooks.

Such a home is shown in the accompanying illustration. Here is a house that is attractive in exterior appearance, contains five good-sized rooms, conveniently arranged, and can be built for a moderate sum. It is a one-story cottage, of the bungalow type, although not, strictly speaking, a bungalow. The lines of the exterior are good. The gables at either end and in the porch roof; the series of four windows in the living room; the fireplace chimney; the terrace with the brick floor and the porch, with its brick column supports, and the shingled walls all are features that combine to make this design attractive.

The dimensions of the house are 40 by 26 feet, with an 8-foot projection for the front porch. The house is of standard frame construction set on a brick foundation wall. The basement is fully excavated—that is, extends under the whole house, and provides ample room for the furnace, fuel storage and for rooms that can be devoted to storing food and the many other articles that usually find their way to the basement.

While the interior arrangement is somewhat out of the ordinary, a study of the floor plans will demonstrate that the rooms are placed so that the work can be done easily and that the occupants will find living in the house a comfort. The five rooms consist of living and dining rooms, kitchen and two bedrooms, besides the bathroom. The entrance is into a narrow hall that divides the living and dining contractor or the local building material dealer. These men are professional builders, with the knowledge gained by experience to guide them in advising the prospective home owner. With few exceptions, these men are perfectly willing to help the prospective home owner with the plans, and often are able to point out means of saving considerable in the cost of the home.

Home building this year will tax the capacity of the members of the building industry, and the manufacturers of building materials. The home builders who make their plans ahead of the time when actual operations in the colder sections of the country can begin, will be certain that their new homes will be erected during the year; those who wait, or many of them at least, will be disappointed. If the judgment of those familiar with building conditions is correct.

To those who have decided to build a home this year and to those who have just been "thinking" about it, the study of home building plans will be a pleasure. Books of plans, containing homes of all sizes and descriptions to be built of the many different kinds of materials, are available and can be secured from architects, contractors and building material dealers. These prospective home builders will find, make mighty interesting reading during the long winter evenings, and will go far toward helping in the selection of a home building design.

TRULY TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Modern Traveler Can Hardly "Do"
Europe on Bayard Taylor's Modest Expenditure.

In his "Views Afoot," published seventy-three years ago, Bayard Taylor tells of being sick with a fever in Goettingen. He asked the landlord of the inn to send for a physician, and the latter sent for a professor of the university. Taylor writes:

"He made a second call the next day, when, as he was retiring, I inquired the amount of his fee. He begged to be excused, and politely bowed himself out. I asked the meaning of this of Herr Wilhelm, who said it was customary for travelers to leave what they chose for the physician, as there was no regular fee. He added, moreover, that twenty groschen, or rooms, which are both front rooms and corner rooms. The living room is 18 by 12 feet 6 inches. At the end, in the outer wall is the fireplace. The dining room is of the same depth, but 16 instead of 18 feet wide. Double windows, one set looking out on the porch and the other in the end wall make this a cheerful, sunny room. Back of the dining room is the kitchen, 8 feet 9 inches, by 10 feet, with a good-sized pantry built into the outer wall and extending parallel with the back porch.

The two bedrooms are of equal size, 10 feet 6 inches by 12 feet, and are at either end of a short hall, which is entered through the living room. Between the bedrooms is the bathroom, which, it will be noted, is convenient to both sleeping rooms and the living room as well. Closet space is provided in connection with both bedrooms and in the entrance hall.

Taken from both the standpoint of exterior convenience and comfort, this design is an unusually good one for the home builder of limited means, who must provide for a family of average size—three or four persons. Building a home to suit one's own needs and to conform to individual ideas of what a home should be in appearance and arrangement is the most satisfactory way of acquiring a more or less permanent place to live. By building, the owner can select the design, and decide on what materials shall be used. When a house is purchased already built, there usually is a feature or two that do not quite fit in with the purchaser's ideas of room arrangement, and often the remodeling brings the cost of the house up to the amount it would have required to build the house.

But, it should be remembered, not all the ideas of the inexperienced home builder are practical. That is why it always is expedient to consult an architect, or an experienced

Bear Won the Honey.

James Cunningham and Bruin ran a race the other day for a tree of honey, says a Johnsonburg (Pa.) dispatch.

Monsieur Bruin won. Cunningham found the honey tree and was gathering in the harvest when Captain Bruin sidled up to him. Cunningham noted the wicked eye of the bear and beat it.

He returned with a party of hunters to find Major Bruin gone. Cunningham then gathered in his honey and left the precincts of the sacred tree.

Toward evening he made a bed of leaves and lay down to sleep. At midnight he heard a snort that sounded strangely like the one of Colonel Bruin. He awakened to see two fiery eyes staring at him.

He went away from there. Next day he returned to find that his honey had disappeared. So had General Bruin.

New Member of the Family.

"The Gadsdons are beginning to think it was an unlucky day for them when their boy was decorated in France."

"Isn't that rather strange?" "Not when you know the facts in the case. A maiden pinned a rose on Jack Gadsdons' 'somewhere in France' and he insisted on bringing her home as his wife."—Herald.

Home Town Helps

FOR CENTRAL HEATING PLANT

Canadian Newspaper Warmly Advocates Such a Scheme, on Economic and Other Grounds.

The town of Renfrew has carried a by-law to spend $25,000 on a central heating plant for the business section. It is erecting a new fire hall and takes advantage of the opportunity. Owen Sound is said to have a similar scheme under consideration. This is an avenue of small-town development that will be much more extensively traveled in the future, remarks the Toronto (Can.) Mail and Empire. Ontario towns are usually compact, the streets used for business intersect each other, and with the advent of modern heating systems in the stores and factories, the economic possibilities of a central heating plant are exceptionally good. Many cities and towns in the United States have adopted the system, and results have been very satisfactory. Instead of two dozen furnaces, two dozen firemen, one big plant handled by about three men, does the whole business. Modern insulating methods prevent loss of steam and heat underground and the service is usually better than any home system. The obtaining of coal is such a problem nowadays for the ordinary merchant and factory operator that the putting of responsibility on a city plant would be a great relief. The ultimate saving, once the heating equipment is installed, ought to be thousands of dollars a year. In many of the small Ontario towns stores are still heated by stoves, or hot-air furnaces, using anthracite coal. The statistics of the relative cost of steam heat cannot be made up without consideration of local conditions, because pipe-laying, radiator installation and plant costs vary with the size of the project, and the location of the premises to be heated. But the innovation is one that should commend itself to the notice of all town councils.

WRONG KIND OF ADVERTISING

Signboard Display May Catch the Eye for a Moment, but It Does Not Make Friends.

An important function of advertising is in creating good will. The permanent, lasting value of an advertising campaign is in the good will it creates. Signboards can do little toward creating good will and may stir up a lot of ill will.

There are certain classes of advertising that must be handled in a dignified manner, otherwise the advertising may do more harm than good.

If the information received is correct, various garden clubs have already protested against the use of signboards by florists, which shows "the way the wind blows" regarding public sentiment.

It has been proposed that motorists organize to rid our highways of the grotesque obstructive signs. Each member is to agree not to purchase any goods advertised on signboards. That will be an effective way to clear up the situation.

This gives the florists good advice and gets their slogan before our readers, both of which it is hoped will be profitable.—New York Times.

Trees on Roadside.

Believing that the problem of roadside planting should not be entirely set aside during the movement for a greater mileage of improved highways, active steps are now being taken by the New York state motor federation and the state college of forestry at Syracuse for the development of a planting scheme for the section of the highway running from Syracuse to Utica, a distance of about sixty miles.

It has been demonstrated by those in charge of the work that aside from the purely ornamental value of trees along the highway, many practical benefits would result from their proper use. It is not generally realized that trees, by means of their shade during hot summer months, prolong the life of the roadway for many years, and road experts in general are heartily in favor of this means of road protection.

Have an Eye to the Future.

It is common in a good many cities to find a street originally laid out to come to an abrupt end for a block, after which the street is continued. No doubt the founders never dreamed that more and wider streets would be necessary, and thought that in laying them out they were anticipating all possible road expansion for hundreds of years to come. Where such streets, by continuing them through the block, would create an outlet for additional traffic, thereby eliminating congestion and confusion, the property owners, as well as city and government officials, should take additional steps to rectify it.

Keep Eye on Shade Trees.

Don't forget your shade trees. Relieve them of all dead wood and tangled growth.

Never Forget the Shrubs.

Shrubs beautify and protect the premises.

FINDS ANCIENT ABODE

Camera Locates Cliff Dwelling in Zion Canyon.

Probable That No Human Foot Has
Been in Dwelling for at Least 1,500 Years.

Los Angeles.—Discovering from Los Angeles a hitherto unknown cliff dwelling 400 feet up a 2,000-foot canyon side in Utah is a new experience.

It was the experience of Eyre Powell of 44 Wavercrest avenue, Venice, who in enlarging a unique photograph taken with a telephoto lens, made what may prove to be one of the greatest archaeological discoveries of recent years in the United States.

The photograph was taken in Zion canyon, Utah, recently declared a national park, and shows what apparently is a cliff dwelling 400 feet long and 60 or 70 feet wide. It is probable, according to Mr. Powell, that no human foot has been in the dwelling for 1,500 years or longer. In this fact lies its chief archaeological importance, as other cliff dwellings, found at the surface, have been the homes of animals and much disturbed since being inhabited by their original builders.

The photograph was taken at a distance of about three-quarters of a mile from the cliff. Mr. Powell having no idea that it would reveal anything of particular interest. The portion of the photograph which later was found to show the ancient dwelling was less than a quarter of an inch in size. Through successive enlargements this was increased to about 12 inches.

The dwelling is about 400 feet above the top of the shale slide at the base of the cliff. Leading down from the dwelling are traces of the ledge once used by the dwellers to go up and down to their safe retreat.

Rocket to Go Up 200 Miles

Device to test highest air regions near completion; may shoot as far as the moon.

A method of sending apparatus to the hitherto unreached higher layers of the air, to the regions beyond the earth's atmosphere, and even as far as the moon itself, is described by Prof. Robert H. Goddard in a recent publication for the Smithsonian institution.

The new apparatus is a multiple-charge high-efficiency rocket of an entirely new design.

"The great scientific value of Prof. Goddard's experiments," says the announcement, "lies in the possibility of sending recording apparatus to extreme altitudes within the earth's atmosphere."

"The nature of the higher levels of the air has for a long time been a subject of speculation as to their chemical composition, temperature, electrical nature, density, ozone content, etc. The highest level that has ever been reached up to the present time with the recording instruments is about nineteen miles, accomplished with a free balloon."

"As the earth's atmosphere extends some 200 miles out, there is a great unknown region, knowledge of which would greatly benefit the science of meteorology."

"The balloon with its recording apparatus requires several hours to ascend to its highest altitude, drifts horizontally for a considerable period of time, and may come down at a great distance from its starting point. Its recovery by the sender depends on the chance of its descent being noticed and on the willingness of the finder to return it."

"Thus it may be days or weeks before the record taken is made available. On the other hand, the new rocket apparatus would go straight up and come straight down, the whole operation probably consuming less than half an hour. Thus daily observations at any desired altitude for use in weather prediction could be easily taken."

To Build Home Cheaply, Construct From Material to Be Had on the Site

The way to own a home at a minimum of expense is to build it of material already on the site—earth, for instance.

The requisite earth may be had for the digging, and there is nothing to pay for transportation. In England this idea is being taken up, with the expectation that the building of rammed-earth dwelling houses on an extensive scale will help importantly to solve the housing problem, bricks being scarce and expensive.

There are in European countries many such buildings that date actually from prehistoric times. In parts of France and Spain this simplest of all methods of house construction has long been practiced, and recently it has been adopted with great success in South Africa and other British colonies.

Planks are set up on edge to form a mold, and the space between is filled with earth, which is then rammed as tight as possible. The ramming, of course, can be done much more advantageously and cheaply by machine; likewise the digging.

If the subsoil be clay, the latter, mixed with straw and "puddled," furnishes a first class material, utilizable in the same way. This is what is called in England "cob building." The birthplace of Sir Walter Raleigh was a cob house, and it is in good condition as ever today.

OF INTEREST TO POULTRY GROWERS

Old Lady Plymouth Rock is not going to do her best, unless you give her the same kind of care that the Jersey gets.

"The egg supply can be kept up in cold weather by furnishing spring conditions," says the head of the poultry department of a prominent agricultural college.

"These conditions include the factors of housing and feeding. The house for the chickens should be roomy, and furnish plenty of fresh air without drafts. Meat scraps or milk should be fed to take the place of bugs and worms which are so easily found in the summer. Sprouted oats can take the place of grass and other green feeds. Grains should be scattered in straw so that the chickens will get plenty of exercise. Either sweet or sour milk can be fed, but it is not best to change from one to the other."

One of the important things to consider in winter egg production is the early hatch, the same authority believes. The Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island reds, Wyandottes, and all of the birds of the American breed should be hatched by the first of April, and Leghorns not later than May first, he says.

Wheat or oats straw is good for nests, and also the floor of the house.

Longest Daily Air Service Between London and Paris

The passenger-carrying airplane has actually arrived. Seated in a luxurious cabin lighted by electricity, says Boys' Life, one can travel at a two-mile-a-minute rate over mountain and sea. The longest daily service is between London and Paris, a two and a half hour trip, which costs $100. Regular daily schedules are now flown in the United States, France, England, Italy and Germany. The largest of these air liners carry thirty passengers and the cabins are large enough to allow them to move about comfortably. In a few months or years at most we will not turn our heads to see the passenger air liner sweep past.

Small Cone Shaped Asia Minor Hills Transformed by Natives Into Houses

In Asia Minor, south of the Black sea and north of the Taurus mountains, is a region known in former times as Cappadocia, which anciently was a province of the Persian kingdom. It was famous for its horses.

Later the invading Romans found there an agricultural population whose villages looked for defense to formidable fortresses that frowned from nearby hilltops. These the conquerors destroyed.

It is a lofty and rugged plateau, manifestly long ago the scene of tremendous volcanic activity, the burning mountains pouring forth vast quantities of mud, which hardened into rock. It is a phenomenon familiar in many parts of the world. But in the district west and southwest of Mount Argaenus erosion by water and weathering has produced an extraordinary result, the whole landscape being thickly sprinkled with small cone shaped hills.

The people of that district use them extensively for domiciliary purposes. It is an easy matter with pickaxe and shovel to dig out the interior of one of the cones and convert it into a comfortable dwelling. This is done usually in such wise as to leave "floors" intact, some of the larger houses having as many as nine stories. Windows and a door are, of course, provided.

Many of the houses seem to have been occupied since prehistoric times. Some of them are known to have been tenanted by Christian monks in the fourth century, and it is believed by archeologists that the "ant hill dwellings" of Cappadocia were inhabited by the Hittites 3,800 years ago.

Anhinga Plant in Brazil's Rivers Used to Make Paper

In the soft beds of mud that line so many of Brazil's sluggish rivers, the plant anhinga grows so profusely that an estimated total of 100,000 tons could be exported annually. The anhinga is now known as the raw material from which cellulose is obtained for the manufacture of linen paper; but recent experiments show that the fibers may be transformed chemically into an artificial cotton fiber, of structure even superior to that of the genuine article. One mill is now busy with this new work, while efforts are being made to adapt abandoned sugar mills to the process.

THIS AND THAT

Choose right and go ahead. It isn't easy to get along on a short allowance.

A woman's idea of a good complexion is one that will wash. "If" is the most unsatisfactory word in the English language.

A woman's face is her fortune—or perhaps the fortune of her druggist.

Nothing tickles a man more than to be told that he looks like an actor.

Daily Thought.

How many opportunities are missed by our waiting for them to come to us—the positive factor waiting for the negative! Opportunities are less movable than souls and wills. Why not search for them instead of waiting for them to search for us?—The New Success.

Exposure Costs a Million.

Damage done to farm machinery through exposure amounts to $1,000,000 annually, according to an estimate made by experts at the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin.

NEW ENGLAND NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Items of Interest From All Sections of Yankeeeland

Pope Benedict has conferred the knighthood of the Order of St. Sylvester on William Joseph Mulligan of Hartford, Ct.

John Kendrick Bangs has announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative from the 1st Main congressional district.

Representatives of organizations in northeastern Massachusetts which are interested in the control of tuberculosis met in Salem and organized the Northeastern District Tuberculosis Association.

A freight train on the limestone branch of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad was wrecked at Grimes, four miles east of Caribou, four cars being badly damaged and their cargo of potatoes destroyed.

Harry L. Lavensaler was in a serious condition at a Rockland, Me., hospital, following a four mile walk with a partially severed foot. Lavensaler cut his foot while chopping wood in a woodshed at his home four miles from Rockland.

Mrs. Guiditta Allaro, the Salem, Mass., woman who threw her two children into the South river, Salem, and then plunged into the river herself in an attempt at suicide, has been committed to the Danvers State Hospital for the Insane.

More than 200 employees of the Boston Navy Yard have gone on furlough for the remainder of the month and about as many more will be given furloughs in a few days, as the lack of money makes it impossible to continue work at the yard upon the former scale.

A letter, alleged to have been dropped from the pocket of James F. Welch, Cambridge, Mass., while he was in the act of looting a store in Dorchester, furnished the clew which led to his conviction in the Dorchester Court on a charge of breaking and entering.

Charles C. Perkins of New London, by advancement from senior grand warden, has been elected grand master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Connecticut. Grand Secretary George A. Kies reported 2562 candidates raised in 1919 and that the present membership is 31,298, divided among 112 lodges.

The Harvard Crimson, the university daily paper, after examining records, finds that there are 26 Harvard men in Congress. The House of Representatives has 20, and the Senate the remaining six. This State leads the list of States with Crimson degree men in Congress.

Xavier Proulx, 45, of Haverhill, died from influenza at the Contagious Hospital while the funeral of his wife, Clara Proulx, 35, also a victim of the epidemic, was being held at St. Joseph's Church, leaving eight orphaned children in the hospital suffering from the same disease.

The State of Vermont has formally acknowledged receipts of fees amounting to $52,986 from the probate court, in settlement of the estate of Mrs. Hetty H. R. Green, late of New York and Bellows Falls. This sum is exclusive of $5000 recently paid to the state as an inheritance tax.

The Post Exchange at Fort Greble, R. I., one of the island defenses of Narragansett Bay, was destroyed by fire. The artillerymen at the fort, fighting the flames in a blizzard of high velocity, saved post headquarters, the service club and hospital, notwithstanding a scant supply of water.

Resolutions urging upon Police Commissioner Curtis the need for a women's bureau in connection with the Boston police department, similar to that now conducted in Washington, D. C., for the protection of women and children, were adopted at a meeting under the auspices of a score of Boston and Massachusetts welfare organizations.

After more than 50 years of doubt over the ownership of the land on the North end of Plum Island, off Newburyport, on which the United States Government maintains a lighthouse and a lifesaving station, an agreement between the government and the heirs of Moses Pettingill has been filed in the federal district court whereby 50 acres of land is ceded to the government.

Former Mayor Thomas Thompson of New Bedford, picturesque in politics as the man who campaigned wearing his marble worker's white overalls, died at his home last week after an illness of four years, aged 67. He was a candidate for mayor at six elections and was overwhelmingly elected in 1905 over John McCullough after a bitter campaign. He served that one term.

The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, editor of Leslie's Weekly and head of the propaganda department of the shipping board during the war, declared at a complimentary dinner given by the Fidelity Trust Company, Boston, to its stockholders that Americans were living in a fool's paradise, "spending money like drunken sailors," and that a day of reckoning could not long be delayed unless there was a turn to a policy of thrift. He said the country had more parasites today than it had had before in a generation.

NEW ENGLAND LIVE STOCK REPORT.

The Bureau of Crop Estimates makes these estimates of Numbers of Live Stock on Farms, and their Average Value per Head, as of January 1 in each year shown.

Horses show a steady decrease in the United States and throughout New England, except in Rhode Island, where they appear about constant. They are giving place more and more to autos, trucks and tractors. In Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, the price is slightly above last year, while in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and the United States there is a small decrease; and in Maine no change.

Milk cows show a small gain in numbers in the United States, Maine and Connecticut; a small decrease in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts with no change in Rhode Island from last year. The strong demand for dairy cows, especially good ones, has everywhere caused quite noticeable gains in prices. Pure bred and good milkers are generally in good demand; but poor milkers find a slow market in most cases.

Other Neat Cattle have decreased somewhat from last year in the United States, increased slightly in Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, while remaining about steady in New Hampshire and Vermont. They show a small price decline in the United States and Maine but rather marked gain elsewhere. Short stocks of hay and too many young stock in parts of Maine and in a few other places forced sales at lower prices.

Sheep have decreased from last year slightly in the United States, Vermont and Rhode Island, while gaining considerable numbers in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut. Prices have decreased generally except in Massachusetts, where a small increase is noted.

Swine have decreased somewhat in the United States the past year; but throughout New England, except Vermont there is substantial or marked increase in numbers. A considerable surplus is reported from many sections; and the market for local hogs has been rather weak and market prices unsatisfactory to farmers in view of the high grain prices.

The Russell Fire Club, the Boston fire department union, through its board of directors, voted to give up its charter as a union. The action followed the counting of the ballots cast by the members in a recent referendum on the question, the voting being 2 to 1 in favor of abandoning their organized labor affiliations.

Convicted of killing her baby girl by strangulation, Mrs. Laura Goodridge was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Judge Shaw in the Superior Criminal Court, Worcester, Mass. According to the police, the woman tied a band around the baby's throat and placed it in a closet.

Successful raids by four eagles on flocks of wild ducks seeking food along the icebound shores of Cumberland and Falmouth were followed by a battle between one of the birds and a small dog in a thickly settled portion of Portland. Eagle and dog fought in the snow for several minutes before the canine succeeded in driving off his assailant.

Judge Murray imposed a sentence of two years on Henry H. Cheney of Dorchester, Mass., for the larceny of $6000 from his employer, Augustus O. Roberts, of 114 State st., Boston, suspending its execution in consideration of Cheney's sick wife and five small children, one of them an 18-months-old baby facing an operation and another only a month old.

As a practical method of meeting the prevailing wave of radicalism and industrial unrest, a bill was submitted to the committee on mercantile affairs by Senator Loring of Beverly, Mass., under the provisions of which employees would be given an opportunity to buy stock in the corporations for which they are working.

The highest minimum wage scale in any occupation in Massachusetts under a decree of the department of labor and industries, became effective last week in the men's clothing and railroad industry. The decree of the minimum wage board fixes a rate of $15 a week for experienced women of ordinary ability and rates of $10 and $7 a week for inexperienced workers and learners.

Representative Elihu D. Stone of Boston, petitioner, spoke before the judiciary committee in favor of the abolition of capital punishment. His bill permits the punishment for murder to be life imprisonment or imprisonment for any term of years, provided that execution of the death sentence is made imperative for any one who murders while he is under conviction for murder in the first degree. He held that the death penalty "is a relic of crude justice," saying that of over 200 death penalties which formerly existed in England, only that for first degree murder remains.

The East Coast Fisheries Company, Rockland, Me., plans during 1920 to spend $1,400,000, making a total of $2,500,000 for improving its facilities there. It is said that April will see twenty-five steam trawlers in operation, most of them landing their cargoes at Rockland, where over a million pounds daily of fish will be discharged. New construction planned for 1920 includes a $500,000 by-product plant, twelve warehouses with capacity of 100,000,000 pounds of fish, docks for ten steam trawlers at one time and a $100,000 marine railway.

WE CHARGE YOU JUST ONE-HALF WHAT THE AVERAGE DENTIST DOES

By coming to us for dental work you cut your dental bills just one-half. This money saved is just as good in your pocket as in the other fellow's pocket. Let us estimate what your work will cost and you will be surprised at the saving.

Absolutely NO Pain

This is a positive fact, no matter how sensitive your teeth are or how nervous you may be.

Full Set Teeth $8.00 up
Gold Crowns $5.00
Bridge Work $5.00

PAINLESS EXTRACTING FREE

This is the only office in Quincy where gold crowns and teeth without plates (undetectable from the natural ones) are inserted without pain.

DR. T. J. KING

CLARENCE W. KING, D. D. S. (Inc.)

1365 Hancock St.

Quincy, Mass.

9 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

NURSE IN ATTENDANCE

Telephone, Quincy 2678-M

The B & B Carage

AUTHORIZED FORD SERVICE STATION

Washington Square, Weymouth.

FORD PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

All Ford work at contract prices guaranteed.

Eagle Oil and Greases

Winter Storage of Cars

Car service, night or day, at reasonable rates.

Careful drivers.

R. E. O'Connor & Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 397-M

FOR HEAT

Selected Stock

COAL

Fresh Mined

CLEAN COAL

...IS...

Our Specialty

J. F. Sheppard & Sons, Inc.

EAST BRAINTREE

QUINCY

Telephones:—Braintree 25

Quincy 232-W or 2420

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

The Sue Rice Studios

wish to call your attention to the unusual assortment of Gifts and

CARDS FOR ALL ANNIVERSARIES

Have that Portrait Enlarged and Handsomely Framed for a gift.

Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your Portrait.

Have That Panorama Framed Now

YOU MAY TALK TO ONE MAN

but an advertisement in this paper talks to the whole community . . .

CATCH THE IDEA?

Now is the Time to Advertise

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE
AND TRANSCRIPTPublished every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY

FRANK F. PRESCOTT

Managing Editor

At 52 Commercial street, Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 145

Subscription per Annum, $2.50

Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagussett, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 13, 1920

Daily High Tides

	A. M.	P. M.
Friday, Feb. 13	6.00	6.30
Saturday	7.00	7.30
Sunday	7.45	8.30
Monday	8.45	9.15
Tuesday	9.30	10.00
Wednesday	10.15	10.45
Thursday	11.00	11.15
Friday, Feb. 20	11.30	11.45

New moon, Feb. 19.

Weymouth Temperature

	6 A. M.	12 M.	6 P. M.
Friday, Feb. 6,	23	32	34
Saturday	28	33	39
Sunday	29	33	33
Monday	27	34	34
Tuesday	22	27	39
Wednesday	26	37	37
Thursday	27	36	36
Friday, Feb. 13,	33	—	—

—Alanson Eddy of 37 Walnut avenue, the oldest employee of the Stetson Shoe company, was presented a check for $34 by the firm on Tuesday, having completed 34 years continuous service on that date. He was the first man employed by Mr. Heald's father, the late Lysander Heald when he started manufacturing boots, 34 years ago.

—Mrs. Robert Craig of Summer street, who underwent an operation at the Homeopathic hospital, Boston, a few weeks ago is reported as getting along nicely.

—Arthur Ross, clerk at E. W. Hunt & Sons grocery, who is ill with pneumonia, is reported on the road to recovery.

—Mrs. Carrie Hollis, wife of Leonard Hollis, died at her home in Braintree Sunday, following a long illness. She was up to the time of her marriage a resident of Weymouth, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaler, who survive her, together with her husband and a young daughter also a brother, Herbert Kaler.

—Jeremiah Cotter, local section foreman of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. and Mrs. Cotter, are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the birth of a daughter.

—John Sweeney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sweeney of Franklin street, who enlisted in the U. S. Motor Transportation Corps and has since been stationed at Camp Holobird, Maryland, is ill with the influenza at the hospital at Fort Henry. Letters received this week state that he is improving and expects to be able to leave the hospital shortly.

—John M. Nash, a former resident of this town, has been seriously ill at his home in New London, Conn., but is now convalescent.

—Herbert Chandler has taken a position as clerk at the store of E. W. Hunt & Son.

—Charles J. Martell, a prominent Boston lawyer and former resident of this town, died last week of pneumonia. His body was brought here for interment at St. Francis cemetery.

—Favorable reports are received from Mary, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Connell, who is ill with pneumonia at a Brighton hospital.

—Arthur Osborne, a well known citizen, died at the Homeopathic hospital, Boston, on Saturday after a long illness. He was for years and up to the time of his illness, a time-keeper at the Fore River Shipyard. He leaves a widow who before her marriage was Miss Laura Worth of this town. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

—Baptist lodge, K. of P., made a visitation last evening to the Quincy lodge, going over the road in a pung. Of course it would not have been an enjoyable sleigh ride without a capsize.

—Rev. Frank B. Cressey, a former pastor of the Weymouth Baptist church, now of Cambridge, was rendered temporarily unconscious three weeks ago last Tuesday evening by a fall on the icy pavement. Passersby who recognized him helped him to his nearby home where he has necessarily remained ever since, slowly recovering. Mr. Cressey was deeply disappointed at not being able to officiate at the funeral last Saturday of Ernest K. Pratt of North Weymouth whom he baptized into the fellowship of the Weymouth church, Dec. 30, 1906.

—The body of Edward I. Humphrey was brought to Weymouth for interment. He passed away at his home in Boston. He was for more than 61 years engaged in the piano industry with Chickering & Sons. He was born in North Bridgewater in 1837.

—A daughter, Elizabeth Baker Drown, was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drown of Washington street.

—Miss Laura Bussiere has recovered from a severe illness of pneumonia.

—Mrs. Mary M. Glover, wife of Walter Glover, died at her home in Boston on Sunday of influenza. She was well known in this town, her husband being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield S. Glover of 166 Washington street. Besides her husband, she leaves four small children.

—Harry Bloom is ill with the grip.

—Miss Margaret Haviland is about again after a severe illness of the grippe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. Nadell are both confined to their home by illness.

—Morris Bloom has made daily trips to Boston with Edward Dwyer's pungs, and has a big supply of food on hand for all his customers.

—Mrs. Victor Worledge of Commercial street won the gratitude of the crew on the derailed snow plough near the Weymouth depot on Sunday, furnishing coffee and cake.

—Hunt's market was able to supply customers by making trips to Swifts refrigerator plant at Quincy.

—The funeral of John J. Coffey was held in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Monday. At the solemn high mass of requiem Rev. Cornelius I. Riordan, rector, was the celebrant; Rev. John B. Holland, deacon, and Rev. Patrick J. Dawson, subdeacon. Miss Nellie F. Noonan, organist, and the church choir provided the music. Delegations were there from Weymouth Council, K. of C.; Division 9, A. O. H., and the Holy Name Society. The interment was in the St. Francis Xavier Cemetery. Joseph A. Fern, John H. Mitchell, Jeremiah Coffey and Thomas J. Quirk were the pallbearers. On account of the conditions caused by the snow the mourners walked while the body was taken to the cemetery in a pung.

—Funeral services for Charles J. Ad. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Dizer, of East Weymouth, died at his home in Brookline last Friday, Feb. 6, aged 63 years. He leaves a wife, a daughter and two sons. His oldest child, Malcolm, has been in business for several years in London, England. Only one of M. C. Dizer's family now remains—Mrs. George Baker of Atlantic.

—The Ladies Social Union of Congregational church will serve supper Thursday evening, Feb. 19. For entertainment, a drama will be given by the Golden Rule Circle of Kings Daughters. Tickets may be procured from chairman, Mrs. Abram Horsley.

—Bates Street Shirts for sale at Two Dollars and a Half to Five Dollars at C. R. Denbroeder's, The White Store, 750 Broad Street.—Advertisement.

—Stonghose and Shawknit Hose at Fifty Cents, Ipswich Hose at Twenty-Nine Cents at C. R. Denbroeder's, 750 Broad Street.—Advertisement.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Mr. and Mrs. Basque of 42 Pine street, South Weymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Bertha, to Ralph E. Saunders of 148 Randolph street.

—Mrs. Daniel, Reidy, who for the past week has been ill with the flu, is slightly improved. On Saturday, Dan Reidy was taken with a slight touch of the same disease.

—The Weymouth High School will not open until Monday. It is doubtful if by then a way can be found to transport the South Weymouth children to school. Nearly three fourths of the school members live in the southern end of the town.

—As the children do not have to go to school they can spend their time sliding down hill if they can manage to steal their flexible flyers away from their parents. At present sleds are being used to bring home supplies of coal, food, etc.

—Possibly Pleasant street will be open to traffic by May at the latest. In the meantime a mountain goat would be the best thing to hitch onto a pung if a trip to the South is contemplated.

—After five days of strenuous work on the line, John Miller of the Light company had to give in Wednesday. Suffering from a heavy cold and exhaustion he left the job to go to bed but not before most of the damage to the lines had been repaired.

—Mrs. Frank Cowing and her daughter Helen who have been ill with the flu are somewhat improved.

—Funeral services for Charles J. Adams were conducted at his late home, 22 Fairmount avenue, Monday afternoon by Chaplain Martin E. Hawes of Orphans' Hope Lodge, A. F. & A. M. The body was taken to Worcester for burial.

—The storm of last week has caused much damage to the shade trees locally. Large branches of trees on the streets make traffic very difficult, and the yards of most residences bear mute testimony to the destruction resulting from the old fashioned blizzard which has isolated this section of the town, excepting the telephone service. Train service is spasmodic and trolley service is comparatively making a brave effort to open the roads, and work is progressing as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

—Mr. and Mrs. Basque of 42 Pine street, South Weymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Bertha, to Ralph E. Saunders of 148 Randolph street.

—Luther Hayden of Central avenue has resumed his duties with the Boyd Manufacturing Company after a weeks absence due to illness.

—Edward Halligan and John Simpson, both of Main street, have completed a ten days furlough, and returned to their ships at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

—Earle Morse of Main street, has recovered from the grippe, and is able to be at work again.

—Madeline Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ford of Pond street, received a fractured collar bone and dislocated shoulder in a coasting accident near her home Tuesday afternoon.

—Funeral services for Mrs. Sabina Garland of 355 Pond street, who passed away Wednesday, Feb. 4, were held at her late home, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Ora A. Price of the Old South Union church officiating. Deceased was 62 years of age, and is survived by her husband, Nathaniel W. Garland. Interment was in Mount Hope cemetery.

—Mrs. L. A. Winchenbach of Main street is confined to her home with the grippe.

—The Ladies Auxiliary to the Pond Plain Improvement Association will hold their next meeting March 9, the regular meeting having been postponed that should have been held Tuesday of this week.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Mrs. Gordon Willis is under the care of a trained nurse at her home on Pleasant street, threatened with an attack of pneumonia.

—William Newcomb of Pleasant street narrowly escaped the loss of his barn by fire Friday evening. While feeding his horse for the night, Mr. Newcomb discovered a blaze that had been started by the electric wires in the stable. After notifying the Light and Power Co., neighbors assisted him in extinguishing the blaze which might have resulted in a serious fire.

—James Merritt has resigned his position as flagman at the South Weymouth depot, and William McNaught has filled the vacancy.

—Norman Cushing of Union street is on the list of persons who have the influenza.

—Francis Brett Carroll of South Weymouth sailed on the steamship Rotterdam Saturday for a business trip in Europe.

—Sanford Taylor who is making his home with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Thackeberry, has returned from a visit to his old home in Vermont.

—Lewis H. Cushing is improving from a recent attack of the grippe.

—Mrs. Frederick M. Wilder and children of Pond street are under the care of a physician, as the result of an attack of the grippe.

—Miss Margaret Dondero is confined to her home on Curtis avenue with the grippe.

—Victor Hall of Weymouth has accepted a position as clerk at the Weymouth Trust Co., filling the vacancy left by Ralph Hollis, resigned.

—Fred Mielbye has resumed his duties at the Alvin Hollis & Co., grain mill, after a few days absence due to illness.

—Dr. Charles R. Greeley is confined to his home on Pond street with an attack of the grippe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sargent and daughter Edna of Hollis street are kept indoors with the grippe.

—For the benefit of the Sunday School, Mrs. Abbie C. Gibson with a corps of assistants will hold a Valentine party in the vestry of the Second Universalist Church this evening.

—The family of Prince Tirrell of Pleasant street are experiencing the discomfort due to the grippe colds.

—Other parts of the town are not taking seriously the proposition to purchase the Fog Opera House for a Town Hall, because of the location.

—The Womans Missionary Society will hold their next meeting with Mrs. Elmer Lunt on Wednesday afternoon.

—The Ladies Benevolent Society will hold a sewing meeting with Mrs. Charles Taylor this afternoon.

—Miss Ruth Freeman was in Belmont with relatives over the week end.

—Miss Bertha C. Nash stopped with friends in Roslindale during the latter part of last week.

—Mrs. John B. Merrill is ill with the grippe at her home on King Oak hill.

—Both young and old are now enjoying the best coasting at the Heights that they have had this winter.

—Frank Richards of Green street is suffering with asthma.

—Mrs. James L. Wildes has been on the sick list this week.

—The Junior Christian Endeavor Society connected with the First Church are planning to visit the Junior C. E. Society of the North Weymouth Pilgrim Church Sunday afternoon.

—Robert Bates, while coasting last Saturday, severely sprained his leg, and although he has been housed up since the accident, is improving.

—Miss Florence Barter who makes her home with James P. Haddie of East Commercial street, was nearly exhausted from walking from East Braintree in the storm on Thursday night, and has been ill ever since.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

The meeting that was postponed from last Saturday night owing to the bad transportation facilities will be held tomorrow evening. As this is a very important meeting all the members are urgently requested to be present.

There will be an exemplification of the third degree in Odd Fellows hall next Sunday.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Winslow M. Tirrell for several years Tax Collector of Weymouth, authorizes the Gazette and Transcript to state that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Tirrell has made the town a very efficient Tax Collector.

COPE DIVORCE CASE.

An interesting divorce case is scheduled to come up at the February term of the jury-waived session of the superior court at Dedham, King presiding which opened this week, is that of Louis M. Cope of Weymouth, who seeks to have his marriage to Pauline Pister of Weymouth annulled.

He was married to the latter in Chicago, Oct. 27, 1899. Cope alleges he has been informed that Ella S. Brauer, with whom he lived for a dozen years as husband, although never married to her and to which union four children were born, is his legal wife.

Cope, it is alleged lived with the Pister woman in Weymouth up to 1915, when he separated from her on advice of counsel. By this marriage six children were born, two of whom are dead. It was while visiting one of his married sons in Chicago, whose mother is the Brauer woman, that he learned he should not have married again without receiving a divorce from the Brauer woman regarded as his common-law wife under the law of Illinois.

These facts were learned by Dist. Atty. Frederick G. Katzmann, who was appointed by the court to make a special investigation of the case.

BACK FROM GERMANY

Francis D. Marr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marr of 94 Union street, South Weymouth, has recently returned from Hamburg, Germany. He sailed from Philadelphia Dec. 7, on the S. S. Hagan as cadet engineer, arriving at Hamburg, Dec. 30. He spent two weeks travelling into the interior of Germany, visiting Hamburg, Berlin and Bremen. On his return trip he stopped in London, also at Ponta Del Gata in the Azores Islands. Mr. Marr will leave shortly as fourth engineer on the S. S. Northern Pacific.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

FRANK A. MACK, M.D.

6 Beechwood Road East Braintree Corner Quincy Ave. Tel. Braintree 295-W
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 P. M.; Sundays, 8 to 10 A. M.

Boston Office: 168 Dartmouth Street, 4 to 6 P. M. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and by appointment. Telephone, Back Bay 5591.

Ralph S. Carr, M.D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

27 FRONT STREET, WEYMOUTH

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 P. M.

Tel. 656-M

Life is Full of Sunshine,
Ocean's Full of Salt;
No Matter if You're Hard to Please,
With Us You'll Find No Fault.
Always Right There Alright,
Hunt's Market Grocery.

Regular Price 16c
Sale Price 14c

Lent begins February 18th

Regular Price 18c
Sale Price 15c

We shall have the following articles at your disposal during the Lenten Season: Boneless Codfish, Shredded Fish, Fish Flakes, Japanese Crab, Finnan Haddie in glass, Salmon, Sardines, Tuna Fish and Shrimp.

SPECIALS—MONDAY ONLY—SPECIALS

Finnan Haddie Regalia Brand, in glass	39c	Sardines Booth's Spiced	can 19c
Corn Starch Cream, Sweet and Wholesome	pkg. 12c	Evaporated Apples Puritan Brand	pkg. 34c
Spinach Hatchet Brand, Large can	22c	Corn Hatchet Brand, Golden Bantam	can 22c

HUNT'S MARKET GROCERY

Washington Square, Weymouth

Telephones 152 and 551-W. Opposite Post Office.

EDISON
MAZDA LAMPSWE ARE PREPARED TO MEET
YOUR REQUIREMENTSEveready Tungsten Batteries
ALWAYS IN STOCKELECTRIC AND GAS
IRONS

Frank S. Hobart & Co.

Hardware, Paints, Oils and Greases

WASHINGTON SQUARE, WEYMOUTH

Tel. Wey. 307-M

TEAS and COFFEE FRUIT and NUTS

Come Here
For MeatsIT'S HERE QUALITY
NOT QUANTITY COUNTS

Home Cooked Corned Beef

WHITE AND GOLD
CANNED GOODSBroad St. F.H. SYLVESTER Telephone
E. Weymouth Wey. 121

CREAMERY BUTTER VEGETABLES in season

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

Why Not Fill Out and Mail to Gazette, Weymouth, Mass.

I desire to become a subscriber of Gazette and Transcript, and enclose $2.50 for one year from date, the paper to be sent by mail.

Name _____

Street _____

Post Office Address _____

CLUB and SOCIAL

—Mr. and Mrs. George Ames of Sea street entertained a party of young people recently, occasion being in celebration of the 21st birthday anniversary of their son Percival. Members of the orchestra of which young Mr. Ames is a member, were present, also friends and relatives. A musical evening was enjoyed interspersed by games. A buffet lunch was served, a beautiful birthday cake proving a great attraction. A substantial gift was presented to Mr. Ames by members of the orchestra. He also was the recipient of many other smaller gifts. Guests were present from Quincy, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston and the Weymouths.

—Miss Elizabeth Church of Washington, D. C. has been the guest of her sister, Miss M. E. Church of North street.

—Friends of Miss Alice Hurley of 62 Norton street tendered her a surprise last week when a number of them called on her during the evening bringing with them a shower of miscellaneous articles. The usual program of games and music was enjoyed and a dainty lunch was served.

—Mrs. Myles Keene of Green street entertained the "Social Eight" last week.

—The marriage has been announced of Miss Ella Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Anderson of 556 Pond street and Homer Clayton Nash of North Abington, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Ora A. Price of the Old South Union Congregational church, Saturday, Jan. 31.

—The Ladies Auxiliary of the King Cove Boat Club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Johnson of Johnson road.

—Mrs. E. R. Scudder, chairman of the entertainment committee who has charge of the operetta which was to be given before the Old Colony Club, has been obliged to postpone the event indefinitely, on account of the illness of many of the children who were to take part. It will, in all probability, be presented early in April.

—Mrs. Charles F. Vinson of Main street is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Burr, of New York City.

—The Old Colony Club have postponed the "Home Talent Day" scheduled for Thursday, February 12, but held their regular meeting yesterday. Mrs. Frederick G. Bauer addressed the members.

—Capt. and Mrs. Francis Cain of King Cove beach have returned from a two months visit with relatives in California.

—Miss Mary Hyland of Water street is considering a trip to the South in the near future.

—Mrs. Abbie E. Beals is in Florida where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

—Mrs. Roy Vining of Sea street entertained a party at dinner in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Ames.

—Miss Dorothy Hilton of Jackson College was home for a few days last week.

—The military Whist party which was scheduled for Monday evening, Feb. 16, at Knights of Columbus hall, East Weymouth, under the auspices of the Weymouth Catholic Club, has been postponed until after Easter.

—The entertainment for the open meeting of the Monday Club, Feb. 16, is to be a musicale. The talent will be "The Ora Larchard Trio, Edith Graves Barry, piano, and Mr. James Whyte, baritone. A food sale will be held at the close of the meeting in charge of Mrs. H. W. Dyer.

—The Ladies Auxiliary of the King Cove Boat Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Johnson this evening.

DESMOND—HURLEY

Miss Alice Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon R. Hurley of 42 Norton street, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Desmond of 17 Bartlett street, North Weymouth on Wednesday morning by the Rev. Fr. Riordan of St. Jerome's church. The couple were attended by John Tanguay and Miss Marie Delory, both of North Weymouth. The ushers were Messrs O'Brien and Delory also of North Weymouth. The bride was gown in white satin, crepe de chine and wore a veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink georgette with picture hat of same and carried pink sweet peas. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to the immediate families of the contracting parties. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Desmond left for a short wedding trip to Philadelphia. Owing to bad conditions of the roads, the only conveyance to be obtained was an open sleigh and this sleigh was driven by the same driver, who 32 years ago conveyed the bride's parents to church on their wedding day.

W. R. C. NOTES

Mrs. J. Maria Belcher is recovering from a severe cold.

Mrs. Nellie Snow is much better.

Comrade William Moran is recovering from a three weeks illness.

Comrade Towers wife is seriously ill.

The army nurse Miss Margaret Gately has been supplied with warm clothing through the efforts of chairman of Department Relief committee, Mrs. Nellie F. Libbey.

Mrs. Catherine Day, chairman of the executive committee, requests the members to meet at G. A. R. hall, Thursday evening, Feb. 26, not later than 6.30 o'clock to plan for work for the year. President Mrs. Brassil will call the regular meeting of corps 102 at 7.30 o'clock. Open meeting for the public at 8 o'clock. Prominent speakers will be present.

The program that was arranged by the W. R. C. and allied orders that was to be given on Tuesday evening, in observance of McKinley's, Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, was postponed and will be given at this meeting.

We wish for P. L. Mrs. Della Caulfield, speedy recovery.

Comrade Oliver Burrell holds impromptu receptions at his new office on Maple street nearly every day.

Nash's Corner and Main Street

—Benjamin Ross of Adams place is seriously ill at his home with pneumonia.

—Mrs. James Connelly of Middle street is improving from the influenza which has kept her indoors for the past two weeks.

—Mrs. Henry Lowell is reported on the list of indisposed.

—The Helms family, who conduct the Wessagussett Farm, are all confined to their home on Front street with the gripe.

—Alfred Tower of Park avenue is quite ill with influenza-pneumonia.

—The community extend their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. Doyle of Main street in the death of their infant child on Friday.

—Miss Emily Whitten of Park avenue is also one of the many patients who have the gripe in this section of the town.

—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ellis of Main street are much improved from their recent illness, and are able to be about the house again.

—Mrs. Depew of Main street left for New York last Monday, where she will remain for a months visit with friends.

—Clyde Hirtle has recovered from a weeks illness and has resumed his clerical duties at the local post office.

—Mrs. Thomas V. Doyle of Main street critically ill, at her home with pneumonia.

—Miss Blanche Wilcox of Main street, is confined to her home with bronchial pneumonia.

—Letter Carrier Phillip E. Munroe of Mill street is reported on the sick list with bronchitis.

THEATRICALS TONIGHT

Tickets for the first annual theatricals of the American Legion, Post 86 of Braintree, are now on sale. Two performances will be given at Bates Opera House on Friday and Monday evenings, February 13 and 16.

Headline features have been provided with local casts. Topping the program will be a musical comedy, "His Dream Maid," a summer love idyl of Atlantic City. The book and lyrics have been written by Lowell Ames Norris of Braintree and New York, together with Frederick W. Mahr. The music is the work of Herman Mahr.

Amusing situations, tuneful music, pathos relieved by comedy, interspersed with clever lines and an all star local cast will provide one of the seasons' hits along the South Shore. The cast includes Harold W. Brackett, Chester Williams and Robert Withersell, Harry Cross, Marian Shaw and Edith Pratt. The chorus will include Anna Frances Abbott, Helena Hobart, Carol Murphy, Anna Grogan and Gertrude Piercy.

Other numbers include a special feature for the children by a company of child players, Dr. Frank A. Mack and Maynard and Creed.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

MAIL SCHEDULE

WEYMOUTH POST OFFICE
Mails Arrive, 7.10, 11.44, A. M.
1.19, 5.47, P. M.
Mails Close, 7.00, 9.30, A. M.
12.30, 4.30, 6.30 P. M.

NORTH WEYMOUTH POST OFFICE.
Mails Arrive, 7.00, 12.00, A. M.
2.40, 5.30, P. M.
Mails Close, 8.15, 3.45, 6.45 P. M.
12.15

A collection is made at 7.10 A. M. and on the delivery trips. On Sundays at 8.00 P. M.

—More North Weymouth briefs in Second section of the Gazette.

—Harold Ruxton of Bridge street deserves much praise for his work during the past week. Regardless of weather or wear and tear on his truck, he has had it out daily carrying food to the different dealers in town. Had he not done this, many would have gone without food. No butchers, bakers or milk men were able to get out, and the stock of canned food was almost depleted. Edgar Hayden, the fish dealer, succeeded in covering his route and did a rushing business. No electric cars from East Weymouth to Quincy from midnight Wednesday of last week until between 8 and 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening of this week. Three cars were stalled during this time between Bicknell Square and the bridge. No street lights and no lights in the houses for two nights. No train service from the Heights station for several days, and report has it that it will be a week more before regular schedule is resumed. Telephone service limited to business calls on account of shortage of operators. These are only a few of the inconveniences suffered during the past week. In fact about the only thing that North Weymouth was well supplied with was snow, and jolly good coasting which the young and old have been enjoying while cut off from the outside world.

—Charles Austin of Standish road has accepted a position as night man in the East Weymouth office of the Bay State road.

—Mrs. Annie McDowell of Church street is substituting at the Athens school.

—Mrs. Oliver Burdick, a summer resident for twenty years, passed away at her home in South Boston on Tuesday morning of this week, after a prolonged illness. Beside her husband, Mrs. Burdick leaves two sons and two daughters, all well known in North Weymouth.

—Charles Travis of Pearl street left Sunday for Maine where his father lies seriously ill.

—Major Francis Bicknell and Miss Minnie Gerrior, both of 14 Athens street, have recovered from attacks of gripe and are able to be out.

—Willis M. Rand of Norton street has returned from a business trip to Rochester, New York.

—Clarence Burton of Pilgrim road is out again, having been confined to the house for the past two weeks with the gripe.

—Miss Rose McDonald of the Athens school has returned having been confined to the house for a few days with a bad throat trouble.

—S. A. Perkins of Bridge street is ill with the gripe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Merle Cain and baby of King Cove beach are ill with the influenza.

—Miss Mildred Stone of the 8th grade and Miss Lucy Money 2nd grade Athens school, are both ill with the gripe.

—Mrs. Charles Hatton of Sherbrooke road is confined to the house with a severe cold.

—Capt. Cain is reported to be on the sick list.

—Mr. Kelley of Monatiquot street has left for California where he has accepted a position.

—Mrs. Leonard Parker has been confined to the house during the past week nursing an injured foot. The injury caused by stepping on a nail.

—Mr. McBride of Monatiquot bluffs has accepted a position in Philadelphia.

—Margaret Walsh of King Cove beach is at a Boston hospital for a slight operation on her nose.

—While coasting on a toboggan at Sandy Bank last Sunday, Mrs. Cain of Saunders street was thrown off the toboggan receiving injuries to her back which will confine her to her bed for some time. She was also badly cut about the face.

—A barge owned by the American Agricultural Company, bound for Searsport, Maine, went aground at George's Island with a valuable cargo of fertilizer.

—The February sociable of the Ladies' Social Circle of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, was held in the vestry Wednesday evening. The supper was in charge of Mrs. William A. Drake, Mrs. Henry W. Dyer, Mrs. Napoleon Pichette, Mrs. James A. Melville, Mrs. Ella Davis and Mrs. Albert Sargent. The entertainment consisted of instrumental music by Mrs. Wallace Drake, Mrs. Gertrude White, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Melville and Miss Melville; also, "Reuben and Rachel" by Dorothy and Leighton Dasha, in costume.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Mr. and Mrs. Perley Buchanan of Aspinwall avenue are both confined to the house by illness.

—Frank Allen of Wessagussett is able to be out, having been confined to the house for the past week.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WEYMOUTH ISOLATED

(Continued from page 1)

people were so grateful for the conveyance toward home that they took up a collection for the firemen. It is not a fact that the truck acted as a jitney at $1 per head.

Combination 3 also went to the assistance of the steam plough that got off the track at East Weymouth.

Wednesday the shoe shops closed to give the men an opportunity to shovel snow on the railroad. About one hundred and fifty gathered at the East Weymouth station to start work, but they were told the railroad had no money to pay them. No snow was shoveled.

The line crew of the Electric Light Co., had their system in fairly good order by Tuesday. All the main lines were working and one of the two street light circuits was in operation. Wednesday the other was repaired and service was normal all over town.

The report in a Boston paper that coal shortage was the cause of the town being in darkness was erroneous. Damage by storm was the reason. As soon as this can be attended to there will be as much light and power as ever. Owing to the condition of the roads, it is difficult for the men to cover the large amount of territory quickly. The truck is not in use. Two puns driven by Peter Gallant and Charles Keegan are the means of transportation.

Many electric lights and telephones were put out of commission.

On Tuesday Selectman Joseph A. Fern called up the Alden, Walker & Wilde shoe factory for men to help shovel snow for the New Haven Road, and about 350 appeared Wednesday morning. Word was received from Supt. Spencer's office in Boston that it would not be wise to have the men do shoveling, as it might cause complications. It was rumored that the factory men would receive 75 cents an hour, while the men employed by the railroad to do shoveling would get only 50 cents.

Never before in a storm were so many electric cars and automobiles stalled, so many trucks and puns smashed and abandoned, so many limbs blown from the trees, etc.

Not until today were all the snow drifts removed from Washington Square. Snow, snow everywhere, and rain is indicated.

ON STALLED TRAIN

A dispatch of Friday from Hull to a Boston paper reads:

About 100 residents of Hull, Hingham and Cohasset, who passed Thursday night on a stalled train from Boston at East Braintree arrived home today with memories that they are likely to recall as long as they live. A majority were young woman clerks and stenographers.

Some of them started from Boston on the train which left the South Station at 11.45 A. M. Thursday. Others had left their homes, hereabouts, on Thursday morning for their work in Boston, but discovering the difficulties of transportation by the time they reached East Braintree, decided to remain there till they could get a train bound homeward.

The train from Boston consumed eight hours in reaching East Braintree station and there it was stalled in a drift all night and all day today.

There were six cars on the train and every seat was taken so there were no opportunities to utilize the seats for bunks. All sleeping was done in an upright position.

The cars having been kept warm all night, no one seemed to suffer unduly from the hardships experienced. All night long passengers were taking turns at the station telephone, and practically all succeeded in getting in touch with their homes and describing their plight.

Between 8 and 11 p. m. Thursday the hungry throng cleaned out a grocery store opposite the station of everything eatable. Before midnight the Weymouth Fire Department undertook to transport the marooned passengers, beginning with the women, to Hingham.

Half of Thursday night and all day today an automobile pumping engine plied back and forth between East Braintree and the Hingham Town Office Building, carrying about 10 passengers each trip. Before starting on their stormy trip each of the wayfarers was given a lunch at Knights of Columbus headquarters at East Braintree.

At Hingham more lunch was served, after which sleighs provided by the town authorities of Hingham, Hull and Cohasset took the refugees to their homes.

—There will be a supper given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid in the Porter M. E. vestry next Wednesday evening. For entertainment, after the supper, the Pythian Sisters will give a drama.

—The Ladies' Aid will have their monthly business meeting after the supper Wednesday evening.

—Miss Lezette White is confined to her home with illness.

—The supper planned by the Junior League for this Friday evening is to be postponed.

—The Epworth League held a social at the home of Miss Edith Smith last

AT MORRIS BLOOM'S Boston Cash Market

Plenty of food with no advance in prices; lower if anything. Some things are marked down.

PER LB.
Fancy Chuck Roast..... 18c and 20c
Boned Sirloin Roast..... 35c and 40c
Native Pork.....
Lamb for Stew..... 15c
Vegetables of all kinds

COME and SEE what you can save at my store.

NO DELIVERY

Tel. Braintree 225

CORSETS

Front Lace—COSSARD
Back Lace—NEMO, R. & G., WARNER, REGAL
AND OUR OWN STYLE LYNETTE

A model and price to fit every figure.
EXPERT FITTERS always in attendance

Special Attention to
Medical and Maternity Fittings.

HOME SERVICE IF DESIRED AND

Brassieres

that are so necessary to complete the FIT of the Corset.

The Corset Shop S. E. DUNPHY 8 MAPLE STREET QUINCY

OAK AND PINE WOOD

$12 per Cord—Cord Length
$13 per Cord—Sawed
BY CORD OR HALF CORD

Delivered in Weymouth or Braintree.

Hingham Wood Co.

Telephone, Hingham 226-M

Wednesday evening. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.

—James C. Stever is ill at his home.

—Mrs. John French is confined to her home with illness.

—Miss Nellie Holbrook is unable to attend school on account of illness.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morse entertained several of their friends at their home Tuesday evening. Games were played and refreshments served.

—More Lovells Corner briefs in the second section.

C. M. A. NOTES

The membership contest between "Blues" and the "Greens" was won by the "Blues" and the requirements of the contest stipulate that the losing side shall banquet the winners. The blues are awaiting the pleasure of the greens.

The second team having elected William Russell manager, and James Shields captain, have started on a series of games.

A junior basketball team has been organized at the gym and games are wanted with any fast grammar school quintet.

The agreement for the rubber game with the North Cohasset team shows that the winning team will take all of the gate receipts. Many of the local boys can see the treasury of the Clapp Memorial substantially increase its present supply of collateral. It is the opinion of many that the local team is 90 per cent better than the opposers.

Anyone believing in signs would point out a busy year for the C. M. A. Recently "Doc" Fabyan increased the supply of baseballs, bats and other gymnasium material from the leftover supply of the Y. M. C. A.

The C. M. A. team can now claim one of the smoothest working teams in the state. With Mahoney and Gannon, at forward, curtin and Slattery, backs, and Warren at center, they are playing an admirable game.

Club Sale of Columbia Grafonola

TERMS AS LOW AS
$2.00 FIRST PAYMENT
$1.00 Weekly
Immediate Delivery

KINCAIDE'S MUSIC PARLORS
1495 HANCOCK ST., QUINCY

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

Presidential Timber

We beg to announce to the many Patrons
of the

L. A. Cook Insurance Agency

that we have acquired the same and will
give your interest our careful attention.

A. E. BARNES & CO.

South Weymouth, Mass.

GENERAL SURVEYS

TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEYS

RUSSELL H. WHITING
CIVIL ENGINEER and SURVEYOR

56 Sea Street
NORTH WEYMOUTH, MASS.

URVEYS MADE AND PLANS PREPARED FOR THE LAND COURT

WANTED
To List Your Properties in the Weymouths

HENRY W. SAVAGE

INCORPORATED

OPPOSITE PARK ST., SUBWAY STATION

129 TREMONT ST. Tel. 4420 Oxford BOSTON, MASS.

REAL ESTATE

C. H. CHUBBUCK, Jr.
EAST WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Telephone Weymouth 149-W

Insurance
OF EVERY
DESCRIPTION

BOSTON OFFICE, 99 MILK STREET

Tel Main 5020

Coal - Coal - Coal

Best Quality of All Kinds

All-Rail Anthracite is Superior

Charles T. Leavitt

Successor to
H. M. CURTIS COAL CO.

YARD—WHARF ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Tel. 19

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

Remember

That every added subscriber helps to make this paper better in every way for everybody. Subscribe!

It is better only sometimes to be right than at all times to be wrong. Before I resolve to do one thing or the other I must gain confidence in my own ability to keep my resolves when they are made.—Lincoln.

SEASONABLE FOODS.

The following is something a little out of the ordinary, but a dish which uses left-over bits of chicken and furnishes a tasty dish:

Chicken Pancakes.—
Remove all bits of white meat left on the framework of roast chicken.
Take the bones, skin and giblets of the fowl and as much chicken broth as will cover the whole.
Water may be used if there is no broth. Add an onion, cut fine, a piece of carrot and simmer an hour or two. Strain, remove the fat and thicken with flour and butter cooked together. Remove from the fire and stir in the yolks of two eggs beaten up with the juice of half a lemon.

Pour this sauce over the prepared chicken and let it get cold. Make two very thin pancakes, cut out of them eight pieces five inches long and four inches wide and put them aside.
Spread the pieces of pancake on a big dish and cover each with thin-sliced cooked bacon. On the bacon set a large tablespoonful of the minced chicken, fold the pancake over, seal with a little beaten egg white, crumb them and bake a pale brown in a well-buttered dish. Serve hot on a napkin.

Philadelphia Butter Buns.—Make a sponge of one cake of compressed yeast, one-fourth of a cupful of water, one cupful of scalded milk and one and one-half cupfuls of bread flour.
When light add one-fourth cupful of butter, melted, two egg yolks, one-half teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind of a lemon and about two cupfuls of flour.
Knead until smooth and elastic. Cover close and set aside to double in bulk.
Turn upside down on a board, roll into a rectangular sheet, spread with softened butter, dredge with sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle with currants and roll as a jelly roll. Cut into inch pieces an inch and a quarter long. This amount will make 16 buns. Butter the pan in which they are to be baked, dredge well with brown sugar and place the buns. When light, bake carefully not to burn on the bottom. The sugar and butter should glaze the bottom of the buns. Three or four tablespoonfuls of butter and half a cupful of brown sugar will be needed for the bottom of the pan.

Creole Pralines.—Stir three cupfuls of granulated sugar and one cupful of thin cream or milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Boil without stirring to the soft ball stage. Cook over the fire in a smooth saucepan one cupful of sugar until it is caramelized. Pour the first mixture into the caramel and let it boil up once. Take from the fire and beat until thick, adding at the last moment three or four cupfuls of pecan meats. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered marble to cool.

A little word of kindness spoken,
A motion or a tear
Has often healed the heart that's broken
And made a friend sincere.
—John Greenleaf Whittier.

LITTLE ECONOMIES.

Every one who wants to help the state this year can do so by giving thought to the question of how to economize food. If we are careful of the little wastes, the larger ones will look after themselves. One of the best tests of patriotism just now is the stopping of all waste of food in our homes and substituting other foods for those which are less plentiful. This can be done without sacrificing health or strength.

If a veal loaf or any kind of meat loaf is wrapped in oiled paper before baking it will save a loss of flavor and juices with no hard crust.

An emergency filling for sandwiches for two or three people can be made from half a jelly glass of chopped meat.

A tablespoonful of molasses added to griddle-cake batter will make them brown nicely.

Keep a small bottle of caramelized sugar to color gravies. Brown sugar in a clean, smooth frying pan until a dark brown, add boiling water to dissolve the sugar and bottle the liquid.
A few drops will color a bowl of gravy.

To remove the small feathers from game dip the bird after picking it as well as possible in melted paraffin; the wax when cool will come off with the small pinfeathers. The paraffin may be melted and strained and used again and again.

Honey may be used in many dishes in place of sugar; is fine in cake and cookies, makes good griddle cake sirup and candy; in fact is an all-round good substitute for sugar.

There are not many happinesses so complete as those that are snatched under the shadow of the sword.—Kipling.

THE FUNCTIONS OF FOODS.

No housemother who reads the current news and magazines can be ignorant in regard to the importance of food study.
There are a few general principles which if borne in mind when supplying the food for the family,
will feed them correctly.
First in importance is the point that all families differ as to needs.

The man who works at hard labor out of doors can eat, digest and assimilate foods that would injure one who is an inactive indoor worker. A growing child who is very active will consume and care for as much food as the average man, because he is making a framework and is covering that frame with good, healthy muscles. Food supplies the body with what it needs for growth and for energy. There are certain elements which are required to support life;
many of them in very small quantities are found in the body, but if these are lacking the health begins to break.
These elements are carbon, oxygen,
nitrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, iron, calcium, potassium, sodium and several others in small amounts. The foodstuffs which furnish these elements are:

Examples of the different classes of foods:

Proteins—which yield carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, sulphur and sometimes iron and phosphorus.

Proteins—lean meats, fish, eggs,
milk, cheese and peas, beans and lentils.

Fats—fat of meat, butter, cream,
vegetable oils, nuts and yolk of eggs.

Carbohydrates—rice and other cereals, potatoes, other starchy vegetables, fruits, honey and sugar.

Mineral matter—fruits, green vegetables, meat, milk, whole wheat and other grains, egg yolk, water.

Fats—which yield carbon, hydrogen and oxygen—these are the heat-producing foods. In winter we need more of such food to keep up the body heat.

Carbohydrates—which yield carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, whose molecules are in different arrangement than in fats. These yield energy in the most economical form.

If you expect any miracles in 1920
you have got to perform them.—"Sid Says."

MEALS FOR A DAY.

By serving occasional oven dinners the cook can economize on fuel and attend to work in other parts of the home.

Baked Soup.—
Use a large earthen bean pot.
Cut up in small pieces two pounds of beef,
cover with cold water, season with salt and pepper and place in the oven.
Cook two hours, then add two cupfuls of shredded cabbage, four large potatoes sliced, two onions sliced, one bunch of celery cut fine. Add hot water and seasonings and cook another hour, strain and serve hot. The beef and vegetables may be ground for hash and the soup is especially good.

Pimiento Bisque.—Take three pints of chicken stock, one-half cupful of cooked rice, six canned red peppers put through a ricer, two teaspoonfuls of salt, half a teaspoonful of tabasco sauce and one-half cupful of cream.

Fillets of Veal.—Divide a loin of veal steak into as many portions as will be needed; pound and season with salt, pepper and a bit of powdered sage. Roll each and fasten securely with wooden toothpicks. Roll each fillet in crumbs, then in egg and crumbs again, salt and repeat the egg and crumbing. Run a sharp wire skewer through the fillets and suspend them over a pan in the oven, basting often with chicken fat or butter. They will have a delicious flavor when cooked. Garnish with parsley.

Tomato Salad.—An extremely pretzy salad is the following: Peel and cut tomatoes into eights without separating the sections; place on a leaf of lettuce and fill the centers with pearl onions. Serve with French dressing to which has been added chopped green peppers.

Spanish Chops.—Gash French chops to the bone and fill with the following stuffing: Six tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of minced boiled ham, two tablespoonfuls of mushrooms and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Roll in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat until well browned.

A few spoonfuls of chopped meat especially those of high flavor like ham will season a dish of rice or macaroni, mashed potato or hominy for a family of four or five.

Nellie Maxwell

CURED AND SMOKED MUTTON GIVES TABLE VARIETY—IS ONE OF CHEAPEST OF MEATS

Curing Mutton Given a Product Similar to Ham.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If you live in the country and your family likes mutton but is inclined to grow tired of it before a whole carcass can be utilized, why not cure and smoke the legs and shoulders?
Many farmers hesitate to kill a sheep or lamb because the family tires of it, or a part of the meat spoils before the entire carcass is consumed.

By curing and smoking a part of the carcass may be used as fresh meat and the remainder used at a later date.

Farm-killed lamb or mutton is usually one of the cheapest and at the same time one of the most wholesome of meats, but it has never been served so extensively on the country table as in the city. One reason for this, doubtless, has been lack of knowledge of how to preserve, when cold-storage facilities are unobtainable, the mutton which could not be eaten fresh before it spoiled.

Cure Shoulders and Legs.

The farmer who slaughters two lamb or mature sheep in place of one of the hogs that he usually butchers at home, and who cures the shoulders and legs, can provide the family table with meat variety at little cost and trouble.

Lamb or mutton is as easily cured and smoked as is pork and produces a product similar to ham, according to specialists in the United States department of agriculture, who have been conducting experiments in the curing and smoking of these meats. The cured meat can be cooked in any or all of the ways that cured pork shoulders and hams are cooked, and adds variety to the farm table.

The first essential thing in curing is to make sure the meat is thoroughly cooled. Meat should never be frozen, either prior to or during the period of curing. The proper time to begin curing is when the meat is thoroughly cooled and still fresh. Twenty-four to thirty-six hours after killing is the opportunity time.

Brine-Cured Meat.

Many different formulas may be used for curing mutton by the brine method, but the recipe given below, if followed closely, will give good results.

For each 100 pounds of meat use:
7 pounds salt 2 ounces saltpeter
2½ pounds sugar or 4½ gallons water sirup

DO NOT WASTE FUEL IN PREPARING FOOD

Best to Select Those Requiring Long, Slow Cooking.

Various Vegetables and Meats Can Be Baked in Oven and Cereals Can Be Cooked in Double Boiler on Top of Stove.

When a slow fire is needed all day to heat a kitchen, select foods that require long, slow cooking. Beans, peas, and roasts can be baked in the oven and cereals can be cooked in a double boiler on the top of the stove.

In broiling over a coal or wood fire put the broiler through the door over the fire box instead of taking off the lids and cooling the fire.

Use double broilers, steamers, and compartment vessels which fit over one burner on a gas or oil stove.

Eggs or small vegetables may be cooked in the bottom part of the boiler while cereals are cooked in the upper part, according to U. S. department of agriculture specialists.

A colander or wire basket fitted over a saucepan makes a good steamer. Vegetables, such as carrots, may be steamed in the colander while potatoes are boiled in the saucepan.

For slow cooking on a gas stove use a simmering burner. When soups and foods require long cooking, but keep well, cook them in large quantities.

Turn out the gas when it is not needed. Matches are cheaper than gas.

Turn the flame down after the boiling point is reached. Water boiling fast is no hotter than water boiling slowly.

USE CARAMEL IN FLAVORING

It May Be Used Successfully in Custards, Ice Creams and Many Other Table Dishes.

Flavorings, like most other groceries, have advanced in price. A homemade flavoring which is not new but which is cheap and always delicious is caramel. Its more frequent use is recommended by the United States department of agriculture kitchen to those who wish to economize. It may be used successfully in custards, ice creams, and many other desserts.

To make caramel flavoring, place one cupful of sugar in an iron saucepan. Heat it until well browned, stirring constantly even after the dish has been taken from the fire and until the danger of burning is past. Before the mixture hardens add one-fourth cupful of hot water and cook the mixture until it is about the consistency of thick sirup. Bottle and save for use when needed.

Do not allow silver to stand unwashed overnight.

Corn, tomatoes and rice make a good stuffing for peppers.

A few vanilla beans kept in the sugar box imparts a delicious flavor to sugar.

By adding a tiny pinch of salt to milk when fresh it will keep a much longer time.

BOARD OF SELECTMEN

BRADFORD HAWES, Chairman, E. Weymouth
JOSEPH A. FERN, Secretary, East Weymouth
ALFRED W. HASTINGS, South Weymouth
GEORGE L. NEWTON, North Weymouth
JOHN F. DWYER, Weymouth

Meetings Savings Bank Building
East Weymouth, Every Monday
DURING THE MUNICIPAL YEAR FROM
2 TO 5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Town Clerk

Clayton B. Merchant

OFFICE HOURS:

In rooms of the Selectmen, Savings Bank
Building, East Weymouth

8 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M.
Saturdays, 8 to 12 A. M.

Residence, 912 Commercial Street,
East Weymouth

SOUTH WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

SOUTH WEYMOUTHOFFICERS 1919

President—R. Wallace Hunt
Vice-Pres.—Ellis J. Pitcher
Almon B. Raymond
Treasurer—Fred T. Barnes

BANK HOURS:

8 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M.
Also Mondays 7 to 8 P. M.
Saturdays 9 to 12 A. M.

Deposits go on interest second Wednesday of January, April, July and October.
Dividends payable on and after the second Wednesday of January and July.
The January, 1918, dividend was at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, and the July, 1918, dividend at the rate of 5 per cent.
Incorporated March 6, 1888

WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

CHARLES A. HAYWARD, President,
CHARLES T. CRANE, Treasurer

Vice-Presidents:

EDWARD W. HUNT JAMES H. FLINT

Board of Investment:

CHARLES A. HAYWARD
CLARENCE P. WHITTLE
EDWARD W. HUNT
ARTHUR E. PRATT
CHARLES O. SHEPPARD

Bank Hours—8:30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Saturdays, 8:30 to 12.

Monday Evenings, 6 to 8.

Deposits placed on interest on the first Monday of January, April, July and October.

Joseph Grehan

Plumber and Sheet Metal Worker.
Steam, Hot Water and Furnace Heating. Stove and Furnace Repairs.

Tel., Wey. 767-71 20, 11

11 Foye Avenue, Weymouth

S. GREEN

Jackson Square
East Weymouth, Mass.

Custom Tailor

SUITS MADE TO ORDER

Cleaning, Pressing, Dyeing and all
Kinds of Repairing at Reasonable prices

JOHN LYONS & SON

BRICKLAYERSMASONS and*PLASTERERS

General Jobbing of All Kinds
promptly attended to

Address

81 Prospect St. Weymouth

M. LIPSHEZ

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR JUNK
and Second hand Furniture

Patronize a Weymouth man
Mail and Telephone will receive prompt attention. Phone Weymouth
513-M. Address, 66 Norton St.,
North Weymouth. 31, 11

JUNK COLLECTED

Metal of all kinds, Rags, Magazines and Papers. Umbrellas mended. True weight and honest dealing. J. Gibbs, 116 Charles St., East Weymouth. Telephone, Weymouth, 658-W. Please telephone or send postal. Will buy or sell second hand furniture. 21, 11

SUCCESSORS OF THE SWEATER COAT

THE humble sweater first became sportive as to color and then made way for sweater coats, smocks, wide scarfs and fancy wraps all made for warmth or to suggest it. There are about as many different materials used for these wraps as there are styles for making them, with angora, or other shaggy soft wools, much to the fore. The new and heavy weaves in silk are favorites and the thicker grades of jersey cloth make handsome yarn embroiled smocks that take the place of sweaters with sport skirts. For real warmth the wide scarfs, often with cap and muff to match, made of angora in dark colors, and provided with belts, are practical and smart. Some of the narrower ones have muffs made in them by folding a deep loop in one end to accommodate a flat bed. Yarn crocheted flowers make a pretty ornament. The same yarn forms a fringe at the end. All these scarfs can be made of angora fabrics with muffs or caps to match and the same material in stripes of white and light colors make small wraps worn with white skirts banded with the angora. Sleeveless jackets that hang straight from the shoulder are also made of it.

Silk sweater-coats and smocks are often finished with knotted silk fringe in bright colors with silk girdles to match. Silk braid is a novelty used in fringes on crocheted sweaters. These are made in several styles, one of the novel ones appearing in the picture above. Collars and cuffs of angora make a cozy looking finish for those with long sleeves. All these pretty garments are either really warm or suggest warmth, although some of them are so lacey that it takes the addition of angora cloth to hint a protection against chill.

The smock of heavy jersey cloth is the most interesting rival of sweaters and sweater-coats. It is usually embroidered with wool yarn as a decoration and there is plenty of room for the exercise of individual taste in its making.

Peplum Blouses and Others

THE procession of new blouses and smocks for spring and summer is passing in review, and every day brings revelations of style and beauty in them. The blouse with a peplum, more or less short, has arrived at a place, in the esteem of women, where it looks backward at its rivals—the blouse without a peplum and the smock. Just how to distinguish between a blouse and a smock is one of the things that needs to be determined. If we count in smocks with blouses that have peplums, those that have not will be found in the minority.

About the most interesting of the new blouses are those made of fine white voile that depend upon exquisite needle work for adornment. Drawn work, hemstitching, embroidery and fancy stitches, insets of filet and old-time stichery give them a flavor of refinement and reserve that we find refreshing. Bearing them company are smocks of white linen, with bindings in a color.

After these the most interesting blouses are those of georgette crepe that are embroidered in a way to make them either brilliant or gorgeous. High colors like jade green, turquoise, geranium, emerald and henna, with embroidery in colors that are like them in character, as brilliant and as artfully combined as in a Paisley shawl, have an appealing suggestion of splendor. Then there are bead embroidered models, of which a lovely example appears in the picture. Black georgette makes this rich blouse and brilliant jet beads almost cover the peplum. They find a place on the flaring elbow sleeves and outline the round neck, besides making a looped fringe that finishes the bottom and the sleeves. There is much sparkle to this all black affair and it belongs to the matron who is entitled to wear it. A long strand of beads takes the place of a girdle about the waist.

Julia Bottinley

Dogs Talented in Comedy and They Provide Many Good Laughs for Owners

It is not generally known, but dogs are in many instances real comedians. Those who have made a close study of canines long ago came to this conclusion. The gift is not confined to any one breed. Some of the stunts done by fox terriers are not only laughable, but they show the dog to be a natural born comedian.

A woman recently owned a valuable fox terrier which was so much of a comedian that he kept the household in a state of constant good humor. The dog never had been taught the tricks he performed, and the most interesting part of it was, he liked to show off when the house was filled with guests. The terrier seemed to know that he was creating laughs. One thing he did was a trick that would be hard for the average person to believe unless he witnessed it. It was a performance he went through to avoid having his coat put on in the winter months, when a maid took him for a walk.

When the dog saw the maid approaching with the coat he would hang his head. One evening when a party of guests were present the dog conceived a new scheme of trying to arouse sympathy, so he could get out of having his coat put on. When the maid called to him he looked around the room, and then, quick as a flash, he started to run to the different corners as if looking for rats. He was as serious as a judge sitting on a bench. Once or twice he stopped to see what effect his performance was having, then he looked at the maid, wagging his tail with an expression on his face which seemed to say: "Now you won't make me put on the coat after that." The guests caught the idea, and a wave of hearty laughs came from all sides.

Mother's Cook Book

Thoughts are real forces—living messengers of power. Love thoughts, even when brought to bear upon our pains and trials, transform them and make them educational.—Henry Wood.

The Favorite Shell Fish.

The edible crustacea, as shrimp or prawns, crawfish, lobster and crabs, mussels, are classed under the heading of shell fish. Oysters, because of their flavor, are ranked as favorite food, but as for nourishment, they are not valued. At the price they have been this season in most markets, they are an expensive luxury, only to be used in case of illness or convalescence.

Oyster Cocktail.

Cut a grape fruit into halves, remove the fiber, leaving the sections unbroken as possible. Add six small oysters seasoned with salt and tabasco sauce.

Oyster Bouillon.

Wash and chop fifty good-sized oysters. Put them in a double boiler, cover and cook slowly for one hour. Add a pint of water, a tablespoonful of celery seed, strain, reheat. Add a tablespoonful of butter, salt to taste and serve in hot cups.

Oysters a la Martin.

Toast a round piece of bread and set on an earthen dish fitted with a glass bell. Spread the bread with anchovy paste. Above the paste set six or eight oysters, enough to cover the toast. Over the oysters dispose two tablespoonfuls of curry sauce; set the bell in place and turn a little curry sauce around the bell where it joins the dish. Let cook in the oven until the edges of the oysters curl.

Curry Sauce for Oysters, Martin.

Cook half a chopped onion in three tablespoonfuls of fat until softened and yellow. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of curry powder, or more if liked, one-fourth teaspoonful each of salt and paprika, and stir until blended. Add a half cupful or more of oyster broth and enough rich milk to fill the cup, and stir until boiling. Add a teaspoonful of lemon juice, strain and it is ready to serve.

Escalloped Oysters.

Put a layer of oysters in the bottom of the baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, season with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Add another layer of oysters and seasonings, then the crumbs. Pour over milk and bake twenty minutes. A cupful each of milk and crumbs is a good proportion. Never make three layers of oysters as the inner one will not be cooked or the outer layers over done.

Nellie Maxwell
Present Automobile Shortage Is Placed at 1,000,000 Cars

New York.—A shortage of automobiles this year was predicted by members of the National chamber of commerce, although they estimated that the passenger car output for the year would exceed 2,000,000. The shortage at present was placed at 1,000,000 cars. One of the most prominent manufacturers, it was said, is preparing to double the factory capacity this year because of the steadily increasing demand.

CALL ON US
WE BUY, WE SELL, WE MOVE

We pay the highest cash prices for all kinds of used Furniture worth buying

We sell at the lowest possible prices, on time payments or great discount for cash, of our entire stock of Furniture, Carpets, Ranges and Bedding to furnish your home. We do long distance Furniture and Piano Moving as we have ample facilities for doing such work, and have only experts in handling same. So call on us if you want to furnish your home, sell your home or move your home. We take Liberty Bonds for face value.

Berman Furniture Co., Inc.

Complete Home Furnishers

1601-1603 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

Tel. Quincy 52334

Monuments and Headstones

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND MATERIAL.

The largest and most varied selection in the United States for you to choose from.

Inspection cordially invited.

Satisfied patronage is the bulwark of our progress and we guarantee every Memorial furnished.

ESTABLISHED 1884.

A call will amply repay you. Booklets sent on application.

DO NOT WAIT FOR DECORATION DAY.

JOHN R. RICHARDS

Phone, Quincy 220

Works—QUINCY ADAMS

BRANCHES:

970 Main Street, Malden, Mass. Tel.

977 North Main Street, Providence, R. I. Tel.

227 Broadway, Taunton, Mass. Tel.

Brookville, Mass. Tel.

ROOF REPAIRING

Consider NEPONSET SHINGLES and the NEPONSET ROLL ROOFINGS when repairing roofs on any of your buildings.

A successful repair is made with Neponset.

M. R. LOUD & CO.

Columbian Square, South Weymouth

WOOD

Seasoned or Green

Delivered in Any Quantities Desired

Long Lengths $12

Sawed $14

Sawed and Split $15

A. J. RICHARDS & SON

Telephone, Weymouth 51 and 870

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD?
REMODEL or REPAIR?

For over twenty years I have served Weymouth's people and have attended to the carpenter work for hundreds of property owners. If you have decided to build or repair do not neglect to consult me. I shall be pleased to give you an exact estimate of just what your work will cost.

YOU CAN DEPEND UPON

JAMES P. HADDIE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

COMMERCIAL STREET EAST WEYMOUTH

Telephone Weymouth 287-M

Now Is The Time To Advertise

POPULAR PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE

CLASSIFIED "ADS" INCLUDING LOST, FOUND, WANTED,
TO LET AND FOR SALE THAT BRING RESULTS

One Week 50c. Three Weeks 75c—Terms in Advance

But nothing less than 50 cents for One Week

LOST

LOST
Pocketbook containing sum of money. Reward for return to Mrs. W. S. Jordan, 202 Washington Street, Weymouth. 11,7*

WANTED

WANTED
Girl for general office work. Apply "A. W. W." Gazette office 11,7

WANTED

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED

WANTED
An energetic woman as canvasser for Victrolas and the White Sewing Machine. Mrs. Bahr, 1454 Hancock street, Quincy. 31,6*

HOUSEKEEPER WANTED

Wanted—housekeeper for elderly woman; middle aged woman preferred. Call or write, 37 Lincoln St., North Weymouth. 21,6,7*

WANTED

WANTED
Mother's helper; no night work. Apply to Mrs. Carl Gridley, Fog road, South Weymouth. Phone, Weymouth, 318-W. 31,5,7

SALESMEN and COLLECTORS
By Casualty Ins. Co. Prospectus furnished. Whole or spare time. Dist. Manager, Rm. 11, Durgin & Merrill bldg. Quincy, Tel. 3412. 41,4,7*

HELP WANTED

Girls for general work. Good wages. Pray & Kelley 21f

GIRLS WANTED

18 years of age at the mound S. Hunt & Sons 50,1f

WANTED

Men or women to take orders among friends and neighbors for the genuine guaranteed hosiery, full lines for men, women and children. Eliminates darning. We pay 50c an hour for spare time or $24 for full time. Experience unnecessary. Write, International Stocking Mill, Norristown, Pa. 51f

Wanted

Young Man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WOOD FOR SALE

Long and sawed wood for sale; also sand and loam. Apply to Jones Threlk, 661 Main Street, South Weymouth. 11, 12

LET THE

Quincy Awning Company

furnish estimates on your awnings. Now is the time to place orders for Spring delivery. Phone or write

E. M. Woodbury

113 Marlboro Street : Wollaston
Quincy 2783-M 11,4

Carey & Curran

HIGH GRADE

PLUMBING AND HEATING

GENERAL REPAIRS

815 Broad Street - East Weymouth
Tel. 238-R 11,4

WILBUR THEATRE, BOSTON

Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert will present Rachel Crothers' comedy, "39 East," with Henry Hull and Constance Binney and a brilliant supporting company, at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, beginning Monday, Feb. 16, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. This comedy was seen all last season at the Broadhurst and Maxine Elliott Theatres. A new comedy by Rachel Crothers, the authoress of "Old Lady 31," "The Three of Us," "A Man's World," and "A Little Journey," is a matter of unusual interest in the theatrical world. The Messrs. Shubert brought together a particularly fine cast for this Rachel Crothers' comedy. Henry Hull, who is featured with Miss Binney, made a truly astonishing hit in Jules Eckhart Goodman's play, "The Man Who Came Back," a year or so ago. Constance Binney is a young actress who made a great success in recent time in "Oh Lady, Lady." Miss Binney is not only an excellent actress, but a dancer of renown. There are very many quaint and unusual characters in the comedy.

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 12.)

OLD SOUTH UNION CHURCH
South Weymouth
Rev. Ora A. Price, pastor. Sunday morning service of worship at 10:30. Same services as announced for last week.

EPISCOPAL

Trinity church, Weymouth. Rev. William Hyde, rector. Service with sermon on Sunday at 10:45 A. M. Church School at 12. Ash Wednesday service on Feb. 18, at 7:30 P. M.

In addition to the Lenten services at Weymouth, Rev. William Hyde will preach a special course of sermons on Thursday evenings during Lent at St. Paul's, Brockton, beginning Feb. 19.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL

East Weymouth
Rev. Frank Kingston, pastor. Preaching service at 10:30 A. M. with sermon by Rev. J. Francis Cooper, D. D., of Providence, R. I. Church Bible School at 12. Probationers Class at 3:30. Epworth League service at 6:30; topic, "The Social Aspects of Foreign Missions;" leader, Rev. Frank Kingston. Evening service at 7, with sermon by the pastor on "The Living God."

Monday, 8 P. M., the Fourth Quarterly Conference in the ladies' parlor. Tuesday, 7:30 P. M., weekly fellow ship meeting. Wednesday, 8 P. M., Probationers' Class.

Thursday evening, cottage prayer meeting. Friday, 3 P. M., the Woman's Home Missionary Society at the home of Mrs. Emma Mattson.

All are cordially welcome to all our services.

SECOND UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Rev. J. H. Pearson, minister. Morning worship at 10:30; singing by the vested choir directed by Miss Deane. Sunday school at noon. Y P C U at 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. Milburn's lecture, postponed because of the storm, will probably be given on the 22nd. Notice later.

On Friday evening Feb. 13, at 7:45, there will be a dramatic entertainment, presented by a cast including Mr. Joy, Mr. Klingeman, Miss Deane, Mrs. Gibson and others.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Quincy, 20 Greenleaf street. Morning service and Sunday School, at 10:45. Subject of the lesson-sermon: "Soul." Golden text: Job 35:22. Behold, God exalteth by his power: who teacheth like him?

Testimony meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:45. Free public reading room, Hancock building, City square, 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. every week day, holidays excepted.

BOY SCOUTS AT CHURCH

As a part of the program for National Anniversary Week, Troop Six, Boy Scouts of America, of North Weymouth, attended church in a body at Pilgrim Congregational Church last Sunday morning. A splendid sermon was delivered by the Rev. Thomas B. Butler and a feature of the service was the reciting of the Scout oath by the members of the troop. Few people really know much about the work of the scouts and it is the wish of the authorities both local and National that every person become acquainted with the local troop and co-operate with it in accomplishing its result, which is in a large measure to be of service to the community. The local troop is well organized and is available for all kinds of community service. The acting Scoutmaster, Harold C. Lincoln, will be pleased to hear of an opportunity for his boys to be of use and also invites the attention, criticism and inspection of his work.

ELLEN LOUISA NASH

Miss Ellen Louisa Nash, daughter of Orrin and Lucy (Cushing) Nash died on Wednesday, Feb. 11, at the private home for invalids and aged people on Quincy avenue, East Braintree. Although of Weymouth ancestry, as both of her parents were natives of this town, she, the youngest of five children was born in Lexington, seventy-nine years ago. Most of her long life was spent either in the town of her birth, in Boston, or in Weymouth.

Remarkably well educated, she was associated for several years with her sister Augusta, in conducting a select school for young ladies in Boston. Instruction was also given to young men fitting for college. Her former pupils remembered her careful teaching with gratitude and one of them generously provided for her comfort in her last years on earth.

About twenty years ago Miss Nash, with her sister Rowena, came from Boston to make a home in Weymouth in order to be near relatives and friends. In 1915, when her sister passed on to the higher life, Miss Nash was left alone. Becoming unable to carry on domestic duties by herself, in 1918 she sought shelter in this East Braintree "Home," where the superintendent, Mrs. Abbie Crafts Wade, made her last days here, days of comfort and of peace.

The funeral services will be held at the home 29 Quincy avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MORE THAN USUALLY WARM

Sailors Declare the Gulf Stream is Outdoing Itself at This Season, for Some Reason.

Marine men blame the Gulf stream for the summer weather prevailing along the Atlantic coast. They say the water of the Gulf stream is almost boiling.

In Norfolk, Va., the temperature was 86 degrees. A hundred miles out to sea just before the Gulf stream is reached the temperature was 101, according to information brought there by marine men. Within one day's run from Norfolk by water there was a difference of nearly 40 degrees in the temperature. It was so hot in the Gulf stream, marine men said, it was almost unbearable to remain on deck during the day.

Vessels passing through the peculiar water during the day say the weather is hotter than they have ever experienced before. A difference in the temperature of the water dipped from the Gulf stream with buckets from ships with that of the ocean itself is the difference, marine men report, between moderately cool water and that warm enough almost to poach an egg. The Gulf stream water is lighter than the remainder of the ocean and when first dipped foams and bubbles like water just on the point of boiling.

It was reported that an American destroyer would go out to the Gulf stream with a party of experts for the purpose of making observations for use by the government and to ascertain if reports brought in by merchant ships are authentic.

COULD FEEL FOR AFFLICTION

Man Had Not Forgotten How It Felt to Be Deprived of the Blessing of Sight.

He looked as if he owned a bank. And he was talking to a man who looked as if he owned two.

And while they confabbed in front of a hotel a wrinkled woman came up to them leading a wrinkled man. She was selling matches—5 cents a box, three for—

The one-bank man waved aside the matches, but put some money in the woman's hands, and asked her unlucky companion how he came to lose his sight.

The blind man said that he had never had any sight to lose. He was born that way.

The man of the two banks chipped in with a donation, then the couple moved on, the blind man, philosophically serene and the woman shrilling her slogan—"Matches! Five cents a box, three for—"

And the one-bank man said to the one who owned two:

"I had my eyes bandaged for a week once. Blindness is a tragic thing."

Which showed that, in his case anyhow, a little knowledge was not a dangerous thing.—Washington Star.

Dolls in Literature.

A London writer has recently introduced the subject of dolls in literature. Almost anyone, who will trouble to search his memory, can discover a doll somewhere between the covers of many a book which he has read. Beginning with a "slighting reference to them under the name of babies," in Sydney's "Arcadia," and noting the mention of a doll by Charlotte Bronte, this writer concludes that, until the nineteenth century, dolls were neglected by English authors and that they appear more frequently in French than in English fiction. Dickens seems to have had more to say about dolls than any other English author; but the doll Nobby is an important personage in Mr. Wells' "Peter and Joan," and the dolls' house in "Tono-Bungay" contained 85 dolls, although with none of them does the reader become personally acquainted. Jerry and Rosa, in "The Golden Age," are also remembered.

German Farming Methods.

Germany may have led the world in some branches of technical skill but her farming methods left much to be desired if the bitter contempt poured upon them by a Bunyip soldier can serve as a standard. Bunyip, Victoria, Australia, is proud of its knowledge of soil culture, and 17 months spent as a prisoner of war at threepeace a day on a farm in Silesia, Germany, made one of its finest citizens more convinced than ever that Bunyip is always best. When he returned to Australia and applied for a farm he was asked, as a joke, if he could give a reference from his previous employer. His reply would have been gall and wormwood to the Silesian.

United States Sex Statistics.

The census of 1910 showed 2,691,978 more males than females in the United States. In all but Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia, the males are in excess. In all the world females are a little in excess. The reverse in America is evidently due to the excess in male immigration.

Breaking It Gently.

"You were discharged?"
"No, indeed!"
"But you lost your job."
"It happened this way: The boss informed me in the kindest possible manner that there would be no limit set for my vacation this year."

Airplane Service In Australia.

A company has been formed in Australia to conduct an airplane passenger and freight service among the principal cities of the commonwealth.

MRS. LEVI B. CURTISS

Mrs. Alice M. Curtiss, widow of Levi Bradley Curtiss, passed away at her home 435 Bridge street, North Weymouth, on Sunday, Jan. 25, after a long illness.

Mrs. Curtiss was born in North Weymouth October 14, 1848, the daughter of Henry F. and Abbie Bicknell Cushing. After graduating from the Weymouth High School she taught for several years in the primary section of the local school.

On Dec. 23, 1868, she became the bride of Levi Bradley Curtiss, and their home was always in this village.

Her church connections were with the Pilgrim Congregational Church, and as long as her health permitted she was active in the work of its various allied organizations.

She was a charter member of the Monday Club, and although unable to attend the meetings for many years was always thoroughly interested in all of its lines of work. Everything which was proposed for the benefit of the community had in her an active supporter, and her interest extended as well to many worthy causes outside of her own town.

She leaves a daughter, Miss Lillian F. Curtiss of North Weymouth; a son, Harold M. Curtiss of Milford; three grand-children, Robert, Mary and Harold M. Curtiss, Jr.; and one brother, Frank H. Cushing of Meriden, Conn.

Funeral services were held from her late home on Wednesday, Jan. 28, conducted by Rev. Thomas Bruce Butler, pastor of Pilgrim Church, assisted by Rev. Charles Clark, a former pastor. The Pilgrim Male Quartette furnished several beautiful selections. A wealth of beautiful floral tributes testified to the love of relatives and friends.

CHARLES H. C. PARKER

Charles H. C. Parker, for many years a barber in the Odd Fellows building at South Weymouth, died on Sunday.

Mr. Parker was born in Nantucket, one of 10 children of Isaac and Louisa F. (Coffin) Parker. His mother, who died at his home in South Weymouth, May 8, 1906, at the age of 93 years, was one of the first graduates from the New England Female Medical College of Boston and practised medicine in Fairhaven and Boston until 1898.

Mr. Parker began his career as a bookkeeper for a commission house in Boston but gave it up and learned the trade of a barber with a relative, Pardon Cook Coffin Parker, at Springfield, then went to Thompsonville, Conn., and started in business for himself.

At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in Co B, 8th Connecticut Regiment. He was in Gen. Burnside's expedition in North Carolina and took part in the battles of Newbern and Roanoke Island. After a year and one-half in the ranks he was promoted to clerk in the Paymaster's Department and served until the close of the war.

Mr. Parker served as a barber for 65 years, conducting shops in New York and Ohio, and for 18 years carried on business at the corner of Beach and Lincoln streets, Boston. He came to South Weymouth 30 years ago and until a short time ago conducted a barber shop in Odd Fellows building.

In 1860 Mr. Parker married Miss Anna Moore of Thompsonville, Conn. Of the eight children born to Mr. and Mrs. Parker four are now living. Charles H. C. Parker Jr., of Providence, R. I., Frank Parker, Miss Ella A. Parker and Mrs. Edith Parker Lally of South Weymouth.

When Mr. Parker began business the price for shaving was 6 1/2 cents, hair cut 12 1/2 cents, curling 50 cents for men and $1 for women, dyeing $5 for men, $10 for women. The hours at the shop were from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. and on Sundays to 12 m. When at the Washington Hotel, New York Horace Greeley was one of Mr. Parker's customers.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for the many kindnesses shown our dear Ernest during his last sickness, also for the tributes to his memory since his passing away.

During the weary days in the hospital following his operation, he was greatly heartened by the cards of cheer that came to him by every mail. These, together with the beautiful flowers and kindly messages of sympathy received since his death will ever be held in grateful remembrance by his sorrowing father.

SETH ARTHUR PRATT
North Weymouth, Mass. Feb. 10, 1920

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kindness in the passing away of our beloved John.

Mrs. Hannah Coffey
Mrs. Mary Coffey and family

YOUR NEWSPAPER

Your newspaper publisher cannot be expected to print more copies than he believes he can sell. The scarcity of paper and the Government's request to reduce our consumption hardly permits any surpluses.

To make sure of your Gazette each week, why not subscribe? The publisher will be glad to welcome you within his rapidly growing family of readers.

Further he welcomes reports from any readers who do encounter difficulty in getting the Gazette, regularly ea

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Never a Gazette subscriber will promptly notify the publisher of a change of address. Don't expect the post office authorities to do it for you. For the same reason, please notify the publisher when you desire the Gazette discontinued. Usually the publisher does not stop a paper without notice, although the subscription has expired.

BORN

DROWN—In Weymouth, Feb. 6, a daughter, Elizabeth Baker, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drown of Washington street.

QUINN—In Weymouth, Feb. 7, a son to Patrick F. and Mary (Cullinan) Quinn of 96 Keith street.

DOYLE—In South Weymouth, Feb. 6, a daughter to Thomas V. and Gertrude (Donegan) Doyle of 180 Main street.

MARRIED

DESMOND—HURLEY—In North Weymouth, Feb. 11, by Rev. Fr. Riondon, Harold Desmond and Alice Elizabeth Hurley, both of North Weymouth.

BONNETTE—PELLETIER—In Weymouth, Feb. 8, by Rev. John B. Holland, Gerald Alfred Bonnette of Southbridge and Hermine Marie Estelle Pelletier of Weymouth.

DIED

NASH—In East Braintree, Feb. 10, Mrs. Ellen Nash of Weymouth aged 83.

GLOVER—In Boston, Feb. 8, Mary M., wife of Walter Glover formerly of Weymouth.

COFFEY—In East Weymouth, Feb. 5, John J. Coffey of 32 Grove street, aged 47.

GARLAND—In South Weymouth, Feb. 4, Cora S., wife of Nathaniel W. Garland of 375 Pond street, aged 63.

CRESWELL—In East Braintree, Feb. 5, Annie Maud, daughter of Alpheus and Anne W. Creswell of 141 Hayward street, aged 26.

McCARTHY—In Dorchester, Feb. 4, John F. McCarthy of Oakley street. Burial at Weymouth.

MARTELL—In Jamaica Plain, Feb. 7, Charles J. Martell. Burial at Weymouth.

HOLLIS—In Braintree, Feb. 8, Carrie, wife of Leonard Hollis, formerly of Weymouth.

PARKER—In South Weymouth, Feb. 8, Charles Henry Coffin Parker of 54 Tower avenue, aged 80.

ADAMS—In East Weymouth, Feb. 4, Charles Adams of 22 Fairmount avenue, aged 77.

DIZER—In Brookline, Feb. 6, Walter M. Dizer, formerly of East Weymouth, aged 63 years.

BURDICK—In South Boston, Feb. 10, Mrs. Oliver Burdick, a summer resident of North Weymouth.

OSBORNE—In Boston, Feb. 7, Arthur Osborne of Weymouth, aged 42.

Willard J. Dunbar & Son

UNDERTAKERS

AND

EMBALMERS

802 BROAD ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Automobile service when desired.

Telephone Weymouth 93

C. C. Shepherd

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

AND EMBALMER

Lady Assistant Automobile Hearse

Telephone Connection

134 Pleasant St. South Weymouth

DANIEL H. CLANCY

UNDERTAKER

4 Richmond St., Cor. Washington, Weymouth

CARRIAGE AND MOTOR SERVICE

Telephone, Weymouth 814 W

C. L. RICE & SON

Funeral Directors

AND

Embalmers

294 Union Street, Rockland

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Milne & Hector
MONUMENTS

Granite and Marble

Over 100 Satisfied Weymouth Customers

Order Now for Memorial Day and save money.

Nightingale Ave., QUINCY

Telephones: Quincy 1890 and 2814-M

Read "Problems Facing a Stricken World" by Comerford

SECOND SECTION

GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

96 COLUMNS

SIXTEEN OR MORE PAGES EVERY WEEK

96 COLUMNS

VOL. LIV NO. 7

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1920

PRICE SIX CENTS

The Proposed Memorial Town Hall For Weymouth

The Illustration Kindly Loaned by the Boston Evening Transcript.
Sketch of Building Published in Gazette of Friday, Feb. 6.

Sternberg Motor Car Co.

Nathan Sternberg, Proprietor, successor to Bicknell's Garage

Sole Agent for

CHEVROLET CAR

in the Weymouths and Hingham

TIME PAYMENT TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES

Look Over Our Stock of Slightly Used and Rebuilt Cars

AGENTS FOR

Goodyear, Goodrich, and United States Tires, Mobiloils and Greases

Exceptional Bargains in all Automobile Supplies at a Saving of 15 to 25 per cent

Water Street East Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 330 for Service Car

News delayed by storm.

—Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Olsen of Hingham have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dymont of North street.

—George Bean has returned to his duties at the High school, having been confined to his home with a severe cold.

—George Nelson, the well known clerk is at a Boston hospital for a surgical operation.

—The Girl Scouts are canvassing the town for subscriptions to help in carrying on work of the National Council.

—Mrs. Allen of Birchbrow road is recovering from the effects of the gripple.

—Annie and Dolly Dunn of Lovell street were the guests recently of their brother Joseph, at the St. John's Seminary, Brighton.

—Charles Q. Clapp of Monatiquot street is able to be out having recovered from an illness covering a number of weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parker of Bluff road have been in New York where they were called by the serious illness of Mrs. Parker's brother, Mr. Earl E. Bowen.

—Miss Jessie Trussell of Sea street is able to be out, having been confined to the house with a severe cold.

—John Cushing is confined to his home with an attack of gripple.

—Nathaniel Ford who has been in Rutland for the past few months has been visiting at his home on Bridge street.

—About 10 A. M. Feb. 2, box 13 called the North Weymouth truck to Fort Point where a fire had been discovered in the loading towers. Employees had the fire under control before the department arrived.

—Michael Lane is confined to his home on Green street with the gripple.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pratt formerly of North Weymouth but now of Leominster have been the recent guests of Mrs. Pratt's sister, Mrs. Frank E. Baker of Pearl street.

—The North Weymouth trucks answered a call about 10.30 A. M. Feb. 2, to the Coleman house on North street, where a chimney fire was in progress. No damage was done.

News delayed by storm.

—The adjourned meeting of the Lovell's Corner Improvement Association was held at the club house Tuesday evening, Feb. 3. Report of the treasurer showed net proceeds from the two nights fair amounting to over $200.00. It was voted to extend a hearty vote of thanks to all those who so generously contributed to the tables, and to the others who by their patronage and co-operation helped to make the fair a success. Committees were appointed to take up matters of athletic equipment, and the organizing of the boys and girls of the community into auxiliaries of the association. Informal meetings with entertainments were arranged for the first Tuesdays of March and April. The association has received its charter of incorporation from the state and starts the new year with 75 active members. Regular meetings will be held the third Tuesday of each month throughout the year.

—Frank Reynolds of Boston gave an entertainment under the auspices of the Epworth League Monday evening in the Porter M. E. vestry.

—Miss Marion White has been ill at her home for several days.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loud and son of Pleasant street are confined to their home with illness.

—Mrs. Charles Lovell and daughter Marion are ill at their home.

—Mrs. Edward Hughes and son David are confined to the house with illness.

—Mrs. Irwin Hawes slipped on the ice recently and sprained her wrist.

—Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Tirrell and family are confined to their home with illness.

—Mrs. Garold Kelso has been ill at her home with a cold.

—John French has been ill with erysipelas.

—There will be a Valentine supper, under the auspices of the Junior League, in the Porter M. E. vestry this evening, Feb. 13.

—Mrs. C. Clough is ill at her home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Maynard are confined to their home with illness.

VICTOR H. HALL of Ward 3 has severed his connections with the Federal Reserve Bank and taken a position with the Weymouth Trust Co. where he would be pleased to meet and make Business acquaintances.

Weymouth Trust Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 67

Some of the Reasons Why You Should Make The East Weymouth Savings Bank Your Bank:

Bank is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. daily except Saturdays; Saturdays from 9 A. M. to 12 M.; and on Monday evenings from 7 to 8.30 for YOUR accommodation.

The Bank will take United States Government bonds of depositors for safe keeping without charge.

The Bank has Safe Deposit Boxes to rent to persons at reasonable rates.

The Bank will buy Liberty bonds for its customers who feel obliged to sell them.

The Bank has money to lend on first mortgages.

The officers and clerks of the Bank are ready to extend every courtesy within their power to depositors or friends of the Institution at all times.

Any amount from one dollar to two thousand dollars will start an account.

F. L. ALDEN, President.

H. J. T. PRING, Treasurer.

?

If the question of hot water is bothering you, do you realize the splendid service that is given by the Ruud Hot Water Heaters or by the new Kompack Water Heaters?

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

NEW, GREAT FORCES AT WORK

Demand for New Order of Things is Universal and Reactionaries Merely Swell the Rising Tide of Discontent.

Article IV.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

The most obvious thing in Europe is the changed attitude of the people, and yet there are many, particularly in the conservative, employing class, who refuse to see. There are none so blind as these. While they close their eyes and minds to the obvious, the change goes on. It is not idle rhetoric to say that new great forces are at work. Of course you cannot see the forces any more than you can see the grass growing, but you can see the effects. You can measure the character of the forces.

Everywhere I found people talking about a new Order. Men separated by hundreds of miles are thinking and talking the same ideas. It startled me to hear the same ideas up in the Balkans that I had heard in France and England. I did not meet any one who was able to give me a clear, complete meaning of the phrase, but it is on the lips of everyone. It has a meaning, and time will produce a plan. The people are forward-looking—they are thinking, waiting for something to happen. They have faith that it will happen and that it will bring great good to the human race. Every one seems confident that some great compensation must and will come out of the siege of suffering through which they have passed. If they were not so earnest, so sane, so determined about it I should have interpreted their enthusiasm as fantasy.

A meaningless minority of reactionaries scorn and scoff at all talk of a new Order. These are the backward-looking men of big business, the stand-patters in politics. They are out of touch with the times; they think the real world is the little circle in which they live. They are the barnacles on big business. They snugly set down all talk of change as bolshevism. Fortunately the real leaders of business are breaking away from this point of view. Progressive, human and open minded, they see and know that unrest is a problem and that it must be solved. They are paying heed to the complaints of the workers. They admit that there is justice back of the complaints. Instead of arguing coercion, they are talking concession. They know a change has come, they want to meet it.

New Order Must Come.

A new Order will come. The one question that is bothering the minds of men who are awake to the change is, will it come through revolution or through evolution. The greatest friend of revolution is the stubborn employer who refuses to see the change, accepts things as they are, and insists upon the use of force as the only cure for unrest.

Money is a gross thing when compared with human life. To mention Europe's financial losses in the same breath with her dead and wounded, seems sordid, but it is an everyday word and in it money has its logical place. Since the war some people are thinking that money has had too important a place in the world. It has been charged with pushing man out of his place, but bills must be paid and Europe needs money. The war cost billions and billions of dollars. Millions of men had to be clad and shod, billions and billions of cartridges and shells, rifles, cannons, airplanes, ships, were made. Europe owes the money. How will she pay it; where will she get it? It is a question that even the wisest and most optimistic of men in Europe hesitate to answer. Some wonder, is there an answer?

Europe has borrowed until her interest charge today is almost as large as her whole cost of governmental administration was a few years ago. I heard Lloyd George say that England faced a yearly interest charge of three hundred million pounds. Another official told me that this interest charge that England must pay each year is nearly one hundred million pounds a year larger than the cost of administration was at the time of the Boer war. Only the other day her interest was due on some loans from the United States and she was forced to default, and our government charged the interest to the principal and passed the day of payment on. In the meantime the pound is going down in value. When I was on the Continent it had reached $4.14. Today it is under $3.87, and steadily going down.

France is in even a worse plight. The banks are loaded with government paper. She has made no provision by taxation to pay her debt. I was told on every hand that any effort to impose a tax would bring on a revolution. It is said that her debt has reached the startling figure of $940 for every man, woman and child in the country. When I left Cherbourg to sail for America a regulation had been put into effect prohibiting any one leaving France from taking money with him, either metal or paper money. In excess of a thousand francs, and on that day you could buy almost nine francs for an American dollar. Can France pay? The figures prove France insolvent. Her officials and her men of prominence say she cannot pay. Her war debt is enormous.

Poverty on Every Side.

Italy is as bankrupt as France. A forced loan temporarily held the lira from losing all of its value. Her war debt threatens the throne.

In the new Balkan countries we find no gold reserve, little but poverty. In Czechoslovakia the government closed the borders for ten days, commanded the people to bring their money to the banks where stamps were put on the bills. When they brought their money they were given 50 per cent of it back and receipts for the balance. In this way the government cut down the volume of paper money 50 per cent. Even after this was done in the city of Prague I bought kronens for less than two cents a piece.

In Poland every kind and species of paper money is in circulation. Her frontiers have not been fixed by the peace table, and the profiteers in money smuggling have dumped the worthless paper of Europe into Poland. In October I was in Warsaw and my recollection is that the mark was worth about two cents in American money. Poland has no metal money. She hasn't a gold reserve. Her struggle to get credit to keep her people from dying by the millions from hunger and cold is pitiful.

Austria is penniless, poverty-stricken. Vienna is a city of ghosts, listless, peopled, human beings. They drag their feet after them. Their heads are bent between their shoulders. The kronen was worth a cent when I was there in September, and even at that price there was practically nothing to buy. Austria in her extremity, her people starving, petitioned the peace table for the privilege of selling her art treasures and heirlooms. The plea was to exchange them for bread and coal. Necessity prompted the plea. The peace table refused the permission, holding that these things of value might be the only collateral out of which the allies could collect the indemnity.

Europe's debt is her crown of thorns, as her dead is her cross. Unrest is her Calvary. A new Order is her hope—her resurrection.

Facing Gigantic Task.

Europe is not dying; she is exhausted, tortured, confused. She is trying to find herself. She is putting all of her remaining strength into the effort. The task before her is stupendous. She must rebuild her house. She must nurse her wounded, care for her cripples. She has counted her losses, inventoried her possessions.

The past must bury its dead. Tomorrow is for the living. Today she is planning for the tomorrow. She must repair her house, put it in order. To understand her work, to know her plans, to feel her problem, it is necessary to know her thoughts.

Unrest is frightening her. Fear is keeping her from work. It is causing her to worry. With all her soul she is pleading to the rich and powerful to become as little children again, her children. She is telling them that the fate of the family is at stake, that they must make concessions to their more unfortunate brothers. She is trying to make them understand that they are brothers. Many of them have forgotten the relationship. When she urges them to stop wrangling and quarrelling she is pleading for their common good, the family welfare. She is warning against the danger of justice too long denied, of unrest too long pent up. She is translating the mutterings and mumblings of the discontented. She knows the complaint in their hearts, she sympathizes, she understands.

This was Europe as I saw her in her black rags arising from the war. (Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

Greatest American Humorist.

On the 30th of November, in 1835, Samuel Langhorne Clemens (Mark Twain) was born at Florida, Monroe county, Mo. Mark Twain first was a pilot on the Mississippi river. At the age of twenty-seven he began his literary career as city editor of a newspaper, the Enterprise, in Virginia City, Nev. He is the best known of American humorists, and his works have been widely translated. During his life-time Mark Twain lectured a great deal in this country and in Europe. He had a great charm of personality and was beloved by all who knew him. He died at Redding, Conn., April 21, 1910.

Shoemakers' Wax a Liquid.

It is not always possible to draw a very clear line of demarcation between a liquid and a solid. Shoemaker's wax, which is so brittle, the fragmentation obtained when a sheet of it is hit by a bullet resembles that in the case of the very brittle metal antimony, is actually a liquid. To show this place leaden bullets upon a sheet of shoemaker's wax and then support the whole upon corks. At the end of a month the corks will be found floating upon the sheet of wax instead of beneath it and the bullets will be at the bottom as in a liquid.

Largest Movie House.

New York has in building a moving picture theater with a seating capacity of 5,300, which may constitute it the largest of its kind anywhere. Judging by the heavy patronage in other such places, the new house may be filled at the chief performances. The public is seeking professional entertainment as never before.

ICONOCIASM.

"So you are just back from England?"
"Yes, and terribly disappointed."
"What happened?"
"I have always thought England a romantic country and none of its sports more picturesque than fox hunting."
"Well?"
"I saw an English squire following his pack in a silver."

Out to Pasture.

"Give you $10 for this old auto, colonel."
"It is not for sale."
"But this junk is merely cluttering up the yard."
"Out of my sight. I used to turn a faithful old horse out to pasture. Why should I think less of my faithful old car?"

A Bright Idea.

"That photographer has a bright idea."
"What is it?"
"To print his pictures on a phonograph record of the voice."
"What's the idea?"
"To be able to say that his portraits are speaking likenesses."

BACK AND FORTH.

"How could you have walked so many miles when you've been in all day?"
"What with the children playing in the back yard and a family moving in across the street I haven't had a minute's rest."

In Our Own Hands.

"Neath heavy costs why fret and whine? The common sense advice is: To bring about a price decline Decline to pay the prices."

A Helpful Hint.

"Say you!" snarled a capacious customer in the rapid-fire restaurant. "These cakes ain't more than half done!"
"Well, finish 'em!" briskly advised Heloise, the waitress.

World Seems to Improve.

"It's not such a bad world after all."
"What's happened? Has somebody paid a bill you thought you'd never collect?"

Best Way.

"How about the quarrel between Bill and his wife about her staying home from the club to mend his clothes?"
"Oh, that's been patched up."

Woman.

"Jones' wife found a bottle washed up on the seashore and she was disappointed because it didn't have a love note in it."
"And how about Jones?"
"Oh, he was disappointed because it didn't have a drink in it."

And It Did.

A youthful aspirant for journalistic distinction who was asked to write an article on superstition and imbecility began his essay thus:
"That imbecility is not on the wane, perusal of the following lines will amply demonstrate."

Up-to-Date Riches.

"Jones has secured his pile, all right."
"Plenty of the long green, has he?"
"Long green, nothing! I was referring to his coal pile."

Natural Propensity.

"How was it you managed to teach your parrot such long learned words?"
"Why, it was quite natural for a parrot to take to polly-syllables."

A Modest Hope.

"I haven't heard any mention of you as a favorite son."
"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "After some of the comments my constituents have made about public expenses, I'll be glad to get by without being mentioned as a prodigal son."

His Status.

"Who was this great god Pan who was always hypnotizing people by playing with pipes?"
"I guess he was the boss plumber of the ancients."

SORTING OUT LOST BAGGAGE OF THE DOUGHBOYS

Knights of Columbus secretaries at Hoboken, N. J., trying to straighten out a huge mass of stray and lost baggage belonging to American soldiers.

INACCESSIBLE CLIFF DWELLING IN ZION CANYON

An archeologist's reconstruction of the debris-filled cliff dwelling ruins discovered by a camera with a telephoto lens in the new Zion Canyon, national park in Utah. The photograph was taken from the opposite wall of the canyon, three-quarters of a mile away. The cliff dwellings are now inaccessible.

FROM THE NETHERLANDS

Miss Jetske Cremer, daughter of the minister from the Netherlands to the United States and Mrs. Cremer, has joined her parents in Washington. She is of the debutante age and already is a popular member of the younger set.

FIGHTING THE "FLU" IN CHICAGO

This picture shows a doctor in the city laboratories preparing the anti-toxin for Chicago patients who are suffering with the influenza.

ARMORED RAILWAY CARS FOR MEXICO

Two of the steel armored cars designed and built by the California for the Mexican National railway lines for use in the regions that are infested with bandits.

FINE TRIBUTE FROM FRANCE

This photograph shows the symbolic document to be presented by France to the family or relative of each deceased American soldier of the world war.

The MAN NOBODY KNEW BY HOLWORTHY HALL

COPYRIGHT BY
HOLWORTHY HALL

"DIDN'T HE SEND SOME WORD TO ME?"

Synopsis.—In a base hospital at Neuilly, France, his face disfigured beyond recognition, an American soldier serving in the French army attracts attention by his deep despondency. Asked by the surgeons for a photograph to guide them in making over his face, he offers in derision a picture of the Savior, bidding them take that as a model. They do so, making a remarkable likeness. Invalided home, on the boat he meets Martin Harmon, New York broker, who is attracted by his remarkable features. The ex-soldier gives his name as "Henry Hilliard," and his home as Syracuse, New York. He left there under a cloud, and is embittered against his former fellow townsmen. Harmon makes him a proposition to sell mining stocks in Syracuse, concealing his identity. He accepts it. In Syracuse "Hilliard" (in reality Richard Morgan) is accepted as a stranger. He visits James Cullen, a former employer, relating a story of the death of Richard Morgan, and is surprised at the regret shown by Cullen and his youthful daughter Angela.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

With Angela peering hard over his shoulder, Mr. Cullen strained to decipher the uneven penmanship. He began to read aloud:

"Dear Mr. Cullen:
"I am asking Mr. Henry Hilliard to bring you this letter personally. I want him to tell you what I'm not writing, too. And you can tell other people, if you care to."

"I want you to know that since I've had time to think, I've changed my mind about a good many things. I've come to the conclusion that you were right and I was wrong. Maybe you won't remember the last talk we had together, but I do. You told me then that I didn't have it in me to make good unless I learned that I was about the most worthless young man in town, and the one with the hardest row to hoe in order to make something out of myself, and set out from there. Well, I've learned it. I had to. Of course, I couldn't agree with you at the time. That wouldn't have been expected. But over here I've had one lesson after another. Some of them were pretty bitter, but they've all helped. And since May, when I was hurt, I've had lots of time to think them over."

"I never deserved your kindness and now I can't ever repay it. But it may please you to know that this war has taught me what you tried to, and couldn't—that I was as close to zero value at home as a man could be. It's only through this war that I've got any pride in myself, and I'm sort of like Kipling's gentleman ranker—I'm proud of myself because I've done away with all the other kinds of pride I used to have. And I believe I've made good—not as a great general, but as a private soldier. That was the trouble at home—I was only fit to be a private, and I thought I could be a general off hand. You said I'd do well if I learned that, and I have. They gave me the Croix de Guerre, and in a way, that proves it, doesn't it? Notice that they didn't even make me a corporal, though! That's all right—I haven't had enough training yet to be a corporal! It's curious that I'll admit that, isn't it?"

"I want you to know that I've thought of you a great deal. I don't blame you for letting me go. I did once, but I don't now. Please think of me, though, as a man who came through at the finish, even if he'd been pretty hopeless before."

"Hilliard, the best man in the world, has promised to bring you this letter. I hope you'll be glad to see him, and to hear his side of the story. This is my apology and my blessing, if that's worth anything to you. I send a kiss to Angela."

"R. M."

Mr. Cullen ended with a falling inflection, and let the hand which held the letter drop to his knee.

"The letter, as you might guess from the looks of it," said Hilliard, "was written at several different times—according to his strength. I want you to realize, too, Mr. Cullen, that it was no small effort for him to write it. And then I was in Switzerland when he died, and his possessions had all gone to one of those tape-bound bureaus, so that I had a fearful time to identify myself and get what he had meant me to have, and after that, I had to make a sudden trip to Russia, and back to England again. There were delays—delays. I was ill for several months myself; I had typhoid in London. I should have mailed these things to you long ago, but he had begged me to come in person, and I had promised. And every day I expected that in another week or two I should start for home. I feel that I owe you this explanation and a great plea for forgiveness for what must seem to you like gross indifference on my part. But I landed hardly two weeks ago, and I came up to you at the earliest possible moment."

"In some ways, he was a most remarkable young man," said Mr. Cullen, irrelevantly. "Nobody ever understood why he turned out such a black sheep. Came from a fine old family. I suppose his father was one of the most loved men in Onondaga county. Dick lived for years on his father's reputation, after people stopped noticing him on his own account. Just took advantage of the fact that nobody could quite bear to be harsh to his father's son. But he was always a wild young chap, nothing very bad, except that just too much of anything—including liquor—was just enough for him! Had too quick a temper to be diplomatic enough to hold a job, and didn't care much about working hard, and finally the tide turned, and he began to get treated just as if his father hadn't been a sort of popular idol, and then his disposition soured, and he made some bad mistakes. I gave him the last job he ever had in Syracuse, but I had to let him go . . . and I told him some plain facts when I did. That's what he refers to."

"I assumed," said Hilliard, hesitatingly, "that at one time he had been what you might call . . . disappointed in love? Something was weighing on him—he practically admitted . . . but that was one point that he didn't appear to want to confess, even to me."

"He was engaged to Carol Durant," Angela had taken the cross again, and held it like a precious relic. "She broke it off, just before he went away."

"The day before," added Mr. Cullen. "That was one of the two reasons why he went."

Hilliard nodded.

"I see. . . . On account of his habits?"

"That was the gossip," said Mr. Cullen heavily. "Doctor Durant was supposed to have—"

"Didn't he write to her?" asked Angela, raising her eyes.

"Not that I . . ." He stopped quickly. "I trust you'll forgive me, but I'd imagined from various remarks he made at different times, that he was really . . . that he was greatly attached to you." This last was addressed to Angela, who was both dignified and shaken by the suggestion. Her father, however, nodded in the negative.

"Angela wasn't much more than fifteen, sir. They were great friends; he was very fond of her. No, it was Carol Durant he was engaged to. Didn't he ask you to see her?"

"No."

"But you will, I hope, won't you?"

"You can see Carol here tonight, if you care to," said Angela, uncertainly. "She and . . . and a friend of hers are coming over to talk about another Red Cross drive. Carol's on the committee. They ought to be here any minute now."

"Yes," said Hilliard. "If I'm going to see her, I think I should rather—see her here."

Mr. Cullen sighed stertorously.

"Well, perhaps it's better. . . . and I shall want to telephone this to the Herald if you don't object. It's the least we can do, all things considered."

He reflected a moment. "How long are you staying in town, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I've made no plans whatsoever," he said, after a slight pause. "I sold my interests to a British syndicate of bankers two months ago. My home is where my baggage is. I'm thinking of taking a day or two to see certain of Dick's friends—the ones he talked about most—and after that, the future is on the knees of the gods."

Mr. Cullen regarded him with sincere respect.

"It would give me great pleasure," he said, a trifle pompously, "if you would be my guest for the time you're here, Mr. Hilliard. It would please me very much indeed."

Hilliard's heart throbbed.

"And me too," said Angela, gently. Hilliard's heart throbbed to suffocate him; not entirely because the game was going so infinitely better than he had dared to hope, but also because it was Angela who entreated him.

"It's wonderfully good of you," he protested, "but I couldn't disturb you to that extent. Thank you, but—"

Mr. Cullen stopped him by an inclusive gesture.

"You won't disturb us in the slightest! I wish you'd come with us, Mr. Hilliard. I should feel much better than having you stay downtown."

"Well—" said Hilliard, dubiously.

His soul was filled with unholy joy, but his outward demeanor was deprecatory. "It's ever so kind of you; still—"

"As a favor to me," urged Mr. Cullen.

"As a favor to me," echoed Angela, and Hilliard looked attentively at her, and was obviously swayed. She noted it; he had intended her to notice it. He gave her a smile which had the power, even in her somber mood, to draw a faint response in kind.

"If you're sure it won't be a hardship to you—"

"Nonsense! It's settled, then, is it? I'll send one of my cars down for your things."

Hilliard's eyes flickered at the ingenuous vanity; he had recently learned that Mr. Cullen had made more money during the past twelve months than during the previous twelve years.

"Well," he said, "if you're so charitable as to insist—"

"I do, sir, I do! . . . You're at the Onondaga, of course?"

Angela, who had been listening intently, started up at the unmistakable echo of footfalls on the walk.

"Here comes Carol!" she gasped.

"And . . . and Jack! Oh, Mr. Hilliard! Oh, dad! Who's going to tell her?"

As Mr. Cullen flinched, Hilliard put out his hand in a motion of supreme restraint. "Whatever Dick Morgan may have been at home," he said, "I knew him after he offered his life for a great ideal, and I'm proud that he called me his friend. I'll tell Miss Durant myself, please. It's my right."

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for, and failed.

CHAPTER IV.

She had always been, when he last saw her, the outstanding beauty of Syracuse, but he was astounded to behold what the interval of two years had done for her. She had taken upon herself a new maturity; her figure, exceptionally graceful, was still slender, but suggestive of a more womanly, a more inclusive charm.

He was being presented to her! He, who had kissed her a thousand times, was undergoing the ritual of presentation—and she was smiling at him with those grave, sweet eyes of hers, and calling him by his adopted name! His mask of protection had never seemed so slight, so insufficient; the fragrance of her, and the illusion caused by this, threatened his balance and set his nerves on edge; fortunately, the routine of the conventions intervened to save him from his inarticulateness. For one thing, there was the rite of introduction to Armstrong, and after that there was a dash of promiscuous conversation, with not a little weather philosophy in it. Then came the inexorable hush caused by the presence of a stranger whose fads and fancies are still a matter of conjecture, and out of that hush, a question, and Hilliard was suddenly visited by a species of self-hypnosis.

If he had been moved at all by the sight of Angela, whom he had loved as a younger sister, he was, by comparison, shaken as by a whirlwind by the sight of Carol Durant, whom he had loved as a woman. Not on the train, not at the hotel, not even when he witnessed Angela's severe grief, had he remotely conceived that this instant would be so difficult to surmount. What in New York had seemed a regeneration, and earlier on this same evening had appeared a very dubious deception, was rapidly taking upon itself the color of irremediable wrong. His imagination was aroused beyond belief; and as he stared in dumb suspense at Carol, recalling a thousand episodes and a thousand privileges of the long ago, he was preyed upon by a slow-stealing grimace of despair which left him sick with misery.

She was waiting for an answer—and the others were waiting, too, and watching him. He felt that guilt was stamped on his every feature . . .

He looked at Hilliard and grew very white, and her lips quivered. Presently she swayed a little, and reached out with her hand toward the back of a convenient chair. Armstrong stepped toward her, and Angela Cullen slipped an arm around her waist.

"He's . . . dead?" she repeated, and her tone was not yet free from a certain incredulity, as though the fact were of itself impossible, and the statement of it subject to discussion.

"Yes, Miss Durant."

She moistened her lips; her eyes were very bright, unnaturally bright, so that Hilliard was fascinated, and appalled.

"You . . . You know that?" she asked, again with that queer inflexion of amazed doubt.

"Yes, I know it."

The others were standing as statues; Mr. Cullen, snatching at the first idea of consolation to present itself, fumbled for his daughter's other hand, which still retained the trophy a better man had won.

"Here's what they gave him, Carol! Look! The Croix de Guerre! Don't let's think of anything but what he's let's be proud of him! I—"

"Oh, yes," she said inertly, and took the cross in her palm. She dropped her eyes for a moment, then raised them to the level of Hilliard's. "Didn't he send some word to me?"

"No," Hilliard's nod was very ministerial. "No, I'm sorry, but—"

Her eyebrows lifted, and her nostrils dilated the merest trifle. Her breath was coming more rapidly now; she was nearing the breaking point of her resistance, and all of them knew it. The moment was agonizingly prolonged. Hilliard, gazing without a quaver at the girl he had thought he loved beyond all else in this world or the next, was singularly relaxed as he observed her symptoms. She had really cared, then . . . so much the greater pity that she hadn't kept him caring . . . as she might.

"Can that be possible?" she said, hardly above a whisper.

"I'm sorry—but—"

"I wouldn't have believed it could be true." She gave a long, tremulous breath, and looked about her, half-dazed and half-perceptive. Her eyes strayed back to Hilliard. "Tell me about it," she said, almost inaudibly.

"Carol, dear!" Angela was stimulated to active sympathy. "Sit down—please! Oh, Mr. Hilliard!"

"No—yes, I . . . I'll sit down!" Her eyes seemed magnetized to Hilliard's. "Only I want to hear—I want to hear!"

"Tell her from the beginning," said Cullen, mopping his forehead. Get a glass of water . . . anything else, Carol?"

She shook her head. "Tell me!" she said. "I want to know!"

So that Hilliard, inspired by the realization that he was under the pro-

He felt that every thought of his must be as crystal to the four who waited for him to speak.

He was himself and he was not himself; he was ostensibly Henry Hilliard, a man in whom it couldn't be suspected that the heart and soul of Dicky Morgan were embodied; he was transcendentalist; a spectator at his own funeral. Sight of the Croix de Guerre of poor Pierre Dutout, who in bequeathing that impressive bit of

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

bronze to him, hadn't dreamed that he was leaving a heritage of chicanery along with it, engendered in Hilliard a thrill which nearly found its outlet in a paroxysm of wild laughter. And the newspaper, with Dutout's most genuine citation in it! And the old passport photograph which he had hidden for fear that his real name, indorsed on it, might be cabled home, together with proof to the world that he hadn't been a hero—that he had failed in this, as in every other undertaking of his life. And all the dates in accuracy! And if anyone cared to trace back the story, where was the flaw? Where was there a loophole? And who would recognize Dick Morgan in his cloak and mask of utter miracle?

Who had? Lightninglike, his brain included all the salient items of the picture in a single flash. There was Dicky Morgan, sailing away to France—which could be proved. There was a number, and a name attached to it, and—since Hilliard's sturdy defense of Dicky Morgan had had a grain of truth in it, and one of the steps of his many-sided progress carefully omitted—a name had really been assumed, and had endured from the date of enlistment to the date of discharge. It was the individual's recorded name in the army and at Neuilly—and it wasn't Morgan and it wasn't Hilliard and it wasn't Dutout. No one here knew it, or ever would know it; even Harmon didn't know it; it was the first sobriquet of a shell-torn individual who had been taken to Neuilly, and had been made whole again. No one at Neuilly had ever set eyes on Dicky Morgan's real face! But a certain man named Dutout had been decorated and died, and that could be proved—was proved! Hilliard had borrowed Dutout's name in perfect safety; and the trail was cold. And here was a fourth man, Hilliard—to take his word for it—and the world is larger than the curiosity of sincere people to encompass.

No—if a Neuilly surgeon ever told as one of the mysterious chapters of the war what had happened to a certain gloomy individual that summer, the name would suggest nothing. And as far as checking up the visits of a mythical Hilliard to a very real Dutout was concerned, who would profess to remember? The testimony of any single witness would be immaterial.

The voice of Carol Durant was echoing in Hilliard's ears, and Hilliard, yielding to a tidal wave of recklessness, and of swelling anger at imaginary wrongs, looked squarely into Carol's eyes, and spoke with winning urgency.

"Yes," he said. "I have news of Morgan. In fact, I'm here in Syracuse solely because I have it. I've just been telling Mr. Cullen—and Miss Cullen—that I was with him when he died."

She didn't speak, at first; she merely looked at Hilliard and grew very white, and her lips quivered. Presently she swayed a little, and reached out with her hand toward the back of a convenient chair. Armstrong stepped toward her, and Angela Cullen slipped an arm around her waist.

"He's . . . dead?" she repeated, and her tone was not yet free from a certain incredulity, as though the fact were of itself impossible, and the statement of it subject to discussion.

"Yes, Miss Durant."

She moistened her lips; her eyes were very bright, unnaturally bright, so that Hilliard was fascinated, and appalled.

"You . . . You know that?" she asked, again with that queer inflexion of amazed doubt.

"Yes, I know it."

The others were standing as statues; Mr. Cullen, snatching at the first idea of consolation to present itself, fumbled for his daughter's other hand, which still retained the trophy a better man had won.

"Here's what they gave him, Carol! Look! The Croix de Guerre! Don't let's think of anything but what he's let's be proud of him! I—"

"Oh, yes," she said inertly, and took the cross in her palm. She dropped her eyes for a moment, then raised them to the level of Hilliard's. "Didn't he send some word to me?"

"No," Hilliard's nod was very ministerial. "No, I'm sorry, but—"

Her eyebrows lifted, and her nostrils dilated the merest trifle. Her breath was coming more rapidly now; she was nearing the breaking point of her resistance, and all of them knew it. The moment was agonizingly prolonged. Hilliard, gazing without a quaver at the girl he had thought he loved beyond all else in this world or the next, was singularly relaxed as he observed her symptoms. She had really cared, then . . . so much the greater pity that she hadn't kept him caring . . . as she might.

"Can that be possible?" she said, hardly above a whisper.

"I'm sorry—but—"

"I wouldn't have believed it could be true." She gave a long, tremulous breath, and looked about her, half-dazed and half-perceptive. Her eyes strayed back to Hilliard. "Tell me about it," she said, almost inaudibly.

"Carol, dear!" Angela was stimulated to active sympathy. "Sit down—please! Oh, Mr. Hilliard!"

"No—yes, I . . . I'll sit down!" Her eyes seemed magnetized to Hilliard's. "Only I want to hear—I want to hear!"

"Tell her from the beginning," said Cullen, mopping his forehead. Get a glass of water . . . anything else, Carol?"

She shook her head. "Tell me!" she said. "I want to know!"

So that Hilliard, inspired by the realization that he was under the pro-

He felt that every thought of his must be as crystal to the four who waited for him to speak.

He was himself and he was not himself; he was ostensibly Henry Hilliard, a man in whom it couldn't be suspected that the heart and soul of Dicky Morgan were embodied; he was transcendentalist; a spectator at his own funeral. Sight of the Croix de Guerre of poor Pierre Dutout, who in bequeathing that impressive bit of

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

And turned to face the girl he had tried to die for.

teetorate of the shadows, and gathering fresh assurance with every sentence, went through that tragic narrative a second time. And as he told the tale of Dicky Morgan, he was greatly engul 1 by the surge of Dicky Morgan's grievances; his voice trembled with righteousness; he gradually lost his loathing for the part he played, and played it with every atom of his energy; he was a defendant, and a witness and a judge for Dicky Morgan all in one—and his verdict was for acquittal. Miss Durant's eyes never left his face.

"And that," she said presently, "is all there is to tell?"

"That's the end," said Hilliard simply. And in the long hiatus which followed, he was wondering . . . wondering . . . vague aimless thoughts, with no beginning and no conclusive outcome, but the central figure, flitting, elusive, was always Carol Durant. He told himself fiercely that he hated her, that for two vengeful years he had hated her, that he had come back to Syracuse primarily to see her again, with his whole soul for the wounds in his heart, the wounds of his body, still . . . O God! why couldn't the surgeons have cut away his memory, and left him peace!

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the realm of platitudes—and something in his manner caught Hilliard's attention. The man was actually possessive—and Hilliard, having no envy of his possession, cursed him on general principles nevertheless. And then

He was prodigiously relieved when Mr. Cullen, well-meaning but awkward, blurted out a paradox of eulogy. Armstrong, eager to relieve the congested ways of thought, ventured into the

Town Clerk's Notice — TO — Physicians, Midwives and Parents Birth Returns

Town Clerk's Office,
Weymouth, Feb. 5, 1920.
Attention is called to the following
law in relation of births which was passed by the legislature of 1912.
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
Town Clerk.

[CHAP. 280, ACTS OF 1912]
AN ACT RELATIVE TO REPORTS AND RECORDS OF BIRTHS.
Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Physicians and midwives shall, within forty-eight hours after the birth of every child in cases of which they were in charge mail or deliver to the clerk or register of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a notice stating the date and place of the birth, giving the street and number, if any, the number of a ward in a city and the family name. Failure to mail or deliver the said notice shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense. The notice required by this section need not be given if the notice required by the following section is given within forty-eight hours after the birth occurs.

Section 2. Physicians and midwives shall make and keep a record of the birth of every child in cases of which they are in charge and shall within fifteen days after the birth: mail or deliver to the clerk or register of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a report of the birth, stating the date and place, the name if any, of the child its sex and color, and the names, ages, places of birth, occupations and residence of the parents, giving the street number, if there be any and the number of a ward in a city, the maiden name of the mother, and whether or not the physician or midwife signing the birth return personally attended the birth. If the child is illegitimate, the name and other facts relating to the father shall not be stated except at the request in writing of both the father and the mother filed with the return. The record to be kept by the physician or midwife, as above provided, shall also contain the facts hereby required to be reported to the city or town clerk. The fee of the physician or midwife shall be twenty-five cents for every birth so reported, which shall be paid by the city or town where the report is made upon presentation to the city or town treasurer of a certificate from the city or town clerk stating that the said birth has been properly reported to him. The report required to be made by this section is in addition to the report required to be made by the preceding section, and as above provided, if made within forty-eight hours of the birth, the report required by the preceding section shall not be required. A physician or midwife who neglects to make and keep the record hereby required, or who neglects to report in the manner specified above, each birth within fifteen days thereafter shall for each offense forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars. The city or town clerk or registrar shall file daily with the local board of health a list of all births reported to him giving the following facts: date of birth, sex, color, family name, residence, ward, physician or midwife.

Section 3. Section three of chapter twenty-nine of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter ninety-three of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and ten is hereby repealed.
[Approved March 21, 1912.] 4t,6,9

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
PIANO TUNER
PIANOS FOR SALE
78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Telephone 1827-W Quincy.

RAY O. MARTIN
Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Ranges, new and second-hand; also Repairs.
Agent for the famous
"GLENWOOD RANGES."

Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of work.
Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 103-R

E. E. Lunt & Son
Builders

52 Church Street, Weymouth Heights
Estimates Given.
All Kinds of Repairs
Promptly attended to.
Telephone Connection.

M. MIRKIN
UPHOLSTERER

is the one who will give you the full satisfaction in work and prices of repairing furniture, mattresses and cushions, 1052 HANCOCK STREET, near the Quincy High School. Tel. Quincy 501-W

M. CESMER
COLLECTOR OF JUNK
Second-hand Furniture, etc.
41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY
Phone, Quincy, 679-M

Notice To Voters REGISTRATION

Weymouth, January 30, 1920.
Meetings of the Registrars of Voters for the purpose of receiving qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1920
will be held as follows:

Precinct 1—Engine House, North Weymouth, on Friday, February 13, from 7.30 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 2—At Town Office, Savings Bank Building, East Weymouth, on Saturday, February 21, from 12 M. to 10 P. M.
Precinct 3—Engine House, Weymouth, on Tuesday, February 17, from 7.30 to 9 P. M.
Precinct 4—Hose House, Nash's Corner, on Wednesday, February 18, from 7.45 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 5—Engine House, South Weymouth, on Thursday, February 19, from 7.30 to 8.15 P. M.
Precinct 6—Engine House, East Weymouth, on Thursday, February 12, from 7.30 to 9 P. M.

REGISTRATION WILL CLOSE on Saturday, February 21. The Registrars will be in session at the Town Office from 12 M. to 10 P. M.

The Board of Assessors will meet with the Registrars of Voters at all of their sessions.

BENJAMIN F. SMITH,
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
PATRICK E. CORRIGAN,
MARSHALL P. SPRAGUE,
Registrars of Voters of Weymouth. 3t,6,8

PUBLIC HEARING
Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss.

To the Honorable the County Commissioners of the County of Norfolk: Respectfully represent your petitioners, inhabitants of the town of Weymouth, in said county, that common convenience and necessity require that the way known as Union Street, a public way in said town, be relocated and repairs made between the Rockland line and Central Street for the purpose of improving the conditions now existing and estimate the cost at $15,000 and desire to have aid from the county for 1-3 of the total of $5,000. Wherefore your petitioners pray that said way may be so relocated within the limits above specified.

Dated January 21, 1920.
Bradford Hawes, Chairman of Selectmen

Joseph A. Fern, Clerk of Selectmen
George L. Newton
John F. Dwyer
Alfred W. Haszings
Irving E. Johnson, Supt. of Streets

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-seventh day of January, A. D. 1920, by adjournment of their December meeting next preceding:

On the petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners will meet at the Selectmen's Room in Weymouth, in said County

ON TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1920,
At 2.30 o'clock P. M. and thence proceed to view the route described in said petition (if they consider it expedient, or if requested by any party interested) and to hear and act on said petition. And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the town of Weymouth thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper printed at Weymouth, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places in said Weymouth fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

R. B. WORTHINGTON, Clerk.

A true copy of petition and of order of notice thereon.

Attest:
R. B. WORTHINGTON, Clerk.

3t,5,7

JOHN NEILSON
Jeweler

Jackson Square East Weymouth

Estimates Given.

All Kinds of Repairs

Promptly attended to.

Telephone Connection.

M. MIRKIN
UPHOLSTERER

is the one who will give you the full satisfaction in work and prices of repairing furniture, mattresses and cushions, 1052 HANCOCK STREET, near the Quincy High School. Tel. Quincy 501-W

M. CESMER
COLLECTOR OF JUNK

Second-hand Furniture, etc.

41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY

Phone, Quincy, 679-M

3t,5,7

M. CESMER
COLLECTOR OF JUNK

Second-hand Furniture, etc.

41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY

Phone, Quincy, 679-M

3t,5,7

M. CESMER
COLLECTOR OF JUNK

Second-hand Furniture, etc.

41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY

Phone, Quincy, 679-M

3t,5,7

M. CESMER
COLLECTOR OF JUNK

Second-hand Furniture, etc.

41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY

Phone, Quincy, 679-M

3t,5,7

CHURCH NOTES

PORTER M. E. CHURCH
Lovell's Corner

Rev. Arthur S. Emig, minister.
Sunday morning worship at 10.30; sermon topic, "A Sincere Request." In the evening at 7.00 our district superintendent Dr. Cooper, will preach and conduct holy communion.

Bible School at 11.45
Junior League at 3.30
Senior League at 6.15 in the vestry.
Tuesday, at 7.00 P. M., the fourth quarterly conference will be held at the parsonage. Let all members of the conference be present, and all reports be in writing. This is the last conference of the year, and will be important.

Thursday evening at 7.30 the regular prayer service.

Owing to the weather the entertainment by Mr. Reynolds has been postponed. A new date will be announced soon.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Lincoln Square

Rev. C. W. Allen, pastor. Morning service at 10.30; subject, "God's promise fulfilled in winter."
Sunday School at 12 o'clock.

Junior C. E. at 4 o'clock.
Senior C. E. at 6 o'clock.

Evening service at 7 o'clock; subject, "Isaac and Rebekah, or choosing a wife." Music by the Men's class, including anthem by choir, baritone solo by John Greene of Quincy, cornet solo by Sydney W. Binney of Braintree. Mrs. Albert Avery, director; Miss Dorothy Avery, organist.

The public are cordially invited to attend these services.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7.45.

Friday evening the Men's class will hold an open meeting in the vestry of the church. Allan C. Emery of North Weymouth will be the speaker. All are cordially invited to attend.

The entertainment and social that was postponed last Friday night, for benefit of the Armenian fund, will be given Friday evening, Feb. 20.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH
Weymouth

Service Sunday at 10.30 A. M. Rev. A. M. Foster of Marblehead will preach. Mr. Foster is a candidate, and this is his third attempt to come here, weather conditions having made it impossible to come on the other occasions.

Sunday School at 11.45 A. M. Miss Esther Bicknell superintendent.

The Men's Club meeting will have a supper next Tuesday evening, Feb. 17, at 7. Orin C. Browne, chief deputy Fish and Game Commissioner of Massachusetts, will be the speaker, which will be illustrated by lantern slides.

THE WHITE CHURCH
(Congregational)

East Weymouth
Rev. Edward Torrey Ford, pastor. Morning worship and sermon 10.30; subject, "The Ethics of the Public Health."

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, an hour with the stereopticon.

Always a cordial welcome at the White Church.

The Ladies Social Union will hold a supper in the church dining room Thursday evening, Feb. 19, at 6.30. It will be followed by a dramatic entertainment presented by the Golden Rule circle of Kings Daughters. The drama is entitled "The Sewing Circle at Mrs. Martin's." Mrs. Horsley is chairman of the committee.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL
Weymouth and Braintree

"The Challenge of Men to the Church" is the subject of the Sunday evening program at the Union Church. Answers of men outside the church and of various walks of life will be read to these questions:

1. Why are not more men found in the churches?
2. Do you consider that the church is serving the best interests of the community?

3. What methods do you suggest to improve the church's usefulness?
4. Suggest any subjects you would like to hear ministers preach on.

Mrs. Hans Hagan will render a violin solo. Other music will be by male quartette, chorus choir and seven piece orchestra. This will be one of the most important of the Sunday evening programs.

At 12.15 the Young Men's Forum will have for the subject of discussion: "America's Moral Obligation in view of present conditions in Europe." All young men are cordially invited. Church school at 12. Young People's meeting at 5.45. Social half-hour at 6.30.

The service of morning worship is at 10.30. The minister's message this week is: "Man Creating God's World." The whole day will be dedicated to men and a man's job. Ladies are especially urged to invite the men to come with them to the Church where there's always a welcome waiting for men.

THE BOLSHEVISTS.

Editor Gazette-Transcript:
A recent letter in your columns was somewhat critical of some of us who have not seen fit to denounce the Government's treatment of foreign radicals who have organized to overthrow our system by revolution. The letter is somewhat hysterical and gives evidence of a failure to understand the issue. It falls into the somewhat common error of quoting catching phrases and well known words in the belief that it is advancing arguments.

The matter in a nutshell is like this. There is room in America for every shade of political opinion. The ballot box gives every man an opportunity to register his opinions, and to bring about the reforms he desires, by constitutional means. If Bolshevism had enough votes, it would become the political system of this country; but the only American way for it to become such is by the vote of the citizens of the country. Immediately any group of men preach anarchy and revolution as the means of bringing their will to pass, they not only can be, but ought to be punished.

This makes a fundamental distinction between the case of the Socialists in New York and that of the deported Bolshevists. The Socialists represent an organized party seeking its ends by constitutional methods, and they were elected to office by citizens in the legal manner; their exclusion was a direct violation of the principles of representative government. The Bolshevists were not seeking their ends by constitutional methods, they were a small group, composed largely of non-citizens, endeavoring to overthrow our government by fire and sword, to the end that they might set a new order unfamiliar to our people and not representative of popular opinion at all; to tolerate them would be to deny our own American heritage in the deepest sense.

If I learn that I have a cancer I visit a surgeon, to have the poisonous growth cut out of my system, root and branch; the American government is no less wise in getting rid of this poisonous growth in our body-politic.

Sincerely yours,
FRANK KINGDON

WHY NOT KEEP HENS?

Every Weymouth family having the proper conditions for keeping poultry, should keep a flock of pullets that will begin to lay next fall and furnish fresh eggs through the fall, winter, spring and summer.

In order to be sure that they will begin laying before winter sets in, the chicks should be hatched not later than April, and for the American breeds, such as the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and R. I. Reds, I would advise the latter part of March to the middle of April to have the young chicks come out.

Probably the best breeds for this purpose are the American breeds as mentioned above.

The young chicks can be hatched and brought up, where raising a small number, much easier by a hen than with an incubator and brooder. Sometimes it may be difficult to get a hen that wants to sit.

Not much is required in the way of housing until it comes fall and then they ought to be in their winter quarters a few weeks at least before they should be expected to lay.

Some of the main reasons why many people do not get eggs from their pullets during the winter are as follows:

1. Chicks were hatched too late.
2. Improper housing conditions.
3. Improper food.
It will pay well to give a little thought to this matter if you care to have fresh eggs next winter.

Now is the time to get ready. There are many families in the town of Weymouth who are making quite a little profit from hens—what some are doing, others can do.

The agricultural department in the Weymouth High school will gladly furnish information regarding the above to those desiring it.

There will be an illustrated lecture on, "Back Yard Poultry Keeping," in the Weymouth High school some time during the latter part of February or the first of March. Watch this paper for the date.

C. W. KEMP

A MERCILESS JUDGE
One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Weymouth resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. P. J. Fryer, 56 Phillips Street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are fine for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I have had pains in my back over my kidneys at times and I have used Doan's with fine results. Doan's Kidney Pills have been a reliable kidney remedy for us. My mother had faith in them and I remember seeing them in the home when I was a girl in Belfast, Ireland."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Fryer said: "My faith in Doan's Kidney Pills is as strong today as ever. Doan's have never failed to give me wonderful relief."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Fryer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 2t,6,7

(Advertisement)

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

THE BOLSHEVISTS.

Editor Gazette-Transcript:
A recent letter in your columns was somewhat critical of some of us who have not seen fit to denounce the Government's treatment of foreign radicals who have organized to overthrow our system by revolution. The letter is somewhat hysterical and gives evidence of a failure to understand the issue. It falls into the somewhat common error of quoting catching phrases and well known words in the belief that it is advancing arguments.

The matter in a nutshell is like this. There is room in America for every shade of political opinion. The ballot box gives every man an opportunity to register his opinions, and to bring about the reforms he desires, by constitutional means. If Bolshevism had enough votes, it would become the political system of this country; but the only American way for it to become such is by the vote of the citizens of the country. Immediately any group of men preach anarchy and revolution as the means of bringing their will to pass, they not only can be, but ought to be punished.

This makes a fundamental distinction between the case of the Socialists in New York and that of the deported Bolshevists. The Socialists represent an organized party seeking its ends by constitutional methods, and they were elected to office by citizens in the legal manner; their exclusion was a direct violation of the principles of representative government. The Bolshevists were not seeking their ends by constitutional methods, they were a small group, composed largely of non-citizens, endeavoring to overthrow our government by fire and sword, to the end that they might set a new order unfamiliar to our people and not representative of popular opinion at all; to tolerate them would be to deny our own American heritage in the deepest sense.

If I learn that I have a cancer I visit a surgeon, to have the poisonous growth cut out of my system, root and branch; the American government is no less wise in getting rid of this poisonous growth in our body-politic.

Sincerely yours,
FRANK KINGDON

WHY NOT KEEP HENS?

Every Weymouth family having the proper conditions for keeping poultry, should keep a flock of pullets that will begin to lay next fall and furnish fresh eggs through the fall, winter, spring and summer.

In order to be sure that they will begin laying before winter sets in, the chicks should be hatched not later than April, and for the American breeds, such as the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and R. I. Reds, I would advise the latter part of March to the middle of April to have the young chicks come out.

Probably the best breeds for this purpose are the American breeds as mentioned above.

The young chicks can be hatched and brought up, where raising a small number, much easier by a hen than with an incubator and brooder. Sometimes it may be difficult to get a hen that wants to sit.

Not much is required in the way of housing until it comes fall and then they ought to be in their winter quarters a few weeks at least before they should be expected to lay.

Some of the main reasons why many people do not get eggs from their pullets during the winter are as follows:

1. Chicks were hatched too late.
2. Improper housing conditions.
3. Improper food.
It will pay well to give a little thought to this matter if you care to have fresh eggs next winter.

Now is the time to get ready. There are many families in the town of Weymouth who are making quite a little profit from hens—what some are doing, others can do.

The agricultural department in the Weymouth High school will gladly furnish information regarding the above to those desiring it.

There will be an illustrated lecture on, "Back Yard Poultry Keeping," in the Weymouth High school some time during the latter part of February or the first of March. Watch this paper for the date.

C. W. KEMP

A MERCILESS JUDGE
One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Weymouth resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. P. J. Fryer, 56 Phillips Street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are fine for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I have had pains in my back over my kidneys at times and I have used Doan's with fine results. Doan's Kidney Pills have been a reliable kidney remedy for us. My mother had faith in them and I remember seeing them in the home when I was a girl in Belfast, Ireland."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Fryer said: "My faith in Doan's Kidney Pills is as strong today as ever. Doan's have never failed to give me wonderful relief."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Fryer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 2t,6,7

(Advertisement)

Please direct all mail for the Gazette or the Times to—"Gazette, Weymouth, Mass." No street address or box is necessary, and no name.

PROBATE NOTICES
Probate court is held in Norfolk county on the first four Wednesdays of the month. At Dedham, the first Wednesday; at Quincy, the second Wednesday; at Dedham, the third Wednesday; and at Brookline, the fourth Wednesday.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.
To all persons interested in the estate of

FRANCIS S. TORREY
late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, William J. Holbrook the administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a probate court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the third day of March, A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register.

3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.
To all persons interested in the estate of

MARY E. BRADY
late of Weymouth in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Katherine T. Brady the administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of her administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the eighteenth day of February, A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administratrix is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register.

3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

LOUISE G. NUTTING
late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to

A MODERN HOUSE IS EQUIPPED FOR ELECTRIC SERVICE

WHEN YOU MOVE, BE SURE your new home has electric service. House owners will improve the value of their property if they wire for electricity. It means a better class of tenants that will stay longer and owners will save money on decorations.

WEYMOUTH LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY

Jackson Square East Weymouth, Mass. Phone 62-W

EMERSON COAL & GRAIN COMPANY

EAST WEYMOUTH. Tel. Weymouth 430

COAL GRAIN FLOUR

All Rail—Best Quality

Special
ANTHRACITE "BOULETS"

TRY OUR
Mixed Grain or Scratch Feed

E. A. CO.

$1.90---E. A. CO. FLOUR---$1.90

There Are Just a Few Who Make Collections Costly

IN WEYMOUTH 90 PER CENT OF THE TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS pay their bills promptly and the expense of collecting the majority of telephone accounts is, therefore, reasonable.

BUT THERE ARE A NUMBER of Subscribers who overlook their telephone bills, who neglect to pay them within the reasonable specified time, and the cost of collecting these accounts is great—probably two or three times as great as that involved in collecting all the accounts that are paid within the desired period.

THE EFFORT involved in collecting overdue accounts would be saved if all accounts were paid within a reasonable time, and might better be devoted to other work of value to the community's telephone service.

We are taking this means of placing the facts before telephone subscribers in general and we feel certain that they will co-operate by paying their bills promptly.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

M. L. FLYNN, Commercial Manager.

A Good Bank in a Good Town

Member American and Massachusetts Bankers Association

WE BELIEVE we have one of the most serviceable banks in one of the best towns of its size in the state.

Our continually increasing number of satisfied customers is the best evidence that we are serving each one individually in a satisfactory manner. Our Officers and Directors are men of good sound business judgment, well and favorably known throughout the community.

We endeavor to work for the betterment of our town and district, as well as for the interests of the individual.

The Hingham Trust Company

B. A. ROBINSON, President. SETH SPRAGUE, Treas.

How do you like the Anniversary Events?

A PROSPEROUS YEAR TO GAZETTE ADVERTISERS

Anniversary Column

10 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 11, 1910

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lonergan celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home on 21 Washburn street, East Weymouth.

Weymouth's Firemen's Relief Association celebrated their thirteenth anniversary in Town Hall. E. S. Wright, president of association.

Valentine party given at Lincoln hall under the auspices of the Y. P. C. U. Mission Circle of First Universalist church held meeting with Mrs. W. E. Thompson.

Miss Mary Loud entertained officers of Missionary society at lunch.

The Ladies Aid served a baked bean supper in vestry of Porter M. E. church.

Winifred Brown entertained a number of his friends at his home on Pleasant street in honor of his seven birthday.

Roy Litchfield bought Hingham garage formerly owned by James Kemp. Ladies Social Union of the Congregational church, East Weymouth gave a colonial supper in dining room.

Deaths, Mrs. Theresa K. O'Toole, Mrs. Mary Robbins.

20 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 16, 1900

Ex Postmaster John F. Dwyer pleasantly surprised by a number of his friends who called to celebrate his 38th birthday.

Division 6, A. O. H., held hardy gurdy party in Clapp's hall. Floor under direction of Daniel J. Callahan.

The owners of shore property at Bay View held a meeting at South Weymouth and form the Bay View Association with Judge L. A. Cook, president; Rev. H. C. Alvord, secretary; and A. O. Crawford, treasurer.

The store of William Cronin burglarized, only a small amount was stolen.

Miss Edith Hunt entertained the Puritana Whist Club. Prizes were awarded to Miss Elsie R. Litchfield and Mrs. Richard Rollins.

M. E. Church gives interesting recital with Miss Nellie Bowles, Miss Mary Black, Mrs. F. A. Sallis, Miss Marion Baldwin and Master William Baldwin taking part.

Clapp Memorial team defeated Union team at basketball.

Installation of Monatiquet Colony 112 U. O. P. F. installing F. A. Bicknell, T. B. Seabury, C. L. Seabury, H. Benson, W. F. Seabury, Mrs. Culley, John W. Cushing, W. B. Dasha, Mrs. H. F. Barnes and John Holbrook as officers.

Ladies Social Circle of Unitarian society hold successful food fair. Col. B. S. Lovell seriously sick.

Norfolk Bowling team defeats the Commercial Club of Brockton. In a close game. As each team has won a game, a rubber will be played possibly at Cochoat Club, Braintree.

Deaths, Maurice Kennedy, Mrs. Patrick Maguire, Mrs. Catherine Moore.

30 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 14, 1890

Henry A. Nash, Clerk of Selectmen gave summary of town expenditures as $171,048.38, a net debt of $60,891.43.

Regular meeting of Century Club. T. H. Benson read paper on race question in Southern States and Africa, after which a debate followed with John A. Holbrook affirmative and E. H. Benson negative.

John H. Flint mentioned as candidate for School Committee.

The name Jefferson is favored by the scholars of the new Middle street school building.

Col. Mansfield of U. S. Engineers submits report upon survey and examination of Weymouth River to 51st Congress; that provides for widening and dredging.

H. A. Bailey discovers and gives alarm for slight fire in basement of Fearing & Locke's store on Madison avenue.

James L. Bates Camp. S. of V. give play at Reynolds hall entitled, "New-born or the Old Flag."

40 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 13, 1880

Annual meeting of Weymouth Savings Bank Corporation chose Eben Denton president, Elias Richards, Jonathan French, N. L. White and Gilbert Nash vice presidents.

Messrs Cook, Canterbury and Pratt, representatives from Weymouth at Legislature vote yea on biennial sessions for the body.

Greenhouse of Cushing & Mellen on Front street damaged to extent of $2000 by fire.

Entertainment by Catholic Society at East Weymouth, by Mrs. William E. Cushing, reader, and her daughter Daisy assisting.

M. C. Dizer & Co. manufacturers of boots and shoes at East Weymouth report a growing business.

A fair in aid of the new Catholic Church at North Weymouth.

Prof. Stephen A. Bicknell gives vocal concert at Pilgrim vestry.

Even in 1880, this advertisement appeared in the Gazette signed by the constables and police of the town.

Anyone desiring to aid in suppressing the liquor traffic in Weymouth, can do so by giving any information they possess or may obtain, to the undersigned and following named officers, and they can rest assured that all such information will be strictly confidential.

New business the Bay State Hammock Co. started on Redman's Court. Mr. and Mrs. John Battles pleasantly surprised, a little party given by friends.

Married, Clinton F. Pope to Martha E. Gregory; Gideon Y. Sylvester to Maggie B. Cook.

Deaths, Henry Loud, Lucy Hunt.

50 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 11, 1870

Marriage of Eldridge Nash and Martha Hardy.

Eleizer Bates, aged 90 years, oldest man in town.

The drama "Down by the Sea," given under the auspices of the M. L. A. with A. Vining in cast.

The number of deaths in Braintree for 1869 were 21.

Meeting of the Weymouth Sabbath School Union at Rev. Mr. Emery's church, North Weymouth.

The winter was a very mild one. On Feb. 11 the ice harvest had not started. There was no interference with train service by the snow or cold.

Amasa Whiting's hatchet factory in Hingham burned.

When you "know"

you have a stomach it's time to suspect your liver. You need Beecham's Pills. A lazy liver and overworked kidneys allow food poisons to circulate in the blood and irritate the entire body.

BEECHAM'S PILLS
Largest Sale of Any Medicine in the World.
Sold everywhere. In boxes, 10c., 25c.

Trustworthy

Oh, my yes! you can trust us with your fine linens and your delicate fabrics. We will treat them with as much consideration as they receive in your own home. We will call for and deliver the washing and can assure you that you will be pleased with the moderate cost.

Monarch Wet Wash Laundry
EAST WEYMOUTH
Tel. 530-769-M

For Sale 6 Room Dwelling and Store

It is centrally located, near the square, railroad station and electric cars. Will pay 12% on investment. Price

$3,200

Russell B. Worster
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Storage Rooms

For Furniture and Other Merchandise

—AT—
C. W. JOY'S

Bonded Storage Warehouse
159 Middle Street, East Weymouth
Second Hand Furniture For Sale
Tel. 242-M

Insure Your Automobile AGAINST

Theft Collision, Fire, Liability, WITH

H. FRANKLIN PERRY

104 Front Street, Weymouth, Mass.
Tel. 513-M

Best Companies Lowest Rate
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

PFEFFERKORN & TREDENICK CO
Furniture and Piano Movers
GENERAL TRUCKING

42 Myrtle Street East Weymouth.
Telephone Wey. 285-M

Thomas Carrigg & Son

Designers and Manufacturers of

ARTISTIC MONUMENTS

In All Kinds of Granite
ALSO BUILDING WORK
JOBBOING

SHOW YARDS AND WORKS:
WEYMOUTH STREET

HOLBROOK, MASS.

TELEPHONE
RANDOLPH 196-W

SAVE AGENTS COMMISSION

Buy off the man who does his own work, with thirty-six years' experience.

Telephone or write and auto will go any distance to show you our stock on hand.

DORT CARS

SEDAN TOURING $1535 $985
f.o.b. f.o.b.

AGENT FOR EVEREADY BATTERIES
Overhauling and Repairs

Clark's Garage

245 Independence Ave., Quincy, Mass.
Q. Tel. 1243 Res., M. 210

T. J. CONNOR

Practical Plumber

Steam, Hot Water and Warm Air Heating
Sheet Metal Work
General Repairing

Estimates cheerfully given.
Satisfaction guaranteed.

25 Pleasant St., South Weymouth
Tel. 312-W

W. H. FARRAR & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Repairs
Tin Roofing and General Jobbing.

ESTIMATES GIVEN
Business Established 1883

Peakes Building, Jackson Square.
Telephone Connection.

If you have any Insurance to write, you will do well to communicate with

E. D. SWEET (BROKER)

371 WASHINGTON STREET
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

I handle all lines and am able to quote lowest rates obtainable, representing any company in the State of Massachusetts and authorized agents of any foreign Insurance Co.

Tel. Weymouth 118-M; Main 5070

Weymouth Deliveries
TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

AUTO SUPPLIES

Tube Vulcanizing
GOODRICH TIRES

LOUIS H. ELLS

160 Main Street, South Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 581W

ROGERS & GOODSPEED Furniture and Piano Moving

ALL KINDS OF TRUCKING
Promptly attended to.

LOST BANK BOOKS.

Bank Books as listed below are lost, and application has been made for payment of the account in accordance with Sect. 40, Chap. 500, of the Acts of 1908 and amendments thereto. Payment has been stopped.

LOST—Deposit book No. 11288 of the East Weymouth Savings Bank is reported lost. $64.47

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly back-ache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

Took the Better Way.

"Why did you jump from in front of Simpson's car directly in the path of Barton's car?"

"Well, I saw I was bound to be hit by one of them, and Barton has the most money."—Toledo Blade.

Don't waste your time trying to distinguish between a woman's "no" and "yes."

48,000
Drug Stores Sell It.
Five million people use it to KILL COLDS

HILL'S
CASCARA QUININE
BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy for 25 years—in tablet form—safe, sure, no opiates—breaks up a cold in 24 hours—relieves grip in 3 days. Money back if it fails. The genuine box has a Red top with Mr. Hill's picture.

At All Drug Stores

MILLIONS Suffer from Acid-Stomach

Millions of people suffer year after year from ailments affecting practically every part of the body, never dreaming that their ill health can be traced directly to acid-stomach. Here is the reason: poor digestion means poor nourishment of the different organs and tissues of the body. The blood is impoverished—becomes weak, thin, sluggish. Ailments of many kinds spring from such conditions. Biliousness, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, general weakness, loss of power and energy, headache, insomnia, nervousness, mental depression, even more serious ailments such as catarrh and cancer of the stomach, intestinal ulcers, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble—all of these can often be traced directly to acid-stomach.

Keep a sharp lookout for the first symptoms of acid-stomach—indigestion, heartburn, belching, food repeating, that awful painful bloating after eating, and sour, gassy stomach. EATONIC, the wonderful modern remedy for acid-stomach, is guaranteed to bring quick relief from these stomach miseries. Thousands say they never dreamed that anything could bring such speedy relief—and make them feel so much better in every way. Try EATONIC and you, too, will be just as enthusiastic in its praise. Make your life worth living—no aches or pains—no blues or melancholy—no more of that tired, listless feeling. Be well and strong. Get back your physical and mental punch; your vim, vigor and vitality. You will always be weak and ailing as long as you have acid-stomach. So get rid of it now. Take EATONIC. Tablets—they taste good—you eat them like a bit of candy. Your druggist has EATONIC—50 cents for a big box. Get a box from him today and if you are not satisfied he will refund your money.

EATONIC (FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH) VICTIMS RESCUED

Kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles are most dangerous because of their insidious attacks. Heed the first warning they give that they need attention by taking

GOLD MEDAL
HAARLEM OIL
CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for these disorders, will often ward off these diseases and strengthen the body against further attacks. Three sizes, all druggists. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

Cuticura Soap
AND OINTMENT
Clear the Skin

Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c, Talcum 25c.

SHILOH
30 DROPS COUGHS

COAX 'EM

Stop Whipping Bowels into Activity, but take "Cascarets"

Put aside the Salts, Pills, Castor Oil, or Purgative Waters that irritate and lash the bowels into action but which do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your "insides" pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels which are keeping you half sick, headachy, and miserable.

Cascarets tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience. Cascarets cost so little too.—Adv.

Flannigan's Curiosity.

Flannigan (listening to new jazz record)—What kind iv music do ye call that, Norah?

Daughter—That's a fox trot, daddy. Flannigan—An' how many tin cans did th' fox have tied to his tail when he trotted?—Buffalo Express.

"CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP" IS CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at tongue! Remove poisons from stomach, liver and bowels.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

Mother! You must say "California."—Adv.

Its Place.

"Can you tell me where a blight of water is?" "I guess it is generally found in the mouth of a river."

OPEN NOSTRILS! END COLD OR CATARRH

How to Get Relief When Head and Nose Are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty. Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache, no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

Its Need.

"I am writing a book for chiropractors." "I hope it has plenty of foot notes."

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

If beauty were only skin deep, almost everybody by taking thought could have it.

Better general health is sure to follow the use of the natural Herb Laxative, Garfield Tea. It corrects constipation.—Adv.

Variety is the spice of life—especially a first-class vaudeville show.

Patriotism is like filial affection: something to feel, and not to acquire.

Mother and the Solomon Islands

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Yes, we aim to go the first week in May," said Mother Burgess, smoothing her starched white apron with wrinkled hands.

Christine, home for the Christmas holidays, regarded her mother with consternation. "I don't believe it, mother," she declared. "Of course, all my life I have heard father say that when we children were grown up he was going to sea again, but I never thought it would actually happen."

"Yes," continued her mother, "he's going to take his money out of the bank this week and buy the Mary Lee that's down by the dock of Nicholson's boat yard."

"But the Solomon Islands!" groaned Christine. "Why does he insist on going there?"

"Well, mostly," answered her mother, "because it's about the only place he's never been."

Moved by a sudden impulse, the girl rose from her chair, went over to her mother and placed two strong young arms on the other's thin shoulders. "Tell me the truth, mother," she demanded fiercely. "Do you really want to go, or are you doing it just to please dad?"

For an instant her mother looked at her with eyes that were defiantly steadfast; then, beneath the girl's determined gaze, her own glance wavered and fell.

"Christine," she said, "I dread the thought of it. I know I'll be seasick, and I'm scared to death of the savages, and I don't want to leave my home and my white Wyandottes, and the quilt I'm making for the county fair—and—"

"I understand," said Christine, soothingly. "Won't you let me explain to father?"

"Don't you say a word to him, not a word!" insisted her mother. "Why, I should be so ashamed to have him know I was afraid. Ever since he had to give up going when you children were born, he planned to take this trip, and it would simply break his heart to give it up. Promise!"

Christine did so reluctantly. Not until bedtime, in the quiet of the low-ceilinged room which had been hers since childhood, did she turn from contemplation of her mother's problem to consideration of her own. She had agreed, when she returned to the city, to say "yes" or "no" to the middle-aged principal of the school where she taught—and she didn't think she wanted to say "yes."

But, on the other hand, neither did she want to watch the years creep by, each one a little gayer, bringing with them no home of which she could be mistress, no little children to wash and dress, and, very occasionally, scold. After all, wasn't a pleasant, cultured, elderly husband better than one room in a boarding house, meals out?

During the next few days Christine managed several chats with her father. And at times it did seem that he overemphasized the desirabilities of the voyage and minimized its drawbacks, Christine at first accepted it all as merely the enthusiasm of a man who sees about to be accomplished a project anticipated for many long years.

True, she noticed a very decided shadow cross the rugged face when her mother asked what he proposed to do with the experimental stand of alfalfa in the field next to the wood lot. Also, when she remarked casually that for the first time in twenty years the county fair prize for the best thoroughbred heifer would go to somebody else than Captain Eric Burgess.

"Have you bought the Mary Lee yet, dad?" she asked one morning.

"No—I haven't," said her father. "But I don't think there's any great hurry."

"Mr. Nicholson owns it?" asked Christine.

"Yes," replied the captain. Christine remembered Mr. Nicholson very well—a kindly old man. And she remembered his son, too—a tall, slim, young fellow with attractive eyes who had graduated one class ahead of her from the high school.

That afternoon Christine wandered down by the river to look at the Mary Lee. There she was, her gray bulk moored out beyond the rise and fall of the tide, her gaunt masts silhouetted against the somber winter sky. Christine shuddered, picturing her rheumatic father and her frail old mother careening over the billowing Pacific, bound for tropic isles and coral-reef lagoons. Such wanderings were for the young and strong.

And yet she could not imagine her father voluntarily turning back, once he had put his hand to the plow. Only fate could alter his plans—and she decided to play fate.

Picking her way over tarry hawsers and empty casks, she found her way to the dingy office with its door lettered Nicholson & Son. Not without hesitation she entered.

At her entrance arose a tall young man with deep, attractive gray eyes. Christine, taken aback, could only murmur: "I—expected to see your father."

"I have had the business for several years now," explained the other pleasantly, then stretched forth his hand. "Why, it's Christine Burgess!" he exclaimed.

After a moment of recalling mutual acquaintances, "I have come on a peculiar errand," confessed Christine. "No doubt you know about the trip my father is planning."

He nodded his head gravely, not thinking it necessary to add that every person within a radius of thirty miles knew of Captain Eric's contemplated voyage.

"I know my father has not bought the Mary Lee yet. And—oh, isn't there anybody else you know that wants to buy it?" she asked desperately.

"Why, yes," said the man thoughtfully. "There is a party who might consider it. He has talked about buying it, but, like your father, I imagine, thinks the market is not very active and that there is no great hurry."

"Oh, if only you could sell it to him first!" cried Christine. "I hardly dare suggest it, but for mother's sake—and for his, too, I would be glad to do anything to prevent their plans!"

"I understand," said Barry Nicholson, sympathetically. "And I'll tell you what I can do. I'll call up this man and tell him there's another bidder for the boat. That will hurry up his decision. If he decides in favor, you can tell your father it is sold. How about my coming up tonight and giving you the results?" he asked eagerly. Pretty, brown-eyed girls with luring voices did not happen in his office very often.

And Christine, after saying that she would expect him, walked home, wondering why, all of a sudden, saying "yes" to pleasant but elderly principals seemed so out of the question.

Next day Christine was able to seek her father. "You've heard about the Mary Lee, dad?" she began tentatively.

"No," said her father, concealed behind the local paper.

"It's sold!" said Christine.

"Sold!" cried her father, laying down his sheet and eyeing his guilty daughter over the top of his spectacles. "Sold?"

"Yes," nodded Christine. "Will—it will make any difference about your trip?"

Her father wrinkled his brow. "I suppose," he said slowly, "I could look around for another boat."

Christine's heart sank.

But—"No, no!" her father was thundering, pounding his fist on the table. "If I can't have the Mary Lee I won't go at all. She was the only boat in these parts for such a trip. But," he lowered his voice, "your poor mother. I'm sorry for her. It will break her heart."

A week later Barry persuaded Christine that, knowing each other as they had for years, they were foolish to waste any more time in becoming engaged. And, oddly enough, Christine agreed with him absolutely. And as a prospective member of the family, she confided to him a secret she had had locked in her heart.

"Barry, dear," she whispered, "I don't think that I would ever have dared block father's plans if I hadn't had a feeling that he was aching for an excuse to get out of it all. Things that you plan when you're young and energetic may lose their charm when you get old. Anyway, he would never have given in himself. He's full of stubborn pride, if he is a perfectly dear parent. But between us we gave him just the proper shred of an excuse!"

And when they went to share their happiness they found the old people sitting contentedly on opposite sides of the red-cloth table—the captain plotting his annual garden with the help of several of last year's seed catalogues, his wife placidly piecing her quilt.

After the news had been told Capt. Eric looked across the table. "Mother," he said, "it looks as if the last of our children was being taken off our hands. Now when we want to go to the Solomon Islands, there'll be nothing to keep us home. For we're going some day, mother and I," he assured the young couple. "Mother just eats adventure, don't you, mother?"

And mother nodded gayly.

Clarus.

Clarus is one of the comparatively new metals, or alloys, an amalgam of aluminum. It is made commercially in Birmingham, England. One claim for it is that it is 60 per cent stronger than aluminum, while its weight is but one-third that of brass. It will take a high polish, equal to that which may be obtained with silver. It has the merit of keeping its luster, even when exposed to the most trying atmospheric conditions. Unlike many metals it is not brittle when cast and in that form it can be bent cold and, moreover, the castings are sound and free from blowholes. This alloy is said to be suitable for motorcars, electric railroad and airplane trimmings.

How She Heard.

Mrs. Flatbush—I am certainly very glad to meet you. I have heard so much about you.

Mrs. Bensonhurst—Oh, indeed! Then you are the woman who has been stealing my sugar from me!

The New Competition.

"Competition is a part of trade," I suppose so," replied the weary-looking woman. "You ought to have seen the competition I got into today for a chance to buy that I wanted at the bargain price."

Sweet Talk.

Mrs. Flatbush—Any lumps of sugar shall I put in your coffee this morning, Henry? Mr. Flatbush—No, please your own sweet way as us.

GIRLS! A MASS

OF WAVY, GLEAMY BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Let "Danderine" save and glorify your hair

In a few moments you can transform your plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get at any drug or toilet counter a small bottle of "Danderine" for a few cents. Then moisten a soft cloth with the Danderine and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous, fluffy and so easy to do up. All dust, dirt and excessive oil is removed.

Let Danderine put more life, color, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.—Adv.

"WHEN KNIGHTS WERE BOLD"

Days of the Tournament and the Joust Must Have Been Some Pretty Lively "Scraps."

The national sports of Europe were for a long time confined to tournaments and jousts, most of which were participated in by nobility, with the king as spectator.

The tournaments saw companies of from five to a dozen knights ranged against each other in the field, with judges to see that the regularly set rules be observed. The plan of each contestant was to unhorse the other by a blow with a blunt lance received full from in front. A knight thrown by a side blow was considered the victor in that it showed poor horsemanship on the part of the other.

The joust was entirely different from the tournament, being virtually a duel, and usually a fight to death. Knights seeking to fasten themselves to a saddle and thus save themselves from being thrown, were deprived of knighthood. The knight was permitted to wear an outer garment over his armor, thus lending a gay appearance to the contending forces.

Civic Pride.

"But this town has no civic beauty," said the critical visitor.

"It doesn't need any," said the satisfied business man. "In my eyes there's nothing more beautiful than miles of factories in operation and hundreds of big smokestacks belching smoke day and night. Why, sir, every time I get a flake of soot on my face or my collar I wear it as a proud badge of prosperity."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Widow's Spite.

The Parson—Mrs. Smithers seems very cross with me—didn't you notice she almost cut me?

The Friend—I'm not surprised.

The Parson—But why?

The Friend—Don't you remember when you were preaching her husband's funeral sermon you said he had gone to a better home?—London Passing Show.

Old Practice.

"Do you believe doctors have a right to kill where they can't cure?" "Haven't they always been doing it?"

An ounce of prevention is not worth a pound of cure—in the pork-packing business.

The Selection.

"I have been eating fish for the benefit of my brain?"

"Weakfish?"

Sure Relief

BELL'S
FOR INDIGESTION
Olive Tar
Nothing better—Quick—Gratifying—Satisfying—a standby for over sixty years in thousands of homes.
HALL & RUCKEL, Inc.
215 Washington St., New York

Relief from asthma

A finished orator ought to know when to quit.

There is nothing heavenly about war, or dyspepsia. The world is outgrowing the first and Garfield Tea will conquer dyspepsia.—Adv.

The average girl seems to have been born with an ice cream spoon in her mouth.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

In Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Many a family tree requires too much whitewashing to keep the insects off.

ONLY WAY ASPIRIN SHOULD BE TAKEN

Look for name "Bayer" on tablets and follow directions in package.

The Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin, tell in their careful directions in each package of genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" that to get the best results one or two glasses of water should be drunk after taking tablets. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" to be genuine must be marked with the safety "Bayer Cross." Then you are getting the world-famous Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years.

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, and for Pain generally. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

Easily Satisfied.

"This automobile salesman impressed me as a smooth talker."

"But I needed an interpreter," said the potential purchaser.

"Why so?"

"He must have graduated from a technological school. I don't want to know the scientific name of every part of an automobile. I just want to know how well the various parts work together and what the aggregation is going to cost me."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

His Eccentricity.

"Honest t' goodness!" ejaculated Heloise of the rapid fire restaurant. "Hughes is the queerest guy you ever seen. Actually, he thinks a fellow ought to have a wife along when he goes to a show or dines out in the evening, and all that."

"Whose—yaw-w-w—wife?" asked Claudine of the same establishment.

"His own wife."

"Gee!"—Kansas City Star.

A Business Answer.

"And shall we find the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow?" bellowed the stump speaker.

"Not if the salvage gang gets there first," answered the vet.—The Home Sector.

The Selection.

"I have been eating fish for the benefit of my brain?"

"Weakfish?"

A Health-Building Cereal Grape-Nuts

A satisfying food, greatly pleasing to taste, full of rich nourishment and ready to eat without cooking.

Needs no Sugar

Pleasing alike to young and old. "There's a Reason"

AFTER 7 YEARS—STILL WELL

Now Enjoys Best of Health and Does Her Housework Unaided

"I didn't enjoy one day of good health for more than two years," says Mrs. C. E. Wildes, 746 E. Georgia St., Memphis, Tenn. "At first I had nothing more than backache. Afterwards terrible attacks of pain left me weak and limp. My arms and limbs ached. My feet felt weighted with tons of lead. I couldn't walk without a cane and had to be carried to bed every night. I couldn't do a bit of work and kept my people busy rubbing my aching limbs. Sometimes my whole body became rigid. My feet were swollen twice their normal size."

"It almost killed me to pass the kidney secretions. I lost 42 pounds and each day felt I had aged a year. I was so nervous the rustle of a paper made me scream. 'Finally I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and seven boxes made me a well woman. I have enjoyed the best of health for seven years, and have done all my housework without any trouble.' Sworn to before me by JOHN McNULTY, Notary Public. Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y."

Vaseline Carbolated

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

PETROLEUM JELLY
An antiseptic dressing for cuts, sores, etc. — A necessity where there are children.

AVOID SUBSTITUTES
CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO.
State Street New York.

Mother Gray's Powders

Benefit Many Children

Thousands of Mothers have found MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS an excellent remedy for children complaining of Headaches, Colds, Constipation, Feverishness, Stomach Troubles and Bowel Irregularities from which children suffer at this season. These powders are easy and pleasant to take and excellent results are accomplished by their use. Used by Mothers for over 30 years. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Trial package FREE. Address, THE MOTHER GRAY CO., Le Roy, N. Y.

CURES WHILE YOU SLEEP

NO PAIN. NO TROUBLE.
IN USE OVER 30 YEARS

— KOHLER — ONE NIGHT CORN CURE

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE
PRICE 15 CENTS EVERYWHERE
AT DRUG STORES AND
GENERAL STORES
Kohler Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Teamster's Life Saved

"Peterson Ointment Co., Inc. I had a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thank you, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, care P. O. Box 128." Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Fles and Skin Diseases." Peterson's Ointment is 35 cents a box. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo.

ASTHMA

DR. J. D. KELLOGG'S ASTHMA REMEDY for the prompt relief of Asthma and Hay Fever. Ask your druggist for it. 25 Cents and one dollar. Write for FREE SAMPLE. Northrop & Lyman Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. J. D. KELLOGG'S REMEDY

Persistent Coughs

are dangerous. Get prompt relief from Piso's. Coughs irritate, soothe, and are safe for young and old. No opiates in

PISO'S

Music Turns Itself.
Stopping to turn a stubborn page, the musician not infrequently finds the effect of his performance spoiled by an awkward pause. From France now comes an invention which will obviate this annoyance, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The music is printed, not on pages, but on a long strip, as is the practice with music for the player piano. Placed on motor-driven rolls, the music passes before the eyes of the player at any desired speed. The controlling lever is conveniently placed at one side.

Social Worm Turns.
An English paper inveighs against hosts and hostesses who look upon their guests as temporary chattels—creatures to be disposed of at will, amused, fed, exercised and finally herded to bed, entirely without reference to their own desires. Few of those victims have the courage of Lady Georgina Grey, who on being told by her host, as he bade her good-night: "We breakfast at nine," replied: "Oh, do you? I breakfast at eleven."—Boston Transcript.

Men of Esprit.
There are men of esprit who are excessively exhausting to some people. They are the talkers who have what may be called jerky minds. Their thoughts do not run in the natural order of sequence. They say bright things on all possible subjects, but their zigzags rack you to death. After a jolting half hour with one of these jerky companions, talking with a dull friend affords relief. It is like taking the cat in your lap after holding a squirrel.—O. W. Holmes.

Lignite in Syria.
Coal, in the ordinary sense of the word, does not exist in Syria, but there are beds of lignite containing traces of vegetable organisms. The principal beds are in the Mettu; that of Cornaell, which has been worked; and in the district of Jezzine, those of Niha and Hailour to the east of Sidon. This is very extensive but shallow and close to the surface. At Jezzine, lignite is yellow and black, is abundant.—Christian Science Monitor.

Eventful Day in Yuma.
What must have been the excitement in Yuma, Ariz., when on January 4 rain fell there for the first time in forty-five years? Grown men and women, young men and women, boys and girls who had never seen rain gazed in alarm or delight or wonder at an amazing sight; they saw the heavens veiled for the first time and water falling from the gray curtain drawn across their sky of brilliant blue! Probably the little ones were soon barefoot and paddling about in puddles; men and boys throwing off their coats more intimately to feel the delights of a cloud sent shower bath. A shower took on the proportion of an event; a natural phenomenon reached the heights of a treat.

An agreeable man is one who consents to be taught things he already knows.

You may at least learn something by trying to teach old dogs new tricks.

Its Sort.
"In youth, we have vaulting ambition." "Yes, especially when we play leap frog."

Garfield Tea keeps the liver normal.—Adv.
Earth presents one unconquerable trinity—Youth, Health and Brains.

How's This?
We offer $100.00 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Sold by druggists for over forty years. Price 75c. Testimonials free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sensible Plan.
"Are you still thinking of adopting a public career?"
"No," said the ambitious citizen.
"I've seen a great light."
"What do you mean?"
"I've persuaded a practical politician to adopt me."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

First Idea of Sleeping Car.
In 1856, on the 2d of December the first patent for a sleeping car was issued to Theodore Woodruff, the inventor. The idea was developed by Webster Wagner two years later, and by George Pullman in 1859.

Danger—Colds
and more serious complaints are attracted in winter weather. Be protected. Take

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM
from the first spruce or spruce. Stop it in time and do not gamble with your health. Used over 40 years in treating coughs, colds and all complaints. Everybody buys the Large Size. Mendel D. WATSON & CO., New York

NEW ENGLAND FARMS FOR SALE. With best of location; elevation from 500 to 1,000 feet. Write for catalog. Kasine's Farm Agency, Danvers, Connecticut.

Choicest Oil Lenses at Corsicans on heart of shallow field and adjoining most promising deep test well. HARRY GREEN, Palestine, Tex.

W. N. U., BOSTON, NO. 7-1920.

SPEEDY ICE YACHTS RACE ON SHREWSBURY

Ice Yachting Is Great Winter Sport in New Jersey.

Two of the speediest ice yachts racing on the Shrewsbury off Red Bank, N. J. With the Shrewsbury frozen over hard and fast, there is joy in the hearts of those who live the year round with the sole purpose of ice yachting when the time is right.

ANSON MADE VICTIM OF ODD TRICK PLAY

Gore Got Even With Old Boss for Transferring Him.

Performance, Engineered by Centerfielder and Buck Ewing, Stood Out as One of Smartest Pieces of Strategy at Time.

There have been many freak and tricky plays in baseball, but there was one engineered years ago by the late Buck Ewing and George Gore, two popular Giants of the early eighties, in which Pop Anson, the famous old leader of the Chicago White Stockings, fell a victim. The play took place on the old Polo grounds, then located at One Hundred and Tenth street and Fifth avenue. The performance stood out as one of the smartest pieces of baseball strategy at that time. Gore had been let out by Anson, and while he did not object to playing with the Giants, he looked upon his transfer as a reflection on his playing and so was determined to get even with his old boss. He never overlooked a chance when one presented itself.

In the game in which this freaky play was made the score was even at two all. Anson led off in the sixth inning with a two-base hit along the third-base line and then proceeded to take a long lead off second. Pfeffer was the next batter, and as he was a natural left-field hitter, the outfield was drawn way over in that direction, the right fielder being almost at the center field position, while Gore in center was drawn well in almost back of the infield, the left fielder, of course, playing his field very deep.

That was the situation as Anse hopped about between second and third, anxious to get off with the crack of the bat. And right here is where the cunning Gore and the brilliant Ewing worked the cruel trick on the Chicago boss. The coaches were bellowing instructions to Anson:

"Pop" Anson.

but for some reason or other never noticed that Gore was creeping closer and closer to the infield with every move of the pitcher.

Then, all of a sudden, with the signals working in absolute harmony, Gore was seen to race directly to the second base, and Ewing having started his throw the moment Gore raced toward the base, the big Chicago captain was trapped. Ewing's throw was a perfect one, and as the astonished Anse plunged toward the base, there was Gore waiting for him, with the ball.

The whole thing happened so fast that many of the spectators missed the play, but when it dawned upon them that Anson had been thrown out at second base and that the center fielder had taken the throw, they gave Anson a great jolly. Of course, Gore was the happiest man in the ball park, for he had squared accounts with his old

COACH WILLIAMS IS SIGNED

Minnesota Mentor to Receive Salary of $5,000 Per Year—To Have Strong 1920 Team.

Dr. H. L. Williams, head coach of the University of Minnesota football eleven, has signed a new contract at a salary said to be $5,000 a year. University officials authorized the statement that his salary will be $5,000 more than he received in 1919. Williams will have a strong array of veterans in his 1920 squad.

Coach H. L. Williams.

STADIUM TRACK AT ANTWERP

It Is 410 Meters in Circumference, About 25 Feet Over Quarter-Mile to the Lap.

The Antwerp stadium track, where the Olympic games are to be held next year, is 410 meters in circumference, about twenty-five feet over a quarter-mile to the lap. In width it is twelve meters, nearly forty feet. It will be possible for twelve men to run in heats in the sprints. The straightaway in front of the tribune is 120 meters. The swimming pool is 100 meters long, nearly 110 yards.

PLANS INTERNATIONAL RACE

Chicago Yacht Club Seeks Contest With Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto.

The Chicago Yacht club plans an international race with the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto. The start of the war in 1914 prevented the Chicago challenging yacht Valiant trying to win back the Yacht Racing Union trophy, won by the Patricia in Chicago in 1912.

WORE KID GLOVES ON BASES

Roy Thomas, Former Big League Outfielder, Will Not Be Retained by Pennsylvania.

Roy Thomas, who for years was one of the leading outfielders of the National league, will not be retained as coach of the University of Pennsylvania baseball squad. When with the Phillies Thomas used to wear kid gloves while running bases.

NAVY ELEVEN TO PLAY AT PRINCETON IN 1920

Definite announcement is made that the Navy football team will meet Princeton next season, the contest to be staged at Princeton. The arrangement, which carries with a return game in 1921, has received the sanction of Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would not go away entirely for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic ulcers and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. H. KOENIG, 617 Ellis Blvd., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also doing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. PAUL KAPENYUS, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

All Worn Out Women Should Take

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

Stock Raising in WESTERN CANADA

Is as profitable as grain growing. Successes as wonderful as those from growing wheat, oats, barley, and flax have been made in raising Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Hogs. Bright sunny climate, nutritious grasses, good water, enormous fodder crops—these spell success to the farmer and stock raiser. And remember, you can buy on easy terms.

Farm Land at $15 to $30 An Acre

Land equal to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—grazing land convenient to good grain farms at proportionately low prices. These lands have every rural convenience: school, churches, roads, telephones, etc., close to live towns and good markets.

If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible under your present conditions, investigate what Western Canada has to offer you.

For illustrated literature with maps and particulars regarding reduced railway rates, location of land, etc., apply to Department of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada.

Max A. Bowly, 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; J. E. LaForce, 1139 Elm St., Manchester, N. H.; L. N. Asselin, Biddeford, Me.
Canadian Government Agents.

FREE TEXAS OIL FIELD NEWS

Tells of fortunes being made in newly discovered Texas Oil Fields. How you can share in the $20,000,000 A MONTH being produced in Texas Oil. Thousands all over U. S. are making fortunes from small investments. Keep posted. Send your name and address for free copy.

TEXAS OIL FIELD NEWS
314 Deere Bldg., Dallas, Texas

COLDS are unnecessary—but if you feel one coming on take immediately HURLBURT'S Camphor Pills and stop the cold at the very start. 25 Cents at All Druggists.

THE KELLS COMPANY, Newburgh, N. Y.

A Chance to Come South

For Sale—For $5,000 to experienced planter, or $7,000 to inexperienced man or woman, for sale—large tract of land, one-half interest in shop. Address Box 497, McAllen, Texas.

FARM WANTED

To hear from owner of farm or unimproved land for sale. Price reasonable. Write LESLIE JONES, BOX 2, OLNEY, ILLINOIS.

IF YOU WILL INVEST in a gold mine showing promise of raising another crop of millions, write the Mountain Flower Gold Mine Company, St. Joseph, Missouri.

TRANSPORT PHOTOS! Photos of all troops—10,000 prints. Price $10.00. Address: Army Transport Co., 201 Franklin St., N. Y. City.

SAVE THE COAL! Will save one-half your coal. Send dime for pkg. Address: Wanted Van Dusen, Fifteenth St., Troy, New York.

FRECKLES are unnecessary—but if you feel one coming on take immediately HURLBURT'S Camphor Pills and stop the cold at the very start. 25 Cents at All Druggists.

Rubbers! Rubbers!

For the Family

Every Style First Grade

— ALSO —

ARCTICS And RUBBER BOOTS

Are You Prepared for Snow?

W. M. TIRRELL

 Broad Street Jackson Square
East Weymouth

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford One Ton Truck is a profitable "beast of burden" and surely has the "right of way" in every line of business activity. For all trucking purposes in the city and for all heavy work on the farm, the Ford One Ton Truck with its manganese bronze worm-drive and every other Ford merit of simplicity in design, strength in construction, economy in operation, low purchase price, stands head and shoulders above any other truck on the market. Drop in and let's talk it over and leave your order for one.

ROY E. LITCHFIELD
Authorized Ford Dealer
Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Hanover
TELEPHONE HINGHAM 3

LARGEST STOCK OF

FLEXIBLE FLYERS AND STEERING SLEDS

IN WEYMOUTH

25 styles PYREX — the modern cooking dishes.

50 styles Pocket-knives, 75c to $3.50. Carving Sets, Manicure Sets, Coffee Perculators. All popular sizes of the Ever-ready Flash-lights, Bulbs and Batteries.

EVERYTHING IN GOOD TOOLS

J. H. Murray Hardware Co. Inc.
759 Broad Street, East Weymouth, Mass.
Tel. Wey. 272-S

Why Not Enjoy Your Sleep?

 Bedsteads
Mattresses
and Comforters

Ford Furniture Co. Broad Street
East Weymouth

Phone Wey. 272-M

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

 Published every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY

FRANK F. PRESCOTT

Managing Editor

At 52 Commercial street, Weymouth
Telephone Weymouth 145

Subscription per Annum, $2.50

Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the same paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagussett, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 13, 1920

HELP THE POND HOME

Mrs. J. A. Cushing, president of the Kings Daughters Union of Weymouth has forwarded the Gazette and Transcript the following appeal for the Pond Home at Pondville which is worthy of support:

Twenty-one years ago, eight ladies, members of the King's Daughters' circles, saw the great need of a home for the aged in Norfolk County. These were: Mrs. Mary M. Sawtelle, Mrs. Helen M. Dean, Mrs. Gertrude W. Wright, Mrs. Mary C. Elliott, Miss Mathilda H. Richardson, all of Readville; Mrs. Clara J. Marsh, Needham; Mrs. Etta E. Robart, Brookline, and Miss Lella A. Miller, Quincy.

Because of the enthusiasm of these women, members of other circles in the county became interested in working for this object.

On April 5, 1898, a charter was granted to a corporation to be known as the "Kings Daughters and Sons Home for the Aged of Norfolk County."

On April 21, 1900, Mr. Virgil Pond of Foxboro presented to the corporation his old homestead in Pondville with 8½ acres of land. Two years were then spent in securing funds sufficient for alterations and furnishings.

On June 3, 1902, the home was formally dedicated, with remarks by Mrs. Mary Sawtelle, president of the corporation, and an address by the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, whose book, "Ten Times One Is Ten," furnished the inspiration for the starting of the society known as "King's Daughters' Circles."

Five were admitted to the home at its opening—two men and three women, two of whom were beneficiaries for 15 years.

In 1907 a large wing was built, and later other additions, making it possible for the home to accommodate about twenty people. Each year in June, one day has been set apart as "Donation day" when substantial gifts have been received, and always an entertaining program arranged, and also at the holiday season some form of entertainment is given to the home family. At all times visitors are warmly welcomed.

Situated as the home is, in a small, quiet village, outside attractions are few. Therefore any pleasures furnished by interested friends are especially appreciated. At one of the holiday gatherings an old lady whose lap was being filled with gifts turned to her neighbor and said, "Is this Heaven?" Quite recently a romance culminating in marriage has taken place in the home, which, while unusual, has proved a happy situation for two lonely people. Friends in Norfolk county have given generously in the past toward the support of this home, and until the present year all indebtedness has been met and an endowment fund of $26,000 secured. Now, however owing to the increased cost of living, the trustees find themselves unable to meet expenses.

They are making this statement and appeal at this time, trusting that those ignorant of this work may become interested and glad to contribute to a home which is striving to make happy some of the aged ones in Norfolk county.

The Board of Trustees are trying to get some necessary equipment for the home, and they urge all who feel that they can do so, to help towards buying an electric washing machine. All contributions will be very thankfully received by Mrs. Harriet W. Lane, Norwood, or Mrs. Philip Allen, Treasurer, Walpole, Mass.

STOVE LOOKED GOOD TO THIEF

Although it happened a year ago, a story comes from a thriving town on the Cape, vouched for by a former resident, that thieves do not confine their activities to the larger cities. Services are held in that town in a small church for the uplift of our colored brethren. A stove in one corner served its purpose in keeping the worshippers warm during the winter months. Between services some mean thief one day appropriated the stove—and even the hood. It seems that down on the Cape everybody trusts each other, and don't take the trouble to lock their doors.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Uhlia's strong point's athletics. Vevie's mastered phonetics. Whilmina glides like the brook: Xantippe's name belies her. Yvette, no one decries her. But—Zelma knows how to cook.

—Cartoons Magazine.

QUINCY DEPARTMENT STORE

20th ANNUAL February Round-Up Sale

Round-Up exactly expresses our policy during this sale. We have gathered together a hundred or more lots of extremely desirable merchandise that we cannot duplicate at these prices.

The new numbers will be in on March First, but in all cases quoted on this page the prices are likely to advance. We cannot have two prices for the same article; we will not advance the price of anything until we are forced to by increases in the market price. Therefore we have taken these lots, on which there have been a sharp advance in price, and deliberately marked them very low, to be a money saver for you now, and a business stimulator for us between seasons.

"Ladies' Home Journal" Patterns
"Minerva" Yarns
"Corticelli" Spool Silk
"Carter's" Knit Underwear
"Onyx" Hosiery
"Chateau" Gloves
R. & G. "Nemo"
"Warner" Corsets
"Ferris" Waists
"Chic" Underwear
"Triangle" Collars
"Ipswich" Hosiery
"Lee Union-Aids"
"Bell" Blouses
"Beacon" Blankets
"Kaiser" Silk Gloves
"Carter's" Infants' Garments

Domestics and Dress Goods

2,642 Yards of Remnants

 Percales, Sateens, Cambrics
Cottons, Scrims, Etc.
Long and Short Lengths
To close at less than present cost

$3.50

House Dresses

Sizes.....

$2.45

(Only about 50 in the lot)

STORE OPEN AT 9 A. M.

 Monday at 6
Tuesday at 6
Wednesday at 6
Thursday at 6
Friday at 9
Saturday at 10

Double Stamps All Day Wednesday

Our Bargain Tables are covered with small lots of remarkable bargains at prices much lower than present conditions seem to warrant. There are broken lines of goods that we cannot replace at anything like the prices for which we are selling them, at this sale.

Blankets and Comforters

$6.00 Heavy Woolnap Blankets, White and gray, full size 70x80. $4.45

$3.50 Cotton Blanket, Full size, white and gray with pink and blue border $2.75

$8.00 Beacon Blanket, Fancy plaids, full size, bound with silk $5.95

$5.00 Silkalene Comforters, beautiful patterns, heavily stuffed, scroll stitched. Will be $6.00 next Fall $3.95

$4.50 Bed Puffs in a splendid assortment of patterns. Full size. A remarkable bargain $2.95

 DOUBLE STAMPS
ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

50c Percales in a fine assortment of patterns, light and dark colors. New prices will be 55c. Special for this sale only 39c

 DOUBLE STAMPS
ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

9/4 Double Width Sheetting bleached and unbleached. New price for Spring will be 85c. 65c Per Yard

35c White Domet Cotton Flannel 27 inches wide, quite heavy, and a special bargain at 25c Per Yard

HOSIERY

35c Ladies' Black Cotton Lisle "Ipswich" Hose, all sizes, part black seamless. Some are slightly irregular. 20c 3 pair for 50c

192 Pair of Ladies' Pure Silk Hose, all sizes in various shades. All perfect goods of our $1.75 and $2.00 grades $1.35

$2.00 and $2.50 Shirt Waists, Made from very fine white voile tucked and lace trimmed. Less than 100 in the lot. Fine assortment of sizes. Every one perfect. $1.00

A Little Lot Of About Fifty Waists, Sailor collar effect, in striped madras, that are worth from $2.50 to $3.00 $1.35

$3.00 and 3.50 Muslin Waists, In fancy colored effects. White organdie collars, lace trimmed front. All sizes. While they last $1.65

$7.50 Colored Silk Waists, All sizes. New, fresh goods for this sale, as a very special bargain $4.95

75c Infants' Cashmere Hose, Silk heel and toe; pink and blue only. Perfect goods, at before the war price $3.50

85c Ladies' Mercerized Lisle Hose, "Onyx" and others. Double heel and toe. Black, blue, cor-dovan. All sizes $5c

Men's, Women's and Children's KNIT UNDERWEAR

1 Small Lot Of Ladies' Vests And Pants, Heavy weight, 89c value $6c

1 Small Lot Of Ladies' Union Suits, All sizes, in various styles will be $2.00 to $2.50 next year $1.45

85c Children's Vests And Pants A delayed shipment just received Medium weight, and just the thing for Spring and Fall $6c

 DOUBLE STAMPS
ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

75c and $1.00 Men's Woolen Hose, All colors, all sizes. Every pair perfect and of extraordinary value $55c

25c Men's Black Cotton Hose, Double heel and toe. Only 20 dozen in this lot. Limit of six to a customer. Perfect goods, not seconds $10c

$2.00 Pink Chemise, Lace trimmed and hand embroidered, made from fine cotton, silk muslin and batiste $1.25

$2.00 and $2.50 White Underskirts, very fine cotton, lace trimmed with silk flowers $1.65

Odd Lot Of Aprons, Excellent quality, divided in 3 lots 35c 55c 75c Actual value over $1.00

$3.00 Women's Flannelette Night Robes, All sizes. A delayed shipment that would be $3.50 next Fall $1.95

One lot of slightly rumpled combinations $1.00

Shoe Clearance

$8.00 and $10.00 Women's And Girls' Shoes, mostly sizes 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 4½. High shoes, low shoes, black and tan. Nearly all Goodyear welts. Less than 300 pair in the entire lot $2.95

$4.00 and $5.00 Children's Shoes Fine assortment of sizes and numerous styles. "Educators" and "E. C. Skuffers" in the lot. You must come early on these goods. About 200 pair. $2.00

We have discontinued our shoe department in order to have more room for Women's wear.

None sold to dealers during this sale, but when this sale is over bids will be received for any stock remaining.

$8.00 to $10.00 Men's Goodyear Welt Shoes, High shoes and Oxfords, nearly all sizes. Less than 100 pair in this lot—A remarkable bargain $3.95

ALL Rubbers

For Men, Women and Children

NOW REMAINING

IN PRICES 75c to $1.25

50c

Men's and Boys' Wear

Boys' Sweaters in blue, red and brown. $3.00 value $1.65

$4.00 Men's Sweaters, blue and red. A big bargain $1.95

$2.00 and $2.50 Boys' Winter Caps, imitation fur trimmed $1.35

$1.50 Men's Blue Shirts, made from best quality chambray, sizes 16, 16½, 17 95c

Infants' Wear

Infants' Pure Wool Bands And Wrappers, Price now $1.00 and $1.25. We are closing out a little lot of about 75 of these at before the war price of 50c

25c Infants' Mittens, just a few 10c

$2.00 Knit Leggings, White, red, blue 95c

$1.00 and $1.50 Knit Skating or Stocking Caps, various colors, some all wool 65c

QUINCY DEPARTMENT STORE

HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

See Second Section for Important Articles in Town Meeting Warrant

Weymouth

HOLIDAY NOTICE
Monday, Feb. 23, will be observed as Washington's Birthday, and the office of the Gazette and Transcript will be closed all day. News for next weeks paper should be forwarded early in the week.

Gazette

WHOLE NUMBER 2777

AND TRANSCRIPT

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

VOL. LIV NO. 8

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1920

PRICE SIX CENTS

Republicans Nominate New Men For Selectmen

Only three of the present board of Selectmen were renominated at the Republican caucus this week, the nominees being:

FREDERICK HUMPHREY
WILLIAM H. COWING
GEORGE L. NEWTON
BRADFORD HAWES
ALFRED W. HASTINGS

The only contest was in Ward Two at East Weymouth where Joseph A. Fern was defeated by Frederick Humphrey, the vote being:

Frederick Humphrey 43
Joseph A. Fern 18
Minot P. Garey 2

In justice to John F. Dwyer it should be stated that he never enters a Republican caucus as a candidate.

WARD CAUCUSES

At the caucus in Ward One, Maj. F. A. Bicknell was chairman and Henry

A. Day secretary. George L. Newton was the unanimous choice of the voters for Selectman and also for Overseer of the Poor. Other nominations were made, and the ten delegates elected were instructed to vote for the caucus nominees.

The result in Ward Two is reported above. George E. Bicknell was nominated for Tax Collector, but it was without his knowledge and at the general caucus he declined.

In Ward Three, Russell B. Worster was chairman, and William H. Cowing the candidate last year, was unanimously renominated, with a list for other offices.

In Ward Four, Thomas V. Nash was chairman and Elbridge Nash secretary. Bradford Hawes was the unanimous choice for Selectman and Overseer of the Poor. There were no contests for other offices.

In Ward Five, Prince H. Tirrell was chairman and Frank Loud secretary. The unanimous choice for Selectman and Overseer of the Poor was Alfred H. Hastings. No contest for any of the nominations.

GENERAL CAUCUS

The general caucus of the Republicans was held Tuesday evening at Grand Army hall, attended by delegates from each of the ward caucuses. One veteran was missed, Martin E. Hawes, who has usually been chairman, but weather conditions kept him at home.

Burgess H. Spinney was elected chairman, and John P. Lovell secretary. Reports were read from each of the ward caucuses.

There being a contest for tax collector it was decided to take a vote for the candidates. George E. Bicknell declined to be a candidate, and Ward Two placed in nomination Harry E. Bearce. Ward Five nominated John L. Bean. The ballot resulted in 21 for Bearce and 4 for Bean, and the former became the caucus nominee.

A committee was selected to retire and compile a list of nominees from the ward lists.

The complete nominations follow: Town Clerk, Clayton B. Merchant; Town Treasurer, John H. Stetson; Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor: George L. Newton, Frederick Humphrey, William H. Cowing, Bradford Hawes, Alfred W. Hastings. Assessors, Theron L. Tirrell and Charles H. Clapp.

Collector of Taxes, Harry E. Bearce

School Committee, Edwin R. Sampson and Sarah S. Howe.
Water Commissioner, George E. Bicknell.
Board of Health, Frederick L. Doucette.

Trustees of Tufts Library, Francis M. Drown, Theron L. Tirrell and Wallace H. Drake.

Town Auditors, Burgess H. Spinney, Victor H. Hall and Frank E. Loud.
Tree Warden, Charles L. Merritt.
Park Commissioner, Alonzo M. Newbert.

Constables, George W. Nash, John A. Carter, Arthur H. Pratt, Edward F. Butler, Thomas Fitzgerald, Charles W. Baker, Willie F. Tirrell, Joseph F. DeRusha, George W. Conant and Elbert Ford.

By request, Chairman Spinney addressed the caucus. He urged all delegates to work hard for the election of the entire ticket. None should be ashamed this year that they were Republican. He brought some late information from Washington which has not appeared in the press.

NO INDEPENDENTS

The time for filing independent nominations for town offices expired last evening at 5 o'clock, and no papers were filed. The only way a candidate can enter the field now is by the use

(Continued on Page 5)

Large Expenditure By Town Because Of Snow

Never before has the town expended so much in any one storm, or in fact in any winter as since the recent blizzard. On Monday, the pay roll was so large that a squad of police were on duty at the Town Offices nearly all day. Town Accountant Cushing paid out on Monday nearly $12,000 to snow shovelers, carrying the total to about $15,000 and more work has been done since.

Some people have been inclined to criticize so large an expenditure as reckless. They say that Weymouth has done more than surrounding towns and that many of the streets would have been as passable if nothing had been done. But there are those who criticize, and say the town should have removed snow here and there which has not been done.

Several of the Weymouth car lines have been out of commission since the big blizzard of Feb. 5 and 6, over two weeks. Considering the circumstances, the rails covered with ice the entire distance, good progress has been made this week in opening the line from Lincoln Square to South Weymouth, but as the work has to be done with picks only about half the mileage has been uncovered.

Only spasmodic efforts have been made to open the Pleasant street route between South Weymouth and East Weymouth. Quite a stretch of rail was uncovered from Columbian Square, a little at Lovells Corner, and some at other points near East Weymouth. A car has been stalled on Pleasant street for the past two weeks. Volunteers are wanted on Saturday, Sunday and the holiday to open this entire route.

The East Weymouth-Hingham route is still buried beneath the snow and ice.

Cars are running on schedule between East Weymouth and the Braintree depot, and from East Weymouth to North Weymouth and Quincy, but the formation of new ice almost daily has made it necessary to do considerable work.

Little has been done toward opening the Quincy avenue line between East Braintree and Quincy, on which cars have been stalled since Feb. 5.

Not until Wednesday was an attempt made to dig out the freight cars which have been snowbound in the Weymouth freight yard since Thursday, Feb. 5. Not a freight car had come in or gone out in the two weeks. The situation was much the same at East Weymouth.

A coal famine is threatening. One dealer has only pea coal, and another is limiting deliveries to families having sickness.

The grade schools were closed only two days, but the High school was not reopened until Monday of this week. Many pupils, especially from South Weymouth, have been unable to attend.

(Continued on Page 5)

ODD FELLOWS OPERA HOUSE

Mat. 2.30. Sat., Feb. 21 Eve. 6.30 & 8.30

The crowned king of fun makers

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle "The Garage"

BRYANT WASHBURN in "LOVE INSURANCE"

Pathe News Topics of the Day

On account of Odd Fellows Exemplification

Monday, Feb. 23

in this hall there will be no pictures.

Wed., Feb. 25 Eve. 7.45

"The MIRACLE OF LOVE"

A Cosmopolitan Production.

PATHE NEWS PATHE COMEDY

BLACK SECRET—12th Episode

COMING—SAT., FEB. 28—

Douglas Fairbanks in "When the Clouds Roll By"

ALHAMBRA THEATRE QUINCY

Continuous 1.30 P. M. to 10.30 P. M.

1.30 to 5 P. M. 11c 5 to 10.30 P. M. 17c (Includes War Tax)

(Air Changed Every 30 Seconds)

Thursday—Friday—Saturday

FEB. 19, 20, 21

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

Harry Morey

'Birth of a Soul'

Vitagraph Comedy

"Throbs and Thrills"

News Weekly

MUTT & JEFF

FORD—Educational Weekly

ENID BENNETT in

"Virtuous Thief"

Monday—Tuesday—Wednesday

FEB. 23, 24, 25

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

John Barrymore

'On the Quiet'

New Vitagraph Comedy

OUTING CHESTER

News Weekly

PAULINE FREDERICK

in "PAID IN FULL"

Continuous performance on holiday from 10.30 A. M.—10.30 P. M.

TO VOTERS

Interested in Articles in Warrant For Town Meeting

The Appropriation Committee will hold an "ALL-DAY MEETING" at the Town Offices, East Weymouth, SUNDAY, Feb. 22, 1920, at 10 A. M.

The Committee would be glad during the day to hear from anyone desiring to be heard on any article.

E. C. BARKER,

Secretary Appropriation Committee.

Is This What You Are Looking For?

IF SO COME TO

THE QUINCY THEATRE

FEB. 23—24—25

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

High Class Vaudeville

RALPH DUNBAR'S TENNESSEE TEN

Genuine Colored Entertainers, 2d in prominence, and

THE JAZZ BAND

DREON SISTERS

Queens of Songs and Dances

CONLIN & GLASS

Exponents of Mirth

PHOTO-DRAMA

WILLIAM FOX SPECIAL PRODUCTION

"SHOULD A WOMAN TELL?"

A Metro Super Production.

FEB. 26—27—28

VAUDEVILLE

JOCK McKAY'S SCOTCH REVUE

Scottish Singing, Dancing and Music.

A wonderful Act that you cannot afford to miss seeing.

HAWTHORNE & COOK

— IN —

"NO RHYME NO REASON"

PAY CONLIN

America's Premier Ventriloquist

DAISY & WILSON

Spectacular Aerial Act

PHOTO-DRAMA

MAY ALLISON

— IN —

"THE WALK OFFS"

One of the best photo-dramas ever offered to the public.

BATES OPERA HOUSE

WEYMOUTH AND BRAINTREE

Sat., Feb. 21

Elsie Ferguson in The Marriage Price

Episode No. 6

Pearl White in "The Black Secret"

MATINEE, 2.30—10c and 15c

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

Washington's Birthday, Mon., Feb. 23

Mary Miles Minter

IN

'ANNE of GREEN GABLES'

MARY MILES MINTER.
"ANNE of GREEN GABLES"
REALART PICTURES

An exceptional photoplay that you cannot afford to miss. It is a picture with heart punch—with universal appeal—the kind that grips.

Matinee 2.30—15c and 25c

Evening 8.00—25c and 35c

Tues., Feb. 24

VIVIAN MARTIN

— IN —

'The Home Town Girl'

HEARST NEWS

COMEDY

DeNeill's 5-piece Orchestra

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

1—Poor people of Vienna gathering wood in a forest that formerly belonged to the emperor. 2—Bungalows near Atlantic City wrecked by the destructive storm that raged along the Atlantic coast. 3—First skyscraper erected in London.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Director General Hines Refuses to Raise the Wages of the Railway Employees.

DISPUTE PASSED TO WILSON

Gompers Against Organization of Labor Party—Farmers' Representatives Deny Inherent Right to Strike—Renewed Hope for Agreement on Peace Treaty.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Director General Hines and the heads of the railway unions failed to reach an agreement as to wages, and the whole matter was passed on to President Wilson for his decision of the final attitude of the government. The possibility of a general railway strike and consequent paralysis of industry loomed big, despite the assertion of the leaders of the four brotherhoods that no such move was being considered yet.

Mr. Hines, after many days of conference with the labor chiefs, came to the conclusion that, though the workers may be entitled to more pay under existing living conditions, it is economically impossible for the railway administration to grant the increases in view of the fact that federal control comes to an end on March 1. It was believed in Washington that the president would sustain Mr. Hines and appeal to the railway unions to submit their demands to the wage adjustment boards provided for in the pending railway legislation. The unions, however, do not seem to have any faith in such tribunals, and feel that they will have no chance after the roads have been returned to private ownership.

Everyone concerned in the matter directly feels that the union chiefs have been very courteous and have shown a genuine desire to avoid serious trouble. It is to be expected that some strikes will follow if the president decides against the workers, but there has been no threat of a general strike. One such strike already has been ordered. The maintenance of way employees and shop laborers have been directed to quit work on February 17. Their president, Allen C. Barker, said, however, that the submission of the controversy to President Wilson might avert this, as it was at Mr. Wilson's request that the strike plans made last August were held in abeyance while the government tried to lower the cost of living. Since it mainly failed in this, said Mr. Barker, he felt Mr. Wilson would afford the men the relief they had asked. This may be so, but official statistics do not bear out the claims of the maintenance of way workers. Since 1913 their wages have increased on the average 106 per cent, while the cost of living in the same time has gone up 83.1 per cent. It is not surprising, however, that the workers should join in the general grabfest. Since the war began there has been no greater profiteer than organized labor, but the capitalist, big and small, set the example and led the way.

In Kansas the maintenance of way men have been officially warned that their contemplated strike will be in violation of that state's new industrial court law.

The congressional conference committee fixed up a clever compromise railway legislation bill and its speedy acceptance was predicted. But formidable opposition developed. Representatives Barkley of Kentucky and Sims of Tennessee, both Democratic members of the conference refused to sign the report and announced they would fight the measure. Barkley objects to the provision for a 5½ per cent return on earnings with an equal division of excess earnings over 6 per cent between the roads and a government fund for the benefit of the weaker lines. Sims makes his fight especially against the rate-making provision; but he is opposed to the bill generally for he is an advocate of government ownership. The union labor leaders were waiting until they could study the compromise bill, but they were expected to join with the opposition to the measure. The sections dealing with wage adjustments do not please them.

Samuel Gompers, who several times lately has felt his throne tottering, has come out strongly against the organization of a political labor party and urges that organized labor devote its effort to the election of members of congress who will be friendly to it. The third party plan is especially favored by the Plumb plan leaders, but Mr. Gompers warns that it would be fatal to the interests of organized labor. His attack on congress was decidedly bitter, and called forth several vigorous replies, particularly from Senator Sherman of Illinois and Representative Blanton of Texas.

The antagonism between union labor and the farmers was accentuated last week when representatives of the National grange, the American Farm Bureau federation, the Cotton States board, and the Association of State Farmers' union presidents met in Washington and drew up a memorial to congress denying that any group of organized workers possesses an inherent right to strike. Alluding especially to strikes of transportation workers, the memorial says:

"Those who believe that labor has an inherent right to organize a strike believe that such organizations have a right to starve the people of the cities to death, on the one hand, and to destroy the property of the farmers on the other."

"No such right had ever existed and no such right exists now."

"No set of men has ever had the moral or legal right to destroy property or cause suffering by conspiring together."

"What would be the verdict of the people if the farmers of the United States should suddenly decide to go on a strike and refuse to supply the wants and needs of those who are not in a position to produce food and clothing for themselves? They would be condemned from one end of the country to the other and the fact would be pointed out that they, as the owners and tillers of the land, had no right, either moral or legal, to bring about such a calamity."

"If the farmers have no such rights, those who handle their products have no such rights."

Hope springs eternal, and it is now the turn of the peace treaty compromisers to hope that their efforts will be crowned with success in the near future. President Wilson's latest letter to Senator Hitchcock on the subject, apparently written before Viscount Grey's pronouncement but made public much later, was interpreted as showing a yielding spirit, and the maneuvering to reach an agreement was renewed. At this writing hope for early ratification rested largely on the report that the mild reservationists, Senator Lodge and a group of Democrats had agreed tentatively on a substitute for the Lodge reservation on article ten. This substitute declares the United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country, and Senator Hitchcock indignantly asserted it was no compromise and that its acceptance would be a complete surrender on the part of the supporters of the president. Lodge also proposed a series of amendments modifying the language of his reservations. The president, it is stated, has so far recovered his health and strength that he has taken personal direction of the Democratic forces in the present fight over the treaty in the senate.

The council of the League of Nations opened its meeting in London on Wednesday, with Arthur J. Balfour in the chair. The nations represented were Belgium, Brazil, Great Britain, France, Greece, Italy, Japan and Spain. Both Mr. Balfour and Leon Bourgeois of France expressed regret that the United States was not represented. To M. Bourgeois was entrusted the preparation of plans for the organization of the permanent court of international justice, and other steps were taken toward carrying out the purposes of the league.

There was nothing new last week to indicate the course which the allies would pursue in the matter of the extradition of Germans accused of war crimes, except an unofficial statement that they would insist on the execution of the treaty clause. The Berlin government insists that delivery of the culprits is a physical impossibility and also would be an incredible violation of the nation's honor. The latter point may be disregarded, but the former may have some weight. The British, it is said, are willing to show leniency, but not so the French. The former crown prince got on the front page with an offer to the heads of the allied governments to surrender himself in place of the 900 whom the allies desire to put on trial—a spectacular play to the grand stand which will have no results.

Hungary's representatives went to Paris to present their country's answer to the peace treaty. It was understood they would protest especially against the financial clauses, on the ground that it would be utterly impossible for Hungary to make the payments demanded. As for Austria, starving and freezing, she is still begging some millionaires or wealthy nations to come to her rescue, offering to pledge all the royal palaces or the entire country, if necessary.

The latest successes reported by the soviet forces of Russia include the occupation of Odessa after bloody fighting. The bolsheviks also crossed the Sea of Azov from Taganrog and obtained a foothold on the southern coast between the Don and Yeyra rivers. On their western borders the peace movement continues. The Letts have now signed an armistice with the Moscow government. At the opening of the British parliament the government made it plain that its policy would be to replace force by a commercial policy in guiding Russia back to sanity and that the "ring of fire" to crush bolshevism is a failure. At the same time Lloyd George and his colleagues said bolshevism was not democracy and civilized methods of government must be adopted before any nation will make peace with Russia.

The Democratic members of congress, disregarding the wishes of President Wilson, formally decided in caucus to oppose any legislation for universal military training. Mr. Wilson's letter to the caucus not only urged that the matter be not made a party issue, at least until the national convention passed on it, but also made it clear that he heartily favored a project for moderate military training. The resolution against the training legislation was supported, of course, by such men as Kitchin of North Carolina and was passed by a vote of 106 to 17. Since the big majority of the lower house has adopted the same attitude there seems to be small hope for universal military training at present. Representative Kahn and others of his supporters, however, have not yet given up. Approval of the system expressed by the American Legion may have some influence on congress.

Herbert Hoover and his possible candidacy for the presidential nomination continue to afford food for speculation. Mr. Hoover has issued a long statement in which he denies that he is seeking the White House job or has any organization. He repeats that he must vote for the party that stands for the League of Nations if that becomes a partisan issue, and adds that he does not believe in more than two great parties. He declines to pledge his vote blindfolded, and does not say that he would accept either the Republican or the Democratic nomination if the platform suited him.

Responding to questions from Senator Borah, General Wood says: "I believe that we should accept the League of Nations as modified and safeguarded by the existing Lodge reservations—reservations which Americanize it and safeguard our traditional policies—reservations which leave America absolutely free and untrammelled to follow the will of her own people in all questions of foreign and domestic policy."

DESIRABLE HOME BUILDING DESIGN

Attractive Nine-Room House With Pergola Porch.

PLANNED FOR LARGE FAMILY

Square House That Is Economical to Build and Is Beautified by an Unusual Front Porch—Conveniently Arranged.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Combining beauty and low cost is always the aim of architects. One of the methods of accomplishing this most desirable result is to take a square house that is economical to build because of its straight walls and add an artistic porch.

This has been the method the architect followed in designing the brick house shown in the accompanying illustration. The house itself is 30 by 40 feet 6 inches, without a break in the rectangle. However, the addition of the pergola roof porch has made this an unusually desirable home building design. The roof of the porch is set on colonial columns and brick piers for the corners. Above, the hip roof and its dormer window add to the attractiveness of the home.

Nine good rooms are shown on the floor plans for this house. Downstairs there are living, dining rooms, kitchen and one bedroom; upstairs are five bedrooms, bath and sleeping porch.

The entrance at one end of the porch leads into a stair hall. To the right is a large living room, 19 feet 6 inches by 14 feet. This room has a large, open fireplace set in the end. At the rear of the living room is the dining room, also large, being 13 feet by 17 feet 6 inches. The living and dining rooms are connected by double cased openings, which turn moderate an unusually large family. However, should the home builder desire, the floor plan may be changed so that there will be fewer and larger bedrooms on the second floor, while the bedroom on the first floor may be used as a den, or library.

The strong appeal of this home-building design is its exterior appearance, coupled with convenient room arrangement. The broad porch is most inviting; in fact, it is a place that will give a great amount of solid comfort during the summer months.

Second Floor Plan.

Also its columns and the pergola-like roof permit of artistic vines that enhance the general appearance of the home.

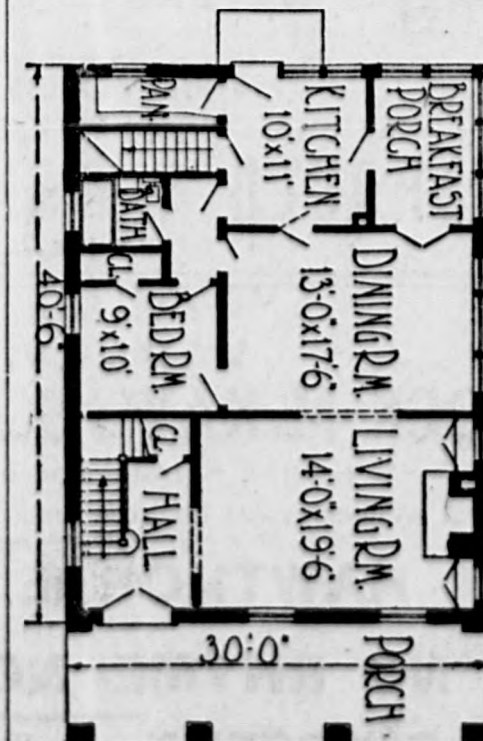

There is a full basement under the house for the accommodation of the heating plant, the laundry equipment and for storage. Likewise the shape of the roof provides a good-sized attic, which also is used for storage, or may be partitioned off into smaller sleeping rooms, or a playroom for the children in bad weather.

Brick in some form or other was one of the first materials out of which houses were fashioned. Brick houses have been found that date back before the beginning of the Christian era. They have many advantages that recommend them today, as there has been as much progress in brick manufacture as in everything else.

the two larger rooms into a single one, while at the same time there is a privacy about each one. Off one corner of the dining room is a breakfast porch, with continuous casements. Adjoining both the dining porch and the dining room is the kitchen, 10 by 11 feet. At the rear of the hall and reached through the dining room is a small bedroom, 9 by 10 feet, with bath adjoining.

Three good-sized bedrooms are ranged along the front of the house on the second floor. In addition there are two back bedrooms and a sleeping porch, with the bath between. All of the rooms open off a central hall. Each room has a commodious closet. Fitted into the wall of the sleeping porch is a space-saving bed, which can be put out of the way in the daytime, turning the sleeping porch into a light, cheery sewing room or sitting room.

First Floor Plan.

For its size this house will accom-

HOME TOWN HELPS

GENERAL CLEANUP IN ORDER

Patriotic Advertising Is No Longer an Excuse for the Presence of Un-sightly Billboard.

Now that the orgy of war advertising is ended, where does it all leave YOU—as the posters said—and your future contributions to the maintenance of the advertiser's paradise? You gladly saw patriotism written all over the beautiful buildings and places of the city—even though this writing was a kind of scribbling, so incongruous were the papers and finisshes. Beauty was for the moment nothing—noting unless it, too, served. But now!

Are we to be equally content to see Piffle's Pickles emblazoned where we testified our intention to save food and thus help win the war? Will not chewing gum and chicle be more than ever an impertinence when inflated to the dimensions of our fatherland, the liberty of the world and the sacrifices of our sons?

Some have feared that the riot of outdoor war advertising would debase our taste and make the public still more heedless of the incongruousness and ugliness of the advertising nuisance. We think not. In spite of everything, the war advertising truly expressed us. We looked at it and read it—and liked some of it—because it did. It expressed us best when it was most beautiful. And although much of it was small in scale, it never was too big to express the great ideas. But now, will not the apotheosis of the insignificant seem more than ever cheap and tawdry? If so, the blatant advertisement has lost some of its advertising value. If it could only lose it all, if people would not patronize what is offensively advertised, it would disappear.—Bulletin of the Municipal Art Society of New York.

PLANTS ON CITY LAMP-POSTS

Authorities of Allentown, Pa., Turn Usually Unsightly Objects Into Things of Beauty.

Turning the street lamp-posts into things of beauty is the object of the authorities of Allentown, Pa.

In that city every lamp-post wears a hanging-garden effect from spring until late autumn. The flowers and decorative leaf-bearing plants are planted in urn-shaped globes which encircle the lamp-posts some distance below the light.

The city fathers who thought of and adopted the flowering lamp-post idea made a thorough job of beautifying the town by removing all of the overhead telephone and telegraph wires—at least, in the principal streets.

But Allentown can boast of use as well as beauty. It is the county seat of a farming section which ranks as one of the leading potato producers of the country.—Popular Science Monthly.

All Should Own Homes.

From the national standpoint, it is most desirable that every citizen should own his home. The proper education of the child needs the sanctity of the home and the future of our country depends upon the average citizen doing his or her duty "to train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Building and loan associations should be formed in all cities where they do not already exist, as they are most useful in assisting men to acquire a home through the monthly installment plan.—Exchange.

For Large and Small Cities.

There should be a definite park policy and an appropriation sufficient to open up one new small park or recreation ground each year. Density of population grows in sections, and property values rise accordingly.

A forehanded small park policy will follow the trail of population density with an eagle's eye. The toilers and their usually large brood of children should have these city breathing spots at their doors.—Chicago Journal.

Historic Mount Vernon, as It Appears When Photographed From an Airplane

An airplane view of Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington. The photograph gives an excellent idea of the home's location in the Virginia hills facing the Potomac river.

MOUNT VERNON IN EARLY DAYS

Irving's Description of Washington's Home Brings Famous Spot Vividly Before Reader.

MOUNT VERNON was beautifully situated on a swelling height, crowned with wood, and commanding a magnificent view up and down the Potomac. The grounds immediately about it were laid out somewhat in the English taste. The estate was apportioned into separate farms, devoted to different kinds of culture, each having its allotted laborers; much, however, was still covered with wild woods, seamed with deep dells and runs of water, and indented with inlets—haunts of deer and lurking places of foxes. . . .

"No estate in United America," observed Washington in one of his letters, "is more pleasantly situated—in a high and healthy country; in a latitude between the extremes of heat and cold; on one of the finest rivers in the world, a river well stocked with various kinds of fish at all seasons of the year." . . .

These were as yet the aristocratical days of Virginia. The estates were large, and continued in the same families by entail. Many of the wealthy planters were connected with old families in England. The young men, especially the elder sons, were often sent to finish their education there, and on their return brought out the tastes and habits of the mother country. The governors of Virginia were from the higher ranks of society, and maintained a corresponding state. The "established" or Episcopal church predominated throughout the "ancient dominion," as it was termed. . . .

George Washington. Famous Portrait by Peale.

Lived in Opulent Splendor.

A style of living prevailed among the opulent Virginia families in those days that has faded away. The houses were spacious, commodious, liberal in all their appointments, and fitted to cope with the free-handed, open-hearted hospitality of the owners. Nothing was more common than to see handsome services of plate, elegant equipages, and superb carriage horses—all imported from England.

The Virginia planters were prone to leave the care of their estates too much to their overseers, and to think personal labor a degradation. Washington carried into his rural affairs the same method, activity, and circumspection that had distinguished him in military life. He kept his own accounts, posted up his books, and balanced them with mercantile exactness. We have examined them, as well as his diaries recording his daily occupations, and his letter-books, containing entries of shipments . . . and correspondence with his London agents. They are monuments of his business habits. The products of his estate also became so noted for the faithfulness, as to quantity and quality, with which they were put up, that it is said any barrel of flour that bore the brand of George Washington, Mount Vernon, was exempted from the customary inspection in the West India ports. He rose early, often before daybreak in the winter when the nights were long. On such occasions he lighted his own fire, and wrote or read by candlelight. He breakfasted at seven in summer, at eight in winter. . . . Immediately after breakfast he mounted his horse, and visited those parts of the estate where any work was going on, seeing to everything with his own eyes, and often with his own hand.

Relaxation in Gayeties.

Occasionally he and Mrs. Washington would pay a visit to Annapolis, at that time the seat of government of Maryland, and partake of the gayeties which prevailed during the session of the legislature. The society of these seats of provincial governments was polite and fashionable, and more exclusive than in these republican days, being, in a manner, the outposts of the British aristocracy, where all places of dignity and profit were secured for younger sons and poor but proud relatives. During the session of the legislature dinners and balls abounded, and there were occasional attempts at theatricals. The latter was an amusement for which Washington always had a relish, though he never had an opportunity to gratify it effectually. Neither was he disinclined to mingle in the dance; and we remember to have heard venerable ladies, who had been belles in his day, pride themselves on having had him for a partner, though, they added he was apt to be a ceremonious and grave one.

In this round of rural occupation, rural amusement, and social intercourse, Washington passed several tranquil years. His already established reputation drew many visitors to Mount Vernon; some of his early companions in arms were his occasional guests, and his friends and connections linked him with some of the most prominent and worthy people of the country, who were sure to be received with cordial but simple and unpretending hospitality. . . . He was active by nature, and eminently a man of business by habit. As judge of the County court, and member of the house of burgesses, he had numerous calls upon his time and thoughts, and was often drawn from home; for whatever trust he undertook he was sure to fulfill with scrupulous exactness.—Washington Irving.

Famous Works of Art

Bronze doors in the Capitol at Washington. The subject is the evocation of the first president, at Trenton, N. J., in 1789.

NEW ENGLAND NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Items of Interest From All Sections of Yankee Land

It is reported that Gov. Milliken of Maine may withdraw as a candidate for re-election at the June primary.

Two runaway Everett, Mass., boys were found on a train at Baltimore beating their way home from Washington.

L. B. Johnson of Randolph was elected president of the Vermont Press Association at its annual meeting at the University of Vermont.

Despite an increase in revenue of $650,300, the Rhode Island Co., Providence, just year operated its trolley lines at a loss of $1,033,379.52.

T. W. A. Smith, a retired florist committed suicide in his home at Biddeford Me., by inhaling gas. He was 54 years old and had been despondent.

A Worcester man is suing for divorce because he alleged his wife beat him when he asked for any money, after having turned all his pay over to her.

Unofficial reports by federal census enumerators show that there is a probability that the taking of the census of 1920 will result in the loss of one Vermont congressman.

25 shovellers employed by Orr's Island, Me., went on strike for 50 cents an hour instead of 23 cents. Finally the men agreed to return to work at the old scale of wages.

Dolphus Danault, 45, of North Adams and Wilfred Gosselin, 22, of Lacolle, Canada, were arrested on charges involving smuggling Canadian white whiskey over the border.

Fire, declared by the police to have been set, partly destroyed the old Hopkins Hotel Providence. The hotel, one of the oldest in the city, has been in service since stage-coach days.

Lewis Lewis of London, a friend of Lloyd George, now in Boston, says the fact there are two Irelands prevents solution of problem there; believes justice will be done when they get together.

William P. Carroll, a convicted forger, and former Lynn shoemaker, has been taken back to state prison at Charlestown after a three-year chase that extended over approximately 10,000 miles.

Ida Belware, 40, Southampton was found by her husband, Frank Belware, lying on the kitchen floor of her home with a bullet in her head and another through her body when he returned from work.

Eldred G. West, 24, who served in battery A 143d field artillery, 26th division, during the war, was killed at the Fields Point R. I., plant of the Castner Curran & Bullitt Company when he was buried under tons of coal.

James B. Perkins of Boothbay Harbor, Me., telegraphed to Washington his acceptance of his appointment on Jan. 27 as federal prohibition director for Maine. The director's office will be established at the Bath custom house.

Charles Lamar, Marlboro, Mass., aged 40 and blind, attended the rehearsal of a church choir of which he is director. When he was ready to return to his home he found it impossible to get a conveyance, so he walked, a distance of four miles.

Alarmed by famine conditions existing in many snowbound towns of Rhode Island, the General Assembly drew up a special bill to appropriate $50,000 for relief. Hundreds of men were put to work shoveling away the snow which cuts off supplies from many towns.

Fines of $1000 each were imposed by Chief Justice Aiken of the superior criminal court Boston, upon the Bay State Fishing Company and the John Burns Company for allowing fish to remain in cold storage for more than a year without notifying the health officials.

W. G. Miller, a member of the Rhode Island Fish and Game Association, starting with 25 pounds of grain, traveled on snowshoes from Providence to Milford, Mass., scattering the grain along the way for the birds which have been hard hit by the heavy snows.

Opponents of the bill to legalize the manufacture and sale of ale, beer and wine in Massachusetts, containing not more than 4 per cent. of alcohol began before the legislative committee on legal affairs, their replies to the arguments of the proponents of the bill and similar measures.

Two days after William Sims of Saugus Mass., a grower of fancy corn had ploughed under his $6000 crop last year, because he was told by a state inspector that he must do so owing to the presence of the corn borer, he was visited by another inspector, who told him that the officials had changed their minds and that it was not necessary that the crop be destroyed. Mr. Sims wishes the state to compensate him for his loss, and he told his story to the committee on agriculture, which has his claim under consideration.

United States Marshal Wilson seized 1326 quarts of Canadian whiskey found concealed in a carload of baled hay in Bangor. The hay was billed from Van Buren, Me., to the Ayresdale Stock Farm, Bangor. The liquor was removed to the federal building for storage.

At the banquet of the Connecticut Dairymen's Assn., Hartford, Ct., ex-Gov. Marcus H. Holcomb announced he is "going back to the farm" next year and "raise pullets," as the price of eggs at the present time is enough to decide a man to establish a "producing farm" of his own.

When Dist. Atty. Pelletier ruled that sweet cider cannot be classed as intoxicating liquor, two men in Boston were discharged in court on charges of keeping and exposing intoxicants. A jury was drawn in the case. The district attorney's decision saved the jury the trouble of hearing the case.

Lumbermen of Northern Maine expect to cut and bring out to the mills this winter about 1,000,000,000 feet of timber and pulp wood, which is the record for the Maine cut. This, however, is contingent upon weather conditions and upon the sufficient fall of snow to facilitate hauling. Thus far these conditions have been fairly satisfactory.

A jury in the federal district court in Bangor returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Dr. C. G. Rancourt of Waterville, who was tried on charges of writing prescriptions for morphine and cocaine for drug addicts. He admitted, under cross-examination, that he had dated some of the prescriptions ahead.

Massachusetts will have thirty thousand more payers of income tax this year, Andrew J. Casey, acting internal revenue collector, estimates. He placed the total number at more than 300,000. The steady demand for labor and high wages paid resulted in increased wages everywhere in the State, the collector said.

Woonsocket, R. I., Central Labor Union at a meeting has demanded the immediate resignation of Atty.-Gen. Palmer. The secretary of the union was directed to forward copies of the resolution to the Senators and Representatives from Rhode Island, together with a request that they reply, stating their attitude.

After drinking a quantity of denatured alcohol, James Lynch, 40, a laborer from Taunton, Mass., slashed his throat with a razor in Boothbay square, Portland, missing the jugular vein by a hair. Lynch was found lying in the snow and was taken to the police station, where six stitches were taken to close the wound.

Rhode Island voters at a special election, by an 8 to 1 majority, approved the issuance of $2,500,000 bonds to provide funds for the payment of a bonus of $100 to each of the 25,000 men and women who were in the country's military or naval service during the war. A $500,000 loan for state roads and bridges was also approved.

The Washington, Vt. county court declined to sentence Horace E. Graham, former Governor, who was convicted recently of theft of state funds while he was state auditor. The case will go to the supreme court on exception taken by the defense at the trial, and if the county court is sustained the supreme court will impose sentence.

The agreement with John McBowman and Lou C. Wallick to construct, equip and operate the Providence-Biltmore Hotel has been executed in New York between these men and Arthur L. Aldred, representing the chamber of commerce. The structure will cost $5,000,000, including land, building and furnishings, and will be 19 stories in height. Work upon it will start April 1.

The northern half of Plum Island has been conveyed from the heirs of Moses Pettingill to the Plum Island Beach Company, according to deeds recorded at Newburyport. The land transferred includes the entire northern section of the island, with the exception of a small portion owned by the government of about 50 acres, and consists of 1400 acres, including 315 cottages.

George O. Hale of Middlesex, Vt., indicted for the murder of H. Lester Morse, a neighbor, pleaded not guilty. The course being informed that the state did not expect to establish first degree murder, Hale was released under $10,000 bonds. The case then went over to the March term. Morse was shot on his farm Feb. 1 during a boundary dispute. Hale is a member of the Legislature.

Because her electric steering control gave out while at sea, the American steamship Bellerose voyaged about 5000 miles conned by hand, reaching Boston from Antwerp and going to a berth at Hoosac docks. For weeks the freighter had been guided through gales that exerted tremendous stress on the massive rudder, relieving tackles being necessary at times to hold her on a course.

Indifference to educational advantages, a lack of application and irregularity in attendance upon the part of students of Brown University Providence, were accusations made by Dean Randall in an address to the students. The result of examinations was very unsatisfactory, the dean declared, 29 students having failed so badly that they were refused further registration, while the great number of mere pass marks indicated low grade work.

The B & B Carage

AUTHORIZED FORD SERVICE STATION

Washington Square, Weymouth.

FORD PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

All Ford work at contract prices guaranteed.

Eagleline Oils and Greases

Winter Storage of Cars

Car service, night or day, at reasonable rates. Careful drivers.

R. E. O'Connor & Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 397-M

FOR HEAT

Selected Stock

COAL

Fresh Mined

CLEAN COAL

Our Specialty

J. F. Sheppard & Sons, Inc.

EAST BRAINTREE

QUINCY

Telephones:—Braintree 25

Quincy 232-W or 2420

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

The Sue Rice Studios

wish to call your attention to the unusual assortment of Gifts and CARDS FOR ALL ANNIVERSARIES

Have that Portrait Enlarged and Handsomely Framed for a gift. Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your Portrait.

Have That Panorama Framed Now

Massachusetts Under Fire.

A western congressman was joking with a congressman from Massachusetts. "My congressional district," said he, "is several times as big as yours. In fact it's bigger than the whole state of Massachusetts."

"Well, well, that explains something I have never understood," replied the Bay State man.

"What is that?" asked the Westerner.

"It explains how you happened to be elected to congress," replied the politician from Massachusetts. "I suppose that most of your constituents have never even seen you!"

No Tonic Needed.

"Your hair is getting thin," said the barber as he ran his long fingers through the stray hairs of his victim. "Now, we have the greatest tonic in the world, guaranteed to—"

"Oh, but I put something on it every morning!" said the customer. "May I inquire what, sir?"

"My hat."

LUCK. "Say Hubby I had great luck today. Found a place where I could buy two pounds of sugar all at once."

Decorum. Children should be good, they say. And kind and gentle, too. And not conduct themselves the way Their parents sometimes do.

Discord Ahead. "This artist married his lovely model, eh?" "Yes." "And they are happy now?" "I'm afraid not. He has hired another model who's even better looking than the one he married."

Just What Did She Mean? Hewitt—My wife is a cheerful sort of companion. Jewett—How is that? Hewitt—I told her that I had taken out a 20-year endowment on my life, and she said that she hoped I wouldn't mature before the policy did.—Life.

Speaks Truly. Cora Coolington—I don't see any harm in kissing Harold Hugamore. I've kissed him ever since we were children. Aunt Lucy—I know, but when a boy is old enough to wear a mustache kissing is ticklish business.

Had It on Solomon.

Mr. Weekend—Yes, my dear; when I come to think of it, it is a pleasure to pack your trunk. Mrs. Weekend—Why the pleasure? Mr. Weekend—To think that I'm not Solomon and have to pack 700 trunks for my wives.

Bearing Up Well.

"Can't get much work out of that hired man of mine," said Mr. Cobbles. "Maybe he's troubled with dolce far niente." "He may have it, but it don't seem to trouble him none."

Its Agility.

"How on earth could my watch have gotten from the side of the bureau, where I laid it, to the other?" "Why, dear boy, have you never seen a watch spring?"

Sizing Up a Town.

"I size up a village by its bank and its hotel." "Old stuff. Give the local picture palace the once over."

Defeats.

Knicker—A defeat is when the enemy drives you back home. Outlate—Or else when you don't dare to go home.

THE HEAT WAVE.

Bug—I always heard there were such nice cool breezes around the lat iron building!

As Theories Revive.

Each generation tests its wit On various public questions, And coins new phrases that will fit Some very old suggestions.

Coming to Facts.

"How was the reverberation in the cave?" "I don't know anything about that, but the echo was fine."

Proper Thing.

Reporter—What shall I do with this article on "A Leaderless Party?" Editor—Give it to me and I'll put a head on it.

No Race Suicide There.

Jean, who had always lived in the city, was going to the country for the summer. As she sat gazing out of the car window a flock of blackbirds, frightened by the train, rose from the ground and flew away. "O, aunty," exclaimed Jean excitedly, "look what a large family those birds have."

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE
AND TRANSCRIPTPublished every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANYFRANK F. PRESCOTT
Managing EditorAt 52 Commercial street, Weymouth
Telephone Weymouth 145
Subscription per Annum, $2.50
Advertising rates on applicationThe Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths:
North Weymouth, East Weymouth,
South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing,
Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre,
Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagussett, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass.
(Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 20, 1920

Daily High Tides

	A. M.	P. M.
Friday, Feb. 20	11 30	11 45
Saturday	12 00	12 15
Sunday	12 45	1 00
Monday	1 30	1 45
Tuesday	2 15	2 30
Wednesday	3 00	3 30
Thursday	3 45	4 30
Friday, Feb. 27	4 45	5 30

First Quarter Moon, Feb 26

Weymouth Temperature

	6 A. M.	12 M.	6 P. M.
Friday, Feb. 13	32	36	37
Saturday	31	40	45
Sunday	36	41	22
Monday	14	20	18
Tuesday	14	32	35
Wednesday	34	45	45
Thursday	37	37	34
Friday, Feb. 20	16	—	—

Weymouth
and East
Braintree

—George W. Smith, one of the best known citizens of the town, died suddenly at his home, 25 Phillips street, Saturday afternoon. He was for many years a motorman on the local street railway, being one of the first appointed on the Braintree and Weymouth street railway, and of late years had run the greater part of the time on the Braintree-Rockland line. His genial disposition won for him a large circle of friends.

He had been in poor health and had been taking a vacation for a few weeks, and felt so much improved that he thought of returning to his work in a few days. He was out and about each day and had been home but a short time when he died, his death being wholly unexpected. He was a member of the Street Railway Union and of Division 6, A. O. H. Foresters of America, and the order of Eagles. Besides his widow, he leaves three sons, George, Donald and Arthur Smith, and six daughters, Nellie, Lilian, Dorothy, Margaret of this town, Mrs. Louise Farrell of Rosindale, and Mrs. Winifred Ivy of Frost, Texas, also three brothers and three sisters.

The funeral took place from the Church of the Sacred Heart on Tuesday morning, and was largely attended. The interment was at St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

—Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Connell, of 84 Broad street, died at the children's hospital, Brighton, Friday night of pneumonia, following an illness of scarlet fever. The little girl was exceptionally bright, and a great favorite. She was a pupil at the parochial school. She was born in Randolph June 15, 1912. The funeral took place from the home of her parents Sunday afternoon, being private, and the interment was at St. Francis Xavier cemetery. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

—Fred H. Richards of Walnut avenue, a local traveling man had quite an experience. He went on a business trip to the Cape, landing in Harwich the day of the storm, two weeks ago yesterday, and was unable to leave the town until last Sunday, arriving home in the evening. On the trip down his auto got snowed in. A gang of men shoveled him out and he got the machine into a garage. At the hotel where he stopped everybody was sick with the exception of two other traveling men and himself. They had to do the cooking and housework.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Thirty-four years ago Feb. 17, which in that year fell on a Friday, was the big freshest remembered by old inhabitants. The conditions were about the same as this year, and a warm rain from the south started the water running. Bridges were carried away, cellars flooded, a lot of damage being done. It was necessary to use boats to cross Washington square. At the A. H. Sterling shoe factory on Summer street, the water flooded the basement, putting out the fires and necessitating the closing of the factory for several days. The cellar was finally pumped out by the steamer of the fire department.

—Mrs. Harriett D. Litchfield wife of William P. Litchfield died Thursday afternoon after a short illness of pneumonia at her home 98 Broad street. She was born in Quincy, Jan. 11, 1849, and had resided in Weymouth for a half century. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Henry S. Litchfield; three daughters, Miss Elsie R. Litchfield and Mrs. Frank Holbrook of Weymouth and Mrs. Frederick Revinus of Pasadena, California; also a brother, Alfred Nightingale of Rockland, and two sisters Mrs. Frank Lewis of Rockland and Mrs. William Blanchard of West Bridgewater. She was for years a member of the East Weymouth Methodist church and Reynolds Woman's Relief Corps.

—Darius Smith, one of the towns oldest residents, states that in the winter of 1857, an even worse winter than the present was experienced. With the glass at from 16 to 18 below for three days it snowed continually. The drifts in some places being ten feet high, and it was a long while before things took on a normal condition. There was an epidemic of scarlet fever at the time and many deaths from the disease.

—Miss Annie Brenner, clerk at A. J. Richards & Son office, underwent an operation for appendicitis at a Boston hospital a few days ago. She is reported as getting along nicely.

—Harold Williams, for the past twelve years manager of the New England News Company at Portland, has been transferred to New York city, where he is to be assistant book buyer of the American News Company at a large increase in salary.

—Letter Carrier Phillip Munroe is back on his route after his illness.

—Mrs. Della Caulfield of Broad street, who has been ill with an attack of pneumonia, is reported as improving.

—Arthur Ross, clerk at Hunt's market, is out after a severe illness of pneumonia.

—Miss Beatrice Dalton is able to be out after her illness.

—Cornelius Connell had the palm of his hand burned quite badly on Wednesday. The top of a snap match flew and before he could remove it had embedded itself in his hand.

—Appleton H. Torrey, a Civil War veteran, is seriously ill at his home on Field avenue.

—Robert E. Loud, formerly of Weymouth died on Wednesday at Charles River Village. Funeral services will be held this afternoon.

Two fast games of basket ball will be played tonight at Clapp Memorial, C. M. A. first team vs. A. O. F. of Brockton; C. M. A. second team vs. Seneca A. C. of Boston.

—The body of Mrs. Joseph Martell a former resident who died in Matfield Tuesday is to be brought here today and the funeral held from the church of the Sacred Heart. Her son Charles J. Martell a prominent Boston lawyer died two weeks ago.

—Leo Condrick was in town yesterday for the first time since last November, when he underwent an operation at a Brockton hospital. He has now entirely regained his health, but intends to remain until spring with his brother, Dr. J. J. Condrick of Brockton.

—David A. Haley of Prospect street East Braintree, left yesterday for Santa Barbara, California, where he will spend the balance of the winter.

—Agnes Spillane of Phillips street has returned to work after a short illness with the grippe.

—John Gould of Station avenue is about the house again after an attack of measles.

—Gertrude Smith of Front street has recovered from an attack of influenza.

—The Boston Cash Market (Morris Bloom proprietor) has just received a car load of good potatoes, to be sold at a low price.

—Troop 1 of Weymouth Landing held a meeting Thursday evening, Scoutmaster C. W. Allen was in charge. The troop was inspected by the Scout executive who taught the scouts several signaling and knot-tying games.

—Mrs. Betsey J. Pray of 97 Broad street, widow of Edward H. Pray, died early this morning. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2.

EAST WEYMOUTH
and
WEYMOUTH CENTER

—Nick Garafalo, who has been ill with pneumonia for the past two weeks, has greatly improved. He arose from bed Tuesday.

—Great difficulty is being encountered in moving freight at East Weymouth on account of ice on the rails.

—A few trucks and small cars are beginning to brave the ice and snow. Arthur Carter, manages to use his heavy truck in carting coal.

—Jim Lynch is slowly recovering from the shock he suffered months ago. Tuesday he was able to walk about. He paid a visit to the scene of his former labors.

—No immediate relief of the shortage is in sight but the dealers have a little on hand which they are releasing only to families having sickness.

—Phil Sheehan is staying in Rockland for the duration of the traffic tieup.

—At the next meeting of Weymouth Post, American Legion, a representative of the Memorial Hall Committee will address the members. The Post is taking a lively interest in town affairs and it is thought the members will be 100% present at the town meeting in March.

—Tomorrow Fatty Arbuckle will shine in "The Garage" at Odd Fellows hall.

—The street railroad company is confining its efforts to keeping the East Weymouth-Braintree and the Quincy lines open. No attempt to open the Pleasant street or the Nantasket lines has been made.

—Fred Barter's youngest daughter is at the home of Mr. Haddie on Commercial street, suffering from a severe case of pneumonia.

—Daniel Reidy, Jr. who has been down with the flu is recovering and will be able soon to resume his duties at the store.

—A drama entitled "Cupid's Partner" will be given by the Liberty Circle of Kings Daughters at the Congregational church Friday, Feb. 27, at 8 o'clock. Miscellaneous articles and ice cream will be for sale. Tickets from any members at 30 cents—Adv.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—The Hingham Journal says: many Hinghamites and others on the South shore are loud in their praise of the thoughtfulness of Weymouth Council, K. of C., in opening their new club house at East Weymouth on Friday at the height of the storm for their accommodation until conveyance could be obtained. Coffee and doughnuts, provided by the boys, with the warmth and comfort of the elegant new home were much appreciated.

Two fast games of basket ball will be played tonight at Clapp Memorial, C. M. A. first team vs. A. O. F. of Brockton; C. M. A. second team vs. Seneca A. C. of Boston.

—Because of the exemplification of the Encampment degrees, I. O. O. F., there will be no movie show at Odd Fellows hall on Monday, Feb. 23.

—Notice—The Monarch Wet Wash Laundry will not work Monday, Feb. 23, 1920.

—A twin son and daughter were born Jan. 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Payne.

—The annual concert and dance of the Weymouth Band was held last Friday evening at Odd Fellows Opera House, and was well attended. The concert program included eight numbers, all well rendered. Dancing followed until 12 o'clock.

—Nearly 700 attended the evening services at the Immaculate Conception Church on Ash Wednesday, ushering in Lent. Fr. Riordan spoke eloquently on the subject "Death." After the sermon and benediction of the most blessed sacrament, the blessed ashes were distributed by the pastor. Services were held in the morning for the children, and those unable to be present in the evening. This evening there will be the stations of the cross at 7.30.

—With the announcement from Supt. P. T. Pearson, that the High School would be reopened Monday morning, after the pupils had enjoyed a weeks vacation as a result of the storm, the problem of furnishing satisfactory transportation for the scholars in this district proves rather difficult. It was finally decided to have those in the vicinity of Columbian square and the depot, take the 7.15 train Monday morning to Braintree where they were to be met by a special car to convey them to Central square. Owing to the fact that the train did not leave until 8.15, an hour later than it was scheduled for, the scholars, upon arriving at Braintree, and finding no car for their accommodation, returned home. Children on Pleasant street were supposed to take advantage of a pump; while those at Nash's Corner were to walk to Federal street, and take the car at that point. There is much criticism in this part of the town for expecting the students to depend upon these somewhat uncertain and most unsatisfactory methods of reaching school. Responsibility for the existing state of affairs is placed upon the street railway company, by the school authorities. But that seems to be a poor reason for forcing the issue, by means of the pupils, to a head. It is to be hoped that the matter is to be adjusted in justice to the scholars, in the near future providing weather conditions do not improve sufficiently to remedy the conditions of the street railway. Perhaps the vacation period should be extended another week or two.

—Helm Bros. advertise their milk route and cattle at auction March 2.

—Fire entirely destroyed the barn owned by Daniel P. Sullivan, Jr., situated at 236 Randolph street Tuesday morning. The building forming a part of the estate generally referred to as the Willie Loud estate, contained a new Ford sedan, a cow and 15 turkeys, also some hens which could not be saved. Owing to the condition of the streets, Combination Five which responded to an alarm from Box 61, proceeded to Hollis street where it was stalled. Combination Three were able to reach the corner of Hollis and Randolph streets, but could get no further. Hose and necessary articles for fighting the fire were carried the rest of the way by a horse and pump owned by Thomas F. Chisholm, accompanied by the firemen. Upon their arrival, however, nothing could be done except to keep the flames from reaching the house. No reason has been assigned for the cause of the blaze. The building was covered by insurance.

—Representative Prince H. Tirrell, who has been confined to his home with the grippe, has recovered and is able to be out of doors again.

—The Y. P. C. U. of the Second Universalist Church have indefinitely postponed the dramatic sketches, which were to have been given last Friday evening. The new arrangements will be announced as soon as the committee can decide upon a suitable date.

—Mrs. Marshall Gallant of Union street has recovered from the grippe and resumed her clerical duties with the Stetson Shoe Company.

—Funeral services for Francis Joseph, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Mahoney, who passed away at his home on Central avenue on Sunday, were held at St. Francis Xavier church Tuesday morning at 9.30. At the high mass of requiem, Rev. Dennis P. Crimmins officiated. Besides his parents, Francis is survived by three sisters, Helen, Marion and Catherine. Death was due to bronchial pneumonia preceded by the influenza. Interment was in the family lot, at St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

—Miss Muriel Sowden is able to be out again having recovered from a two weeks illness with the grippe.

—This evening at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the Sunday School, an entertainment consisting of two plays, entitled "Elizabeth's Young Man" and "A Romance of St. Valentine's Day" is to be given in the vestry of the Second Universalist church.

—Sunday evening Rev. U. S. Milburn of Salem is to give an illustrated address in the auditorium of the Universalist church on "Imperial Rome", according to his own impression from his foreign experiences. On account of conditions resulting from the recent storm, this lecture has been postponed twice. Services will be opened at 7 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Pearson in charge of the religious part of the program.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Ellison Pratt of Union street has returned to his duties at the Fore River, after a six weeks absence due to an injury to his foot.

—Donald Burns of Pond street, while coasting on "Mosquito Plain" hill last week, received a dislocated jaw in an accident. Don finds it quite inconvenient.

—Mrs. Harriet W. Simpson of Main street is much improved from her recent illness.

—James Taylor of Oakdale avenue has recovered from the grippe, and resumed his duties with the Gale-Sawyer Company.

—James Tirrell of Main street has improved from the grippe and is able to give his attention to his business.

—Mrs. Luther Hayden of Central avenue is among those reported on the sick list with the grippe.

—Mrs. Etta Derby of Randolph street is recovering from an attack of influenza.

—Mrs. Ellen T. Carroll of Tower avenue is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Maria Nickerson of Newton.

—After a two weeks illness with the grippe, Miss Grace Frawley of Pleasant street has resumed her school duties in Boston.

—Mrs. Alvin C. Thayer and daughter of Hollis street are recovering from an attack of the "flu".

—Mrs. Albert Vinal of Columbian street is convalescent from a two weeks illness with influenza.

—William Hackett of Union street has entered Burdett Commercial College, having elected a business course.

—Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, 649 Main street is confined to her home with illness.

—William T. Reilly of Reed avenue has returned to the Richard Long factory at Framingham, where he is employed, after a two weeks absence due to the grippe.

—Mrs. Charles Klingeman of Hollis street is reported on the list of indisposed.

—HOLLIS STREET THEATRE
Not in many years has a more instantaneous hit been scored by a play and a player than is the case of "Bab" and little Helen Hayes at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston. The Bab stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart have been popular among book-lovers for two seasons, but Helen Hayes was an unknown quantity to Boston playgoers. To be sure her reputation had been excellent, by reason of the successes she had obtained in New York in "Dear Brutus" and in "Clarence", but to local followers of the stage, she was but a faint name. Last Monday night, however, she bloomed forth as a star of great brilliancy, and has established herself permanently. Miss Hayes is fitted both physically and temperamentally for the role of the romantic sub-deb and she has won her audiences the past week as has few stars.

Don't Go Through Life With a Grouch

Buy Your Groceries
Here

Save Steps and Wear a Smile of Satisfaction

Regular Price 13c Sale Price 11c

This Store will Not Open
Monday, Feb. 23rd
as Washington's Birthday will be Observed on that day.

SPECIALS—TUESDAY ONLY—SPECIALS

Marshmallow Mist	can 26c	Oleomargarine	pkg. 45c
Evaporated Milk	can 15c 5 for 75c	Golden Globe Chop
Prunes	3 cans 25c	Formosa Oolong Tea	½ lb. 29c
		Sweet Chocolate	cake 12c

HUNT'S MARKET GROCERY
Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephones 152 and 551-W. Opposite Post Office.

28 Head Cattle at Auction
Helm Bros., Wessagussett Farms
SOUTH WEYMOUTH, WILL SELL AT AUCTION
Tuesday, March 2, at 10 A. M.

Their Entire Herd of Cattle consisting of about 28 head, milkers and springers: One thoroughbred Guernsey bull, three horses, milk route, utensils and all farming tools that go with an up-to-date farm. This is to be a bonafide sale. Every article must be sold. Terms—Cash. Sale starts at 10 A. M. sharp, Tuesday, March 2, rain or shine. Can be sold under cover.

21, 8-9 ERNEST LEACH, of Bridgewater, Auctioneer.

EDISON
MAZDA LAMPSWE ARE PREPARED TO MEET
YOUR REQUIREMENTSEveready Tungsten Batteries
ALWAYS IN STOCKELECTRIC AND GAS
IRONS

Frank S. Hobart & Co.

Hardware, Paints, Oils and Greases
WASHINGTON SQUARE, WEYMOUTH
Tel. Wey. 307-M

TEAS and COFFEE

FRUIT and NUTS

Come Here
For MeatsIT'S HERE QUALITY
NOT QUANTITY COUNTS

Home Cooked Corned Beef

WHITE AND GOLD
CANNED GOODSBroad St. F.H. SYLVESTER Telephone
E. Weymouth Wey. 121

CREAMERY BUTTER VEGETABLES in season

CLUB and SOCIAL

—The Washington's Birthday reception of the Governor will be held Monday, Feb. 23, from 10.30 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the Hall of Flags at the State House. Gov. and Mrs. Coolidge will receive all who choose to attend. There will also be the acceptance at 10.30 a.m., by the Governor, of the colors of the 12th Division, known as the Plymouth Division. This division was stationed at Camp Devens and was the last to be organized before the Armistice was signed. It was made up of men inducted into the service from many States of the Union, although a majority came from New England and more than 37 percent from Massachusetts.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Smith are here from Nashville, Tenn., on a visit to friends. Mr. Smith was a former resident of this town. They will leave next week for Wilmington, N. C., where Mr. Smith has a position.

—Susannah Tufts chapter, D. A. R., was to have held its 21st anniversary on Monday Feb. 23, with Mrs. Albert E. Avery, at her home in East Braintree, but on account of bad weather, bad getting about, and sickness, the meeting has been indefinitely postponed. Due notice will be given of this meeting later.

—Mrs. Russell G. Hunt left Sunday evening for southern California, where she will spend several months.

—Cards have been received from the Misses Spence of Rockland, who with Miss Ruth Donovan are on a trip to California. The young ladies are having a most delightful trip. They left Thursday Feb. 5, just in time to escape the severe storm, although they felt the effects of it at Albany, where they were detained one day. They expected to go through the Grand Canyon and thence to Riverside.

—Rev. Frank Kingdon of East Weymouth has been chosen to take part in the play, "Eliza Comes to Stay," which is to be given under the direction of the Boston University Dramatic Club, on Friday evening, Feb. 27, for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. Social Service work. Mr. Kingdon is one of the most prominent members of the Senior class at Boston University. He is president of the Men's Union and of the Student Council. He is also Senior Proctor, a position of high honor in the University, and has been recently elected chairman of the Senior class day committee. Other members of the cast are: Misses Marion Pickles of Melrose, Dorothy Fall of Malden, Minerva Blanchard of Springfield, Vt., Ida Horblit of Cambridge, and Messrs. Warren Benson of Brockton, Edward Gilpatrick of Dorchester, Warren Hussey of Boston, and Raymond Fisher of Boston.

—Mrs. Leland Winchenbach of Main street tendered a birthday party to Miss Alice Staples in honor of her 17th birthday, last Thursday evening. Many young friends of Miss Staples were present and spent a pleasant evening. Music and games were part of the entertainment, followed by dancing and refreshments.

—The State Federation of Women's Clubs at the mid-winter meeting at Revere endorsed three important measures now pending in the Massachusetts Legislature. These proposed laws were presented by Mrs. Charles Leslie May, chairman of the federation legislative department and were those for health education in the public schools, the Young bill for maternity benefits, and that for the examining and licensing by the state, of all motion pictures. Mrs. May and her associates selected these three bills from many upon which the aid of the federation was asked, and gave to them serious and systematic study before presenting them to the convention.

—"Ladies Night" of South Shore Commandery, Knights Templar, an annual event looked forward to with much interest, will be observed on Monday evening, Feb. 23. At 5.30 a banquet will be served to be followed with a pleasing program and dancing.

—Conductor William Wallace Williams, who resides at 17 River street, Braintree, has good reason to smile these days, although the weather is awful. With him resides his son, William Wallace Williams, Jr., and as a valentine on Feb. 14, came a grandson who has also been named William Wallace Williams. We doubt if there is another house in this vicinity with three of the same name representing three generations. They are descendants of William Wallace Williams, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. Baumeister of 89 Milk street, South Weymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Thelma Clare, to Bertrill Derrymore of Maine.

—Two enjoyable performances of "His Dream Maid" were given at the Bates Opera House last Friday and Monday evenings under the auspices of Braintree Post, American Legion. Weather conditions and sickness combined against the show the first night but conditions were more favorable on Monday evening. The book and lyrics were by Lowell Ames Norris and F. W. Mahr, and music by Herman C. Mahr. The cast was a local one and included a "beauty chorus." One of the features was the original company of children players.

OLD COLONY CLUB
The February 12 program which was to have been given was postponed due to illness among the children.
Mrs. Bauer, a popular club member, who but recently returned from the war zone gave her impressions of conditions abroad, after which she invited questions from the members. The club's chorus furnished music.
The sewing lessons will begin Wednesday, Feb. 25, in the Nevin school, and a helpful course is to be given those who can attend.
The next meeting will be held Feb. 26, when the club presents Edwin M. Whitney in his reading "Turn to the Right." He is called the king of story tellers, and the above is one of his most popular ones. Tea will be served with Mrs. Libby as hostess. Open meeting.

MONDAY CLUB
A large number attended the open meeting of the Monday Club Feb. 16 in Masonic Temple. The teachers of Weymouth were guests at this meeting. The program of the afternoon was given by the Ora Larchard Trio, including Anna Eichhorn, violin; Alma LaPalme, cello, and Edith G. Barry, piano. Mr. James S. Whyte sang several baritone solos. At the close of the meeting a very successful food sale was held in charge of Mrs. H. W. Dyer. The meeting of the Executive Board has been changed to Friday, Feb. 20 instead of Feb. 27.

W. R. C. NOTES.
Reynolds Corps, No. 102, has accepted the invitation from Weymouth Post, 79, American Legion, to attend the presentation of the French Memorial certificates to the next of kin of the "boys" of Weymouth who paid the supreme sacrifice during the World War at the High School hall, Sunday, Feb. 22. President Mrs. Brasill requests the members to be at the High School hall at 2 o'clock.
Chairman Mrs. Day hopes that every member of the executive committee will be present at the meeting on Thursday evening, Feb. 26, from 6 to 6.30 o'clock. Regular corps meeting at 7.30.
Glad to report that P. I. Mrs. Caulfield is more comfortable.
Mrs. Margaret Looney is recovering from the influenza.
Comrade Culley is slowly improving from an attack of the gripe.
Comrade Pease is suffering from an attack of rheumatism.
Birthday cards are due President Mary Brasill on Feb. 26.

HOLIDAY EXEMPLIFICATION
An event of interest in Odd Fellows circles is the exemplification of the Encampment degrees, to be held on Monday at Odd Fellows Opera House at East Weymouth. The meeting will open at 1.30 P. M.
At 2.30 the Patriarchal degree will be worked by the staff of Wompatuck encampment of Weymouth.
At 4.00 P. M. the Golden Rule degree will be given by the staff of Manet encampment of Quincy.
Intermission will follow, and at 6.15 P. M. a banquet will be served.
At 7.30 the Royal Purple degree will be exemplified by Mt. Washington encampment of South Boston.
There will be a large class of candidates for all the degrees. Grand Encampment officers will be guests, and delegations are expected from many encampments.

COMMODORE HUTCHINGS
Captain George H. Hutchings of Engine 42, Eggleston square, was elected commodore of the Wessaguscett Yacht Club of North Weymouth, at its annual meeting held at the City Club Wednesday night. Frank Fullerton was elected vice-commodore, Harold B. Blazo, secretary, and Thomas A. McKenna, treasurer.
The following standing committees were elected: House committee, W. T. Hight, W. G. Williams and W. K. Rayworth; executive committee, G. H. Hutchings, Frank Fullerton, T. A. McKenna, J. P. Wescott, Jr., and O. S. Saunders.

Congregationalists Misquoted
At a hearing of the Committee on Legal Affairs on Tuesday, Allan C. Emery of Weymouth, a Boston wool merchant, in commenting upon the statement made Monday by a representative of a number of Congregational ministers in favor of Sunday sports, to the effect that the church would come out in favor of the proposition, emphatically declared that from what he had seen of the sentiment among the members of that denomination such approval would never be given.

DIVORCE WANTED
Irene Malita Saunders of Rockland has filed a divorce libel with the clerk of the Norfolk Superior court, suing Charles E. Saunders of Weymouth on the charge of desertion. They were married in Weymouth July 2, 1904. There is one child.

QUINCY THEATRE
High class vaudeville will be the attraction at the Quincy Theatre (formerly the Kincaide) all next week with a change of bill on Thursday. On Monday, "Ralph Dunbar Tennessee Men" are coming, with four other acts; and on Thursday "Jack McKay's Scotch Revue" with other acts.

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dunn of Lovell street entertained Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curtin of Quincy over the week end.

—Chester Stoddard of the North Weymouth post office staff has returned to his duties after a months absence, having been ill with influenza.

—William Dasha is at home having returned from a business trip to the Southern states.

—Mrs. Ezra Walker of Pratt avenue is confined to the house with an injured knee, having slipped on the ice while attempting to board a trolley car.

—In honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. R. E. Tilton of 90 Bluff road entertained a family party at dinner on Tuesday.

—Deforest Jones has been housed up with a severe cold.

—Mrs. Francis Murphy of Commercial street entertained the "Social Eight" on Tuesday afternoon.

—James, small son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Perkins is ill at his home on Bridge street threatened with pneumonia.

—No little excitement was caused on Tuesday afternoon when Officer Nash was seen escorting Myles Keene through the streets of North Weymouth. Upon inquiring it was found that Mr. Keene was innocent of any wrong doing but that the sum of $2,500 had arrived to pay the men who have been working on the streets and Officer Nash was acting as body-guard.

—The two year old daughter of Lyman Pratt is ill with pneumonia at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin of Standish road.

—The annual sale and entertainment of the Ladies Aid connected with the Third Universalist church took place on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening. There was a sale of useful and fancy articles, food and candy, and an entertainment provided for each evening. Wednesday night's program consisted of a three act drama, by local talent, entitled, "Arion Slick from Punkin creek." A farce, "Happy Day," was given on Thursday evening. Miss Glenis Mowat of Somerville gave readings and solo dances. Lawrence French was the accompanist. Lunch was served both days from 5 to 10.

—Friends of Robert Hussey of East Weymouth gathered at the home of Miss Madeleine Ash of Norton street on Thursday evening and gave him a surprise party. A very pleasant evening was spent with the usual games and music. A dainty collation was served by the mother of the hostess. Before the guests departed Mr. Hussey was presented with a gold watch chain and knife, Miss Ash making the presentation speech in behalf of the assembled friends. Guests were present from the Weymouths, Braintrees, Quincys and Boston.

—Mrs. Walter Moe of Norton street is quite ill with pneumonia.
—A cottage belonging to Oscar Cox being moved from Hunts Hill Beach had nearly reached its foundation on Birchbrow avenue when the recent storm stopped work on the same, and it rests high and dry on the timbers at a point near the corner of Birchbrow and Bridge streets.

—Mrs. Frances Moore died on Wednesday, after a brief illness. She was a prominent member of Maple lodge, K. & L. of H., of Quincy.

Two fast games of basket ball will be played tonight at Clapp Memorial, C. M. A. first team vs. A. K. O. of Brockton; C. M. A. second team vs. Seneca A. C. of Boston.

At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—The Lovell's Corner Improvement Association met Tuesday evening for their monthly business meeting. Owing to the illness of the president, the vice-president, W. W. Pratt presided. Four new members were voted into the society. Music was enjoyed after the business meeting including duets by Mr. and Mrs. F. Boynton and songs by a quartet consisting of F. Boynton, J. Stever, T. Roberts and W. Pratt.

—Mrs. Stephen French has been confined to her home with illness the past two weeks.

—Mrs. Henry Lombard is suffering with a swollen hand.

—Roland Smith is taking Mrs. Lombard's place as clerk for W. W. Pratt for several days.

—James B. Smith has been confined to his home with illness the past week.

A MODERN HOUSE IS EQUIPPED FOR ELECTRIC SERVICE

WHEN YOU MOVE, BE SURE your new home has electric service. House owners will improve the value of their property if they wire for electricity. It means a better class of tenants that will stay longer and owners will save money on decorations.

WEYMOUTH LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY
Jackson Square East Weymouth, Mass. Phone 62-W

EMERSON COAL & GRAIN COMPANY

EAST WEYMOUTH. Tel. Weymouth 430

COAL GRAIN FLOUR

All Rail—Best Quality
Special ANTHRACITE "BOULETS"
TRY OUR Mixed Grain or Scratch Feed
E. A. CO.

$1.90---E. A. CO. FLOUR---$1.90

LARGE EXPENDITURE

(Continued from page 1)
tend. Some of these are making a round-about trip from the South Weymouth depot by train to South Braintree and Braintree, and then by electric car to the school.
Many children are out of school because of sickness, but Supt. Pearson's greatest handicap is sickness among the teachers, an average of 17 out of 64 being out every day last week. No immediate shortage of fuel is expected at any schoolhouse.

Nash's Corner and Main Street

—Miss Ruth Munroe, who has been a patient at the Boston City Hospital, has fully recovered from an attack of diphtheria, and returned to her home on Mill street.

—The Shaw school re-opened Monday, after being closed for a week, the pupils and some of the teachers being unable to reach the school owing to the conditions resulting from the severe storm, the preceding week.

—Miss Blanche Wilcox of Main street, who has been very ill with pneumonia, has nearly recovered.

—Mrs. Augustus Ducker of Main street has improved from an attack of influenza which has kept her indoors the past two weeks.

—Mrs. Laura MacQuinn of Front street is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edmund Hunt of Whitman. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are ill with influenza.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clapp are visiting their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Loud of Main street.

—Mrs. Carl F. Elmer of Main street is visiting friends in South Boston.

—Alfred Tower of Park avenue who has been seriously ill with influenza, is much improved and able to be out of doors, once more.

—Mrs. Samuel Robinson and children have recovered from the recent illness. Mrs. J. F. Robinson is also showing a decided improvement.

—The family of Benjamin Ross of Adams place have all recovered from their illness.

—Mrs. William McLaughlin of West street is slowly improving from an attack of muscular rheumatism extending over a six months period of time. She is now able to be about the house.

ENDORSED BY PLANNING BOARD
The Weymouth Planning Board held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening at the residence of its chairman, A. P. Worthen, there being fifteen members present. The subject for discussion was "The New Memorial Building."

At 9.30 all were invited into the large dining room to partake of a "Worthen lunch." At the conclusion George L. Barnes, in a pleasing and appropriate manner, presented Mr. Worthen on behalf of the members a gold watch charm.

The new Memorial Building has been thoroughly discussed by the board at the last five or six meetings, and they have voted to endorse the splendid report and recommendations of the committee. They also appointed a three members to appear before the Appropriation Committee in its behalf.

—On the afternoon of Washington's birthday, Monday, Feb. 23, the State Athletic Department of the American Legion is to hold its first open amateur athletic carnival at the East Armory, East Newton street, Boston, commencing at 2.30 P. M.

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

CORSETS

Front Lace—GOSSARD
Back Lace—NEMO, R. & G., WARNER, REGAL
AND OUR OWN STYLE LYNETTE

A model and price to fit every figure.
EXPERT FITTERS always in attendance

Special Attention to Medical and Maternity Fittings.

HOME SERVICE IF DESIRED AND

Brassieres

that are so necessary to complete the FIT of the Corset.

The Corset Shop S. E. DUNPHY
8 MAPLE STREET QUINCY

OAK AND PINE WOOD

$12 per Cord—Cord Length
$13 per Cord—Sawed
BY CORD OR HALF CORD

Delivered in Weymouth or Braintree.

Hingham Wood Co.

Telephone, Hingham 226-M

A Good Bank in a Good Town

Member American and Massachusetts Bankers Association

WE BELIEVE we have one of the most serviceable banks in one of the best towns of its size in the state.

Our continually increasing number of satisfied customers is the best evidence that we are serving each one individually in a satisfactory manner.

Our Officers and Directors are men of good sound business judgment, well and favorably known throughout the community.

We endeavor to work for the betterment of our town and district, as well as for the interests of the individual.

The Hingham Trust Company

B. A. ROBINSON, President. SETH SPRAGUE, Treas.

NO INDEPENDENTS

(Continued from page 1)

of stickers, and it is seldom that they are successful. It therefore looks as though the Selectmen for the coming year would be Messrs. Hawes, Newton, Hastings, Cowing and Humphrey.

There has been one withdrawal, Joseph F. DeRusha who was nominated for constable.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

A large crowd witnessed the exemplification of the third degree at Odd Fellows hall last Sunday afternoon. Thomas H. Buttiner, D. D. G. K., of Hingham was in charge of ceremonies. There were about 75 candidates.

The regular second meeting of the month was held last evening with only a small number present.

HINGHAM WANTS TROLLEYS
Saturday evening at a special town meeting in Agricultural Hall, Hingham Center, attended by 599 voters, it was voted to contribute $11,000 to partially defray the cost of operation and fixed charges within the town of the lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company. The vote was 163 to 145. The street railway company had stated that if Hingham and Hull appropriated $15,000 the lines would be run another year. Hingham's share was $11,000. A committee appointed at a special meeting in December to look into the matter reported favorably.

We beg to announce to the many Patrons
of the

L. A. Cook Insurance Agency

that we have acquired the same and will
give your interest our careful attention.

A. E. BARNES & CO.

South Weymouth, Mass.

GENERAL SURVEYS

TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEYS

RUSSELL H. WHITING
CIVIL ENGINEER and SURVEYOR

56 Sea Street

NORTH WEYMOUTH, MASS.

SURVEYS MADE AND PLANS PREPARED FOR THE LAND COURT

WANTED
To List Your Properties in the Weymouths

HENRY W. SAVAGE

INCORPORATED

OPPOSITE PARK ST., SUBWAY STATION

129 TREMONT ST. Tel. 4429 Oxford BOSTON, MASS.

REAL ESTATE

C. H. CHUBBUCK, Jr.
EAST WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Telephone Weymouth 149-W

Insurance

OF EVERY
DESCRIPTION

BOSTON OFFICE, 99 MILK STREET
Tel Main 5020

Coal - Coal - Coal

Best Quality of All Kinds

All-Rail Anthracite is Superior

Charles T. Leavitt

Successor to
H. M. CURTIS COAL CO.

YARD-WHARF ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Tel. 19

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

Remember

That every added subscriber helps to make this paper better in every way for everybody. Subscribe!

The End of a Perfect Day

The KITCHEN CABINET

You do surely bar the door upon your own liberty if you deny your griefs to your friends.—Shakespeare.

MEATS, NOT COMMON.

The following dishes are all easy to prepare and common in most markets:

Haricot of Ox-tails.—Cut three ox-tails in four-inch pieces; add one-half cupful of carrot, the same of minced onion and four tablespoonfuls of sweet fat. Cook ten minutes, add four tablespoonfuls of flour and four cupfuls of stock or water. Cook one hour; season with salt and pepper. Serve the vegetables in the center and ox-tails around the edge; garnish with potato balls and parsley.

Tripe Ragout.—Wash one pound of tripe and cut in two-inch strips for serving. Sauté the tripe in two tablespoonfuls of butter or butter substitute; after adding two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion cook ten minutes;
add one cupful each of tomato and celery, the latter cut in bits, and simmer until all is tender. Serve garnished with toast points.

Lyonnaise Tripe.—Cook two tablespoonfuls of onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Add two cupfuls of cooked tripe, cut in strips; cook ten minutes. Serve on buttered toast; sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with bits of butter and garnish with finely-chopped parsley.

Stuffed Calf's Heart.—Wash the heart and remove the tough portions;
fill with stuffing used for chicken, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and place on a rack in a hot oven to roast for two hours. Baste while roasting with beef stock, pork fat, hot water or butter.

Calf's Brains Escalloped.—Parboil
the brains; sprinkle with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Cut in inch pieces.
Arrange in layers in a buttered baking dish, alternating with tomato sauce.
Cover with buttered crumbs and serve with chopped pickles.

Baked Sweetbreads.—Soak sweet-breads in acidulated water; drain, wipe dry and lard them with salt pork.
Place on slices of pork in a dripping pan. Cover with stock and bake until tender. Serve with tomato sauce.

In men who men condemn as ill
I find so much of goodness still;
In men whom men pronounce divine
I find so much of sin and blot,
I hesitate to draw the line
Where God has not.

FOR CHOCOLATE LOVERS.

Chocolate is almost universally liked and is served in countless ways.
Following are neither nor unusual, but may suggestive or helpful.

Chestnuts With Chocolate Cream.—Boil quart of large chestnuts remove shells and through a sieve or to ricer; add four spoonfuls of pow-

sugar, one-half teaspoonful of four tablespoonfuls of cream three tablespoonfuls of marshmallow. Whip one cupful of cream; add two tablespoof marshmallow, three tablespoof powdered sugar and four tab-fuls of melted chocolate. Fill with the blended mixture; ch-serve with a garnish of chopp-

Cocoa Cream.—Mix half a c-cocoa, half a cupful of sugar yolks of two eggs, beaten; 1 cupful of cream and one-qu-an inch of stick cinnamon; co-thick in a double boiler. Add blesspoonfuls of gelatin, soft one-quarter cupful of cold w-stir until dissolved over ho-Add one-quarter teaspoonful one teaspoonful of vanilla cupful of heavy cream, beat Cool the first mixture before the cream. Mold and chl with cream.

Cocoa Tutti-Frutti Cream.—
recipe for cocoa cream, ad-half cupful of macaroons, w-been dried and pounded, one candied cherries cut in sin-one-half dozen marshmallows bits and one-half dozen ratablespoonful each of citroange peel, chopped fine; adjust before putting into the

Chocolate Junket.—Melt of chocolate; add three tablof boiling water. Crush a tablet and dissolve in a spoonful of water. Warm or milk until lukewarm; add a cupful of sugar and a teas-vanilla and the dissolved the melted chocolate. Mix into sherbet cups and let in a warm room until the set. Serve with whipped

Chocolate Sauce.—Cooking ingredients in a dou-
One cupful of milk, two one-quarter cupful of sugar salt, one teaspoonful of ounces of chocolate or cupful of cocoa. Cook un-ture coats the spoon. S-ice cream.

An inspiration is a joy forever; to have many of these is to be spiritually rich.—Stevenson.

STEAMED PUDDINGS.

This is a collection of reliable recipes of various steamed puddings which are enjoyed during the cold weather.

Suet Pudding.—Take one cupful of finely chopped suet, one cupful of molasses and one

cupful of sour milk, two eggs beaten light, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, salt, spice to taste, one cupful of fruit, raisins, currants and citron mixed, or any one fruit. Add one teaspoonful of soda to the sour milk and steam in a buttered mold two hours. Serve with egg sauce.

Beat one egg very light, add one cupful of sugar, and pour over the egg and sugar half a cupful of boiling hot milk. Flavor to taste and serve at once.

Graham Pudding.—Take one-half cupful of molasses, one-fourth cupful of sweet fat, one beaten egg, one-half cupful of sour milk, one-half teaspoof of soda, a little salt, one and one-half cupfuls of graham flour, one cupful of raisins, and spices to taste.
Steam four hours.

Prune Pudding.—Take one pound of prunes soaked over night and pitted, half cupful of butter substitute, one pint of coarse bread crumbs, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of molasses, three beaten eggs, half a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one tablespoonful of milk, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of cloves. Steam three hours.

Wedding Pudding.—Take one cupful of fat salt pork chopped fine, one cupful of chopped raisins, two cupfuls of sugar, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, two cupfuls of milk, one teaspoonful of soda, one of cloves and one of cinnamon; mix all the dry ingredients except the soda, which is dissolved in the milk, then add milk and beat well. Steam four hours. Serve with a rich fruit sauce.

Crumb Pudding.—Take two
e-half cupfuls of bread crumbs, pful of sour milk, half-cupful of ing, one egg, one teaspoonful a, one cupful of raisins, one cup-any kind of preserves, one cup-sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg to Steam two hours. Serve with scented sauce.

Use charity will decrease, unwise use the cost of living. The latter imply another tax, lightly imposed, definitely spent. Also, when one helps undeserving object he is keeping a and women out of useful industry are they are needed to make and goods. Necessary and well-mand charities will demobilize every ricker that can possibly be spared to duction."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

Those who have a well-stocked cel-will find a vegetable soup most appetizing occasionally.

Julienne Soup.
—Into three quarts of water put one-half cupful each of diced
carrots, turnips,
finely chopped

onion and celery, one bay leaf and one tablespoonful of minced parsley.
Bring to the boiling point, then add two tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, two teaspoonfuls of beef extract, and one teaspoonful of salt.
Simmer one-half hour, strain and serve. Three quarts of good soup stock may be used in place of the beef extract and water.

Cherry Pudding.—Take one cupful of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of baking powder, and milk to make a drop batter. Beat until well mixed, drop a tablespoonful into buttered cups, add a spoonful of rich red cherries, juice and all; add another spoonful of batter and set the cups in a pan; pour around them boiling water to come half-way up the sides of the cups. Cover closely and steam fifteen minutes. Serve with cherry juice and whipped cream and sugar.

Hot String Bean Salad.—Drain a can of beans and heat the liquor boiling hot; reduce it to a quarter of a cupful. Fry two slices of bacon until crisp, pour the hot fat with the liquor and three tablespoonfuls of boiling vinegar over the beans. Add the chopped bacon, and season highly with salt and a few dashes of cayenne. A bit of onion juice or a fried onion may be added for flavor, if liked.

Good Boiled Dressing.—Take two tablespoonfuls of flour, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of mustard, a few dashes of cayenne, and when well blended add a cupful of cold water, two eggs and one-quarter cupful of strong vinegar. Cook until smooth and thick. When ready to use add four teaspoonfuls of the dressing to half a cupful of whipped cream. This dressing, well covered, will keep for weeks in a cool place.

Kellie Maxwell

SELECTED LUNCHES ASSIST DEVELOPMENT OF GROWING CHILD—SOME COMBINATIONS

One Hot Dish at Noon Is Now Being Served in Many Schools.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How much time and thought do you put on your children's lunch basket?
"Children have such appetites that they will eat anything," is a remark often heard. They may have good appetites now, but if school children are allowed to eat the wrong things, the time may come when they can't eat the right things.

Growing children have certain special needs in the way of food. Like grown people, they must be supplied with that which is necessary for health and strength, but, unlike them, they should be given also that which is necessary for development.

Even one hot dish obtainable at school at noon makes the lunch more appetizing, and many schools are now providing it. When a child must carry lunch and can not obtain at school a hot dish, the task of filling the box or basket demands great care to make sure that it is appetizing, nourishing, and sustaining.

One of the best investments to make for a child who carries his lunch to a school that does not serve hot lunch is a bottle which will keep liquids hot or cold for some time. Cocoa, or soup piping hot on a cold day, will make a feast out of an otherwise uninteresting lunch.

Five Groups of Food Needed.

In general, the school lunch, like the child's diet as a whole, should contain representatives of the five food groups.
In it should be found foods rich in protein, such as milk, cheese, meats, fish, dried beans, peas, peanuts, and other nuts; cereal or starchy foods, such as bread, cereal mushes, rice and tapioca; fatty foods, such as butter, cream, salad oils and bacon; vegetables and fruits, but such as cereals and dried beans are not put under the classification; simple sweets, including cakes and cookies that contain little fat; cane sugar, plain candies, maple sugar, sweet chocolate, jellies, preserved fruit, jams, marmalades,

honey, molasses, sirups and dried figs,
dates and other dried fruits.

Some Suggested Basket Lunches.
Here are some recommended combinations:

Sandwiches with sliced, tender meat for filling; baked apple, cookies, or a few lumps of sugar.

Slices of meat loaf or bean loaf;
bread and butter sandwiches; stewed fruit; small frosted cake.

Crisp rolls, hollowed out and filled with chopped meat or fish, moistened and seasoned, or mixed with salad dressing; orange, apple, a mixture of sliced fruits, or berries; cake.

Lettuce or celery sandwiches; cup custard; jelly sandwiches.

Cottage cheese and chopped green-pepper sandwiches, or a pot of cream cheese with bread and butter sandwiches; peanut sandwiches; fruit;
cake.

Hard-boiled eggs; crisp baking-powder biscuits; celery or radishes; brown sugar or maple sugar sandwiches.

Bottle of milk; thin corn bread and butter; dates; apple.

Raisin or nut bread with butter;
cheese; orange; maple sugar.

Baked bean and lettuce sandwiches;
apple sauce; sweet chocolate.

Nearly everyone knows the necessity of dainty wrapping and packing if an appetizing lunch is to be the result. A container that can be sealed, plenty of paraffin paper, a jelly cup with a cover, and bottles with screw tops all assist in the making of a dainty lunch.

BIG IMPORTANCE OF OVEN THERMOMETER

Device Soon Pays for Itself in Lessening Waste.

Housewife After Hard Experience Will Learn to Judge Her Own Stove Fairly Well—Register Helps in Many Ways.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The more baking you do the more you realize the importance of the oven temperature. Have you not followed a recipe exactly for biscuits, perhaps two days in succession, measuring accurately and mixing the ingredients in the same way? The first day they were excellent—golden brown, light, and a pleasure to serve. The next day they were pale-faced, flat, only fairly light—and how you did hate to put them on the table!

What is the difference? The temperature of the oven. A woman after many such experiences learns to judge her own oven fairly accurately. But she is called to her sick neighbor's kitchen to help out and bakes a pie for the family. That pie almost ruins her reputation as the best cook in the neighborhood, for it is soggy and underdone. Feeling the need of an apology she says, "I do not know that oven. It is hard for me to judge one
I have not used before."

Would it be a wiser, more efficient thing to know the temperature of your oven? Ask your hardware merchant for an oven thermometer. If he does not have one ask him to order one for you. It will soon pay for itself in lessening the waste and improving the food baked, according to home economic specialists. It will help you to know how long your oven should be lighted before it is ready for baking the muffins—knowledge that often will mean materials saved.

The following temperatures are given by the United States bureau of standards:

For custards, puddings, meringues, the recipe book usually says slow oven. It means approximately 250 to 350 degrees F.
For sponge cake, bread, gingerbread, plain cakes, cookies, the recipe book usually says medium oven. It means approximately 350 to 400 degrees F.
For parkerhouse rolls, popovers, bliscuit, the recipe book usually says hot oven. It means approximately 400 to 450 degrees F.
For biscuit, pastry, the recipe book usually says very hot oven. It means approximately 450 to 500 degrees F.

"DON'TS" FOR BREAKING EGGS

Bureau of Chemistry Tells How to Keep Bad Eggs Out of Can—
One Does Much Harm.

One bad egg in the waste can will do no harm, but one in a can of frozen eggs will do a lot. To keep the bad eggs out of the egg can, the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture has issued Department Circular 74, "How to Break Eggs for Freezing," which tells largely through pictures, the "do's" and "don'ts" of the business.

Here are the "don'ts."

1. Don't break eggs unless they are well candled.
2. Don't use blood rings, stuck yolks, addled eggs, green whites, bloody eggs, moldy eggs, musty or sour eggs, or any egg with a bad odor.
3. Don't give the germs a chance to multiply. Remove the liquid product from the breaking tables at least once every half hour. Churn the yolks and whole egg. Take directly to freezer.
4. Don't attempt to freeze eggs unless the freezer is below 15 degrees F.
5. Don't use utensils that have not been steamed for at least 20 minutes.
Kill the germs that spoil the product.
6. Don't court trouble or give the business a black eye by trying to sell a doubtful product.

Household Questions

Tissue paper, crumpled, is excellent for polishing mirrors.

Never use a galvanized iron lemon squeezer. Glass is preferable.

To eat to save is to waste, but to leave bread and butter to eat cake is also waste.

Zinc can be easily cleaned by rubbing very hard with a cloth wet with liquid ammonia.

Cover gilt frames when new with a coat of white varnish. This will be invisible and you can wash the frames without injuring them.

A teaspoonful of salt added to the water in which eggs are boiled will prevent the shells from cracking and the consequent escape of the whites.

BOARD OF SELECTMEN

BRADFORD HAWES, Chairman, E. Weymouth
JOSEPH A. FERN, Secretary, East Weymouth
ALFRED W. HASTINGS, South Weymouth
GEORGE L. NEWTON, North Weymouth
JOHN F. DWYER, Weymouth

Meetings Savings Bank Building
East Weymouth, Every Monday
DURING THE MUNICIPAL YEAR FROM
2 TO 5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Town Clerk

Clayton B. Merchant

OFFICE HOURS:

In rooms of the Selectmen, Savings Bank
Building, East Weymouth

8 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M.
Saturdays, 8 to 12 A. M.

Residence, 912 Commercial Street,
East Weymouth

SOUTH WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

SOUTH WEYMOUTH
OFFICERS 1919

President—R. Wallace Hunt
Vice-Pres.—Ellis J. Pitcher
Almon B. Raymond
Treasurer—Fred T. Barnes

BANK HOURS:

8 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M.
Also Mondays 7 to 8 P. M.
Saturdays 9 to 12 A. M.

Deposits go on interest second Wednesday
of January, April, July and October.
Dividends payable on and after the second Wednesday of January and July.
The January, 1918, dividend was at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, and the July, 1918,
dividend at the rate of 5 per cent.

Incorporated March 6, 1888

WEYMOUTH
Savings Bank

CHARLES A. HAYWARD, President,
CHARLES T. CRANE, Treasurer

Vice-Presidents:

EDWARD W. HUNT JAMES H. FLINT

Board of Investment:

CHARLES A. HAYWARD
CLARENCE P. WHITTLE
EDWARD W. HUNT

ARTHUR E. PRATT
CHARLES G. SHEPPARD

Bank Hours—8:30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
Saturdays, 8:30 to 12.

Monday Evenings, 6 to 8.

Deposits placed on interest on the first Monday
January, April, July and October.

Joseph Grehan

Plumber and Sheet Metal Worker.
Steam, Hot Water and Furnace Heat-
ing. Stove and Furnace Repairs.

Tel., Wey. 767-71 20,17

11 Foye Avenue, Weymouth

S. GREEN

Jackson Square
East Weymouth, Mass.

Custom Tailor

SUITS MADE TO ORDER
Cleaning, Pressing, Dyeing and all
Kinds of Repairing at Reasonable prices

JOHN LYONS & SON

BRICKLAYERS
MASONS and
PLASTERERS

General Jobbing of All Kinds
promptly attended to

Address

81 Prospect St. Weymouth

M. LIPSHEZ

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR JUNK
and Second hand Furniture

Patronize a Weymouth man
Mail and Telephone will receive prompt attention. Phone Weymouth
813-M. Address, 66 Norton St.,
North Weymouth. 21,17

JUNK COLLECTED

Metal of all kinds, Rags, Magazines and Papers. Umbrellas mended. True weight and honest deal-
ing. J. Gibbs, 115 Charles St., East
Weymouth. Telephone, Weymouth,
458-W. Please telephone or send postal. Will buy or sell second hand
furniture. 21,17

FABRICS INSPIRE NEW COSTUMES

NEARLY all afternoon gowns for the season now passing have been made of plain cloths and the spring finds us prepared to welcome something different. New figured silks and light weight wools, in dull plaids or cross-bars, foretell afternoon frocks traveling away from one-color cloths and familiar designs. Their creators, dealing with new fabrics, are inspired to delight us with models as original and handsome as appears in the dignified dress shown in the picture above.
Any of the finer fabrics, whether of silk, wool or cotton, might be successfully built into a dress like this. In this frock the straight-hanging skirt is arranged in wide box plaits, with the distance between them equaling their width. It is the regulation shoe-top length with three-inch hem, and these brief details cover its description. A very graceful overgarment amounts to a short coat, with front and back panels extended to the knees and finished with embroidered motifs in silk floss.

The coat is shortened over the hips,
where a little fullness in the material suggests something of the fashionable flare at the sides. Three-quarter length sleeves are finished with a band and tabs of ribbon, in which the band slips through the tabs. The neck is finished in the same way with long ties of ribbon hanging at the front. Round, satin-covered buttons are set in a row at each side of the front, where the over-garment opens over a vest of plaided white georgette. Black satin ribbon, like that used for the ties, makes the narrow, plain girdle.

Hats for Crisp Springtime

SUMMERTIME may bring big and wide-brimmed hats, and already rumor is making generous promises in that respect, but for early spring the number of small hats hardly leaves room for the consideration of anything else.

The small tailored hats for early wear, are brilliant in inverse ratio to their size. Everything, almost, that finds place in their construction or trimming is "shiny." Straw and silk braids, and many fabrics have a varnished, high-luster surface.

Many off-the-face shapes provide spirited small hats developed in the new materials, and there are a few models with moderately wide brims, like the hat made of silk shown at the center of the group above. Above it, at the left, a straight-brimmed sailor of braid has a top crown of georgette.

Julia Bottomly

Naturalist Picks Beaver
From Among All Others as Most Intelligent Animal

We read much about animal sagacity and there is a common query:
"Which is the most intelligent animal?" This query, writes Raymond
L. Ditmars in Boys' Life, most frequently relates to the results in training animals to do surprising things or to do the "smart" things that many captive animals do. Association with the human and the artificial conditions of captivity bring forth many surprising traits in animals, but such have little to do with this story. When the writer is asked which he considers the most intelligent animal he has no hesitation in answering, although the subject designated may cause much surprise.

Despite the adoption of the horse and the elephant to domestic use, the docility and affection of the dog, the marvelous feats accomplished by trained sea lions and other marked demonstrations of intelligence among the larger animals, the writer is unwavering in his decision, and this comes after years of observation and deduction. He picks the beaver as the star of animal sagacity. And the choice comes from an order of mammals not usually credited with a high degree of intelligence. This is the order of rodents, or gnawing animals.
It contains an immense number of species, the greater number of small size and scattered over all parts of the world. To this order belongs the rats and mice, the squirrel, porcupine, rabbit and marmots. The prairie "dog" is a member of this order and a fair rival of the beaver in solving problems of ingenious construction.

All the rodents are characteristic in having strangely developed incisor teeth—those immediately at the front of both the upper and lower jaw.
These teeth, proportionately larger and longer than with other animals, are continually growing and their edges meet in a fashion to become much sharpened during constant use like a double set of rapidly moving chisels. Thus the rat gnaws holes through wood and plaster, the squirrel gnaws through the shells of the hardest nuts and the porcupine—much to the chagrin of the camper—chisels out a generous hole in one's camera in solving the nature of the interior.

Mother's Cook Book

To work, to help and to be helped,
to learn sympathy through suffering, to learn faith by perplexity, to reach truth through wonder, behold! this is what it is to prosper; this is what it is to live.—
Phillips Brooks.

Food for the Family.

To give the children variety the following will be found wholesome, with milk, for the supper dish:

Pulled Bread.

Take a loaf of freshly baked bread within an hour after it is baked. Tear off the crust, pull the bread into strips, using two forks. Put into a buttered baking dish and bake a golden brown in a quick oven.

Irish Stew.

Cut three pounds of mutton into inch cubes, season with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and fry in fat until well browned. Cover with boiling water and simmer until the meat is tender. One-half hour before serving add one cupful each of potatoes, carrots, turnips, cut in dice, one-half cupful of onion. Cook until the vegetables are tender, adding boiling water
if necessary. Serve with dumplings.

Salmon With Rice.

Line a buttered mold with cold cooked rice, fill the center with creamed salmon, cover with more rice, put the cover on the mold and steam half an hour or more. Serve with cream seasoned with lemon juice or curry or minced parsley.

Baked Beans.

Soak over night one pint of small beans; the next morning drain, cover the beans with boiling water, cook slowly until the skins crack. Drain, put them into a bean pot, sprinkle the top with two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, pour over a pint of strained tomatoes and sprinkle with one teaspoonful of salt, cover the pan and bake slowly four hours, adding more tomatoes as those are absorbed by the beans. Fifteen minutes before serving add a tablespoonful of sweet chicken fat or beef fat, remove the lid and brown.

Nellie Maxwell

First Indian Sign Made by Man Named Chichester

A man named Chichester was first to introduce wooden figures as tobacconists' signs in America. This was in the middle of the nineteenth century. Most of these Indian figures were carved out of white pine, from paper patterns. The instruments ranged from the ax to the chisel and finer wood carving tools. Regular artists had their little shops where these figures were made and old figures repaired and repainted.

Lens Industry Revived.

A revival of the lens industry is anticipated in Sheffield, England, and the exhibits in this line range from the smallest telescope to a lens with a diameter of nine inches.

CALL ON US

WE BUY, WE SELL, WE MOVE

We pay the highest cash prices for all kinds of used Furniture worth buying

We sell at the lowest possible
prices, on time payments or great discount for cash, of
our entire stock of Furniture,
Carpets, Ranges and Bedding
to furnish your home.
We do long distance Furniture
and Piano Moving as we have ample facilities for doing such work, and have only experts
in handling same. So call on us if you want to furnish your home, sell your home or move
your home. We take Liberty
Bonds for face value.

Berman Furniture Co., Inc.

Complete Home Furnishers

1601-1603 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

Tel. Quincy 52334

Monuments and Headstones

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND MATERIAL

The largest and most varied selection in the United States for you to choose from.

Inspection cordially invited.

Satisfied patronage is the bulwark of our progress
and we guarantee every Memorial furnished.

ESTABLISHED 1884.

A call will amply repay you. Booklets sent on application.

DO NOT WAIT FOR DECORATION DAY.

JOHN R. RICHARDS

Phone, Quincy 220

Works—QUINCY ADAMS

BRANCHES:

970 Main Street, Malden, Mass. Tel.

977 North Main Street, Providence, R. I. Tel.

227 Broadway, Taunton, Mass. Tel.

Brookville, Mass. Tel.

ROOF REPAIRING

Consider NEPONSET SHINGLES and the

NEPONSET ROLL ROOFINGS when

repairing roofs on any of your buildings.

A successful repair is made with Neponset.

M. R. LOUD & CO.

Columbian Square, South Weymouth

WOOD

Seasoned or Green

Delivered in Any Quantities Desired

Long Lengths $12

Sawed $14

Sawed and Split $15

A. J. RICHARDS & SON

Telephone, Weymouth 51 and 2870

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD?
REMODEL or REPAIR?

For over twenty years I have served Weymouth's people and have attended to the carpenter work for hundreds of property owners.
If you have decided to build or repair do not neglect to consult me.
I shall be pleased to give you an exact estimate of just what your work will cost.

YOU CAN DEPEND UPON

JAMES P. HADDIE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

COMMERCIAL STREET EAST WEYMOUTH

Telephone Weymouth 287-M

Now Is The Time To Advertise

POPULAR PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE

CLASSIFIED "ADS" INCLUDING LOST, FOUND, WANTED.
TO LET AND FOR SALE THAT BRING RESULTS

One Week 50c. Three Weeks 75c—Terms in Advance
But nothing less than 50 cents for One Week

LOST

LOST
Strayed from North Weymouth a St. Bernard's dog, white neck and feet, no collar. Phone Gladwin, Wey. 167-R. 11,8

WANTED

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED
Owing to financial conditions of the American Legion, it is impossible to obtain a typewriter which is needed very much. Any individual or society who feel they could donate one, may be assured it would be greatly appreciated. Address, Mrs. Kathryn B. Howley, East Weymouth. 3t,8,10

MAID WANTED

Maid wanted for general work. No washing to do. Good wages. Apply any day between 6 and 7 P. M. to Mrs. Frank J. Perry, 15 Summer St., Weymouth. Tel. Wey. 252-W 3t,8,10*

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED

An energetic woman as canvasser for Victorrolas and the White Sewing Machine. Mrs. Bahr, 1454 Hancock street, Quincy. 3t,8,8*

HELP WANTED

Girls for general work. Good wages. Pray & Kelley. 2tf

GIRLS WANTED

Girls over 18 years of age at the factory of Edmund S. Hunt & Sons Co., Weymouth. 50,tf

WANTED

Men or women to take orders among friends and neighbors for the genuine guaranteed hosiery, full lines for men, women and children. Eliminates darning. We pay 50c an hour for spare time or $24 for full time. Experience unnecessary. Write. International Stocking Mill, Norristown, Pa. 5tf

LET THE

Quincy Awning Company

furnish estimates on your awnings. Now is the time to place orders for Spring delivery. Phone or write

E. M. Woodbury

113 Marlboro Street : Wollaston
Quincy 2783-M 1t-4

"THE MUSIC LOVER'S SHOP"

Victor Victrolas and Records
M. Steinert & Sons Pianos
EASY TERMS
1454 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
TEL. 1120

RAY O. MARTIN
Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Ranges, new and second-hand; also Repairs.

Agent for the famous
"GLENWOOD RANGES."

Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of work.

Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 103-R

E. E. Lunt & Son
Builders

52 Church Street, Weymouth Heights
Estimates Given.

All Kinds of Repairs
Promptly attended to.

Telephone Connection.

M. MIRKIN
UPHOLSTERER

Is the one who will give you the full satisfaction in work and prices of repairing furniture, mattresses and cushions, 1022 HANCOCK STREET, near the Quincy High School. Tel. Quincy 501-W

FOR RENT

BLACKSMITH SHOP
TO LET March 1, at 247 Washington street, Weymouth, the blacksmith shop conducted for years by Lot Lohnes. Apply to John Cochran on the premises. 3t,8,8

TO LET

Six room house, two minutes from Lincoln Square. Apply to F. A. Pray. Tel. Weymouth 101 J

TO LET

An apartment of seven large rooms, will be ready for rent Jan. 20. Near Weymouth R. R. station. $20 and water rates. Geo. H. Baker. 45 Commercial street, Weymouth. 3t,8

FOR SALE

FOR SALE
A few more S. C. R. I. Breeding Cockerels at $5 and $10 each. 89 Federal St., Weymouth. Tel. 744J 1t,8*

FOR SALE

Will sacrifice new style drop-head Singer Sewing Machine cheap. Tel. Wey. 411-M. 8tf

FOR SALE

Organ for sale easy terms. Bahr Piano & Music Co., 1454 Hancock St., Quincy. Phone Quincy 1120. 3t,8,10

WHITE SEWING MACHINE

Terms $5.00 down $5.00 a month. Bahr Piano & Music Co., 1454 Hancock St., Quincy. Phone 1120 3t,8,10

FOR SALE

Ford Touring car. Fine condition. Good tires, cheap for cash and quick sale. Wey. 464-W 3t,8,8*

FOR SALE

25 A. B. Joan breed of Belgian Hares, a fine large breed; 2, 5 and 7 months old. No time to care for them. Call and see, Sat. afternoon or Sunday. P. Kiley, 23 Commercial St., E. Braintree. 3t,8,8*

EGGS FOR HATCHING

Single comb R. I. Reds, utility strain all the year-round layers, $2.00 setting. Hillendale Farm Poultry Yards, 578 Commercial St., East Weymouth. 5tf

WOOD FOR SALE

Long and sawed wood for sale; also sand and loam. Apply to James Tirell, 661 Main Street, South Weymouth. 1t, 12

—Mrs. John B. Merrill of King Oak hill, who is ill with bronchial pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

—Miss Addie J. Taylor attended the reunion of the Stickney Association of the Carter School, Chelsea, which was held in Boston Saturday evening.

—Miss Althea Smith of East Commercial street is ill with the measles.

—Henry Hubbard of Gilbert road has recovered from the influenza and resumed work on Monday.

—Miss Isabel Jones of Simmons College was home with her parents over the week end.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kindness in our bereavement, in the loss of our beloved daughter Mary. Daniel C. O'Connell Elizabeth J. O'Connell

OPEN MEETING BOARD OF TRADE

There will be another open meeting of the Board of Trade at the Clapp Memorial Building on Wednesday evening, Feb. 25. Subject for discussion the Memorial Building and other articles in the Town Warrant. Everybody invited. For the sake of "Old Weymouth" let's get together and consider what is best for her future.

MEMORIAL CERTIFICATES

Weymouth Post, No. 79, American Legion, has extended an invitation to the patriotic orders and the public generally to be present at the "Presentation of the French Memorial Certificates" to the next of kin of the boys from Weymouth who paid the supreme sacrifice during the World War, to be held at the Weymouth High School hall, on Sunday afternoon February 22, at 2:30 o'clock.

FIREMEN'S BALL

The annual ball of the firemen has been indefinitely postponed.

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 12.)

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Weymouth

Sunday morning service at 10:30. Rev. George E. Leighton, state superintendent, will preach.

Sunday School at 11:45 A. M., Miss Esther Bicknell superintendent.

There will be a meeting of the men's committee on the supper for next month on Wednesday evening, Feb. 25, at 8 o'clock in Lincoln hall.

EPISCOPAL

Trinity church, Weymouth. Rev. William Hyde, rector. Service with sermon on Sunday at 10:45 A. M. Church School at 12.

SECOND UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

South Weymouth

Rev. J. H. Peardon, minister. Morning worship with sermon at 10:30. Music by the vested choir, directed by Miss Deane. Church School at noon. Y. P. C. U. at 5:30. Everybody welcome.

In the evening at 7 o'clock Rev. U. S. Milburn of Salem will give his very interesting talk on "Imperial Rome." The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon and numerous slides. Don't miss it.

OLD SOUTH UNION CHURCH

South Weymouth

Rev. Ora A. Price, pastor. For a few Sundays now the weather has been bad and people have been compelled to suspend their church activities and attendance along with other matters. We hope now that the weather man will permit you to return to normal life, and also normal church life. Come to church next Sunday, if at all possible, and help to keep the inspiration and enthusiasm which was gradually growing to larger and larger proportions before the "storm" cut them short. We most cordially welcome you. If you are strangers or newcomers, come and worship with us.

Service of worship and sermon by the pastor at 10:30 A. M. Sermon appropriate for the day, the twenty-second of February, also a sermon designed to help and inspire. Come. Sunday School at 12. C. E. meeting at 6. Discussion group at 7 P. M. Thursday evening devotion and prayer at 7:30. Come and be a part of us.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL

East Weymouth

Rev. Frank Kingston, pastor. Sunday morning worship at 10:30 with sermon by the pastor on "Three Dreamers of the Nineteenth Century." Church Bible School at 12. Probationers' class at the Parsonage at 3:30. Epworth League at 6; topic, "Our American Day." Leader, Earl Burgoyne. Evening worship at 7; special sermon by Dr. D. E. McClain to the young people on "Whatever, whenever, wherever." Monday, Feb. 23, Old Colony Circuit League supper.

Tuesday, 7:30 P. M., weekly fellowship meeting beginning a series in "Talks with Jesus."

Wednesday, 8 P. M., Probationers' class at the parsonage. This is the church of the warm welcome.

PILGRIM CHURCH

(Congregational)

North Weymouth.

Rev. Thomas Bruce Butler, minister. Morning worship at 10:30; subject, "Washington, the Man" Church school at 11:45. Men's Fellowship class, subject for discussion, "Right Uses for the Sabbath." A cordial invitation is extended to all men to join with us in this stimulating hour of discussion and fellowship.

Junior Endeavor at 3:45. Send the boys and girls once and they will want to come again. Miss Alice Nason, leader.

The Junior Society was visited last Sunday by the society from Weymouth Heights. Their presence made the occasion a very pleasant one.

Senior Endeavor at 6:00; subject, "Industry," with Albin Johnson as leader.

Evening praise at 7:00. A good song service followed by a brief address on "Tests of Patriotism."

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preparations are now under way for the Every-Member Drive, which is to take place the first Sunday in March. We trust all our members and friends will be prepared to speed us on our way and put Pilgrim over the top with a good margin.

Wednesday evening the Men's class will hold a Fellowship supper for present and prospective members of the class. Join this live organization and come in on some good things.

—William Erie of Hingham, financial secretary of the Knights of Columbus, is serving on the jury at Plymouth.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for beautiful floral offerings, spiritual bouquets and for the many acts of kindness shown us in our late bereavement.

Mrs. George W. Smith and family. 1t,8*

BORN

POLLOCK—In Weymouth, Feb. 16, Robert Stuart, son to James and Grace (Hamilton) Pollock.

O'LEARY—In East Weymouth, Feb. 1, a son to Lawrence and Doris (Kennedy) O'Leary of 964 Commercial street.

COLERAN—In East Weymouth, Jan. 1, a son to Joseph M. and Mabel (Linscott) Coleran of 20 Humphrey street.

PAYNE—In the Angelus Hospital, Braintree, Jan. 21, twin son and daughter to Thadeus and Bertha (Stanard) Payne of East Weymouth.

BENEDETTI—In East Weymouth, Jan. 7, a son to Harry and Nellie (Sparda) Benedetti of 16 Lake street.

McMORROW—In East Weymouth, Feb. 11, a daughter to David F. and Annie Dolan McMorrow, of 11 Lovell street.

MARRIED

HEGARTY-MEUSE—In East Weymouth, Feb. 16, by Rev. C. L. Riodan, Mathew Willard Hegarty and Ellen Florence Meuse, both of Weymouth.

SULLIVAN-ARNOLD—In Abington, Feb. 12, by Rev. J. H. Lyons, Joseph Francis Sullivan of South Weymouth and Harriette Elizabeth Arnold of North Abington.

THOMSON-WILLIAMSON—In Dorchester, Feb. 13, by Rev. Wilfred D. Harrison, John Thomson of Weymouth and Henrietta (Alexander) Williamson of Dorchester.

DIED

PRAY—In Weymouth, Feb. 20, Betsey J., widow of Edward H. Pray, in her 81st year. Funeral services will be held Feb. 23, at 2 P. M., at her home, 97 Broad street, Weymouth.

LITCHFIELD—In Weymouth, Feb. 19, Harriett D. Litchfield of 98 Broad street, aged 71.

MAHONEY—In South Weymouth, Feb. 15, Francis Joseph, son of Thomas F. and Margaret A. Mahoney, of 27 Central avenue, aged 18 years.

MARTELL—In Matfield, Feb. 17, Mrs. Joseph Martell, formerly of Weymouth.

SMITH—In Weymouth, Feb. 14, George W. Smith of 25 Phillips street, aged 60.

DOYLE—In South Weymouth, Feb. 6, infant daughter of Thomas V. and Gertrude D. Doyle, of 180 Main street.

CLAWSON—In Weymouth, Feb. 12, James Stark, son of Thomas I. and Catherine (Stark) Clawson, of 134 Washington street.

HIGGINS—In East Weymouth, Feb. 16, Eleanor E., daughter of Patrick and Helen E. Powers of 15 Lafayette avenue.

MOORE—In North Weymouth, Feb. 18, Mrs. Frances Moore.

LOUD—In Charles River Village, Feb. 18, Robert E. Loud, formerly of Weymouth.

Willard J. Dunbar & Son

UNDERTAKERS

AND

EMBALMERS

802 BROAD ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Automobile service when desired.

Telephone Weymouth 93

C. C. Shepherd

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

AND EMBALMER

Lady Assistant Automobile Hearse

Telephone Connection

134 Pleasant St., Weymouth

DANIEL H. CLANCY

UNDERTAKER

4 Richmond St., Cor. Washington, Weymouth

CARRIAGE AND MOTOR SERVICE

Telephone, Weymouth 814 W

C. L. RICE & SON

Funeral Directors

AND

Embalmers

294 Union Street, Rockland

Telephones

Office 56W Residence 56R

Residence 831M Night Calls 56R

Rockland Exchange

Milne & Hector
MONUMENTS

Granite and Marble

Over 100 Satisfied Weymouth Customers.

Order Now for Memorial Day and save money.

Nightingale Ave., QUINCY

Telephones: Quincy 1890 and 2814-M

AT MORRIS BLOOM'S Boston Cash Market

I have just received a CARLOAD OF POTATOES

and I am going to give you a chance to buy good Potatoes at the lowest prices in the State. Come and see them. No dealers supplied.

	PER LB.
Pork to Roast, by strip	28c
Boned Sirloin, not imitation	35c and 40c
Thick End Corned Beef	20c
Fancy Brisket	22c and 25c
Good Frankfurts	3 lbs. for 50c
Boned Rib Rolls	25c and 30c
Genuine Hind of Lamb	38c
Flanks, Fresh or Corned	10c

FREE DELIVERY

Tel. Braintree 225

TIE UPS

Regardless of tie ups and Severe Winter Conditions we have rendered our usual SERVICE.

Are YOU on our list?

WEYMOUTH TRUST CO.

Telephone, Weymouth 67

LARGEST STOCK OF FLEXIBLE FLYERS AND STEERING SLEDS

IN WEYMOUTH

25 styles PYREX—the modern cooking dishes.

50 styles Pocket-knives, 75c to $3.50.

Carving Sets, Manicure Sets, Coffee

Perculators. All popular sizes of the Ever-ready Flash-lights, Bulbs and Batteries.

EVERYTHING IN GOOD TOOLS

J. H. Murray Hardware Co. Inc.

759 Broad Street, East Weymouth, Mass.

Tel. Wey. 272-S

Why Not Enjoy Your Sleep?

Bedsteads

Mattresses

and

Comforters

Ford Furniture Co. Broad Street
East Weymouth

Phone Wey. 272-M

Carey & Curran

HIGH GRADE

PLUMBING AND HEATING

GENERAL REPAIRS

815 Broad Street - East Weymouth

Tel. 988-R

1t, 4

GAZETTE ADS. PAY BEST

FUR REPAIRING

Neatly done by expert operator, either hand or machine work. Terms cheaper than Boston stores. Operator formerly with Furriers in Boston. We make a specialty of making Muffs and Scarfs or small repair jobs on fur coats, etc. Will also attend to raw skins. For appointment or particulars, address, Star Agency, Box 67, East Wey

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Out of the more than 3,000,000 Ford cars now in use, about sixty percent have been sold to farmers. Probably no other one thing has brought to the farm so much of comfort and profit as has the Ford car. It has enlarged the social life, doubled the facilities for marketing, brought the town next door to the farm, multiplied for the farmer the pleasures of living. A family car without an equal in low cost of operation and maintenance. We solicit your order for one now because the demand is large and continually increasing.

ROY E. LITCHFIELD
Authorized Ford Dealer
Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Hanover
TELEPHONE HINGHAM 3

How to Beat The High Cost of Living

The woman of today is facing the same problem our Grandmothers did at the end of the Civil War, and we will solve it as they did.

Sew -- Sew -- Sew -- Sew

No longer can you buy it as cheaply as you can make it—for half the sum you can make a better article for a quarter as good and you can "make over" with a pattern at a few cents. You can get sizes to fit all the family.

If you want pretty things this summer you have got to make them, if you want necessary clothes you can have twice as many.

We have taken the agency for the White Sewing Machine.

The White Machine is a high class machine and appeals to the highest class sewers. We furnish women teachers and have sewing classes every Wednesday afternoon. No collectors coming to your doors, for we sell by the club plan—$5.00 down and $5.00 a month.

Also we have machines repaired, to rent, and for sale.

VISIT OUR NEW DEPARTMENT

"THE MUSIC LOVER'S SHOP"

1454 HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY (Norfolk Building)

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

Sternberg Motor Car Co.

Nathan Sternberg, Proprietor, successor to Bicknell's Garage

Sole Agent for

CHEVROLET CAR

in the Weymouths and Hingham

TIME PAYMENT TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES

Look Over Our Stock of Slightly Used and Rebuilt Cars

AGENTS FOR

Goodyear, Goodrich, and United States Tires, Mobiloils and Greases

Exceptional Bargains in all Automobile Supplies at a Saving of 15 to 25 per cent

Water Street East Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 330 for Service Car

Important Articles In The Town Warrant

Unless there is a decided improvement in transportation in the next ten days, it will be impossible for a large majority of the voters to attend the annual town meeting to be held Monday evening, March 1, at South Weymouth. The town officials have taken a hand in opening up the Pleasant street car line but even with the two South Weymouth car lines running, it will not be easy to attend an evening meeting.

Probably there will not be a quorum or it will be made up almost wholly of South Weymouth voters.

In the warrant for the annual town meeting are 74 articles. The most important is undoubtedly Article 9 which is a petition and reads:

To see if the Town will raise and appropriate a sum not exceeding two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) for the acquisition of land and the construction and furnishing of a Memorial Building, suitable for meetings and services of war veterans' organizations, and also suitable for annual meetings of the voters and business purposes of the Town, and determine a location for such building and authorize the Selectmen to purchase such location or take same by the exercise of the power of eminent domain and also determine the manner in which money shall be raised or borrowed for the payment of land purchased or taken and the construction of said building and the terms and conditions of any loan necessary to provide said funds, and also to take any other action relative thereto that may be deemed necessary or expedient.

Two other articles which may cause debate are:

Art. 10. By request: To see if the Town will authorize the change of date on the Town Seal from 1823 to 1822, which is the date the first settlers came to Weymouth.

Art. 11. By request: To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of one thousand dollars to defray the expense of publishing a history of the Town—said money to be expended under the direction of the Weymouth Historical Society.

The Athens schoolhouse at North Weymouth is overcrowded and there are two articles looking to additional accommodation:

Art. 14. To see what action the Town will take in order to secure land for an additional schoolhouse in Ward One, and what sum of money the Town will vote to raise and appropriate for such purpose, and if the Town will take any other action in relation thereto.

Art. 15. To see what action the Town will take in order to provide additional school housing in Ward One, and what sum of money the Town will vote to raise and appropriate for such purposes, and if the Town will take any other action in relation thereto.

Other towns are increasing the salaries of school teachers and there is an article in the Weymouth warrant:

Art. 16. On petition: To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum sufficient to bring the maximum of the teachers' salaries in the grades to twelve hundred dollars and those of the High School to fourteen hundred dollars, such increase being retro-active to January first, 1920, or to take any other action relative thereto.

There is an article relative to a park at Lovell's Corner, and another for the establishment of a public bath house at North Weymouth.

The voters will be asked to put the chauffeurs of the Fire Department under civil service, and to increase the pay of firemen.

One article calls for $2,500 for permanent sidewalks, another for $5,000 for macadam pavement, and there are several street articles as usual.

The street railway question will bob up again under Article 49; which reads:

"To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for the purpose of securing continued service to date from January first to November first, 1920, on the Pleasant Street route of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company between Jackson Square and Columbian Square or take any action relative to contributing to the cost of operation of street railways in town."

Article 52 is to see if the town will authorize the lease of the Town Farm.

Article 68 reads: To see what sum of money the Town will vote to raise and appropriate, or appropriate, for the purpose of celebrating its three hundredth anniversary, or act in any manner in relation thereto.

There are several other articles, all of which should receive careful attention.

Because of the storm and poor transportation facilities, making it almost impossible to get about in the evening, the Appropriation Committee announce an all day meeting for Sunday Feb. 22, and voters are invited to present arguments relative to any article in the warrant.

$50 Bonds Proposed For All Service Men

A bonus for ex-service men and compulsory military training were announced as the principal aims of the legislative committee of the American Legion, members of which were in Washington this week for a series of conferences with congressmen. Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the legion, was present to direct the activities of the committee.

The bonus issue, which was side-tracked after considerable agitation at the first annual convention of the legion in Minneapolis, through a vote to leave the question to Congress, last week was revived at national headquarters in Indianapolis. It was claimed that on account of the dilatoriness of Congress the legion was determined to press the matter by asking for a specific settlement by the government of a $50 bonus for each month of service performed during the war. Such a bonus, it was estimated, would cost the government approximately $1,900,000,000.

The legion already has gone on record as favoring compulsory military training.

On Monday, Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts introduced a bill to authorize the issuance of $2,000,000,000 in government bonds, the interest on which would be used as a public fund to aid veterans of the world war.

The bonds remain in the treasury under the terms of the Treadway bill, but the interest is paid into a trust fund to be distributed to the several states according to the number of veterans credited to the states by the official army and navy records. The veteran aid funds thus created in the states would be paid out to war veterans or their dependents under the supervision of state boards.

Abolition of some of the present holidays so that Nov. 11 can be observed as a day commemorating the ending of the great war was suggested to the committee on Legal Affairs of the Massachusetts legislature on Tuesday, by Representative Hartshorn of Gardner, providing that Armistice Day be designated as a legal holiday.

Should the foregoing proposition be deemed advisable, said Mr. Hartshorn, it might be possible to merge Armistice Day and Thanksgiving. In any event, he believed that some action should be taken whereby a day would be set aside as a permanent memorial for the work done by those who saw service during the World's War.

Monday at a meeting the executive committee of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Legion endorsed a bill filed by Pres. McKnight of the Senate, to provide State assistance to veterans in securing homes.

The bill, which will be given a hearing this week before the Legislative Committee on Reconstruction, provides that a commission to be known as the Soldiers' and Sailors' Homestead Commission be appointed by the Governor to enable veteran applicants to acquire homes purchased or built by the Commonwealth for them.

It further provides that the cost of the home will not exceed $5000; that the expenditure will be refunded to the State in not less than 20 years from the date of occupancy, with interest, the rate of which is to be fixed by the Governor, and that the initial payment on taking possession will not exceed a 1-24th part of the total cost price.

The executive committee states that it is going to recommend changes in the terms of the bill so as to give the veteran a little better home and a greater amount of latitude in the matter of payments.

Rubbers! Rubbers!

For the Family

Every Style

First Grade

— ALSO —

ARCTICS And RUBBER BOOTS

Are You Prepared for Snow?

W. M. TIRRELL

Broad Street Jackson Square East Weymouth

Wanted

Young Man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

Some of the Reasons Why You Should Make The East Weymouth Savings Bank Your Bank:

Bank is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. daily except Saturdays; Saturdays from 9 A. M. to 12 M.; and on Monday evenings from 7 to 8.30 for YOUR accommodation.

The Bank will take United States Government bonds of depositors for safe keeping without charge.

The Bank has Safe Deposit Boxes to rent to persons at reasonable rates.

The Bank will buy Liberty bonds for its customers who feel obliged to sell them.

The Bank has money to lend on first mortgages.

The officers and clerks of the Bank are ready to extend every courtesy within their power to depositors or friends of the Institution at all times.

Any amount from one dollar to two thousand dollars will start an account.

F. L. ALDEN, President.
H. J. T. PRING, Treasurer.

This is the package to buy for

ABSOLUTELY FRESH COFFEE

Because your neighborhood dealer buys and sells

OAK HILL COFFEE

in sealed packages—when it is ABSOLUTELY FRESH: because we deliver at his store by our own motor trucks, WEEKLY or oftener.

E. C. HALL CO., Brockton, Mass.

Roasters and Packers of Fine Coffees

P. S. You will never be disappointed with OAK HILL TEAS.

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

IMPERATIVE NEED FOR ACTION

Twelve Months Since the Signing of the Armistice Practically Wasted —Call for Aid From America Must Be Heeded.

Article V.

By FRANK CONNOR.

The signing of the armistice ended the fighting. The peace treaty was signed. Neither the war-stricken nor the victorious Europe. The world is in a state of reconstruction. I have not in mind the mere rebuilding of the war-stricken areas of France, Belgium, Italy, Poland and Russia. Gigantic and important as this task is, necessary as it is, it is only a small part of the work of real reconstruction. Hundreds of thousands of square miles make up the actual war zone, the ground marked over, the territory under shell fire. Millions of acres of land that once yielded food in response to the touch of the plow have for the past four years been tilled by high explosives.

Belgium was literally looted, pillaged and ravished. Almost the entire state was violated. Nearly one-eighth of France, her industrial section, was crushed. Buildings were destroyed, factories dismantled. Sixty thousand square miles in Poland were laid waste. Italy suffered terribly. The ground is filled with high explosives, undischarged mines and shells. Every day since the work of recovery and restoration began men working in this zone have been blown to pieces. Billions of feet of barbed wire and millions of tons of metal make a dangerous wilderness out of what was once a highly productive area.

Cities and villages are jungles of twisted, broken, torn wood, iron, brick and stone. I have walked through these villages and have stood stunned by the completeness of the destruction. The streets are uneven and lumpy with brick and stone and plaster and glass, aisles of wreckage. Roofless houses with walls gutted and torn, heaps and piles of broken building material; jagged, ragged pinnacles, masses of debris meet the eye. Had I not known of the war and come upon one of these unsightly, shapeless masses of material, I should have thought nature had entered into a mad conspiracy, combining and concentrating all of the forces of nature, a tornado and a flood, to spill their fury upon these dead villages.

How to Wring the Heart.

Picture the refugees returning to these villages—coming back home. What the sight must have meant to them. I have seen them, their faces gray as the gray ruins, standing in the midst of their destroyed homes. I have seen them picking their way over piles of stone and brick through great openings made in the broken walls. I saw in their eyes homesickness, a hurt of heart I never shall forget. Old men and old women and little bare-legged children; now and again a boy with a worn, soiled uniform, some limping on crutches, others wearing an empty sleeve. One thought surged through my mind until it almost sickened me—War. The land of the war zone must be reclaimed. These acres are needed now more than they were before the war. The world's food supply is low. Hundreds of miles of trenches must be filled up. Trees must be planted, the ground must be cleaned of shells, cleared of barbed wire; villages, cities, must be rebuilt; sewer systems must be installed. The mess must be moved. It is a big job.

One great misfortune is that although 12 months have come and gone since the signing of the armistice, no general comprehensive plan of reconstruction has been started. Here and there small sections of the devastated regions are being partly reconstructed. Temporary provision is being made for the homeless. This is all well and good, but intelligent, economical, efficient and speedy reconstruction demands a general plan and an organization big enough to put it over. The doing of this work requires vision and capacity for doing big things well. If the physical reconstruction is left to Europe it will not be finished in 50 years. Here is a chance for America. We have a faculty of doing things on a big scale and in a short period of time. Europe needs our help. If we are to give it eventually, why not now? But the clearing up of the wreckage and the rebuilding is a minor problem compared with the other greater and more important question of reconstruction, the reconstruction of industry, the establishment of normal life.

The reclamation of the devastated area is, after all, only a matter of plan, time and money, and notwithstanding the fact that Europe is bankrupt today, the money must and will come. The barbed wire will be rolled up, the mines and shells will be dug from the fields, the villages will be rebuilt; everything that has been destroyed will be replaced. Physical reconstruction is the least of Europe's problems.

The great problem is the reconstruction of life. The war-devastated and disordered life of the world. It threw everything into confusion; it left the scheme out of balance.

Only Road to Prosperity.

We live by work. Prosperity means production. Poverty is underproduction. Stripping economics of all its high-sounding jargon, the simple truth that everyone knows is that the world has only the things it works to produce.

It may not be amiss to state a few facts known by everyone which explain the meaning of production: We live on the earth. It is land and water. In the ground are minerals. The land grows crops. We need the minerals that are in the ground. We need the crops, but minerals in the ground, as well as the fertile soil, mean nothing until man by his work brings the mineral from the ground and makes the soil yield. We must have food, we must have clothing, we must have shelter, and the only way we can get these things is by working. If little work is done we have a shortage. There isn't enough food to go around, there aren't enough clothes, enough coal, and as a result the prices of all these necessities go 'way up. But this is not so important as the fact that when there is not enough to feed the world some go hungry, others must starve. When there isn't enough coal, some are cold, others freeze. When there aren't enough clothes for everyone, some must be ragged and half-naked. Everything by which we live is the result of work. Stop work, and poverty follows. Work, and plenty results. Work is responsible for everything that goes to make life worth living.

To understand Europe's condition today, one must stop and realize that the war stopped production. The result is a shortage of everything. There isn't enough food, there isn't enough raw material, there isn't enough coal. The whole story is told in the word Poverty.

Only Cure Is in Work.

There is a cure; the prescription can be written in a single word. Everyone knows that word, but knowing the word and adopting the word are different matters. Before we can get back to normal life this word must find root in the consciousness of the people. We must realize that the world will continue sick and grow sicker unless this prescription is taken. Further, we must know that if we delay taking this remedy it will be a longer time before we get well. The prescription is work. Every effort should be made to make every man will to work. Every employer must not contribute to unrest and provoke idleness by refusing to negotiate with his men, and into this negotiation he should go with a friendly spirit and a willingness to compromise. The employer who meets labor with the thought in his mind that he is better equipped to fight than labor, because he has a surplus and can eat and be warm, while labor has been living from hand to mouth and will starve, is shortsighted. He had better get the idea out of his head that you can starve men into submission. There was a day when that was true, but that day has passed, never to come. The man who depends upon his ability to turn a key in the factory door and go off on a vacation, imposing his will on his workmen, will discover that these men stopped a certain "gent," late of Potsdam now of Holland, from doing this very thing to the world. He may wake up some morning to learn a new definition of the word "fight."

One thing that people do not realize is that the men who fought the world's fight for freedom are the men who are now complaining that they are not getting a square deal. Who made up the fighting men of the war, the rank and file of the armies that stopped the Prussian Push? Who were the great majority of the volunteers and the conscripted men numbering millions who went to the front for the allies? The teamsters, the shophands, the millworkers, the factory hands, the coal miners. These are the same men who are the center of the labor problem.

Mr. Employer, you are dealing with ex-soldiers. Please don't forget it. They fought for you. You wouldn't have any business today if it hadn't been for them, and when you think of the bond you bought, remember the blood they gave.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

Applied Christianity.

The late Archdeacon Madden of Liverpool used to relate how on one occasion he separated two women, one a Roman Catholic and one a Protestant, who were fighting in the street. Afterward he asked the latter, whom he knew, how she, as a professing Christian, could justify her behavior, to which she replied:

"Well, sir, I was only obeying you. I have often heard you say 'Fight the good fight!' That other woman came into my house and she saw a picture of you on the mantelpiece. 'That's no priest,' said she. 'Nor no parson, neither! He's only an old quack.' Do you think I could stand that, sir? No! 'Touch not the Lord's anointed!' I says, and I ups with my fists and I hits her!"—London Post.

Smart Kid.

An Irish school inspector was examining a class in geography. He had propounded a question regarding longitude and received a correct answer. "And now," he said to the same boy, "what is latitude?"

The youngster hesitated a moment and then with a merry twinkle in his eye he replied, "Please, sir, we have no latitude. The British government won't allow us any."

A FEW LITTLE SMILES

MASSACHUSETTS UNDER FIRE.

A western congressman was joking with a congressman from Massachusetts. "My congressional district," said he, "is several times as big as yours. In fact it's bigger than the whole state of Massachusetts."

"Well, well, that explains something. I have never understood," replied the Bay State man.

"What is that?" asked the Westerner.

"It explains how you happened to be elected to congress," replied the politician from Massachusetts. "I suppose that most of your constituents have never even seen you!"

No Tonic Needed.

"Your hair is getting thin," said the barber as he ran his long fingers through the stray hairs of his victim. "Now, we have the greatest tonic in the world, guaranteed to—"

"Oh, but I put something on it every morning!" said the customer.

"May I inquire what, sir?"

"My hat."

LUCK.

"Say Hubby I had great luck today. Found a place where I could buy two pounds of sugar all at once."

Decorum.

Children should be good, they say. And kind and gentle, too. And not conduct themselves the way their parents sometimes do.

Sizing Up a Town.

"I size up a village by its bank and its hotel."

"Old stuff. Give the local picture palace the once over."

Defeats.

Knicker—A defeat is when the enemy drives you back home. Outlate—Or else when you don't dare to go home.

He Was Right.

Mike—What's the best thing to drown one's sorrows in, Pat? Pat—Perspiration! Hard work will kill them.

In the Clock Store.

The Minute Hand—I say, let's strike. The Hour Hand—For shorter hours? The Minute Hand—Yes, for a forty-minute one.

Retort Courteous.

She—I will marry none but a brainy man. He—Strange how people prefer their exact opposite in marriage.

THE HEAT WAVE.

Bug—I always heard there were such nice cool breezes around the lat iron building!

As Theories Revive.

Each generation tests its wit On various public questions, And coins new phrases that will fit Some very old suggestions.

Making Careful Inquiry.

"Those ladies are smoking." "Quite the thing in an affair of this kind." "Answer me one question, friend." "Well?" "What's the etiquette about asking a lady for a light?"

Had It on Solomon.

Mr. Weekend—Yes, my dear; when I come to think of it, it is a pleasure to pack your trunk. Mrs. Weekend—Why the pleasure? Mr. Weekend—To think that I'm not Solomon and have to pack 700 trunks for my wives.

Its Agility.

"How on earth could my watch have gotten from the side of the bureau, where I laid it, to the other?" "Why, dear boy, have you never seen a watch spring?"

SHOWER BATH FOR MEN OF THE ATLANTIC FLEET

These men of the Atlantic fleet are taking their daily shower bath while the fleet is at Guantanamo, Cuba, for winter maneuvers.

WORKERS DEMONSTRATE AGAINST PROFITEERS IN PRAGUE

A workmen's demonstration against profiteers in Prague, the capital of Czechoslovakia. The sign carried by one of the men states: "The Last Warning."

FORMER KING IN DISTRESS

Ex-King Ludwig of Bavaria, now living in Switzerland, is in great financial distress, eking out a frugal existence on donations from relatives. The former king has vainly protested against the auctioning of his private property, including his wine cellar, his carriages and his high-priced horses. The Bavarian government offered to pay him $10,000 as an "installment" on the amount he is to get eventually as a settlement, but Ludwig has refused to accept this.

When the Rabbit Relaxes.

The rabbit's enemies are most of the animals larger than itself; these it may outwit by flight or in the hidden security of its burrow; from the attacks of smaller animals such as the weasel and ferret which pursue it into its stronghold, it has no adequate defense and it is slaughtered upon its own threshold.

The rabbit is a solitary creature but nevertheless it has its enjoyments of social life. Numbers of them play and dance in curious measures and chase each other around as gaily as though they were acting movies, and the expressions upon their droll little faces show that they are having a good time.

SEEDS FOR EUROPE'S REFORESTATION

Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association (right with flag in hand) displaying posters showing itemized list of 35,000,000 seeds being sent by that organization to France, Belgium and Great Britain. The seeds are shown piled on Boston common awaiting shipment.

BIGGEST CARRIER IN HUGE DRY DOCK

The immense hulk of the American ship Minnesota, said to be the largest deadweight cargo carrier, on what is believed to be the world's largest floating dry dock at Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY HALL

(Copyright by Dodd, Mead & Co., Inc.)

"ONCE I LOVED HIM."

Synopsis.—Dick Morgan of Syracuse, N. Y., a failure in life, enlisted in the Foreign Legion of the French army under the name of Henry Hilliard, is disgraced by shrapnel. The French surgeons ask for a photograph to guide them in restoring his face. In his rage against life he offers in derision a picture postcard bearing the radiant face of Christ. The surgeons do a good job. On his way back to America he meets Martin Harmon, a New York broker. The result is that Morgan, under the name of Hilliard and unrecognized as Morgan, goes back to Syracuse to sell a mining stock. He is determined to make good. He tells people of the death of Morgan. He finds in Angela Cullen a loyal defender of Dick Morgan. He meets Carol Durant, who had refused to marry him.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

"And . . . and I want to thank you now," she said in a tone which would have fallen as a blessing upon the ears of any other man alive, "for speaking as though you loved him. And for all you did for him. Perhaps you know already . . . perhaps you can't know . . . but I'm trying to tell you, because he was . . . he was one of my very dearest friends."

His brain snapped; he bent down to her.

"You loved him—too?" he said, uncontrollably.

"Yes," she said. "Once—I loved him, too!"

Alone in the appointed guest room of the Cullen home—for Mr. Cullen had been as good as his word, and sent a car to fetch his visitor's belongings—Hilliard lighted a cigarette (an acquired taste, but advisable as a minor deception, since he had been notorious for his taste in cigars) and grinned expansively. Leisurely he began to undress, but before his shoes were quite unlaced, he sat back comfortably in his chair and meditated.

"All serene so far," he said. "But when Carol came in . . . He shook his head vigorously. "Well, it's over . . . anyway. The doctor . . ."

Hilliard's face darkened. "There's the man I want to get at! Pious old hypocrite! And he didn't think I deserved to be in the family! Sort of hate to let him make money out of this deal, but it's all in the game. Coals of fire! But ten thousand's a lot from the doctor . . . we'll say ten thousand."

He closed his eyes dreamily; and his thoughts reverted from Doctor Durant to the doctor's daughter.

"Carol—Carol!" he murmured. "One minute there, I thought I'd crack. And I was 'one of her dearest friends'—I was, was I? And she loved me—once. Once! Pity it wasn't twice! Pity she and the doctor didn't say so the night they kicked me out so neatly. Well, . . . business is business . . . After they've made their money out of it, and found out this man Hilliard's some little gold-plated whirlwind all by himself . . . Gad! can't I see their faces when they get the truth of it!"

With the cigarette drooping from his lips, he stood up and swept a clear space in the table. From his suitcase he exhumed a tablet of thin transparent writing paper of a kind not sold in America; it was the paper on which the letter to Cullen from Richard Morgan had been written, and it was sheer luck that Hilliard had brought the remainder of the tablet from New York with him. He tossed a blob of ink from his fountain pen and inspected it critically.

"Too black," he decided, and went to the bathroom, where he half-emptied the reservoir of the pen and refilled it with water.

"That ought to be just about right . . . sort of pale and mysterious and war-strength."

He seated himself at the table, took the pen in his left hand and inscribed circles on the paper; scribbled a meaningless sentence and laughed gently.

"Funny how some people can be ambidextrous and take so long to realize it. If I hadn't caught a bullet in my arm, and tried to write left-handed in the hospital, I'd give myself away up here in no time. Writing's too blasted distinctive. But, as it is, Left Hand, very large and plain, is Henry Hilliard—" Here he shifted the pen to the other hand—"And Right—and, small and curlicue, is poor, dead Dicky Morgan—one of her dearest friends! I'm glad I killed that chap off—he never amounted to a hill of beans anyway. But this Hilliard person—a live wire, boy, a live wire!"

And with a grin of sardonic humor, he wrote on the flimsy paper, slowly and a little irregularly, as though in physical discomfort:

"Neuilly, 7-19-15."

"No matter what you ever think, no matter what you have ever thought, I have loved you."

He grimaced, pondered diligently, and made a correction.

"I have always loved you more than my own life. You said my ideals had fallen—do you think so now? I don't, dearest; I think they're almost what you would have them. And it may be that simply because of that, I've loved you more every day, and—"

Hilliard sat back, and his eyes were softly luminous.

"Suppose, by the luck of the very devil, I should fall in love with her again?" he said aloud. "Suppose I should?" He tossed away his cigarette and rested his head in his hands. "Oh, Carol! I did care . . .!" His shoulders shook spasmodically; then all at once he flung himself out of the chair and took to tramping the floor in a hurricane of emotion. His face was set in granite; he caught sight of it in a mirror, halted and himself was stunned by the transcendent mask which covered his soul in revolt. The work of the surgeons was not far short of miraculous; he couldn't upset it, not by any effort of his will. The eyes might flash, or lower, or chill—the other features were still calm and strong in their splendid glory. Even now, the face which he saw reflected in the mirror was one to convert the most hurried of all passing strangers to a new, if unformed, assurance in the brotherhood of man.

"You dirty blackguard!" said Hilliard, showing his teeth. He went pensively back to the letter, studied it, gazed at the floor.

"But after all," he said, "no matter what she or anybody else did to me . . . and if I can kill two birds with one stone, and be what I've wanted to be—all except this damnable way of going about it . . . She acted as though this infernal lying letter would please her—that's not the point; it's a quicker way to get at the doctor . . ."

Well, it gets her a letter I never intended to write . . . and Dutoit's war cross, too . . . that'll make it all the easier . . . I'll give her that. Angela was going to have it, still . . . So I was 'one of her dearest friends,' was I? What's that worth to Henry Hilliard, bringing back the news from the front?" He sniffed scornfully. "Ten thousand dollars—I hope. And the doctor'll make twenty out of it . . . Gad! that's turning the other cheek with a vengeance!"

Angled if I don't almost wish he'd lose his rotten money! But that can't be helped—I'll get some satisfaction somehow."

He reread the unfinished note, folded it, creased it heavily for versimilitude, and gave it the final exclamation.

"Business . . . is business," he said, musing. "That was a pretty sporty thing for me to do . . . to tell her there was a letter. Bit of a chance, too. And after smashing our engagement, she could stand there and tell me . . . oh, rubbish! So suppose we say . . . fifteen thousand from the doctor! But confound it—the better salesman I am, the more I get out of him, the more he makes! Whew! Where's the satisfaction in that?"

His pupils had narrowed again, giving the lie to the sweetness of his smiling mouth. Then the smile faded and Hilliard was staring fixedly at the document in his hands.

"I wonder who in thunder that man Armstrong is?" said the masquerader who had prided himself that he no longer cared.

CHAPTER V.

He wakened early; and in that state of half-conscious reverie which has less of worldliness in it than perhaps any other state of human existence, he lay vegetating, subtly aware that he was very peaceful and content; but presently, when his brain had yawned and stretched itself, and begun to set about its usual functions (or, in other words, when Hilliard was sufficiently aroused to resume his usual introspectiveness) he was extremely unhappy, and not in the least vainglorious.

He scowled, and struggled to remember what it was that had risen out of this air and angered him last night, at the very instant of his dropping off to sleep. Not the Cullens, nor Carol himself, nor Armstrong . . . but wait a moment! Who was Armstrong? Whence and whither, Armstrong? A newcomer to Syracuse (that is, within two years) and already proprietary—Hilliard frowned, and rubbed his eyes, and wondered anew. He was a trifle amused and a trifle ashamed of himself; was it credible that he could be jealous of a man who had merely appropriated what Hilliard had no further interest in? How inconsistent . . . and yet how superbly characteristic of human nature! Hilliard chuckled to himself in recognition of it and dismissed the proposition as unworthy of further attention. Dismissed it, yes . . . as a child dismisses a rubber ball with an elastic cord attached to it.

From below stairs a Japanese gong chimed softly and Hilliard, without delaying another instant, leaped to the floor. Half an hour later, bathed, shaved and dressed, he descended complacently; the second day of his remarkable performance was begun.

The Cullens, father and daughter, were waiting for him. They greeted him cheerfully; and he was glad that grief hadn't clung to their eyelids; he would have felt depressed, even although he would have sensed the hidden compliment. Quick to grasp the nearest handle of diplomacy, he saw that cheerfulness on his own part would help the situation, for now that his duty as a courier was over, there was no need for long protracted melancholy.

It was a cheerful trio, then, that sat down to breakfast; there was no exhilaration about it, but at least there was no somber cloud of mourning. Angela, behind the coffee urn, had occasional moments of pensiveness, but that was to be expected, and condoned; indeed, Hilliard held himself to be greatly favored by even this.

She was imaginative, and Hilliard's pose was calculated to appeal to a lively imagination. He treated her not as a young girl, but with the respectful deference which belongs to a mature woman, a mistress of a household, and a hostess in her own right. She was charmed and captivated, and so was her father—most assuredly he was! So charmed, in fact, that instead of leaving for his office at half-past eight, he lingered until half-past nine; so captivated, that as his limousine slid quietly down the long, steep hill of James street, he found himself ascribing a new degree of credit to Dicky Morgan for the simple reason that Dicky Morgan had gained the full esteem of such a friend as Hilliard.

A mighty nice young man, thought Cullen. A man of soundest judgment, through and through. A man of brilliant intellect and razor-edged analysis. Had he not said, and furnished illustrations from his broad experience, exactly what Cullen himself had said, in regard to labor, and materials, and transportation, and production, these half a dozen years? Cullen sat back and smiled triumphantly. It does a man good to hear his pet convictions approved, expanded and laid down as axioms by another wise man.

Back on the wide veranda Angela had curled up comfortably in the hammock and, beside her, Hilliard was enjoying a cigarette. He was enjoying, too, this rare interlude of respite; he looked across at Angela, and thanked his stars for the invitation which had made this quiet hour possible.

She lifted her eyes, caught Hilliard smiling at her and blushed furiously, not for any shame accruing to her, but because she had arrived at the age of easy blushes.

"I . . . suppose you're going over to Carol's pretty soon," she said, constrained to say something and grasping at the first available idea.

"So anxious to get rid of me?" he asked, amused.

"Oh, no!" Horror was in her tone and mortification. "Only . . . I wanted to talk to you before you saw Carol. Because Carol doesn't . . . I don't think she'll exactly feel as I do about this . . . I know she won't. Maybe it's because Dick and I were chums, and she and Dick were . . . oh, you know. It's different. You ought to take that into consideration—when you talk to her, I mean. I don't mean I don't care, because I do—terribly—but I . . . I can see what it meant to Dick . . . and I know how he'd have loved it, and picked this out of every possible way, to . . . end things, but Carol . . . she's different."

"How?" Hilliard's voice was even, but very low.

"Older," she said, looking away. "And . . . and they were going to marry each other some time."

"But wasn't that broken off?"

"Yes, but she was waiting."

"Waiting?"

"Why, of course."

Hilliard's breath quickened.

"I should have guessed that this Mr. Armstrong—"

"Oh, but that wasn't until she thought Dick wasn't ever coming back. And besides, she isn't really crazy about him—just lonesome."

"Indeed," Hilliard compelled himself to relax. "So you think she'll be . . . hurt?"

"Hurt?" Angela's voice was thin with emphasis. "Rather!"

"If there's anything you think I'd better say, or not say—" He rose, out of sheer inability to endure this ingenuous estimate of Carol's heartache. "Perhaps you'll tell me—because it's time for me to be going over."

Angela had risen, too, and stood beside him. Her features were composed, but still suggestive of inward emotions a little too tender to convey.

"If there's anybody in the world," she said, "who could give Carol any consolation just now, it's you. I don't suppose you ever were a minister, but you look as though everybody could come to you and tell 'most everything, and you'd help . . . anyway, you'd try to. So I wish you'd . . . you'd sit and listen . . ."

Carol's got to talk to somebody, and when you're hurt the way she is, you can't talk to your family . . . and you were a friend of Dick's. And . . ."

She allowed, and went on more slowly. "You can use your own judgment, of course, but if I were in your place—I'd lie."

"Lie?" he repeated, aghast.

"Yes, I would! He . . . he must have sent her some word, Mr. Hilliard! He must have!" She was desperately serious now, and thoroughly aroused. "It means the whole world to her! It's everything! Why, even I've got more than she has, and she was waiting for him to come back to her! I'd lie myself black in the face, but I'd tell her something—tell her anything I could think of to make her believe he hadn't stopped caring! It can't do any harm now. It can't hurt you. And I won't even ask you whether you do or not. Only you're here, and she'll trust you—"

"Will she?"

"How could she help it? And . . . and that's all. Please don't let her think he didn't care!"

Hilliard stood irresolute; chaos in his brain. "I'll . . . see," he said with difficulty. "I'll see."

"Won't you promise me? I won't ask you afterward, if you—"

"Does it mean so much to you?"

"Ever and ever so much. . . . Won't you please promise?"

He gazed at her a moment, yielded with a show of reluctance. "Because you've asked it. And because it's the dearest, most generous, most thoughtful thing I ever heard of in all my life. . . . And after that, can't we be truly friends?"

Flushed, perplexed, honored, she gave him her hand with a hesitancy which betrayed the deep sense of complicity she felt.

"I don't think I could be prouder of anything that could possibly happen to me," she said.

Was it worth the blatant mummery he had conceived and executed? Was it not worth that, and infinitely more?

She was proud of his friendship . . . and she shared that distinction with no one else in the entire universe.

Proud of it! Hilliard was fulsomely abashed. Abashed—yes, and simultaneously glorified. He had come to make the city proud, ignorantly proud, of the man whose deeds had merited no renown. Here, at the very inception of his plans, a seventeen-year-old girl was proud of him as he was. Courage. Inspiration. Resolve.

He had won her respect by the promise of a lie; and in this instant he vowed to deserve, by other and increasing lies if need be, the prestige he was unalterably committed to gain, whereby the past should be as nothing, and the future should be a magnificent citadel of reconquered dreams.

She was proud of him, and she had approved the lie in behalf of Dicky Morgan's memory. Unwittingly, she had sanctioned the very purpose of his coming, and the method of his approach. She had confirmed his own intentions, and given him the will to advance. He was to act as the staunch defender of her playmate perished, and to make of himself a new and a better man, worthy of the eulogies which, as trustee, he now accepted for the unworthy Morgan. He consecrated himself to this end. Told himself fiercely that he would succeed. And she was proud of him! It was another omen.

It was eleven o'clock to the minute when Hilliard, not quite so blithe as a wedding guest, and yet not altogether as doleful as a mourner, waved his hand to a slender girl who stood on the veranda of a house diagonally across the street, and went slowly up the Durants' brick walk. He had anticipated the effect of this pilgrimage upon his nerves, he had discounted it; and Angela's advice had given him an artificial stimulus for the moment; nevertheless, as the front door opened to him, and he saw, over the head of a smirking maid-servant, a hallway and a vestibule unchanged, his breath came a little faster than usual, and his cheeks went a little darker. It was, so to speak, a return to a shrine, and a normal man might easily be pardoned for a little sentiment on the side, no matter how often he had changed his religion during the meantime.

The maid, having deposited him in the living room, disappeared in a quick flurry of skirts; Hilliard, standing at the end of the long, high-roofed apartment, found himself surrounded by a thousand goads to remembrance. Not an item was out of place; not an item was otherwise than as he had often recalled it; his memory had been photographic.

At the opposite end of the room, flanking the black-marbled fireplace, was a graceful, swan-necked sofa, beautifully carved and splendidly upholstered. Doctor Durant had once remarked that Carol represented the fifth successive generation of her family to be courted on it. And evening after evening, in the ages that had gone before, Hilliard had sat there and dreamed and loved; and sometimes when Carol had slipped away from him he had sat there and dreamed and loved and smoked, while she played Chopin and Rubinstein and Moscovski to him. And the piano—somehow battle-scarred but with a master instrument—was still over in its accustomed place, with the "Military Polonaise" perched open on the rack.

"Carol!"

Then his pupils narrowed to gray necks of ice; for memory, by one of those tricks against which there is no defense, told him that he stood in this same position, in exactly this same spot, when two years ago the doctor had pronounced his sentence, and Carol, in terrible silence, had then and there confirmed it. His imagination conjured up that scene again; his blood chilled; he could fancy that Carol and the doctor were actually before him, and that he was staring at them in the flesh, and feeling the lash of the doctor's quiet peroration. . . .

At the threshold there was a faint rustle of fabric, and Hilliard turned. Carol! His hands went out mechanically, and hers to him; and Hilliard, tasting the acid of his somber mood, smiled benignly.

"I mustn't keep you waiting," he said, dropping her hands. "I've brought you the letter I spoke about." He gave it to her, and coughed his embarrassment. "I'm positive it's for you. And I'm sure you don't want anything to prevent you from reading it at once, so if you'd rather prefer to have me come back later for the talk you wanted—"

He was already moving toward the doorway; she restrained him gently, although her eyes couldn't be dragged from the folded paper he had given her.

"No," she said, "please don't go. I particularly want you to meet my father, Mr. Hilliard. He's anxious to see you, too. Won't you wait while I call him?"

He inclined his head; followed her with his eyes to the hallway, strained his hearing, and knew that she had opened the letter as soon as she was out of his sight. His lips twitched cynically—and then, as he remembered Angela's injunction, straightened. After all, this much was pure charity. Down the hallway, there was the reverberation of a closing door, and silence.

Justice to Dick Morgan's memory.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

For Musical Beginners.

Builders of modern flats might well take a hint from a unique feature in Buckland's hotel in Brook street, now undergoing transformation to accommodate the new Guards club. This was a suite of "sound-proof" rooms called the "Handel suite," after the composer, who lived and died in Brook street, for the use of musically inclined visitors. This admirable arrangement enabled amateurs of such distressing instruments in the hands of the novice as the piccolo or the bagpipes to practice without disturbing their fellow-guests.—London Times.

REDUCTION IN EGG BREAKAGE

Matter of Much Importance That Smaller Proportion Than Ever Be Injured in Transit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An egg broken accidentally before it leaves the farm usually goes on the farm table, and nothing is lost. Eggs broken at the grocery many be disposed of at reduced prices as cracked eggs and little actual food loss results. But the egg broken after it is packed for shipment is likely to be a thoroughly bad egg before it arrives at its destination and become a total loss. With eggs selling at record prices, it is a matter of importance that a smaller proportion of eggs than ever before are broken in transit. This result was brought about by the co-operative efforts of the United States department of agriculture and the United States railroad administration. Employees of the railroad administration were detailed to the bureau of chemistry, where they received instruction in proper methods of loading and stowing eggs in freight cars. Wherever cars were received at terminals in a badly damaged condition, these employees of the railroad administration paid personal visits to the shippers for the purpose of instructing them how properly to load cars to avoid damage in future shipments. The result, according to the report of the chief of the bureau of chemistry, is a material diminution in the breakage of eggs during transportation.

Eggs Should Be Gathered Carefully.

GOOD QUALITIES OF GUINEAS

Have Large, Plump Breasts and Gamy Flavor That Is Enjoyed by Many Epicureans.

Guineas have large, plump breasts and a gamy flavor that is much enjoyed by some farmers. They are good foragers and easy to raise and their clacking will frighten hawks or sound an alarm if other intruders come to the poultry range. Their disadvantages are not serious, but they will fly into the garden and sometimes do a little damage and the old birds are often quarrelsome with the young poultry. They can be allowed to roost in the house with the old birds and they will lay their eggs in the same nests.

Don't figure why a black hen lays a white egg, but get the egg.

Root crops make excellent succulent food for hens where plenty of green grass or rye can not be had.

The Emden is probably the most beautiful of all domestic water fowl, it being a pure white, and, like the Toulouse, very large.

Keep the drinking vessels clean. Put a little lime into the bottom of them twice a week. Don't forget to give the fowls a little salt, in some form, every day.

If hens are crowded too closely, the house soon gets foul and the birds cannot obtain sufficient exercise because they have not sufficient space to move around.

Barred Plymouth Rocks are good general purpose fowls and will lay well if bred for eggs and properly fed and cared for. White Leghorns are excellent where eggs are all that is wanted.

The China goose is a variety that might well be called the Leghorn of the goose family. They are small in size, of a hardy nature, easy to raise and mature quickly.

Floating Specks

before the eyes, dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, less appetite or craving for sweet or sour kinds of food—are signs of self-poisoning by products of poorly digested or imperfectly eliminated food waste which have entered the blood.

Beecham's Pills assist to restore normal action of liver, stomach and kidneys.

Beecham's Pills

Sold by druggists throughout the world. In boxes, 10c., 25c.

?

Have you really seriously considered how cheap, how clean, how convenient it is to have all your fuel for cooking pumped into your house through pipes throughout the year?

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 54 cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5½ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives

Those desiring information concerning the railroad situation may obtain literature by writing to The Association of Railway Executives, 61 Broadway, New York.

How do you like the Anniversary Events?

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 8.)

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. C. W. Allen, pastor. Morning service at 10:30; subject, "The rest that remains for the people of God." Sunday School at 12 o'clock. Junior C. E. at 4 o'clock. Senior C. E. at 6 o'clock. Evening service at 7 o'clock; subject, "Jacob and Rachel, or working for a wife." Music—Anthem by choir, solo by Mrs. Rupert L. Stone; soprano soloist, Mrs. Mabel C. Kinna of Braintree. All are welcome. Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:45.

PORTER M. E. CHURCH

Lovell's Corner
Rev. Arthur S. Emig, minister. Morning worship at 10:30. Evening worship at 7:00; a patriotic service in keeping with the day. Bible School at 11:45. Junior League at 3:30. Epworth League at 6:15. Washington's Birthday celebration. Harold Morse is the leader. The Old Colony Epworth League Circuit will have its annual banquet at the First Church, East Weymouth, Monday, Feb. 23. This is the big night for Old Colony of the year. Come! The entertainment to be given by Mr. Reynolds of Boston on Feb. 9, was prevented by the blizzard. The new date for this evening of pleasure has been set as March 8. Keep it for that and you will not regret it.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL

Weymouth and Braintree
Washington's Birthday will be observed all day Sunday, Feb. 22, at the Union Church. The flag decorations are in charge of the Flower Circle. Mrs. Frank Lord president. In response to the suggestion of one of the men's replies of last Sunday evening's men's meeting, the minister will preach in the morning at 10:30 on "Whither are we going as a nation, or better expressed: 'The Soul of America.'"

On account of the severe weather, rendering it very difficult to hold rehearsals and with considerable illness, it has been deemed wise to postpone the pageant to a later date. So this week the Sunday evening program will consist of patriotic singing with an address on the subject: "George Washington, Blazer of the new Trail." At the Young Men's Forum at 12:15, Mr. Walter Patterson will lead the discussion on "The Square Deal in Business."

The Young People's meeting will be held at 5:45, subject: "Christianity in Industry." Social half-hour with luncheon at 6:30. A church where none are strangers, all are friends. The motion picture equipment has been ordered and certain changes are already noted in preparation for the work of installation.

On Thursday, Feb. 26, the subject for meditation and discussion will be "The Miracles of Healing." Scripture: John 5. Cases of Christian Science healing, and other faith-cures, will be considered. At 8:30, same evening, there will be an open Everybody's Conference on community church work, the object of which is to let all in on the ground floor in helping the church to serve the community. The motion picture programs will be discussed, etc.

THE WHITE CHURCH (Congregational)

East Weymouth
Rev. Edward Torrey Ford, pastor. A railroad man said the other day, "This is the worst winter for railroading that I have seen in 35 years." We hear no challengers of this opinion. We are all heartily weary of the persistent snow blockade and the severe limitations which it has placed upon all normal activities. But we have now decided that the situation must be met and mastered. Our activities must not cease. All the interests of our common life command that we redouble our energies, and get the productive machinery of Community life in full operation again. All this is sound reason. Other parts of the country have to deal with these conditions regularly. We should be equal to the occasional emergency which lays upon us an unusual stress of responsibility.

We would here, also, especially emphasize the wisdom of this policy in its bearing upon church interests and agencies. It has been a trying winter for church programs. And it sometimes seems that church people are altogether too easily discouraged by difficult or annoying conditions of wind and weather. The White Church asks its people to rally again to its services of worship and to its general program of community service. Let us meet the hard conditions of this winter season with a spirit of resolute Christian purpose, and unitedly keep the wheels of our church enterprise in active movement. For, is there any real reason why Christian people should not be as alert and aggressive in this interest as in the material concerns of their daily lives?

Sunday morning worship and sermon at 10:30, "Buying our religion." Church Bible School at noon for all departments. Sunday night service at 7 o'clock. Pastor's message "The snow treasures of the Bible." Always a cordial welcome at the White Church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Quincy, 20 Greenleaf street, Morning service and Sunday School, at 10:45. Subject of the lesson-sermon: "Mind." Golden text: II Timothy 1:7. God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Testimony meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:45. Free public reading room, Hancock building, City square, 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. every week day, holidays excepted.

REAL ESTATE SALES

The following Weymouth transfers of real estate have been recorded this week at the Norfolk registry at Dedham.

D. Arthur Brown tr to Joseph Goodrow Jr. West street, Western avenue. D. Arthur Brown to Elizabeth E. Rayner, Twilight path. D. Arthur Brown to Thomas J. Troy, Intervale road. Matthew J. Coleman to Hannah M. Dunn, Lovell street. John V. Donovan et ux et al to Town of Weymouth, Centre street. Mary Evans to Fannie E. Nadell, Washington street. Alice B. L. French et al to Rhines Lumber Company, Commercial street. Peter F. Hagerty to Joseph P. Hagerty, Pearl street, Phillips creek. Hilda M. Kelly to Henry K. Alanian et al, East street. Ralph W. Loud gdn to Rhines Lumber Company, Commercial street. Charles C. Plummer et al to Charles A. Plummer. Parker L. Tirrell to Augustus Q. Williams, High street. William Endicott tr to Weymouth Savings Bank, Front street, 10,000.

THAT MORNING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on East Weymouth testimony. J. W. Snow, gardener, 73 Chard St., says: "I strained my back lifting some two years ago and it affected my kidneys. My back ached and was lame and sore mornings. When I straightened up quickly, a stitch took me in my back. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions and they were highly colored and burned. I had headaches and dizzy spells, too. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. Two boxes of Doan's entirely cured me and I haven't had any kidney trouble since." Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Snow had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

(Advertisement) 2t,8,9

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate; Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to William M. Reamy of said Weymouth without giving a surety on his bond.

MARY J. REAMY

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March, A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate; Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March, A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court. Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

GAZETTE ADS. PAY BEST

PROBATE NOTICES

Probate court is held in Norfolk county on the first four Wednesdays of the month. At Dedham, the first Wednesday; at Quincy, the second Wednesday; at Dedham, the third Wednesday; and at Brookline, the fourth Wednesday.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Weymouth in said County, deceased, intestate; Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, not already administered, to Laura E. Libbey of said Weymouth, or some other suitable person.

LUCIUS M. NEWCOMB

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March, A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court. Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court. To all persons interested in the estate of

FRANCIS S. TORREY

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased;

Whereas, William J. Holbrook the administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a probate court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the third day of March, A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested, in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss.

At the District Court of East Norfolk, holden at Quincy, within the County of Norfolk for civil business, on the twenty-third day of January A. D. 1920.

Joseph Mastrianno of Weymouth in the County of Norfolk, Plaintiff, vs. John Gabriell of Weymouth in said County of Norfolk, Defendant, and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation (Fore River Plant) a corporation duly existing by law and having a usual place of business in Quincy in said County of Norfolk, Trustee.

This is an action of Contract to recover two hundred and fifty dollars, alleged to be due to the Plaintiff from the Defendant on the seventh day of January, A. D. 1919 as set forth in the Plaintiff's writ of that date.

It appearing to the Court by the suggestion of the Plaintiff and on inspection of the officer's return on the Plaintiff's writ, that the Defendant was not an inhabitant of this Commonwealth, nor a resident therein at the time of the service of said writ, that he has no last and usual place of abode, tenant, agent or attorney in this Commonwealth known to the Plaintiff or to said officer; and that no personal service of said writ has been made upon the defendant.

It is ordered by the Court, here, that the Plaintiff give notice to the Defendant of the pendency of this action, and to appear before said Court, on Saturday, the twenty-eighth day of February A. D. 1920, to answer to the same, by causing an attested copy of this order to be published in the Weymouth Gazette a newspaper published in Weymouth, once in a week, three weeks successively; and that this action be continued to the said twenty-eighth day of February A. D. 1920, or until notice shall be given to the Defendant agreeably to this law.

LAWRENCE W. LYONS, Clerk. 3t,F6,13,20.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

Whereas, Louis F. Moshnicka of Weymouth in said County, has presented to said Court, a petition praying that his name may be changed to that of Louis F. Moss for the reasons therein set forth:

All persons are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the third day of March, A. D. 1920 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any they have why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F13,20,27

Notice To Voters REGISTRATION

Weymouth, January 30, 1920. Meetings of the Registrars of Voters for the purpose of receiving qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the election to be held on

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1920

will be held as follows:

Precinct 1—Engine House, North Weymouth, on Friday, February 13, from 7:30 to 8:15 P. M.
Precinct 2—At Town Office, Savings Bank Building, East Weymouth, on Saturday, February 21, from 12 M. to 10 P. M.
Precinct 3—Engine House, Weymouth, on Tuesday, February 17, from 7:30 to 9 P. M.
Precinct 4—Hose House, Nash's Corner, on Wednesday, February 18, from 7:45 to 8:15 P. M.
Precinct 5—Engine House, South Weymouth, on Thursday, February 19, from 7:30 to 8:15 P. M.
Precinct 6—Engine House, East Weymouth, on Thursday, February 12, from 7:30 to 9 P. M.

REGISTRATION WILL CLOSE on Saturday, February 21. The Registrars will be in session at the Town Office from 12 M. to 10 P. M.

The Board of Assessors will meet with the Registrars of Voters at all of their sessions.

BENJAMIN F. SMITH,
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
PATRICK E. CORRIGAN,
MARSHALL P. SPRAGUE,
Registrars of Voters of Weymouth. 3t,6,8

Town Clerk's Notice

Physicians, Midwives and Parents

Birth Returns

Town Clerk's Office, Weymouth, Feb. 5, 1920. Attention is called to the following law in relation of births which was passed by the legislature of 1912. CLAYTON B. MERCHANT, Town Clerk.

[CHAP. 280, ACTS OF 1912] AN ACT RELATIVE TO REPORTS AND RECORDS OF BIRTHS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Physicians and midwives shall, within forty-eight hours after the birth of every child in cases of which they were in charge mail or deliver to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a notice stating the date and place of the birth, giving the street and number, if any, the number of a ward in a city and the family name. Failure to mail or deliver the said notice shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense. The notice required by this section need not be given if the notice required by the following section is given within forty-eight hours after the birth occurs.

Section 2. Physicians and midwives shall make and keep a record of the birth of every child in cases of which they are in charge and shall within fifteen days after the birth; mail or deliver to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a report of the birth, stating the date and place, the name if any, of the child its sex and color, and the names, ages, places of birth, occupations and residence of the parents, giving the street number, if there be any and the number of a ward in a city, the maiden name of the mother, and whether or not the physician or midwife signed the birth return personally attended the birth. If the child is illegitimate, the name and other facts relating to the father shall not be stated except at the request in writing of both the father and the mother filed with the return. The record to be kept by the physician or midwife, as above provided, shall also contain the facts hereby required to be reported to the city or town clerk. The fee of the physician or midwife shall be twenty-five cents for every birth so reported, which shall be paid by the city or town where the report is made upon presentation to the city or town treasurer of a certificate from the city or town clerk stating that the said birth has been properly reported to him. The report required to be made by this section is in addition to the report required to be made by the preceding section, and as above provided, if made within forty-eight hours of the birth, the report required by the preceding section shall not be required. A physician or midwife who neglects to make and keep the record hereby required, or who neglects to report in the manner specified above, each birth within fifteen days thereafter shall for each offense forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars. The city or town clerk or registrar shall file daily with the local board of health a list of all births reported to him giving the following facts: date of birth, sex, color, family name, residence, ward, physician or midwife.

Section 3. Section three of chapter twenty-nine of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter ninety-three of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and ten is hereby repealed. [Approved March 21, 1912.] 4t,6,9

M. CESMER

COLLECTOR OF JUNK

Second-hand Furniture, etc.

41 BEACON STREET, QUINCY

Phone, Quincy, 679-M

12,87

READ THE GAZETTE ADS.

Why Every Person in Weymouth Should Go to Dr. King for Dentistry

USE DR. KING'S MOUTH WASH

My coming to Quincy was to supply a great need, namely to give the people High Grade Painless Dentistry at a nominal cost. This I am positively doing.

My Prices are the Lowest in the City for Good, Honest, Guaranteed Dental Work

My aim is to do the best work it is possible to do. No person is allowed to leave until it satisfies me, and, believe me, I am far more critical than you, no matter how particular you may be.

Absolute Painless Dentistry an Actual Fact

No matter how nervous you are or how sensitive your teeth may be, let me prove to you the merits of the above claim.

If I Hurt You Don't Pay Me

I have perfected my NOPAIN methods so that it is a pleasure to myself and the patient to take care of the most sensitive tooth as well as inserting crown, bridge work or a full set, and I guarantee that you will not feel it the least bit.

Crown and Bridge Work $5 up

Here is where the dentist must be an artist as well as a mechanic.

I Want the Public to Become Better Acquainted With This Truly Wonderful Set of Teeth.

You can bite corn off the cob, chew molasses candy, and shout as loud as you want, with these splendidly fitting teeth.

TEETH Full Set $8.00 up

Registered in U. S. Patent Office

Have Your Extraction Done by the NOPAIN METHOD. We guarantee it to be Absolutely Painless.

I want you to come in and ask me questions, for this is the only way you can find out how I carry on my business.

I INVITE CONSULTATION.

ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN.

DR. T. J. KING

Clarence W. King, D. D. S., Inc.

The Careful Dentist who promises that you will be satisfied.

1365 HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

Hours—9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Nurse in Attendance.

Phone Connection 2678-M

What "Slow" Accounts Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT, the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that effort which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

M. L. FLYNN, Commercial Manager.

FRANK A. MACK, M.D.

6 Beechwood Road East Braintree
Corner Quincy Ave. Tel. Braintree 295-W
Office Hours: 1 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.
Sundays, 8 to 10 A. M.
Boston Office: 188 Dartmouth Street, 4 to 6 P. M.
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and by appointment. Telephone, Back Bay 5499.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

PIANO TUNER

PLANOS FOR SALE
78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Telephone 1827-W Quincy.

Ralph S. Carr, M.D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

27 FRONT STREET, WEYMOUTH

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 P. M.
Tel. 656-M

Anniversary Column

10 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 18, 1910

Meeting of Weymouth Historical Society held in Fogg Library building, paper on "Norfolk County" read by Louis A. Cook.

Unity Circle of King's Daughters met with Mrs. Wendell Clapp, at her home on Front street.

Surprise party given Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts of Pleasant street. They were presented a chair in honor of the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

Linen shower tendered Miss Emma Raymond at residence of her brother, Robert, on Fairmount avenue.

Rock Island Gun Club gave another one of their successful dances in Music hall.

Party of fifteen young people hired one of A. S. Marsh's big puns and went on a sleigh ride.

Deaths, Daniel Donovan, Mrs. Catherine Pratt, Mrs. Mary I. Fitts, Mrs. Julia Litchfield, Mrs. Carrie Church.

20 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 23, 1900

Republican ward caucus. Pythians celebrate their 30th anniversary.

Exhibition of 100 photographs owned by the Appalachian Mountain Club or Boston at Tufts Library, showing views of the Alps in winter.

The Misses Sullis entertain fifty friends at a Valentine party.

Surprise party to Miss Annie Sheehan.

Mrs. Stephen Tirrell celebrates her 60th anniversary.

Fairmount Cemetery Circle holds annual fair in Opera House.

Unitarian Ladies Social Circle at their annual meeting elect Mrs. Mary French president, Mrs. Mary R. Flint vice president, Mrs. Carrie B. Lovell secretary, Mrs. Addie Raymond treasurer.

The Library Committee of the South Weymouth Improvement Association have a Grand Bazaar in aid of Fogg Library. The several tables were liberally patronized and a pleasing entertainment was given. The Librarian reported the total number of volumes in library 3,744 and a circulation the past year of 25,395.

The death of Col. Benjamin Starks Lovell a prominent citizen. Born at East Weymouth July 10, 1845. Served in Civil war at age of 17 years. President of J. P. Lovell Arms Co., succeeding his father at his death. Took active part in town affairs. Married Mary Anna Holmes.

Married, Hattie Louise Dyer to Julius Palmer Johnson; Josephine Hollis to Bert W. Nash.

Death of Mrs. Abbie A. Rice.

30 YEARS AGO

Gazette, February 21, 1890

Fifth annual concert and ball of East Weymouth Branch L. P. U. Floor director, Edward Howley.

Quarterly meeting of Clark Christian Endeavor Union at Union Church.

Weather tantrums experienced, one day a drizzle of rain followed by driving snow storm; a shower of hail, a rattling thunder storm with vivid flashes lightning followed in quick succession. Two days later a good old-fashioned snow storm, the first of any account this season.

Resolutions by Weymouth Savings Bank on Naaman L. White, a late officer and long a trustee, career dating back to 1856.

Topage Club met with Miss Mabel Smith, John Nash elected president.

Firemen of Ward Two have oyster supper at Engine hall, compliments of Richard G. Haskell who appreciated quick run of engine to alarm for fire at his factory.

Visitors Week in public schools of Town.

Mrs. Trott celebrated 70th birthday at home of R. K. Trott.

Annual fair and entertainment of Ladies East Weymouth Cemetery Association.

Unitarians hold sixth sociable at Masonic hall, very successful and largely attended. J. Otis Bates in charge of committee on arrangements.

Citizens Improvement and Debating Society form with these temporary officers, president, Thornton Lewis; vice president, George T. Magee; secretary, Edwin J. Fennell; treasurer, Joseph A. Cushing.

Congressman Elijah A. Morse delivers address before Congress on Congressional Rules.

Married, Elizabeth Marshall Nash to William E. Pray.

Deaths, Ellis Boage, Jane Lynch, Julia Welch Ellen Fogarty.

40 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 20, 1880

In the Library Building suit, executors of Susan Tufts vs. Town of Weymouth, the Supreme court decides in favor of the Town.

A leap year party by ladies of Universalist Church. Those in charge, Mrs. E. F. Holmes, Mrs. E. P. Gay, Miss J. A. Lane, Mrs. A. R. Hunt, Miss C. A. Lowrey.

Teachers in public schools hold meeting at home of George Baker.

Ye old folk party at Lincoln hall; music furnished by A. White's band; the veteran promoter now 72 years gave the calls lustily as ever, even after 51 years in the business.

General Bates Engine Co. hold social at Engine hall.

Sidney Bates recently discharged after 5 years service in the Regular Army and of late, stationed in Wyoming territory has returned to his parents' home.

Delphi lodge, K. of P., have arranged a course of four lectures, with Prof. Bedford and Miss Lilla Barnard, that will consist of stereopticon views.

Annual fair of Ladies Social Club of Pilgrim church at North Weymouth.

Active Engine Company gave a complimentary supper and grand entertainment. Readings by Hattie Dyer, music by Messrs. Lincoln, Brown and Richmond.

Married, Miss Lizzie A. Denbroeder to Frank P. Raymond; Miss Jennie E. Hollis to Alfred M. Richardson.

Death of Sally French.

50 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 18, 1870

The reconstruction of the Weymouth Iron Company's mill was completed. Christopher T. Bailey dropped from the force of State Constables.

The License Bill which passed the House of Representatives contained 22 sections and granted liquor to be sold but not drank on the premises.

Messrs. Derby and Wilber of Weymouth voted nay.

F. M. Dodge, superintendent of schools, announced the public school examinations in the Gazette.

D. B. Brooks & Brother carried a fine stock of stationery at their store, 51 Washington street.

Horse owned by S. Lovell fell through the ice, but was rescued by aid of fence rails.

Barrel of good flour could be purchased at J. Binney & Co. for $6.

The Grand lodge, I. O. G. T., held its annual convention at Worcester.

Willis & Worster, grocers, dissolved partnership. The business was continued by J. G. Worster & Co.

Marriage of George F. Cushing and Rosa C. Vining.

Death of Thomas Curran.

Trustworthy

YOU CAN TRUST THEM WITH YOUR FINE CLOTHES

Oh, my yes! you can trust us with your fine linens and your delicate fabrics. We will treat them with as much consideration as they receive in your own home. We will call for and deliver the washing and can assure you that you will be pleased with the moderate cost.

Monarch Wet Wash Laundry
EAST WEYMOUTH
Tel. 530-769-M

For Sale 6 Room Dwelling and Store

It is centrally located, near the square, railroad station and electric cars. Will pay 12% on investment. Price

$3,200

Russell B. Worster
REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Storage Rooms

For Furniture and Other Merchandise

—AT—
C. W. JOY'S

Bonded Storage Warehouse

159 Middle Street, East Weymouth

Second Hand Furniture For Sale

Tel. 242-M

Insure Your Automobile

AGAINST

Theft Collision, Fire, Liability, WITH

H. FRANKLIN PERRY

104 Front Street, Weymouth, Mass.

Tel. 513-M

Best Companies Lowest Rate

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

PFEFFERKORN & TREDENICK CO

Furniture and Piano Movers

GENERAL TRUCKING

42 Myrtle Street East Weymouth
Telephone Wey. 265-M

Thomas Carrigg & Son

Designers and Manufacturers of

ARTISTIC MONUMENTS

In All Kinds of Granite

ALSO BUILDING WORK
JOBGING

SHOW YARDS AND WORKS:

WEYMOUTH STREET

HOLBROOK, MASS.

TELEPHONE

RANDOLPH 196-W

SAVE AGENTS COMMISSION

Buy off the man who does his own work, with thirty-six years' experience.

Telephone or write and auto will go any distance to show you our stock on hand.

JOHN NEILSON

Jeweler

Jackson Square

East Weymouth

PIANOS TUNED

Expert player-piano repairer

Work Guaranteed

Edward E. Nash

777 Broad Street - East Weymouth

Tel. 522-R

Formerly Inspecting to Hallet & Davis. Expert in Felting. Stringing. Examined Free.

T. J. CONNOR

Practical Plumber

Steam, Hot Water and Warm Air Heating

Sheet Metal Work

General Repairing

Estimates cheerfully given.

Satisfaction guaranteed.

25 Pleasant St., South Weymouth

Tel. 312-W

W. H. FARRAR & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Repairs

Tin Roofing and General Jobbing.

ESTIMATES GIVEN

Business Established 1883

Peakes Building, Jackson Square

Telephone Connection

If you have any Insurance you will do well to consult with

E. D. SWEET

(BROKER)

371 WASHINGTON STREET

WEYMOUTH, MASS.

I handle all lines and am able to quote lowest rates obtainable, representing any company in the State of Massachusetts and authorized agents of any foreign Insurance Co.

Tel. Weymouth 118-M; Main 5076

15, 13

Weymouth Deliveries

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

AUTO SUPPLIES

Tube Vulcanizing

GOODRICH TIRES

LOUIS H. ELLS

160 Main Street, South Weymouth

Telephone, Weymouth 581-W

ROGERS & GOODSPEED

Furniture and Piano Moving

ALL KINDS OF TRUCKING

Promptly attended to.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

Sure Relief

BELL'S
FOR INDIGESTION

Vaseline

PETROLEUM JELLY

For burns, cuts, sprains and all skin irritations. Relieves dryness of scalp.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES

CHESTERBROUGH MFG. CO.
State Street New York

RHEUMATISM

Mustardine Subdues the Inflammation and Eases the Soreness Quicker Than Anything Else on Earth.

Pay only 30 cents and get a big box of Mustardine, which is the original mustard plaster and is made of strong, real, yellow mustard—no substitutes are used.

It's known as the quickest pain killer on earth, for in hundreds of instances it stops headache, neuralgia, toothache, earache and backache in 5 minutes. It's a sure, speedy remedy—none better for bronchitis, pleurisy, lumbago, and to draw the inflammation from your sore feet there is nothing so good. You get real action with Mustardine—it goes after the pain and kills it right on the spot. Yes, it burns, but it won't blister—it doesn't give agonizing pain a slap on the wrist. It does give it a good healthy punch in the jaw—it kills pain. Ask for and get Mustardine always in the yellow box.

S. C. Wells & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

STOPS PAIN
MUSTARDINE
CANNOT BLISTER

BAKER'S Pure
Fruit EXTRACTS
For Sale at All Grocers
BAKER EXTRACT COMPANY
Springfield, Mass. and Portland, Maine

TOO LATE

Death only a matter of short time. Don't wait until pains and aches become incurable diseases. Avoid painful consequences by taking

GOLD MEDAL
HARLEM OIL
CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles—the National Remedy of Holland since 1896. Guaranteed. Three sizes, all druggists. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

OLIVE TAR
For internal and external use
Proven best for six to twelve years in thousands of homes—for all bronchial and catarrhal troubles, inflammation, chilblains and all cold weather ills.
HALL & RUCKEL, Inc.
215 Washington St. New York

ASTHMA
Learn How to Make Automobile Pollen; prevent dust; reduce body heat; clear the gallbladder; full directions (20¢ stamps).
Automotive Mfg. Co., Box 1825, Washington, D.C.

FRECKLES
POSITIVELY REMOVED BY Dr. Barry's Freckle Ointment—Yale, N.Y. 20¢ per box. Dr. Barry, 207 1/2 Michigan Avenue, Chicago

FIND WEALTH IN WINTER

Canadian Farmers Turn Winter Months to Good Account.

Large crops and good prices for the wheat, oats, barley and flax from Canadian farms have made the winter months in California at times resemble a meeting of a Canadian farmers' institute, but the practice among successful farmers of spending their winter holidays seems to be on the wane. After all, nothing can be more tiresome than having nothing to do, and the farmers of Western Canada are now finding winter employment right on their farms which rivals the attractions of the sunny South.

Live stock is the explanation, according to a six-foot Westerner who dropped into the Canadian Government Information Bureau at 311 Jackson street, St. Paul. He was on his way back to Western Canada with a carload of selected breeding stock which had carried off blue ribbons at several state fairs in 1919. "We have found," said he, "that there is just as much pleasure and a great deal more profit in developing a herd of prize stock as in listening to the murmur of the sad sea waves. Where we used to grow grain exclusively now we are raising stock as well. The fact that steers raised in Western Canada took the grand championship at the International Live Stock Show at Chicago two years in succession shows how well we are getting along. And instead of depleting our bank rolls we add a tidy sum to them."

"But don't you find the life monotonous?"
"Not in the least. You see, we have a rural club which meets in our school house, where we thrash out all kinds of problems. Here we exchange ideas and also have occasional talks from government experts, and the man who goes abroad for the winter only realizes how much he has missed when at a summer picnic he hears an address by a neighbor that would do credit to a college graduate."

"It was at one of these meetings that we decided to import a prize-winning stallion, and today our district is raising some of the best draft horses in Canada. The carload of breeding stock which I am now shipping to my farm is indirectly the result of our club meetings. We are going to make that little corner of Saskatchewan one of the big stock centers of America. Why shouldn't we? Everything is in our favor—climate, fertility, cheap land, free grazing land adjoining lots of farms, creameries, government supervision. You know how energetic the northern climate makes a man? Well, it's just like that with stock. They get to be great, husky fellows, hardy and big-framed—and that counts on market day."

"Come up and see me some time," were his parting words as he left to catch his train. "I'll show you some of the finest land and live stock out of doors, and treat you to a real farm meal—everything but the coffee and sugar grown right on my farm. That counts some in these days of high prices."—Advertisement.

Depopulated Nebraska Town.
Forty years ago, just as the city of Lowell, Neb., which was then at the end of the railroad and had 6,000 inhabitants, was about to lose its importance because of the extension of the railroad, a shopkeeper had the poor judgment to lay in a complete stock of goods. The stock is still there, for the disgruntled owner shut up the store and has never since opened it for business. Lowell now is populated by fewer than thirty persons.

YOUNGSTERS!

Need "Cascarets" when Sick, Bilious, Constipated.

When your child is bilious, constipated, sick or full of cold; when the little tongue is coated, breath bad and stomach sour, get a box of Cascarets and straighten the little one right up. Children gladly take this harmless candy cathartic and it cleanses the little liver and bowels without griping. Cascarets contain no calomel or dangerous drugs and can be depended upon to move the sour bile, gases and indigestible waste right out of the bowels. Best family cathartic because it never cramps, sickens or causes inconvenience.—Adv.

A Mouthful.
The intense Miss Miggs—Do you not think that the communists, by the doctrine of syndicalism and mass action, shall ultimately develop an insurgency which shall impose the soviet principle on industry as a whole?
The dense Mr. Boggs—You said it!—Judge.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 3/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

Gold Talks.
He—"Why so sad, dearest? Hasn't my avowal the true ring?" She—"Yes, but my finger hasn't, as yet."—Boston Transcript.

SYMPATHY

By R. RAY BAKER

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Alphonse MacGregor Smith was a queer mortal.

Although his combination of French, Scotch and plain American names was part of his queerness, that was not what worried the young men and women of the social set of which he was a member.

The thing that made them look askance at Alphonse was his ambition. He wanted to do something in the world, and, of course, such an idea was all nonsense, because Alphonse's father could write a check in one figure and six ciphers if he wanted to.

Although the idea that he should work grew on Alphonse, he began keeping his own counsel in the matter, for whenever he had mentioned a job the young men of his acquaintance had always sneered and the young ladies had laughed outright and told him he was a good joker.

One of these girls played a big part in Alphonse's visions of the future. Her name was Clara Lennox and her family was quite as well fixed financially as the Smiths. Although he had never broached the subject to her, it was pretty well understood that some day a matrimonial partnership would ensue from their associations. Their parents encouraged this idea, for it was considered a good match.

And yet Clara would not sympathize with Alphonse's ambition.

"If you want to work," she contended, "why don't you get a position as manager in one of your father's factories? If you feel that you ought to gratify your whim, pick out something soft, and if you fall you won't land so hard."

This might have been practical advice, but what Alphonse wanted was to climb the success ladder with his own ability and not an influential father as his support.

Now, Alphonse had a secret. He nourished a conviction that he could paint pictures. For years he had practiced it on the sly, and an old artist with whom he had a clandestine acquaintance told him he was a natural-born painter. All he needed was the proper environment, said this authority, and the urge of necessity and he was bound to make good. In talking of a job Alphonse never had dared broach the subject of art for fear it would land him in an asylum for the insane.

Finally he could stand it no longer. He told his parents he needed a change of atmosphere. His father offered him a trip West, but Alphonse said it was a different kind of atmosphere he desired.

"Give me $200 and three months and don't try to find me. I'll write to you," he said.

To his friends he offered various excuses, and then took himself to a quarter of the city where artists and authors held sway. He rented a studio, bought what equipment he did not already have and went to work.

During his first month with art he hired a number of different professional models and painted several pictures which he placed on sale at stores devoted to the products of the easel, but none of them sold. He knew there was something lacking in his pictures, but there was no one to tell him what it was. At the beginning of his wrestle with work Alphonse tried to find his old artist friend, but the latter was abroad, although he was expected home soon.

At the end of his first month of unsuccessful effort he went once more in quest of the artist. The little house he had occupied in the colony showed signs of life this time, and a rather diminutive, young girl with curly yellow hair, deep, serious pools of blue eyes and an olive complexion answered his knock.

"Mr. Smith?" she said, raising her eyebrows. "Yes, I've heard of you—from father. But father—father died a month ago in Italy."

Alphonse expressed his sympathy and started away. She called: "Perhaps I could help you, if it's something about painting. Father used to say I was his best critic. I'll be frank and tell you I'm out of funds. If you need a model—"

Alphonse liked the suggestion, but he was low on funds himself. He could get more from home, but he had resolved to go it alone. He explained that he was meeting no success whatever, and that he was in no position to offer the girl much remuneration, but she said she was willing to risk it and agreed to go to his studio the next morning.

On his way back to his workshop, his mind occupied with thoughts of his new acquaintance, he stopped in a store which had his goods on display. To his surprise none of his pictures were in sight.

"I sold every one of them and can get rid of more," cried the storekeeper, rubbing his hands. "You have a thousand dollars coming and I'll hand it to you now."

Filled with elation, Alphonse hurried on his way, and in the studio he wrapped up two pictures he had finished the day before. With these under an arm he started back to the store. At the corner he paused, for he had seen a familiar figure enter the establishment. It was Clara Lennox, and Alphonse understood. Slowly he retraced his steps, entered the studio and dumped the two pictures in a corner.

"It's fine of Clara!" he said. "She's trying to help me, but she doesn't understand. It's like pampering a spoiled child. I'll take no more pictures to that store, and I'll not use a cent of the thousand. I want to make good on merit."

The next morning the new model appeared, and then and there Alphonse started on a career of hard work that exceeded his most ambitious dreams. The model became the boss. When he suggested a pose she took matters into her own hands and improved it.

"Don't put all the color on the robes," was the way she went on. "Make them harmonize with the surroundings. That line is too straight; it doesn't look natural. Take out some of the contrast like this," and she took the brush from him and demonstrated.

Thus things continued for a month, and Alphonse's funds became exhausted. Nevertheless the girl did not desert him. He painted various articles and she insisted on adding some rings to the collection.

So she labored with him and shared his frugal repasts in the studio, while every evening he walked home with her. All this time he worked on one picture, and when it finally was finished her verdict was:

"It will be a success. I will get it on exhibition in the library display next week. My father's name will help."

A week passed, Alphonse was working on a new picture and his model had gone to the library to see how the picture was "taking." He sat and smoked and thought—just thought. A rap on the door interrupted his cogitations, and when he opened it Clara Lennox stepped in.

"Have you had enough of it?" she inquired, and her lip curled as she surveyed his surroundings. "Are you ready to give up?"

"No," he replied. "I'm just getting started. I'm going to be a success."

"Very well," she shrugged her shoulders. "I've done what I can. But if you insist on remaining in this hole, let it be understood that it's all over with us. It's a matter of choice between your art"—she gave the word unnecessary emphasis—"and me."

The door was pushed open and a radiant face, framed with yellow curls, peeped in.

Clara took the roll of bills from Alphonse and stalked majestically to the door.

"I understand," she said coldly and significantly, and was gone.

The little model looked after her and her eyes snapped. Then she turned to Alphonse.

"You win!" she exclaimed. "The Girl of the Sands" takes the prize. It brought $2,000—from old Jacob Geerling, the famous art collector."

She seated herself on a three-legged stool and sighed.

"I don't want to seem inquisitive," she said, "but is that the girl you're going to marry?"

Alphonse went to her and with an arm around her drew her head to his breast.

"No," he told her. "The girl I am going to marry is right here in this room now. That is, I'm going to marry her, if she—"

EVEN JEFFERSON COULD ERR

Great Statesman on Record as Having Pulled "Boner" in Matter of Natural History.

It is related that when Thomas Jefferson journeyed from Monticello to Philadelphia, on his way to take the oath of office as vice-president, he carried a lot of bones in his baggage. The bones, alleged to be those of a mammoth, had been found in Greenbrier county, Va., and sent to Monticello, where they were set up by Jefferson, who, it appears, entertained a somewhat exaggerated notion of his attainments in natural history, and who stood sponsor for the bones as those of "a carnivorous-clawed animal entirely unknown to science."

It was not until after Jefferson reached Philadelphia that he was undeceived, for at a glance the learned Dr. Wistar saw that they were the bones of the common sloth, several specimens of which he showed the Virginian.

It has been pointed out that, indirectly, no less a naturalist than the great Buffon may have been responsible for Jefferson's error. It was the Virginian's practice to send Buffon specimens and information, and with the subtle flattery of a courtier the French naturalist wrote:

"I should have consulted you, sir, before publishing my natural history, and then I should have been sure of the facts."

Romance of Childhood.

The little boy who hunts Indians is every little boy in America. Along the alley warpaths of the congested city and out on the rolling prairies of the back pasture the relentless pursuit goes on day after day. Each night millions of little hearts are uplifted in thanksgiving that the red-skinned savages lurk about the world to be hunted. An occasional green-apple nightmare in which the hunter is scalped and tied to the stake only serves to enhance the thrill of following the trail next afternoon as soon as school is out.

The eye of the six-year-old which makes a piece of barrel hoop look like a tomahawk is the romantic spirit. The form of this spirit of romance persists beyond the allotted three score and ten. Because of it no theater is fittingly equipped unless it has sundry coats of mail and back-drap castles.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder Is Troubling You.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

Brainy Man.

"Got a cold, eh? Are you suitably dressed? Do you wear medium underclothing?"

"Well, yes. That is I have a very light suit and a very heavy one."

"Do you mean to tell me you've been wearing one and then the other?"

"Yes. I thought they would average up all right."—Boston Transcript.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils to Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dizziness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, give you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.—Adv.

No Discussion.

"I don't hear a word of discussion about the film," remarked the house manager. "The people seem to be departing in utter silence."

"Well, it was a story about an abused wife, and that's a good theme for married couples to keep away from."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DYED HER BLOUSE, SKIRT AND A COAT

"Diamond Dyes" Turned Faded, Shabby, Old Apparel Into New.

Don't worry about perfect results. Use "Diamond Dyes," guaranteed to give a new, rich, fadeless color to any fabric, whether it be wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods—dresses, blouses, stockings, skirts, children's coats, feathers—everything!

Direction Book in package tells how to dye with ease over any color. To match any material, have dealer show you "Diamond Dye" Color Card.—Adv.

Too Busy to Weep for Old Days.

And when a woman is trying to raise eight or nine children she doesn't waste much time regretting the passing of old-fashioned southern hospitality.—Dallas News.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot sud of Cuticura Soap, and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Adv.

Sometimes They Won't.

"I hear they have a fish trust in Europe."

"Do you mean to say the fish won't bite for an independent operator?"

How's This?

We offer $100.00 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Sold by druggists for over forty years. Price 50c. Testimonials free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

According to an old bachelor, the nice thing about getting married is that you don't have to.

For a disordered liver, take

Garfield Tea, the Herb laxative. All druggists.—Adv.

Over 210,000 women in the British

Isles were widowed by the war.

As long as a man can keep his temper

he is not his own worst enemy.

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sana-tive Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINSKI, 3627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life. Women who suffer are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

THEY do not fear coughs, colds and allied complaints. For over 60 years they have relied on

GRAY'S SYRUP
RED SPRUCE GUM

for prompt results. With the lowered strength and vitality of age they realize more than ever before the importance of having Gray's Syrup on hand for immediate use.

They always buy the Large Size

Montreal D. WATSON & CO., New York

DON'T GO TO BED WITH A COLD

TAKE HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR

relieves colds, coughing, throat and bronchial troubles in a good, old-fashioned, safe, quick, home way.

30c at all druggists.

For aching teeth—File's Toothache Drops.

GOLDS

are unnecessary—but if you feel one coming on take immediately

HURLBURN'S Camphor Pills

and stop the cold at the very start.

25 CENTS AT ALL DRUGGISTS

THE KELL COMPANY, Newburgh, N. Y.

In No Great Hurry.

Winkley gazed at the new triplets with fatherly pride, but not a little apprehension in his eye, nevertheless. "What are you thinking, dear?" asked Mrs. Winkley softly.

"Nothing, dear, nothing," he said, falteringly; "only don't you think that it would be wiser for us hereafter to build up our little family on the installment plan?"—Stray Stories.

Without Doubt.

"What does that rich publisher consider his best seller?"

"The one he stocked up before the drought."

Garfield Tea, the incomparable laxative, pleasant to take, pure, mild in action and wonderfully health-giving.—Adv.

Missed

Annie—So Jack is engaged, is he?

And is Mabel the bride-to-be?

Fanny—No; she is the tried-to-be.

BACK GIVEN OUT?

There's surely some reason for that lame, aching back. Likely it's your kidneys. A cold or strain oftentimes congests the kidneys and slows them up. That may be the reason for that nagging backache, those sharp pains, that tired, worn-out feeling. You may have headaches and dizzy spells, too, with annoying bladder irregularity. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

A Massachusetts Case

J. W. Snow, Gardener, 23 Chard St., E. Weymouth, Mass. "I suffered some two years ago and it affected my kidneys. My back ached and was lame and sore in the morning. When I raised up quickly a stitch took me in my back. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions and they were highly colored and burned. I had headaches and dizzy spells. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and two boxes entirely cured me of kidney trouble."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Stop Your Coughing

No need to let that cough persist. Stop the irritation, and remove tickling and hoarseness by soothing the inflamed throat with

WRIGLEY'S

For mother, father, the boys and girls. It's the sweet for all ages—at work or play.

When you're nervous or tired, see how it refreshes!

The Flavor Lasts

SEALED TIGHT—KEPT RIGHT

HIS TIME FULLY TAKEN UP

Tramp Engaged in Much More Important Occupation Than Merely Looking for Work.

ig, strong, healthy-looking fellow ed at the kitchen door and asked smething to eat, but the woman ot charitably disposed. "Why don't you get some work?" she snapped. "I haven't time, ma'am." "Haven't time?" she asked in surprise. "No, ma'am; I'm busy." "Busy, indeed," she said sarcastically. "I'd like to know what keeps you busy?" "Tearin' round from house to house, ma'am." "What?" "Tearin' round from house to house, ma'am, tryin' to git something to eat, takes up all my time, so I don't have any left to work in. That's the whole truth, ma'am; and if you don't give me a bite I'll have to waste two or three precious hours, ma'am, lookin' for somebody that will!" And his nerve saved him.

Does Double Duty.

The weight of the cars descending South African mine is used to produce power by pulling a cable wound around a drum that drives a generator.

Economy.

"Are you giving away your old shoes?" "No; I am having them soled and resoled."

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Small Town People Had a Great Idea, but It Was Disappointing to the "Drummer."

A commercial traveler arrived for the first time at a small country town one evening. Early next morning he was awakened by a great blowing of whistles, steam sirens, buzzers, etc. Rejoicing in the thought of doing a lot of business, he asked the hotel proprietor later on: "This is quite a manufacturing town, isn't it?" "Oh, yes; we're pretty busy," was the proud reply. "What kind of factories have you?" "Well—this time more slowly—" "flour principally." "Only flour?" "Yes, that's all as yet. But our flour mill's a good one." "But I heard at least a dozen whistles going this morning." "You did," agreed the proprietor, dropping his voice, confidentially, "but they are all at the flour mill. You see, we got the whistles we should want for the factories we are going to have, and put them in to make the town sound more lively. Quite 'civilized,' ain't it?" —London Answers.

A Rea; Finish.

"I understand you have put the finishing touch on your new home." "Yes; just put a mortgage on it." He is a wise man who makes the mistake of giving a woman's age too young.

Your Table Drink

should bring you comfort as well as appetizing flavor. Let us Suggest

INSTANT POSTUM

If you have used this pleasing table beverage, you know its wholesome charm.

If you have never tried Instant Postum, you have a delight in store.

All Grocers sell Postum "There's a Reason"

AQUATIC SPORT CAME BACK TO ITS OWN DURING 1919, FOLLOWING THE BIG WAR

Notable Figures in Rowing World During Year 1919

Rowing enthusiasts plan to make the year 1920 a notable one in the annals of the aquatic sport. Last year rowing was restored to the popularity it enjoyed before the war, despite the fact that the intercollegiate regatta was not held on the Hudson last June. Many other rowing events were carried out on successful scale.

One of the most notable victories of the year in rowing events was that of Alfred Felton of Australia over Ernest Barry on the Thames, England, October 27. Barry had held the sculling title since 1912, when he had defeated Richard Arnst. Felton, in wresting the honors from Barry, won by a margin of six lengths and helped to make the year notably consistent in regard to upsets in sports.

The navy was considered by the majority as the best of the college crews in 1919. The Middles defeated both Penn and Syracuse in the American Henley on May 31. Penn later won the Childs cup meet at Princeton and afterwards Cornell downed the Red and Blue in a dual race. Early in the season Yale trimmed the Tigers on the Housatonic.

First Post-War Race.

The Yale-Harvard tussle, the first post-war race, was resumed with all of its former color and brilliancy. The Blue won the dual classic in splendid fashion, although the Crimson was the favorite.

One of the largest crowds that ever attended the National regatta witnessed the races at Worcester. It was estimated that more than 25,000 saw the events from the banks and other vantage points. The Duluth Boat club oarsmen, as has been their custom for the past five years, carried off most of the events, winning five of the twelve championships.

Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat club of Philadelphia carried away the title as national sculling champion, having things virtually his own way. The Duluth crew won the national senior eight race and the Century Boat club of St. Louis captured first place in the senior fours. The national senior doubles race was won by William Faulkner and Cary of the Riverside Boat club of Cambridge.

Kelly, in addition to winning the sculling championship, established a new amateur record for a quarter of a mile. He covered the distance on the Schuylkill river in 1:14 3-5.

Regatta to Be Revived.

There was considerable harangue and much speculation as to the holding of the regatta on the Poughkeepsie, but the year passed without the tournament being held. However the regatta which previously to the war was one of the spectacles of the rowing season, will be revived next spring on an even more pretentious scale.

The stewards have decided to make the distance three miles instead of four and it is expected that all in the race will again enter, as well as several others. It is quite likely that two or more Western crews will be invited to participate in the meet, including Leland Stanford and Washington universities from the Pacific coast.

IMMENSE SUMS PAID FOR STARS IN BASEBALL

1919—Babe Ruth, bought by New York from Boston Red Sox	$125,000
1916—Tris Speaker, bought by Cleveland from Boston Red Sox for $50,000, and Pitcher Sam Jones and Infielder Fred Thomas	55,000
1917—Grover Alexander and Bill Killefer, bought by Chicago Cubs from Philadelphia Athletics for $50,000; Pitcher Mike Prendergast and Catcher "Pickles" Dilhoefer	55,000
1915—Joe Jackson, bought by Chicago White Sox from Cleveland Americans for $22,000; Pitcher Ed Klepper and Outfielder Bob Roth	50,000
1914—Eddie Collins, bought by Chicago White Sox from Philadelphia Athletics	50,000
1913—Jack McInnis, Wally Schang, Joseph Bush and Amos Strunk, bought by Boston Red Sox for $50,000; Pitcher Vean Gregg, Catcher Otis Thomas and Outfielder Merlin Kopp	65,000
1912—Carl May, bought by New York Yankees from Boston Red Sox for $50,000; Pitchers McGraw and Russell	45,000
1911—Arthur Neff, bought by New York Giants from Boston Braves for $50,000; Pitchers Oeschger, Causey and Jones and Catcher O'Neill	40,000
1910—Frank Baker, bought by New York Yankees from Philadelphia Athletics	37,500
1918—Benny Kauff, bought by New York Nationals from Federal League	35,000
1916—Charley Herzog, bought by New York Nationals from Cincinnati Reds for $25,000; Mathewson, Roush and McKechnie (1916 value)	40,000
1915—Lee McGee, bought by New York Yankees from Federal League	22,500
1912—Marty O'Toole, bought by Pittsburgh Nationals from St. Paul American Association	22,500

BOYLE IS YOUNGEST JOCKEY

E. R. Bradley's Crack Lightweight Rider Is Just Sixteen Years Old —Leading Pigskin Artist.

Jockey Simpson Boyle, E. R. Bradley's crack lightweight contract rider, is one of the youngest pigskin artists on the American turf today. He is just sixteen years old, and succeeded in piloting his first winner to the wire last February. While he has been riding but a short time Boyle ranks among the leading jockeys of the country.

ENGAGES A 100 TO 1 JOCKEY

James de Rothschild Is Buying More Horses and Secures Services of Edwin Piper.

James de Rothschild, whose Cambridgeshire coup with Brigand is still being discussed, is buying more horses and has engaged Edwin Piper, who rode Aboyeur, the 100 to 1 Epsom derby winner of 1913, as his first jockey for next season.

ADAMS TO GET 30,000 LIRE

Amount of Salary to Be Given American Athlete Who Is Coaching Italians Given Out.

Platt Adams, the American athlete who has been engaged to train the Italians who will participate in the Antwerp Olympic games, will receive 30,000 lire from the Italian Olympic committee. John Haddleton, an American Y. M. C. A. trainer, has been engaged to coach the Rome athletes entered for the games. The expense will be defrayed by the athletic societies of Rome.

Platt Adams.

MAY SEND TEAM TO ENGLAND

Field and Track Athletes From Yale and Harvard Likely to Be Sent Overseas.

Yale and Harvard may combine field and track talent and send a team to England next summer to engage in a dual meet with Oxford and Cambridge. Harvard's athletic body will consider the subject this week and is expected to act favorably.

WANT ANOTHER OUTFIELDER

Chicago Cubs Would Like to Land Hard-Hitting Right-Hander to Replace Paskert.

The Chicago Cubs are out to land another outfielder who is a right-hand hitter. Dode Paskert is slated for other fields, according to reports. Flack, Barber and Robertson are all left-hand hitters.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Jinxed.

One hot day I met Browne as he was getting out of his car. We are both auto fans, and naturally fell to discussing our machines.

"I'm certainly Jonah'd this season," said he, mournfully. "I've had ten tires go bad on me since the first of May."

"Gee whiz!" I exclaimed, sympathetically.

The words were scarcely out of my mouth when a terrific explosion occurred in the rear of Browne's car. The extra tire strapped to the back of his car had exploded. He had pumped it up too hard and the extreme heat had done the rest.—Exchange.

Balance the Books Occasionally.

It is good to have money and the things that money can buy, but it's good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy.—Anon.

Constipation, indigestion, sick-headache and bilious conditions are overcome by a course of Garfield Tea.—Adv.

When a woman looks in a mirror she is luckily never able to see herself as other women see her.

Any old thing that goes against the grain of the porcupine gets the worst of it.

COLDS breed and Spread INFLUENZA

KILL THE COLD AT ONCE WITH

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy for 20 years—in tablet form—safe, sure, no opiates—breaks up a cold in 24 hours—relieves grip in 3 days. Money back if it fails. The genuine box has a Red top with Mr. Hill's picture. At All Drug Stores

CURES WHILE YOU SLEEP

NO PAIN. NO TROUBLE. IN USE OVER 30 YEARS

— KOHLER — ONE NIGHT CORN CURE

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE

PRICE 15 CENTS EVERYWHERE AT DRUG STORES AND GENERAL STORES

Kohler Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Here's a Fine Tonic

Laxative, Says Druggist

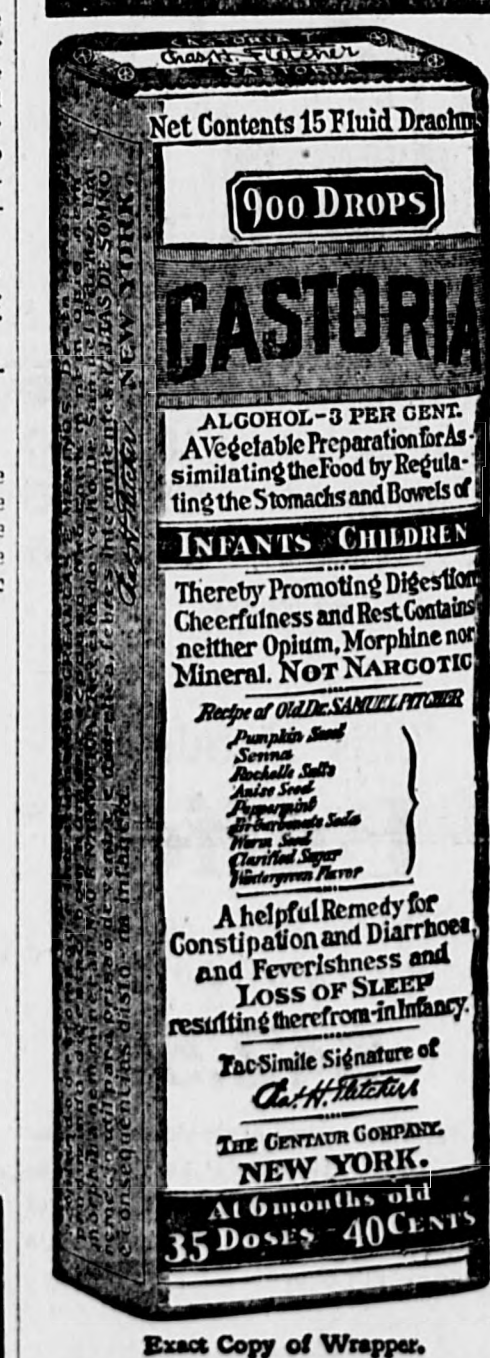

If you want better blood, clear complexion and sparkling eyes take

Celery King

Normal bowel action, perfect working stomach and sweet breath follow its use. Children drink it with enjoyment.

Cuticura Talcum is Fragrant and Very Healthful

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Mothers Know That Genuine Castoria

Always Bears the Signature of

In Use For Over Thirty Years CASTORIA

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff, Stops Hair Falling, Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 50c and $1.00 at drug stores. Hinton Chem. Wks. Co., Paterson, N. J.

HINDER CORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the foot, makes walking easy. 10c. by mail or at drug stores. Hinton Chem. Wks. Co., Paterson, N. J.

IF YOU WILL INVEST IN A GOLD MINE showing promise of raising another crop of millions, write the Mountain Flower Gold Mine Company, St. Joseph, Mo.

NEW ENGLAND FARMS FOR SALE

With 1st of location; elevation from 600 to 1,000 feet. Write for catalog. Racine's Farm Agency, Danielson, Connecticut.

Served Him Right.

"Have you 'Love's Right Dream'?" asked the fair shopper. "No, ma'am," replied the impudent clerk. "But how about 'Kissing me in the Moonlight'?" "Impossible. I could still see your face."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Much of woman's happiness is due to her ability to improve on nature.

Use MURINE Night and Morning Keep Your Eyes Clean, Clear and Healthy Write for Free Eye Care Book Murine Co., Chicago, U.S.A.

Acid-Stomach

Makes 9 Out of 10 People Suffer

Doctors declare that more than 70 non-organic diseases can be traced to Acid-Stomach. Starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, bloating, sour, gassy stomach, the entire system eventually becomes affected, every vital organ suffering in some degree or other. You see these victims of Acid-Stomach everywhere—people who are subject to nervousness, headache, insomnia, biliousness—people who suffer from rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and aches and pains all over the body. It is safe to say that about 9 people out of 10 suffer to some extent from Acid-Stomach. If you suffer from stomach trouble or, even if you do not feel any stomach distress, yet are weak and ailing, feel tired and dragged out, lack "pep" and enthusiasm and know that something is wrong although you cannot locate the exact cause of your trouble—you naturally want to get back your grip on health as quickly as possible. Then take EATONIC the wonderful modern remedy that brings quick relief from pains of indigestion, belching, gassy bloating, etc. Keep your stomach strong, clean and sweet. See how your general health improves—how quickly the old-time vim, vigor and vitality comes back! Get a big 50c box of EATONIC from your druggist today. It is guaranteed to please you. If you are not satisfied your druggist will refund your money.

EATONIC

(FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH)

W. N. U., BOSTON, NO. 8-1920.

OUR ANNUAL FEBRUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Will Be Continued Until March 15th on Account of the Bad Weather During the Opening Days of This Sale

With the great scarcity of merchandise a sale at this time is a difficult event. However, in accordance with our policy of keeping our stocks fresh and clean we shall still hold our ANNUAL FEBRUARY CLEARANCE SALE.

Remember that practically all of this Furniture we bought at the old, low prices and replacing it would mean greatly increased prices, and now with the further reductions ranging from 10 to 30 per cent, you can readily see what a remarkable opportunity this sale holds for you.

3-Piece Tapestry Suite

All upholstered with lasting, attractive tapestry, chair, rocker and divan. A well constructed, strong suite, well stuffed. Regular value $334.50. Sale Price.....$277.50

3-Piece Leather Suite

Chair, Rocker and Divan with Mahogany frame. Seats, sides and back covered with genuine Spanish leather. A suite that will give lasting satisfaction. Regular value $200.00. Sale Price $145.00

Ivory Chamber Suites

Reduced in Price

$253.50 4-Piece Ivory Suite, reduced to $169.00
273.00 4-Piece Ivory Suite, reduced to 182.00
336.50 3-Piece Ivory Suite, reduced to 224.50
437.50 4-Piece Ivory Suite, reduced to 291.75

Many Other Sets at Equally Low Prices

Brass Beds

Included in the Sale

$27.50 Satin Finish Brass Beds, now $22.00
$34.50 Satin Finish Brass Beds, now $27.50
$38.50 Bright Finish Brass Beds, now $31.75
$45.00 Satin Finish Brass Beds, now $36.50
$60.00 Bright Finish Brass Beds, now $48.00
$65.00 Bright Finish Brass Beds, now $52.50

And many other prices and different styles.

BABY CARRIAGES

We want to call your attention to the fact that we have about 20 floor samples of Baby Carriages marked at the old prices. Our new stock is expected daily and, of course, will be priced higher than these now in stock. You readily see the benefit of buying now.

This Handsome Buffet

Golden or Fumed Oak
Regular $57.50 Value

$42.50

Well made in a style similar to this picture. Is nicely finished, has good sized mirror, lined silver drawer, two linen drawers and a large cupboard.

OUR EASY TERMS

Make It Possible For You to Have a

Columbia Grafonola

In Your Home

Terms as Low as $2 First Payment
$1 Weekly

Pay as you play and enjoy your instrument. Grafonola Outfit. Instrument shown in picture with 12 doubled faced, 10 inch records complete for $130.10

EASY TERMS

SALE OF HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

$55.00 Hoosier Cabinets, swing or roll door, nickeloid table top. Now $44.00
$60.00 Hoosier Cabinets, swing or roll door, porcelain table top. Now $48.00
$60.00 Hoosier Cabinets, all white enamel, swing door style, porcelain table top, as is. Now $45.00

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

HAS WEYMOUTH FALLEN OFF?

Joseph I. Garity, supervisor of the census for the eighth district of Massachusetts, comprising Norfolk, Plymouth and Barnstable counties, issued a statement this week in which he asserted that present indications are that there has been a falling off in population in the Old Colony towns as compared with the figures of the state census of 1915.

While the two cities, Brockton and Quincy, and the town of Brookline show a healthy growth, practically all other communities have experienced a reduction, according to present reports.

The Federal census of 1910 showed a total population in this district of 359,385. The state census of 1915 showed a gain, with a total of 388,028. The present federal census will close in a few days.

Mr. Garity expresses the belief that thousands of persons have escaped the attention of enumerators, and he urges persons who have not been enumerated to communicate with his office in Quincy. He warns that if this is not done the district and the state will be seriously affected by apparent loss of population.

The 8th district is one of the largest in the state and is widely scattered. It extends from the Neponset river to the tip of Cape Cod and has two cities and 68 towns.

HULL DIGS OUT

For the first time since Thursday, Feb. 5, trains on the branch line of the New Haven Railroad were in operation Monday morning, and the commuters living along the shore were able to make connection at Nantasket Junction for Boston.

Sunday over 50 citizens of Hull, living in the central section of the town, which comprises the residential sections of Bayside and Waveland, were mustered by Augustus H. Pitts, reported to Supt. Elmer E. Lane of the Branch Division, and informed Mr. Lane that they were ready to lend whatever aid they could in assisting the authorities in clearing the tracks of snow. They were immediately put to work on the track, preceding the large snow plunger and two engines, in shoveling out the gravel and snow which had been washed up by the heavy surf.

After six hours' work the tracks were all cleared and word was telegraphed to Boston that the Nantasket Branch was in readiness.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom, has taken from our circle our shopmate and friend, John Coffey, and Whereas, we, with our human vision, although we cannot understand, nevertheless believe that "He doeth all things well." Be it

Resolved, that we humbly bow to His will; "for as the Heavens are higher than the earth so are His thoughts than our thoughts, and His ways than our ways."

Resolved, that, to the bereaved family, we extend the heartfelt sympathy of his shopmates and friends, members of the Mutual Benefit Association of The Stetson Shoe Company.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy printed in the local papers, and a copy spread upon our records.

A. P. POOLE
EDWARD QUINLAN
H. S. STOWERS

Committee on Resolutions. The Stetson Shoe Company Mutual Benefit Association.
South Weymouth, Mass. Feb. 12, 1920.

THE COMERFORD ARTICLES

European advices indicate that the world war may be resumed. Prominent observers including some whose predictions since 1914 have not failed, state without qualification that the second stage of the conflict impends. No less an authority than Frank H. Simonds says the indications point to soviet triumph on the continent of Europe or a restoration of militarism. The belief is that the soviets are preparing to strike Poland and the Baltic countries next. Conditions are such that Germany may have to resist.

The bolshevist advance may take the United States back to Europe. It thus becomes more than ever important that the Frank Comerford series of studies of the problem of unrest, especially his masterly review of the Russian situation and the menace of bolshevism, under the general heading of "Problems Facing Stricken World," now appearing in the Gazette and Transcript should be read.

The earlier installments, while they are an essential part of the whole, will convey small idea of the character of the message and the intentions of the writer; in fact, they may create a totally erroneous impression. If you cannot read the entire series, please read the last twelve installments. We believe you will then see a light and have an appreciation of the character of the menace.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

IN THIS ISSUE LETTERS RELATIVE TO TOWN MEETING ARTICLES

Weymouth

Wanted

Young Man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

Gazette

WHOLE NUMBER 2778

AND TRANSCRIPT

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

VOL. LIV NO. 9

WEYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1920

PRICE SIX CENTS

I. O. O. F. Exemplification At East Weymouth

"Good work; keep it up" was the verdict of the 700 Odd Fellows who attended on the holiday the exemplification of the Patriarchal degrees at Odd Fellows Opera House, East Weymouth. The capacity of the whole building was tested both afternoon and evening. Large delegations were present not only from the encampments which did the work but also from Rockland encampment, Sagamore encampment of Plymouth, William Ellison of Dorchester, Nathaniel Adams, Massasolt, Unity and other encampments.

The invited guests present included G. P., Charles W. Fewkes of Newton; G. H. P., Herbert A. Holland of Springfield; G. T., Walter F. Johnson of Dorchester; G. S., Andrew S. Johnston of Wollaston; P. G. R., Sam Wood, Jr.; D. D. G. P., Charles H. Wood; D. D. G. P., William S. Watts; D. D. G. P., Thomas H. Richardson; D. D. G. P., Arthur Woodward; D. D. G. P., John P. Hunt, and the chief patriarchs of Rockland, Sagamore, Unity, Massasolt, Nathaniel Adams and William Ellison encampments.

(Continued on Page 5)

Another Storm and Tie-Up Town Meeting Affairs

Again Wednesday morning, Weymouth had a heavy snowfall, which tied up the street car service and prevented many people from getting to their work, especially those who go out of town.

The South Shore trains both to and from Boston ran nearly on schedule time at Weymouth stations doing better than on the main line.

The cars on the East Weymouth-Braintree route early became stalled, preventing connections at the Braintree depot. Cars on the East Weymouth and Quincy route were also stalled at King Oak hill and other points, and service was abandoned for the day.

Previous to Wednesday's storm the Braintree and Rockland route had been opened from Lincoln Square nearly to Nash's Corner, but it was again tied up. Now it is said that the street railway company do not intend to open up this route south of the Stetson Shoe factory, and nothing is being done to open up the Pleasant street or Hingham lines.

ANNUAL TOWN MEETING

And this leads up to other questions—How are the voters of Wards One, Two and Three going to get to the Annual Town Meeting next Monday evening in Fogg's Opera House at South Weymouth? Will there be an adjournment at the outset, or will South Weymouth voters attempt to do all the business? Will South Weymouth voters kill the proposed Memorial Hall building? Will the adjournment be to some afternoon or some evening? Will South Weymouth voters be willing to attend an adjourned meeting at East Weymouth?

The Selectmen will endeavor to secure an adjournment of the meeting.

APPROPRIATION COMMITTEE

Never has the Appropriation Committee had a more successful open meeting than that of last Sunday. More members of the committee were present than usual, and many citizens were present to be heard. These included advocates of the proposed Memorial Hall, several firemen who want a new pay schedule, school teachers who are asking an increase in salaries, and others. The report of the Appropriation Committee is already in the hands of the printer, and will be ready for the town meeting.

The holding of the above meeting on a Sunday has been the subject of much adverse comment especially among church goers, and resolutions in criticism were adopted by the East Weymouth Methodist church, and are printed in another column. Inasmuch as the next day was a legal holiday, the meeting could have been held then. It was because of weather conditions and poor transportation that Sunday was selected.

In another column are signed letters protesting against a large expenditure for a Memorial Hall.

To date the Town Reports have not been distributed. The Selectmen could not find a printer this year who would guarantee delivery on time. Further, the price was largely in excess of other years.

NEW TREASURER

H. J. T. Pring has resigned his position as treasurer of the East Weymouth Savings Bank to become assistant treasurer of the Cambridgeport Savings Bank. Mr. Pring is to be succeeded as treasurer by Frank P. Abbott of Hingham, who has been connected with the bank for several years.

BATES OPERA HOUSE

WEYMOUTH AND BRAINTREE

WILLIAM FOX presents
Theda Bara in

CLEOPATRA

THE GORGEOUS WONDER PLAY

WITH ALL THE ORIENTAL SPLENDOR OF THE STORIED NILE

SEE IT
AT

BATES OPERA HOUSE

Monday, Mat. and Eve. March 1

Matinee at 3.45—Children 15c; Adults 25c

Evening at 8.00—Children 15c; Adults 25c and 35c

Sat. Eve., Feb. 28

A GRIFFITH MASTERPIECE

"The Girl Who Stayed at Home"

Episode No. 7

Pearl White in "The Black Secret"

MATINEE, 2.30—10c and 15c

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

Tues. Evg., Mar. 2

Shirley Mason in "The Final Close Up"

HEARST NEWS

COMEDY

DeNeill's 5-piece Orchestra

Dance Floor 30c

Balcony 20c

WOULD ADJOURN Town Meeting

In consideration of the extremely difficult conditions of travel, the Selectmen of Weymouth are convinced that it would be unwise to undertake to do business at the

TOWN MEETING

Called For Monday Evening, March 1

They will therefore endeavor to secure an adjournment of the meeting to a later date.

JOSEPH A. FERN,
Clerk of Board of Selectmen.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE

QUINCY

Continuous 1.30 P. M. to 10.30 P. M.

1.30 to 5 P. M. 11c 5 to 10.30 P. M. 17c (Includes War Tax)

(Air Changed Every 30 Seconds)

Thursday—Friday—Saturday
FEB. 26, 27, 28

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

Bryant Washburn

"Putting It Over"

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle
Comedy
"CAMPING OUT"

News Weekly

MUTT & JEFF

FORD—Educational Weekly

DOROTHY GISH
in "Peppy Polly"

Monday—Tuesday—Wednesday
March 1, 2, 3

OVERTURE—Pipe Organ

Zane Grey's FAMOUS NOVEL
DESERT GOLD

Sunshine Comedy

BACK TO NATURE

OUTING CHESTER

News Weekly

Shirley Mason
— IN —
"COME ON IN"

ODD FELLOWS OPERA HOUSE

EAST WEYMOUTH

Mat. 2.30

Sat., Feb. 28

Eve. 6.30 & 8.30

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

— IN —

"When the Clouds Roll By"

Pathe News

Topics of the Day

Mon., Mar. 1

EXPLOITS OF THE U-35

Dorothy Gish in "Out of Luck"

Wed., Mar. 3

Eve. 7.45

Mary Miles Minter

IN

"ANN of GREEN GABLES"

PATHE NEWS

PATHE COMEDY

BLACK SECRET—13th Episode

COMING—MON., MAR. 8—

"THE CONFESSION"

THE QUINCY THEATRE

FEB. 26—27—28

VAUDEVILLE

JOCK McKAY'S SCOTCH REVUE

Scottish Singing, Dancing and Music.

A wonderful Act that you cannot afford to miss seeing.

HAWTHORNE & COOK

— IN —

"NO RHYME NO REASON"

RAY CONLIN

DAISY & WILSON

America's Premier Ventriloquist

Spectacular Aerial Act

PHOTO-DRAMA

MAY ALLISON

IN

"THE WALK OFFS"

One of the best photo-dramas ever offered to the public.

ANOTHER BIG ATTRACTION
ALL NEXT WEEK

Cecil B. DeMille's
MALE and FEMALE

A Vital Story of True Blood and Red

GEORGEOUS GOWNS

SCENES OF LUXURY, LOVE AND STRIFE

Gigantic All-Star Cast

We beg to announce to the many Patrons
of the

L. A. Cook Insurance Agency

that we have acquired the same and will
give your interest our careful attention.

A. E. BARNES & CO.

South Weymouth, Mass.

GENERAL SURVEYS

TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEYS

RUSSELL H. WHITING
CIVIL ENGINEER and SURVEYOR

56 Sea Street

NORTH WEYMOUTH, MASS.

SURVEYS MADE AND PLANS PREPARED FOR THE LAND COURT

WANTED
To List Your Properties in the Weymouths

HENRY W. SAVAGE
INCORPORATED
OPPOSITE PARK ST., SUBWAY STATION
129 TREMONT ST. Tel. 422 Oxford BOSTON, MASS.
REAL ESTATE

C. H. CHUBBUCK, Jr.
EAST WEYMOUTH, MASS.
Telephone Weymouth 149-W

Insurance OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

BOSTON OFFICE, 99 MILK STREET
Tel Main 5020

Coal - Coal - Coal

Best Quality of All Kinds

All-Rail Anthracite Is Superior

Charles T. Leavitt

Successor to
H. M. CURTIS COAL CO.

YARD—WHARF ST., EAST WEYMOUTH

Tel. 19

The Sue Rice Studios

wish to call your attention to the unusual assortment of Gifts and
CARDS FOR ALL ANNIVERSARIES
Have that Portrait Enlarged and Handsomely Framed for a gift.
Your friends can buy anything you can give them except your Portrait.

Have That Panorama Framed Now

Leaks!

The KITCHEN CABINET

Show me a man who doesn't make mistakes and I will show you a man who doesn't do things.—Theodore Roosevelt.
Thus do all things preach the indifference of circumstances. The man is all.—Emerson.

QUALITIES OF COMMON FRUITS.

Every housekeeper who plans the meals should have a clear understanding of the qualities of fruit and teach these to her children. She should know that fruit is not a luxury but a necessity. The acid fruits are:

Lemon—Excessive citric acid, antibilious, potash salts, lime and magnesia.

Orange—Moderate citric acid, laxative, valuable.

Grapefruit—Excessive citric acid, bitter tonic, purifying.

Strawberry—Citric and malic acid, antibilious, potash, lime, soda.

Cherry—Tonic.

Cranberry—Citric acid, iron, tonic.

Current—Citric acid.

Gooseberry—Citric acid and malic acid.

Blackberry—Iron, constipating.

Sub acid fruits:

Apple—Malic acid, phosphates, laxative, sugar.

Pear—Iron, potash salts, very laxative, sugar.

Peach, apricot—Laxative, and sugar.

Plum—Very laxative, nitrogen, sugar.

Grapes—Tartaric and phosphoric acids, potash salts, iron, excessive sugar.

Raisin—Dried grapes, more laxative than fresh grapes.

Pineapple—Natural pepsin, sugar.

Raspberry, loganberry, huckleberry—Mild, refreshing, moderate sugar.

Elderberry—Astringent and medicinal.

Starch and Sugar Fruits:

Banana—Constipating, excessive starch.

Fig—Very laxative, sugar, protein.

Date—Excessive sugar, protein.

Alligator pear—Oil, starch.

Melon—Refreshing, sugar, purifying.

Such fruits as water and musk melons contain upward of 95 per cent of water. The flavor is agreeable and in hot weather they are especially refreshing.

The value of fruits in season cannot be overestimated. Dried fruits compare with cereals, says Langworthy.

Cheerfulness, looking always on the bright side of things, determined to always stand in the sunshine, rather than the shadow—this is that makes life, with its knotty problems, continually easier. It's the "oil of gladness" that helps in doing the work.

SEASONABLE FOODS.

Thrift has become the slogan, and to practice it we must increase our knowledge in regard to suitable substitutes for costly foods which we have been used to regard as common and cheap. Meat is the great expense in many households. Try using:

Baked Cal's Liver.—Wash and carefully remove the tough portions and lard with small strips of salt pork. Dust with salt and pepper and brown in hot pork fat. Cover with one cupful of hot water and put into a hot oven, basting twice during the half-hour's baking. The last basting use one tablespoonful of flour with two tablespoonfuls of thick sour cream; season well and serve.

Spiced Sauce for Suet or Bread Pudding.—Mix well two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and one cupful of sugar; add one pint of boiling water, the juice and rind of a lemon, one tablespoonful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of butter and one teaspoonful of mixed spices. Cook well before adding the butter, lemon and vinegar.

Squash Muffins.—Mix together three cupfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add one cupful of dry sifted squash with half a cupful of milk, one egg and another half cupful of milk. Add two tablespoonfuls of finely-chopped suet, melted. Beat thoroughly and bake in well greased muffin pans in a hot oven 25 minutes.

Peach Bird's Nest Pudding.—Put a layer of canned peaches in a well-buttered pie plate and pour over them a one-egg cake mixture. Bake in a hot oven until the cake is done. Remove the cake from the oven and turn upside down on a hot plate. Sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter and finish with a grating of nutmeg or cinnamon. Serve hot.

Ham a la Italienne.—Take a two-pound slice of ham cut one inch in thickness. Place in a frying pan and over it slice four small onions, cover with a pint of tomato and a generous sprinkling of salt and pepper with half a cupful of water. Cover and bake an hour or longer in a moderate oven. Remove the ham to a hot platter and thicken the tomato and fat in the pan with a tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little water.

Be resolutely and faithfully what you are, be humbly what you aspire to be.
Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also.—Henry Thoreau.

SOMETHING TO EAT.

For those who like the old-fashioned buttermilk soup, the following will appeal:

Mulled Buttermilk.—Take five cupfuls of buttermilk. Stir one tablespoonful of flour with a little of the milk, add to the buttermilk and cook until boiling hot. Add sugar, cinnamon or nutmeg to season.

Caraway Bread.—Pour two cupfuls of scalded milk on two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, add two tablespoonfuls of shortening; when lukewarm add one yeast cake dissolved in half a cupful of salt water, then add six cupfuls of rye flour, two tablespoonfuls of caraway seed. Knead, using one and one-half cupfuls of whole wheat flour. Rise and shape in loaves.

Brown Nut Bread.—Take two cupfuls of buttermilk, two cupfuls of graham flour, one cupful of wheat flour, one-half cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of raisins, one and one-half cupfuls of walnut meats. Mix and bake in a moderate oven.

Kidney Beans With Sour Cream.—Cook the beans as usual. Then add the cream to moisten thoroughly. Place over a slow fire and simmer one hour. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Sauce for Fish.—Sour cream, using half as much of sour cream as grated horseradish; add sugar, salt and a dash of pepper. Serve with fish or boiled beef.

Ham Timbals.—Dissolve a tablespoonful of gelatin in half a cupful of hot water, add two cupfuls of cold boiled ham, chopped. Season with mustard, cayenne, then add one-half cupful of heavy cream, beaten stiff. Turn into a mold, chill, and when molded serve with Lucullus Sauce.—Beat one-half cupful of heavy cream until stiff, add three tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing, two tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful of made mustard, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne.

There is no friend like an old friend,
Who has shared our morning days,
No greeting like his welcome,
No homage like his praise.
—Oliver W. Holmes.

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST.

We frequently read of the capable and systematic housewife who, having an unexpected group of friends drop in, goes to her ice chest or pantry and greets a cold fowl, a bunch of celery, a jar of mayonnaise, which she quickly prepares into a most delectable salad. With rolls, cake, coffee and preserves she sets before her guests a most dainty luncheon.

This reads well, but the simple fact is this preaching isn't sanctioned by practice, for most women in such an emergency do not meet a cold cooked fowl face to face, but a bare cupboard and the necessity of beginning with the flour barrel, rather than a well-stocked larder, to prepare a meal.

Anybody, efficient or otherwise, with a well-stocked pantry might prepare an acceptable meal, but the woman who finds a dish of cold potatoes, flanked by a tough and world-weary steak, and still looks out on life cheerfully, is both an optimist and a genius.

To fortify this optimism an emergency shelf is indispensable. Even where the corner grocery is near or the telephone at hand one cannot always provide for an emergency. Each housekeeper will stock her shelf with the foods, accessories and relishes especially adapted to her needs.

A few cans of fish such as salmon, tuna, sardines and lobster, which may be served hot, cold or in salads or in combination with vegetables as a main dish, cans of corn, beans, peas, cans of soup, olives, pickles, a jar of salad dressing, a bottle of nutmegs, with jellies, jams and a package or two of crackers and a jar of cheese. When any food is used it is replaced at the earliest opportunity, so that the supply will always be full for the chance guest.

Two or three kinds of cookies stored in air-tight jars will keep for a long time. A few cookies with a dish of fruit, a cup of tea or coffee is a dessert which is sufficiently satisfying for the most exacting.

The fortunate ones who live in the country and have plenty of milk, cream, butter and eggs, find it easy to prepare delicious dishes in short order.

Nellie Maxwell

PALATABLE AND WHOLESOME POTATO REAL STANDBY OF HOUSEWIFE WHO ECONOMIZES

Irish Potatoes Are Easy to Prepare and in Season All the Year.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The explorer, whoever he was, who introduced the potato to the civilized world, deserves even at this late date a rising vote of thanks from all those who are trying to serve three square meals a day to their families and not go bankrupt. Potatoes are high, in comparison with other days, but not as high as meat. The potato is not a substitute for meat because starch and not protein is its main substance, yet it is a food which possesses much nourishment and is palatable, wholesome, and "filling." Where economy or health makes it necessary to reduce the amount of meat eaten, potatoes can well be used to form the base of the main dish served at a meal.

In the following recipes, which have been tried out in the home-economics kitchen of the United States department of agriculture, potatoes either help to make a little meat go a long way or else form the base of a palatable dish which contains no meat.

Potatoes With Cheese and Green Pepper.

3 cups diced cooked potatoes 1 green pepper
1 tablespoon flour 1 cooked and chopped
1 tablespoon fat 1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup bread crumbs

Make the sauce, using the fat, flour, milk, and seasoning. Mix the potato and the green pepper with the white sauce and cheese. Put in a baking dish and cover with the bread crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

Canned red pepper or pimiento can be used in place of the green pepper.

Potato Souffle.

3 tablespoons fat 1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons potato 1/2 teaspoon pepper to starch or flour 1/2 teaspoon celery
2-3 cup milk or potato water 1/2 salt
1 cup rice potato 1/2 teaspoon onion toes 1/2 juice
3 egg yolks, well beaten

Mix ingredients in order given and bake until firm in greased, covered baking dish in slow oven. This quantity serves five persons.

Potato Omelet.

1 cup mashed potato 3 tablespoons cream toes 1/2 or milk
1/2 teaspoon pepper 1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs

Wash eggs, and separate the whites and yolks. Add the yolks to the potatoes and beat until there are no lumps. Season with onion juice, if desired, and chopped parsley. Beat the whites until stiff and fold into the potato mixture. Put into a well-greased frying pan and bake in oven until brown. Then turn and fold on hot platter. Serve at once.

Potato and Cheese Molds.

2 cups mashed potato 2 tablespoons fat
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup salt
4 tablespoons grated 1 teaspoon salt cheese

Melt fat in saucepan, add potatoes, and mix well; then add the milk and half the cheese and seasoning. Put into a greased baking dish, small ramekins, or baking cups, sprinkle the rest of the cheese on top and bake in a fairly quick oven about ten minutes.

Potato and Egg Mold.

2 cups mashed potato 1 cup egg sauce
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup starch 1 hard-boiled egg

Mix the potatoes with the egg sauce and season. Put in baking dish or baking cups and bake until lightly browned. The egg sauce is made as follows:

Make a cream sauce by mixing the potato starch with the melted fat, combining with the milk, and cooking until thickened. Add the finely chopped egg. If potato starch is not available cornstarch may be used instead.

Potato Thistle.

1 cup milk Salt
1/2 cup potato 1/2 cup pepper to starch 1 hard-boiled egg
1 tablespoon fat

Line a dish around the sides with mashed potatoes, prepared as for the table, then fill with minced lamb or veal or other left-over meat, well seasoned; cover over top with mashed potatoes, and criss cross with a knife. Put in oven and brown. Left-over meat and potatoes can be used.

Potato and Nut Sausage.

2 cups mashed potato 1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup celery
1/2 cup nuts 1/2 cup onion any kind 1/2 cup milk (approx-
1 egg well beaten imately)
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 pound salt pork

To the mashed potatoes add enough milk to bind them. Put nuts in boiling water to loosen skins, remove skins, and put nuts through meat grinder. Mix nuts and potatoes thoroughly and season well. Add well-beaten eggs to potato mixture. Form into sausages, flour them well, put in greased pan, and put a small piece of salt pork on top of each sausage. Bake in a fairly hot oven until brown (about 45 minutes). Serve with tomato sauce.

MANY OPPORTUNITIES TO EARN MUCH MONEY

Home Industries, Peculiar to Locality, Are Encouraged.

Young Texas Girl Engaged by New York Business Man to Prepare Fig
Preserves for Eastern Market
—Work in Other Lines.

Many opportunities for making money come to girls who belong to the clubs organized by the United States department of agriculture and the state agriculture colleges. Home industries, which are peculiar to their locality or particularly adapted to it, are especially encouraged. In some sections of the South where long pine needles and grapefruit around the girls make attractive baskets from the pine needles and fill them with candied grapefruit peel, jars of grapefruit marmalade, or some other native sweet, and sell them in the winter to tourists.

Harris county, Texas, produces figs. A club girl who lives there learned, through her club, how to make delicious fig preserves. Last November a New York business man, desiring to secure a superior fig preserve to put on the market, went to the demonstration agent of Harris county and asked if she had in her clubs some one competent and willing to do such work. The extension worker knew of several, but the girl who excelled the rest in the art was young—too young, she feared, to carry on so large an undertaking. She was so well qualified, however, in every other way, that the man decided to have an interview with her. The sight and taste of her delicious preserves decided the question and the girl was engaged.

A market for these fig preserves is now being built up in New York on the strength of the samples that could be put up at so late a date.

PLAN TO SAVE WOMAN'S TIME

Proper Height of Kitchen Sink and Work Tables Are Important Factors in Cooking.

The height of a woman's kitchen sink and work tables are important factors in her well-being and well-doing. She can't do as much or as good work and feel well and strong with her sink and table so low that she has to bend over to work or so high that she has to "reach up," as she would were they the proper height. As a general rule, 32 to 36 inches from the floor is the height for general work tables and the bottom of the sink should usually be 30 to 31 inches from the floor, the home economics, kitchen of the United States department of agriculture suggests. However, each woman ought to find out for herself the height of the table at which she can work most easily and efficiently, and see that her work tables and sink are adjusted accordingly. Legs which are too long can be cut off, and those too short can be raised by blocks under them.

All Around the House

Wash the piano keys with a damp rather than a wet cloth.

If the clothesline is boiled before used, it will not stretch.

Green peppers and olives will lend color to a macaroni salad.

Never clean aluminum with strong soap or scouring powder.

It is best to eat very little and slowly when tired or excited.

When making olive sandwiches put the olives through the meat grinder.

BOARD OF SELECTMEN

BRADFORD HAWES, Chairman, E. Weymouth
JOSEPH A. FERN, Secretary, East Weymouth
ALFRED W. HASTINGS, South Weymouth
GEORGE L. NEWTON, North Weymouth
JOHN F. DWYER, Weymouth

Meetings Savings Bank Building
East Weymouth, Every Monday
DURING THE MUNICIPAL YEAR FROM
2 TO 5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Town Clerk

Clayton B. Merchant

OFFICE HOURS:

In rooms of the Selectmen, Savings Bank
Building, East Weymouth

8 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M.
Saturdays, 8 to 12 A. M.

Residence, 912 Commercial Street,
East Weymouth

SOUTH WEYMOUTH Savings Bank

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

OFFICERS 1919

President—R. Wallace Hunt
Vice-Pres.—Ellis J. Pitcher
Almon B. Raymond
Treasurer—Fred T. Barnes

BANK HOURS:

8 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M.
Also Mondays 7 to 8 P. M.
Saturdays 9 to 12 A. M.

Deposits go on interest second Wednesday
of January, April, July and October.

Dividends payable on and after the second Wednesday of January and July.

The January, 1918, dividend was at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, and the July, 1918,
dividend at the rate of 5 per cent.

Incorporated March 6, 1868

WEYMOUTH Savings Bank

CHARLES A. HAYWARD, President,
CHARLES T. CRANE, Treasurer

Vice-Presidents:

EDWARD W. HUNT JAMES H. FLINT

Board of Investment:

CHARLES A. HAYWARD

CLARENCE P. WHITTE

EDWARD W. HUNT

ARTHUR E. PRATT

CHARLES G. SHEPPARD

Bank Hours—8:30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
Saturdays, 9:30 to 12.

Monday Evenings, 6 to 8.
Deposits placed on interest on the first Monday
January, April, July and October.

Joseph Grehan

Plumber and Sheet Metal Worker.
Steam, Hot Water and Furnace Heat-
ing. Stove and Furnace Repairs.

Tel., Wey. 767-11 20, 11

11 Foye Avenue, Weymouth

S. GREEN

Jackson Square
East Weymouth, Mass.

Custom Tailor

SUITS MADE TO ORDER

Cleaning, Pressing, Dyeing and all kinds of Repairing at Reasonable prices

JOHN LYONS & SONBRICKLAYERS*MASONS and*PLASTERERS

General Jobbing of All Kinds
promptly attended to

Address

81 Prospect St. Weymouth

M. LIPSHEZ

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR JUNK
and Second hand Furniture

Patronize a Weymouth man

Mail and Telephone will receive prompt attention. Phone Weymouth
813-M. Address, 66 Norton St.,
North Weymouth. 21, 11

JUNK COLLECTED

Metal of all kinds, Rags, Magazines and Papers. Umbrellas mended. True weight and honest deal-
ing. J. Gibbs, 116 Charles St., East
Weymouth. Telephone, Weymouth,
658-W. Please telephone or send postal. Will buy or sell second hand
furniture. 21, 11

SIMPLE AND INGENUOUS FROCKS FOR CHILDREN

MOTHERS owe a rising vote of thanks to the resourceful and ingenious creators of children's clothes this spring. First, because these clothes are so simple and pretty, and next, because they are so well made.
Even a fastidious needlewoman can content herself with ready-made clothes for her children. But if the ready-made things are higher-priced than suits her, then she can copy them at home, buying materials from the merchants near her and gratefully following the lead of skillful and keen designers who spend their time thinking up ways for making children's clothes. One would have to be a born genius to outdo them, and why take the responsibility of designing as well as sewing at home?

The little maid in the neighborhood of twelve years and her smaller sister of eight, or thereabout—shown in the picture above—find themselves dressed in perfect taste. Nothing more unusual than chambray was selected for these delightful frocks and both of them employ a pretty, old-timey finish in overlapping points of white cotton, made by folding and sewing down strips of white material.

It might be of any of the durable cotton fabrics—lawn, batiste, percale, or Peter Pan cloth—according to the degree of daintiness or durability that the maker may have in mind.

The dress for the older girl is a straight-lined model with kimono sleeves, and little signs of needlework embellish it. The narrow belt of black patent leather must not be overlooked.
The other dress has a long blouse and a little bow of black ribbon at the throat. Elbow sleeves belong to both,
and, judging from their millinery, these two children are considered to be quite dressed up in the simplest of frocks. This idea is borne out by their footwear.

Straws in the Spring Winds

NO one has been able to figure out just why it is that women take to millinery that anticipates spring—and no one can doubt that they do wear it.
With charming audacity a few straw hats courageously make their appearance along with January thaws in the coldest sections of the country and in the South they enter, to remain. It is the tourist's millinery—the resort hats probably—that entice even the stay-at-homes into donning something that has a promise of spring in it.

Spring millinery is a survival of the fittest among the many and diverse styles that appear at the winter resorts, with the addition of models in which variations in the use of materials appear. Already the seal of approval is set on the hats that appear in the group pictured above—hats of the simpler sort, having, with one exception, soft outlines. All of them, but the wide-brimmed model, may be placed in the class of street hats and this one is to be included in the list of "pastime hats"—those glorified sport hats of gay and beautiful colors and fine materials. This particular example is made of alternating rows of narrow faux ribbon and a braid, in light green, with a pin-wheel rosette of the ribbon for adornment. It is faced with white tulle and may be worn with sport clothes or other summer apparel.

In the dark hat, with feather ornament at the side, there is a splendid example of hair-cloth millinery. The band about the crown shows cellophane over white ribbon and the handsome feather ornament seems to have been created for this hat. The soft Breton sailor made of loops of braid and georgette crepe is a lovely hat and undertakes to outshine the plain handed sailor of brilliant straw which is perfectly sure of holding its own.

Julia Bottomly

Many Wraps Are White.

For southern wear many of the wraps being prepared by the specialty shops follow the mode of the old time French cape known as the "visite." This was a quaint, long, narrow affair gathered up about the neck. This model was followed out at one place in white velvet gathered to a band of ermine and lined with pomegranate red crepe de chine. White wraps are, by the way, being exploited much for the Florida resorts. So are the black ones.
Both depend for their beauty largely on vivid linings of orange and citron and rose and henna.

Belts Little Used.

The vogue for belts is decidedly on the wane. A belted effect is given, however, by clever cut, and much interest is exercised in this direction.

How Squirrels Earned and Continue to Earn Right to Live and Rejoice in Life.

"In creating the squirrel family nature performed one of her most gracious and beneficent acts," writes Arthur F. Rice in an article on "Four-Footed Folk" in Boys' Life. "She made the striped squirrel for the very small boy, the red squirrel for the larger boy and the gray squirrel for the big boy from fifteen to seventy years of age, and threw in flying squirrels and black squirrels and fox squirrels as an evidence of her generous disposition to please everybody. She decorated the stumps and mossy rocks with tiny, beautiful forms and added picturesque life to the rail fences and stone walls with a charming race of busy little creatures whose graceful motions and interesting habits contribute much to the entertainment of all mankind.

"It was in the eternal fitness of things that the squirrels should do something for nature in return for the gift of a joyous existence; so they set about helping her to plant her garden.
The chipmunks buried beech nuts and chestnuts and acorns in the ground, and thus did their part in the scheme of scientific forestry. The red squirrels dropped hazelnuts, butternuts, cherry stones and pine cones along the walls and fences and straightway there sprang up along these avenues of squirrel travel fruitful shrubs and lusty trees where other squirrels find a feast, where the birds build their nests and under which the cattle enjoy a grateful shade. So the squirrels earned, and continued to earn the right to live and to rejoice in life."

Graphic Chart Shows That Human Life Appeared Late in the Quaternary Period

A geologist, writing to the Scientific American, describes by means of a graphic chart the comparative lengths of the different periods of the age of the earth. He places the age of the earth arbitrarily at 72,000,000 years, represented by a clock dial of 24 hours
—3,000,000 years to each hour.

On the above basis the first six hours of the clock represents Azoic time, the earliest conjectural period of the earth's formation—18,000,000 years;
the next six hours Eozoic and the next eight Paleozoic time—18,000,000 and 24-000,000 years, respectively—periods of mineral and vegetable formations. In the next three hours animal life developed—Mesozoic time, 9,000,000 years —that is, from the twentieth to the twenty-third hour. Thus the last hour of the 24—3,000,000 years of geologic time—represents Neozoic time, which includes the appearance of human life in the Quaternary period.

This last division of the 24 hours, the Quaternary period, is shown as only 10 minutes—in other words, 500-000 years. The existence of human life on the earth, therefore, bears the same relation to the age of the earth as 10 minutes does to 24 hours. But since the period of written history is estimated roughly at only 6,000 years, this last division is not shown on the chart, since it would only be 12 seconds in duration.

THE MIDDLE AGE

Our youth began with tears and sighs,
With seeking what we could not find;
Our verses were all threnodies,
In elegies still we whined:

Our ears were deaf, our eyes were blind,
We sought, and knew not what we sought,
We marvel, now we look behind;
Life's more amusing than we thought!

Oh, foolish youth, untimely wise!
Oh, phantoms of the sickly mind!

What? not content with seas and skies,
With rainy clouds and southern wind,
With common cares and faces kind,
With pains and joys each morning brought?

Ah, old and worn, and tired we find
Life's more amusing than we thought!

Though youth "turns spectre-thin and dies,"
To mourn for youth we're not inclined;
We set our souls on salmon flies,
We whistle where we once repined,
Confound the woes of humankind!

By heaven we're "well deceived," I wot;
Who hum contented and resigned,
"Life's more amusing than we thought!"

—Andrew Lang.

Big Men Who Are Unusually Bright Are in the Minority

It is generally accepted that great development of the powers of the brain is usually accompanied by only moderate animal or physical life. In those cases where high development of both is found, it is emphatically marked by shortness of existence or defective vitality in the structures of organic life and low organization. Mental celebrities of large stature have been in a noticeable minority, and the standard of health very low; in fact,
according to John O' London's Weekly, from Alfred the Great to Schiller the physical defects have been painfully apparent, and the roll of deathless names seems to be the list of a gathering of invalids and cripples.

Care of Toys.

Always examine your children's toys before allowing them to play with them. The paint may come off with sucking, or there may be rusty projecting nails in them.

CALL ON US

WE BUY, WE SELL, WE MOVE

We pay the highest cash prices for all kinds of used Furniture worth buying

We sell at the lowest possible
prices, on time payments or great discount for cash, of
our entire stock of Furniture,
Carpets, Ranges and Bedding
to furnish your home.

We do long distance Furniture
and Piano Moving as we have ample facilities for doing such work, and have only experts
in handling same. So call on us if you want to furnish your home, sell your home or move
your home. We take Liberty
Bonds for face value.

Berman Furniture Co., Inc.

Complete Home Furnishers

1601-1603 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

Tel. Quincy 52334

Monuments and Headstones

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND MATERIAL.

The largest and most varied selection in
the United States for you to choose from.

Inspection cordially invited.

Satisfied patronage is the bulwark of our progress
and we guarantee every Memorial furnished.

ESTABLISHED 1884.

A call will amply repay you. Booklets sent on application.

DO NOT WAIT FOR DECORATION DAY.

JOHN R. RICHARDS

Phone, Quincy 220

Works—QUINCY ADAMS

BRANCHES:

970 Main Street, Malden, Mass. Tel.

977 North Main Street, Providence, R. I. Tel.

227 Broadway, Taunton, Mass. Tel.

Brookville, Mass. Tel.

ROOF REPAIRING

Consider NEPONSET SHINGLES and the

NEPONSET ROLL ROOFINGS when

repairing roofs on any of your buildings.

A successful repair is made with Neponset.

M. R. LOUD & CO.

Columbian Square, South Weymouth

WOOD

Seasoned or Green

Delivered in Any Quantities Desired

Long Lengths $12

Sawed $14

Sawed and Split $15

A. J. RICHARDS & SON

Telephones, Weymouth 51 and 2870

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD? REMODEL or REPAIR?

For over twenty years I have served Weymouth's people and have attended to the carpenter work for hundreds of property owners.
If you have decided to build or repair do not neglect to consult me.
I shall be pleased to give you an exact estimate of just what your work will cost.

JAMES P. HADDIE
CARPENTER AND BUILDER
COMMERCIAL STREET EAST WEYMOUTH

Telephone Weymouth 887-M

Now Is The Time To Advertise

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

Published every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY
FRANK F. PRESCOTT
Managing Editor
At 52 Commercial Street, Weymouth
Telephone Weymouth 145
Subscription per Annum, $2.50
Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagusset, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 27, 1920

Weymouth Temperature

	6 A. M.	12 M.	6 P. M.
Friday, Feb. 20,	18	32	32
Saturday	22	34	34
Sunday	30	36	33
Monday	26	32	33
Tuesday	35	37	38
Wednesday	30	32	36
Thursday	25	27	23
Friday, Feb. 27,	5	—	—

Daily High Tides

	A. M.	P. M.
Friday, Feb. 27	4.45	5.30
Saturday	6.00	6.30
Sunday	7.00	7.30
Monday	8.00	8.45
Tuesday	9.00	9.45
Wednesday	10.00	10.30
Thursday	11.00	11.15
Friday, Mar. 5	11.45	12.00

Full moon March 4.

—Mrs. Loretta Hart, wife of John B. Hart, died suddenly at her home on Hunt street yesterday. She had been ill with the influenza, but was apparently on the road to recovery, and her death was entirely unexpected. Besides her husband, she leaves two small children.

—Mrs. Della Caulfield, a prominent member and officer of Reynolds Woman's Relief Corps, who has been ill with pneumonia, is now very much improved and will be able to sit up in a day or two.

—Miss S. Jane Clapp died Wednesday at her home on Front street, following an illness of several years, in her 89th year. She was born and always lived in the house in which she died. She was a daughter of the late Adoriam Clapp, for years a leading boot manufacturer of this town. She was for years a member of the Universalist church, and for more than a quarter of a century president of the Ladies Cemetery Improvement Association. She is survived by a brother, Richmond Clapp, and a sister, Mrs. Maria Pratt. The funeral will take place from her late residence Saturday afternoon.

—Miss Emma Willet is at the Massachusetts General hospital, where she is to submit to an operation for appendicitis.

—William Price of South Weymouth has bought the Walter Sanborn estate on Prospect street. He buys for occupancy.

—The blacksmith shop for years run by Lot Lohmes has been leased by John H. Glynn, who will start in business next week.

—The funeral of Mrs. Harriett D. Litchfield, wife of William P. Litchfield, who died at her home 98 Broad street, took place Sunday afternoon from her late home, and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes testifying to the esteem in which she was held by her many friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Frank Kingdon, pastor of the East Weymouth Methodist Church, of which Mrs. Litchfield was for years a member, assisted by Rev. C. W. Allen of the First Baptist church. A large delegation attended from Reynolds Woman's Relief Corps and the ritual of the order was performed. The body was taken to Scituate on Monday for interment.

—The month-old daughter of James DeNeil died Sunday. His wife died a month ago.

—The funeral of Mrs. Betsey J. Pray took place Monday afternoon from her late home on Broad street. The service was conducted by Rev. F. B. Cressey of Cambridge, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church in this town, of which Mrs. Pray was many years a member. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Interment was at Village cemetery.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Theda Bara to be seen in "Cleopatra".

patra", at Bates Opera House, Monday, March 1.

—The C. M. A. first team will play Brockton Legion this evening, and the second team play the Somerville Independents.—Advertisement.

EAST WEYMOUTH and WEYMOUTH CENTER

—About 20 young people gave a surprise party to Bugler Sumner Peers of 382 East street, on Wednesday evening, it being his 24th birthday. It was also a year ago that he returned from overseas as a casual. Mr. Peers has been confined to his home several weeks but is now able to be out in good weather. The presentation was made by William Connell, who presented him with a beautiful amethyst ring. Mr. Peers' birthstone, also a birthday book and various other presents. He received a post card shower also. A collation of sandwiches, cookies, fancy cakes, punch, candy, and a large birthday cake decorated with 24 little silk flags. The decorations were red, white, and blue throughout. There were friends from Weymouth, East Weymouth, Hingham, and Swampscott. Everyone went home happy. Mr. Peers said if these times were to come to him he'd like to be growing younger instead of older.

—The Fairmount Cemetery association will meet with Mrs. Dora L. Cushing, Monday evening, March 1.

—Since his horse stepped on his foot, James Otis has been unable to leave the house. He expects that he will be able to walk about in the course of one or two weeks.

—Phil Cohan, who was attached to the North Scituate station of the U. S. Coast Guard Service, has received his discharge and will once again make East Weymouth his home.

—Cars were delayed about two hours Saturday afternoon when a pump belonging to the Quincy Oil Co., turned turtle at Dizer's turnout. 500 gallons of kerosene were lost. The pump was in the street until Tuesday.

—Sunday morning a nine pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mulvey of Cedar street.

—Following a successful operation, Pat Nugent is home on a five day furlough from the hospital at Staten Island. With his arm in a cast and an iron brace on his leg it would seem that he is worse off than before, but the doctors say he will regain the use of the arm while the leg brace is only temporary. A piece of bone was transferred from his leg to his arm, but owing to his splendid physical condition he was able to walk soon after the operation.

—The snow storm of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning found the street railway company off its guard. Consequently the only line kept open was a short stretch of track between the car barn and Jackson square.

—Despite the bad weather and the Lenten season, attendance at the shows in Odd Fellows hall is normal.

—Emerson Dizer who has been ill with a severe case of grippe is fast improving.

—This is come-back year for horses. Sleighs and puns are at a premium. Local blacksmiths and carriage makers have their hands full patching up old sleds that were thought by their owners to be relics of bygone days.

—Miss Alice Peers has returned from a visit with friends in North Abington where she went for a rest to recruit from over-study.

—Whether you decide to spend $35, $50, $60 or $75 we strongly advise you to get your clothes TAYLOR-MADE. The new Spring samples are ready for your inspection at C. R. Denbroeder's, 750 Broad street.

—The Fairmount Cemetery Circle will meet with Mrs. J. A. Cushing, 744 Broad street, Monday evening, March 1, to make final arrangements for their annual fair which is to be held March 25. The Hayden Quartette will give the entertainment of instrumental and vocal music. Miss Hayden's chimes are well worth hearing.

—TAYLOR-MADE clothes are of first class workmanship and made of ALL WOOL materials. Come in and see them even if you are not yet ready to buy. C. R. Denbroeder, The White Store, 750 Broad street.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Theda Bara to be seen in "Cleopatra", at Bates Opera House, Monday, March 1.

—The C. M. A. first team will play Brockton Legion this evening, and the second team play the Somerville Independents.—Advertisement.

LARGE REGISTRATION

Registration has closed for the annual town election with 24 more voters than at the State election. In all 42 were added, but there were some losses by death. The totals by wards are: Ward One, 532; Ward Two, 541; Ward Three, 660; Ward Four, 416; Ward Five, 611; Ward Six, 541.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

READ THE GAZETTE ADS.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

—Last Friday evening the Norfolk Club held a largely attended meeting, to discuss the sale of their building, known as the Fogg Opera House. The directors were authorized to sell the building to the town for about $40,000.

—Miss Mildred Leary of Park avenue has recovered from a two weeks illness and is able to be out again.

—Miss Margaret Dondero of Curtis avenue has resumed her duties as assistant chief bookkeeper at the Boston Gear Works, after an illness of three weeks.

—Mrs. Wendell Hocking of Pleasant street is recovering from an attack of influenza.

—Mrs. Blanche George of Union street has recovered from an attack of the grippe which has confined her to her home for the past two weeks.

—In the auditorium of the Second Universalist church, Sunday evening, Rev. U. S. Milburn, lecturer and traveler, of Salem, gave an illustrated address on "Imperial Rome" before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Milburn's address was the result of his recent experiences and observations abroad, and proved to be exceptionally interesting.

—Funeral services for Louise, eleven months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Lenest of Union street, who passed away after a brief illness with meningitis, were held at her parents' home Friday at 2.30 P. M. Rev. Ora A. Price of the Old South Union Congregational church conducted the services and interment was in the Elmwood cemetery.

—With the reopening of the High School, February 16, the pupils in this part of the town were expected to attend, in spite of the lack of satisfactory transportation facilities. Next Monday evening Weymouth will hold the annual town meeting in Fogg's Opera House, and the methods of transportation are just as unsatisfactory. It is also rumored that the town is to be asked for more funds to support the railway.

—Among those who observed Washington's Birthday was Comrade Slattery of Hollis street. He was at Mount Vernon at one time during the Civil war, and saw John Washington, a relative of General Washington, who joined the Confederate army and was killed in battle. Comrade Slattery's brother, John Slattery was the first South Weymouth boy who was killed in battle during the Civil war. Slattery's crossing is named after him.

—Mrs. P. J. Haley of 7 Randolph street, who has been seriously ill, has nearly recovered.

—Miss Mary Cullinane, who is a student at Brighton Seminary, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Cullinane, on Central street.

—Mrs. Charles F. Vinson has returned from her daughters, Mrs. Eugene Burr of New York, who has been ill with pneumonia.

—Norman Cushing has recovered from the "flu" and his father, Lewis H. Cushing has returned to his duties at the Texas Oil Company, South Braintree, having recovered from the same trouble.

—Hazel Belcher of Randolph street, who has been confined to her home with scarlet fever, has entirely recovered and has returned to school.

—Funeral services for Louisa H. Hayden, wife of Luther C. Hayden of 22 Central avenue were held at the St. Francis Xavier Church Wednesday morning at 9.30. At the requiem high mass, Rev. Dennis P. Crimmins, pastor, officiated. Mrs. Hayden succumbed to an attack of pneumonia after an illness of ten days. She had always been a resident of Weymouth, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hirt of West street. Besides a husband she is survived by a daughter, Priscilla, her parents, three brothers and two sisters. Pilgrim Circle, C. P. of A., of which Mrs. Hayden was a member conducted services, Tuesday evening. Interment was in the family lot in St. Francis Xavier cemetery.

—Dr. G. E. Emerson is visiting his patients by means of a new Overland touring car.

—Mrs. William H. Taylor of Main street is on the sick list, being confined to her home with the grippe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ruud of Forest street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at their home on Wednesday, Feb. 18.

—At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

—Theda Bara to be seen in "Cleopatra", at Bates Opera House, Monday, March 1.

—The C. M. A. first team will play Brockton Legion this evening, and the second team play the Somerville Independents.—Advertisement.

BOARD OF TRADE

Again transportation interfered with the attendance at the special meeting of the Board of Trade on Wednesday evening. Those present discussed the article in the Town Warrant relative to a new Memorial Hall, and were of the opinion that the Annual Town Meeting should adjourn without transacting any business.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

READ THE GAZETTE ADS.

WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS

—Miss Ruth Freeman has accepted a position with Lousmaniere, Williams & Co. Boston.

—R. Edward Bates of King Oak hill has been confined to the house recently with the grippe.

—Mrs. William Humphrey who has been making a two months' visit with her daughter Mrs. Harry Godfrey of Commercial street, has now returned to her home in Dansville, N. Y.

—Rev. E. J. Yeager is convalescing from his illness.

—Mrs. Florence Mayo, and two daughters, formerly of Weymouth, have taken up their residence on Church street at the Heights.

—Miss Edna Sladen has been on the sick list during the past week.

—Miss Dorothy McDowell is able to be about again after her recent illness.

—John B. Merrill of King Oak hill is enjoying a weeks' vacation from his duties as teacher in one of the Boston high schools.

—Gordon Rauch and Edgar Wormald, who are Boy Scouts, enjoyed a hike, with their troop, to Tuttleville on the holiday.

—The newly-made toboggan slide on the Mt. Vernon estate, has been much enjoyed by the Emery children and their friends the past week.

Nash's Corner and Main Street

—Miss Ellen Roche of Park avenue has returned from the Deaconess hospital, having submitted to a successful operation.

—George B. Bayley of Main street has been confined to his home with throat trouble for the past week.

—Mrs. Arthur Brackett and son Donald, of Main street are much improved from an attack of the grippe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Helms and family who have conducted the Wessagusset Farm for several years are to move to Bridgewater.

—Mrs. Cassius Tirrell of Main street is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Stewart of Hollis street for a few weeks.

—Theron L. Tirrell of Main street who was a patient at the Fenway hospital, where he was recently operated on, returned home Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Desmond of Highland place are entertaining Miss Julia Hennessy of Methuen.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Sprague entertained their daughter, and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Howe of Wollaston, over the holiday.

—Francis Horan of Middle street has been discharged from the Charlesgate hospital, Cambridge, after a successful operation.

—Francis R. Lowell of Martinsburg, West Virginia, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lowell on Main street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Holmes are entertaining Mrs. Frank Derrington and daughter for a few days at their home on Front street.

—Carl Vinal of Front street tendered his wife a surprise party in honor of her birthday anniversary, Wednesday evening, at their home.

—Forrest Torrey, janitor of the Shaw school, has resumed his duties, having recovered from his recent illness.

SUICIDE BY SHOOTING

During a fit of temporary insanity, Benjamin Hawes, 43 years old of 516 Middle street, East Braintree, shot himself twice Monday afternoon in the barn at his home dying two hours later. The first shot was fired in the presence of Robert Gibson of 295 Commercial street East Braintree who had gone to the Hawes home for payment of a contracting job that Mr. Gibson had recently completed for Mr. Hawes.

Mr. Hawes was apparently in good humor when Mr. Gibson called at the home. Hawes suggested they go to the barn and discuss the various items on the bill. When they reached the barn Mr. Hawes drew a revolver from his hip pocket and with the remark that "we might as well end this now" raised the revolver to the right side of his head and fired.

Mr. Gibson ran to the house and while on his way heard another shot. Physicians were called and Mrs. Hawes went to the barn with Mr. Gibson. They found Mr. Hawes on the floor, unconscious. Drs. F. R. Dame and C. A. Sullivan, who responded to the call, worked over Mr. Hawes over two hours but were unable to revive him.

According to friends of Mr. Hawes, he has been suffering from melancholia for some time. He is well known in Braintree. He was a member of the school committee for twelve years, four of which he served as chairman. He was interested in town politics and was an active worker for the Republican town committee of which he was a member. He is survived by his wife and two children.

The shooting caused great excitement throughout the town of Braintree. Mrs. Hawes is prostrated.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED

Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

ELKHORN CHEESE

A cheese for every taste. It will convince the most skeptical.

Eight varieties in tins as follows:

Welsh Rarebit	20c	Roquefort-American	35c
Chile	20c	Limburger	35c
Pimento	20c	Swiss	35c
Kraft	20c	Camembert	35c

Sunseal Eatables

Sunseal Sunny-corn	19c
Sunseal Homing Grits	15c
Sunseal Brown Bread Flour	19c
	53c

Combination Sale Week of March 1st 3 pkgs. 49c

Oak-A-Lait

DRY SKIMMED MILK

WHAT IS IT?

ASK US ABOUT IT

It is sweet skimmed milk fresh from the separator, dried by a patent process which removes the water and leaves all the milk solids. For cooking purposes it cannot be surpassed even by fresh whole milk.

SPECIALS—MONDAY ONLY—SPECIALS

Tomatoes Hatchet Brand	large can 21c	Sardines Norwegian, Smoked in pure olive oil	can 21c
Raisins "Ideal" Not-a-Seed	pkg. 20c	Corn Flakes Kellogg's, Toasted	pkg. 14c
Rolled Oats Parity	large pkg. 29c	Good Will Soap	cake 7c 5 for 35c

HUNT'S MARKET GROCERY

Washington Square, Weymouth

Telephones 152 and 551-W. Opposite Post Office.

AT

MORRIS BLOOM'S Boston Cash Market

I am there with the Goods for you this week:

SATURDAY

Smoked Shoulders	23c lb.
4 lbs. Pure Lard for	$1.00
GREAT REDUCTION IN MEAT
Potatoes	83c peck

MONDAY and TUESDAY

Beef Flank, fresh and corned	6c lb.
Hamburg Steak	15c lb.
Pickled Tripe	3 lbs. for 25c
Pickled Pig's Feet	2 lbs. for 25c
Lamb for stew	10c lb.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

Fresh, Shore Haddock	10c lb.
Broken Salt Fish	2 lbs. for 25c
Large Bloaters	4 for 25c
Large Salt Mackerel	18c lb.
Hot House Lettuce	10c head

FREE DELIVERY

Tel. Braintree 225

CLAPP MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION

The C. M. A. basketball team meets the Brockton Legion team, at the "gym" tonight. The second team will play the Somerville Independents on the same night.

The first team received two setbacks in the shape of a defeat at the hands of the Brockton Y. M. C. A., and the Oke Club of Brockton. The game with the Oke's Monday, was the third game of a series, the C. M. A., winning both previous games.

Freddie Webb, of the C. M. A., will meet Hughie Ramsay of the Landing in the main bout at the Coliseum A. C. of Quincy on March 4.

With Webb in the best of condition, it looks as though Ramsay has his work thoroughly cut out for him. He will now have a chance to make good his claim that he is Webb's master.

There are plenty of followers of Webb who are willing to make wagers that Ramsay will take the count and not Webb, as Hughie has predicted.

Seats and membership cards may be secured from "Doc" Fabyan at the Clapp Memorial Building. Remember the date—March 4, at 8 o'clock. Eddie Barcelli meets Mike DiMeo in the semi-finals.

McIntosh will soon be able to issue a challenge to any of the C. M. A., star bowlers.

"Mac" can be found down in the alleys whenever he has time off at Fore River.

The C. M. A. first team met the North Easton American Legion in the postponed rubber game at Brockton. Weymouth sent a delegation of over two hundred rooters to back the local boys.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE

Zane Grey's "Desert Gold," which comes to the Alhambra Theatre, Quincy, on Monday for three days, is certain to add lustre to the fame of America's premier novelist. Not only has "Desert Gold" been acclaimed the greatest of Zane Grey's works but the screen version, produced by Benjamin B. Hampton and Eltinge F. Warner, for Zane Grey Pictures, Inc., is the first production from a Zane Grey novel that has won the author's approbation.

"Desert Gold," a W. W. Hodgkinson release, depicts the stirring adventures of Dick Gale, a sturdy soldier of fortune. He encounters an old college mate, Captain Thorne, on his travels, and assists with the aid of two cowboys in rescuing the army officer's sweetheart, Mercedes Castenada, from Rojas, an outlaw, and his pack of plunderers. Thorne returns to duty but Dick and the cowboys journey with Mercedes to Rio Forlorn to seek refuge for her at the home of Jim Belding, a rancher.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO—Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more for the year 1919.

Married couples who had net income of $2,000.

WHEN—March 15, 1920, is final date for filing returns and making first payments.

WHERE—Collector of Internal Revenue for district in which the person resides.

CLUB and SOCIAL

The Village Study Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Putney, Jr., 38 Tower avenue, Monday evening. A musicale was given following the reading of a paper on "The Study and Appreciation of Music," by Mrs. Freeman Putney, Sr. Vocal solos by Miss Helen Simpson, soprano, violin solos by Miss Evangeline Larry of Providence, R. I. piano solos by Mrs. Charles Smith, and singing by the Old Colony Glee Club under the direction of Miss Annie Deane, with Miss Helen Richards accompanist, comprised the program. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Fogg Library building, Monday, March 8. The topic for discussion will be the "High Cost of Living."

Mr. and Mrs. James B. B. Smith announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith H., to Oswald Charwood.

At the next meeting of the Monday Club, March 1, in the High School hall, East Weymouth, the program is in charge of the Education Committee. The speaker of the afternoon will be Mr. Frank Wright, commissioner of education. There will also be readings by Miss Hazel L. Hollis and the High School orchestra will furnish music.

Weather permitting, the Ladies Auxiliary of the King Cove Boat Club will hold a meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Sergt. Clinton I. Bates was a guest at the reception tendered to Gen. John J. Pershing at the Cadets Armory, Wednesday, Feb. 25. The company of which Sergt. Bates was a member received special commendation for its fine work in ammunition hauling during the war by Gen. Pershing.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan have returned from their wedding trip and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan of Main street.

Frederick G. Spencer of Weymouth was best man at the wedding Feb. 22 of Francis Joseph Saltalamachia and Doris Irving Condon, both of Quincy.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kilpatrick of Weymouth spent the week end and holiday with the Appalachiens at Randolph, N. H. In the party were friends from Braintree and Quincy.

MONDAY CLUB DRAMATIC

The drama to be given by the Monday club will be held on March 15 at 2:30 P. M. at Odd Fellows Opera House, East Weymouth. Tickets and reserved seats will be on sale at the next meeting of the club at High School hall on Monday, March 1, at 1:30 P. M. Each person may obtain five reserved seats in order of application. Other tickets may be procured later if all are not taken. Price of tickets 28 cents for admission and 15 cents for reserved seats. This includes war tax. No charge to club members for admission tickets. No phone orders for reserved seats taken until after this meeting. There will be a candy sale during the play.

LADIES NIGHT

The annual Ladies' Night of South Shore commandery, Knights Templar, on the evening of the holiday was one of the most enjoyable in recent years being largely attended.

A reception was held from 5:30 to 7:00 at which a musical program was given by Maxims Orchestra. On the reception committee were the following past commanders: Harry J. Beck, Josiah B. Reed, Charles G. Jordan, Frank W. Bates, Gardner R. P. Barker, Arthur W. Burr, Eben H. Cain, Francis A. Bicknell, George Cushing, T. John Evans and William Wallace.

Following the reception and banquet, with patriotic favors for both women and men, there was an entertainment, consisting of readings and impersonations by Walter Eccles; solo and concerted numbers for banjo, violin, cello and guitar by the Venetian Trio, led by Pietro V. Mardegia, and selections by an orchestra led by B. W. Maxim.

The dancing, that continued until midnight, was in charge of Walter R. Howland, Ralph C. Stoddard, Henry P. Tilden, Charles H. Locke, Lester T. Torrey and George Downing.

The committee of arrangements included: Harry J. Beck, EC; Henry P. Tilden, CG; Charles H. Locke, CG; Walter E. Guttererson, treasurer, and Eben H. Cain recorder.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

Dinner will be served in G. A. R. hall March 4, at 12 o'clock. Margaret Higgins, chairman. In the afternoon a meeting for the good of the order will be held, chairman Jennie Morton. Supper at 6 o'clock and regular meeting at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is desired at this meeting as, on account of stormy weather, two meetings have been omitted.

From the proceeds of the dance held by Tent 32 $5 were given to Francis Nugent.

FRENCH CERTIFICATES

An interesting program was observed Sunday afternoon at High School hall when French memorial certificates were presented to the next of kin of the Weymouth men who lost their lives overseas in the World War. All the local patriotic organizations were represented. The orator of the occasion was Hon. David I. McIntosh, the senator from this district whose address was instructive and greatly enjoyed by all.

Maj. Francis A. Bicknell, the commander of Reynolds Post, G. A. R., presented the certificates, assisted by Thomas J. Coleman, the commander of Weymouth Post, American Legion. They were given to the next of kin of the following men: Charles B. Bird, Daniel Bresnahan, Lawrence Cate, James H. Corridan, Thomas F. Donovan, Harold S. Hyland, Arthur B. Hurley, Walter J. Healey, Parker B. Jones, Harold B. Klingeman, Ernest Mowry, Wm. A. R. Monteith, George F. Nesbitt, Albert A. Ross and Grover Sprague.

The records of the following men are not yet complete: George A. Baker, Patrick Crowley, Walter Duca, Vincent L. Gorman, William J. Johnson, Frido Nicodemus, Roger Sherman and Joseph Whall.

The Adjutant of Post, Pasquale Santacrose, wishes to say that the parents or next of kin, of any of the above can obtain certificate on proof being shown the Army officer in Boston. This can be done by getting in touch with the War Department at Washington, and asking them to telegraph the local post officer, which telegram will then be shown the officer in charge of nearest recruiting office.

Patriotic readings by Miss Hazel Hollis added much to the afternoon exercises.

The Ever-Progressive class of the Porter M. E. church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cole. New officers for the ensuing year were elected: Irwin Hawes, president, Mrs. Charles Turner, vice president; Mrs. Frank Rea, treasurer; Mrs. Wilfred Hayden, secretary. Music and refreshments were served.

The members of the Epworth League attended the Old Colony Circuit League banquet at East Weymouth on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner gave a whist party to several of their friends last Friday evening. After the game refreshments were served.

Mrs. Walter Cole and Miss Nellie Brewster called on Mrs. Charles Hawes of Quincy, Monday afternoon, the occasion being her seventy-eighth birthday.

CLEOPATRA COMING

Ten thousand persons figure in the gigantic spectacle "Cleopatra," which William Fox presents at the Bates Opera House Monday, March 1. It is said to surpass anything ever screened from the point of view of sheer magnificence in effect. Neither money nor effort was spared, according to representatives of the Fox Film Corporation, to make this production a record breaker.

Two thousand artisans were recruited for the work of constructing the Roman and Egyptian settings—carpenters, masons, painters, shipbuilders and others.

Three thousand horses were used in the tremendous battle and desert scenes.

Ten seamstresses were constantly at work before and during the production on the costumes of Theda Bara alone. Miss Bara enacts the role of Cleopatra in a story that gives full play to her siren prowess. She wears fifty distinctively different costumes, each more alluringly bizarre than its predecessor, during the course of the performance.

The staging was under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards, who has established a reputation for artistry of the highest order in previous achievements.

Wednesday evening the Men's Club of the Pilgrim Congregational church held its monthly social and supper in the vestry. A committee of women from the Ladies' Social Circle served the banquet. The entertainment consisted of community singing, with Frank Allen at the piano; tenor solos by Henry Knight and ventriloquism by William Burton. Marlon Drake was the accompanist.

Mrs. Leonard Parker of Bluff road left Wednesday to attend the funeral of her brother, Earl Bowen who passed away Sunday at a New York hospital where he has been ill for the past four weeks.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma J., wife of Oscar Cox of Pequot road, who passed away at her home on Tuesday were held at her late home on Thursday afternoon. Rev. T. B. Bitler conducted the services. The burial was at the Weymouth Heights cemetery.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan of Standish road is ill with the influenza.

Mrs. Laura Brown, widow of Edward Brown of 82 Sea street, passed away at the Boston Relief Hospital on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Brown left her home Tuesday afternoon to attend a business matter in town. Shortly after her arrival there she was stricken with a hemorrhage of the brain and was taken at once to the Relief hospital where she passed away the next day. The funeral services held from her late home at Bicknell Square on Saturday afternoon were conducted by Rev. Charles Clarke and Rev. Thomas Bruce Bitler of the Pilgrim church. Besides a son, Mrs. Brown leaves a brother in New York and a brother and sister in Toronto.

Mrs. Charles Hanson of North street spent Sunday in Roxbury, the guest of her mother.

Herbert Newton of Hershey, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Petersen of Pearl street.

Frank Miller of Leonard road is recovering from an attack of the gripe.

The Ladies Circle of the Third Universalist church held an afternoon tea in the church vestry from 2:30 to 5:00 on Wednesday.

John Veader of Hunt's Hill beach is ill and has been taken to the home of his son in East Boston.

Leroy Leach of Rosemont road is confined to the house with the gripe.

Leonard Parker of Bluff road is out again having had a severe attack of gall stones.

Mrs. Fred Benkenhoff, who for many years resided on Pratt avenue, passed away at the Pond Home, on Wednesday morning the result of a paralytic shock sustained earlier in the week.

About 25 boys from troop 6 B. S. A. with assistant scoutmaster Lincoln hiked to Tuttleville on the holiday.

Theda Bara to be seen in "Cleopatra," at Bates Opera House, Monday, March 1.

At Bates Opera House, dancing every Tuesday and Saturday evening during Lent.

The C. M. A. first team will play Brockton Legion this evening, and the second team play the Somerville Independents.—Advertisement.

W. R. C. NOTES

At the meeting of corps 102 last evening it was voted to endorse the letters signed by the president and secretary of the corps and forwarded to Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Hon. David I. Walsh at Washington for them to use their influence in having the Fuller bill for the increase of pension passed.

Plans were all arranged for the afternoon meeting, supper and entertainment on March 9.

It is expected corps 102 will have a good representation at the meeting of the Norfolk County Association at Norwood on March 10. Corps 78 will serve the dinner.

The press correspondent of Corps 102 attended the Governor's reception at the State House on the holiday.

Comrade McGrath is recovering from the gripe.

Comrade Loring is confined to his home with a bad cold.

Mrs. Cora Cowing is much better after an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Della Caulfield is not able to get up yet. Please send post cards to her address, 234 Broad street, Weymouth.

The Corps regrets and mourns the death of Mrs. Harriet Litchfield a faithful worker for the corps. President Mrs. Brassil and twenty-two members attended the funeral.

PAY OF SNOW SHOVELLERS

Attention having been called to the extraordinary expenditures of the town for shovelling snow, a protest arose among the taxpayers, especially when they learned that 75 cents was being paid per hour. On Saturday the town authorities decided to pay but 60 cents per hour. A strike was talked.

The pay roll of Monday for snow was over $6,000, carrying the total to over $18,000, and there will be additions to the amount.

BIG SALE OF BEDDING MANUFACTURERS' SAMPLES

Including the Famous Simmons Steel and Brass Beds. All Grades of Mattresses, Blankets, Comforters, Pillows, Etc.

A Positive, Bona-Fide Saving of 15 to 40 per cent on Every Purchase

SANITARY, ATTRACTIVE METAL BEDS AT BIG SAVINGS
Many Patterns and Sizes to Select From

Brass Beds

	Sale Price
$41.50 Satin Finish Beds	$28.75
$40.00 Satin Finish Beds	31.50
$42.50 Satin Finish Beds	33.50
$43.50 Polet Finish Beds	32.50
$51.50 Satin Finish Beds	35.00
And Others

TWIN BED SIZES

$14.00 White En. Beds	$11.75
$17.50 White En. Beds	13.75
$22.50 White En. Beds	17.50
$27.50 Mahogany Beds	21.75
$47.50 Mahogany Beds	36.75
$45.00 Walnut Beds	31.50
$47.00 Walnut Beds	36.50

Steel Beds

$12.50 White En. Beds	$9.75
$16.75 White En. Beds	12.50
$20.00 White En. Beds	16.50
$26.00 White En. Beds	19.50
$41.50 Brass Beds	28.75
$51.50 Brass Beds	35.00
$63.50 Mahogany Beds	44.50

Exceptionally Good Trade on Mattresses

Hair and Silk Floss
Mattresses
Your Choice

$26.50

Values $30.00, $32.00 to $45.00
Many sizes and choice of Tickings

$13.50 Combination Mattresses, Now.....	$9.75
$18.50 Felt Mattresses, Now.....	14.75
$21.50 Felt Mattresses, Now.....	16.75
$20.00 Felt and Hair Mattresses, Now.....	16.50
$23.00 Felt and Cotton Mattresses, Now.....	18.75

Pad Mattresses $4.50 to $6.50. Reduced from $6.50 and $9.50

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St.
QUINCY

I. O. O. F. EXEMPLIFICATION

(Continued from Page 1)

From the different encampments were nearly 100 candidates, who were impressed with the high grade work, and convinced that Odd Fellowship, although over 100 years old is young and active.

In the afternoon the Patriarchal degree was exemplified by Wompatuck encampment of Weymouth, of which John P. Hunt is degree master. The others on the staff were: Irving H. Tirrell, Alfred W. Gardner, Charles M. Taylor, William J. Grover, Edward M. Andrews, George W. Pratt, Oliver J. Horton, Burleigh French, Henry C. Pratt, James A. Monroe, William J. Rix, William Powers, Archie French, Andrew Auld, Harry Hensley, Harry B. Belcher, Minot L. Mathewson, Eugene Hutchinson, Ralph Manuel, Charles H. Phillips, Frederick McIntyre and others. The Wompatuck staff was assisted by an orchestra and quartette.

The Golden Rule degree followed, being exemplified by the degree team of Manet encampment of Quincy, of which Sam Wood, Jr., is degree master. He was assisted by the following: Frank W. Flowers, Charles F. West, Frank L. Carlton, Harry A. Collette, Frank E. Badger, Ethan A. Rich, George C. Ela, Roland Phinney, William D. Brown, S. G. Deilh, James E. Smith and Edric Foss; also about 75 others in the tableaux, and the Manet orchestra.

An event not scheduled on the program was a presentation to Manet encampment by Agawam encampment of Springfield. About a year ago the Manet team went to Springfield and won honors by its splendid work. The presentation was made by Grand High Priest Holland of Springfield and consisted of a large group picture of the Manet boys richly framed. Past Grand Representative Sam Wood, Jr., received the gift and spoke in appreciation.

Steadfast Rebekah lodge undertook a great task when they attempted to serve a banquet to so many hungry men at 6:30. The dining room was filled at the first sitting, and nearly half filled at the second table.

In the evening there was a good exemplification of the Royal Purple degree by the team from Mount Washington encampment of South Boston of which Joseph Chambers is degree master. The other officers were: George A. Gray, Arthur Kimball, Walter Johnson, Arthur Ball, John Scarr, Lester Allen, Lewis Look, William Crockett, Edward Stevens, Duncan Kelley and William Hiltz.

Boy Wanted at the Gazette Office

WE CHARGE YOU
JUST ONE-HALF
WHAT THE
AVERAGE
DENTIST
DOES

By coming to us for dental work you cut your dental bills just one-half. This money saved is just as good in your pocket as in the other fellow's pocket. Let us estimate what your work will cost and you will be surprised at the saving.

Absolutely NO Pain

This is a positive fact, no matter how sensitive your teeth are or how nervous you may be.

Full Set Teeth
$8.00 up
Gold Crowns
$5.00
Bridge Work
$5.00

PAINLESS EXTRACTING FREE

This is the only office in Quincy where gold crowns and teeth without plates (undetectable from the natural ones) are inserted without pain.

DR. T. J. KING

CLARENCE W. KING, D. D. S. (Inc.)

1365 Hancock St.

Quincy, Mass.

9 A. M. TO 5 P. M.

NURSE IN ATTENDANCE

Telephone, Quincy 2678-M

1—United States troops guarding the second highest bridge in America, that on the Southern Pacific railroad over the Pecos river in Texas. 2—Wendell Phillips, third secretary of state, who has been named as minister to the Netherlands. 3—Marshal Foch laying the corner stone of the memorial to the Dover patrol at Calais.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

President Wilson Blocks Plan of the Premiers to Settle the Adriatic Problem.

HIS PROTEST IS EFFECTIVE

Threatens Withdrawal of America From Peace Treaty—Decision Is Reached Concerning Turkey—Compromise Railway Bill Before Congress—Sale of Former German Liners Is Enjoined.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

The Adriatic in general and Fiume in particular provided the main topic of international discussion last week and there was much excited talk in the world capitals. Premiers Lloyd George, Millerand and Nitti thought they had arranged a neat settlement of the Adriatic trouble and had called on Jugo-Slavia to accept it, with the alternative of having the principles of the pact of London applied. But they were reckoning without President Wilson, probably because he seemed to have withdrawn himself to a great extent from the discussions over the subject. As soon as he learned what the "Big Three" had done, Mr. Wilson projected himself into the affair with a note that tipped over their apple cart and brought them to a realization that he was still to be considered. He declared that he could not consent to the solution reached by the premiers and called attention to the discrepancies between it and the settlement of the problem agreed upon in December at the London conference, in which the United States was represented. Then he added a postscript that was the real stinger. Despite denials in Washington, it is quite certain that in this postscript Mr. Wilson told the premiers that unless they receded from their position he would take into serious consideration the withdrawal of the United States from the treaty of Versailles and from the treaty between the United States and France.

Of course a considerable portion of the press in the allied countries was enraged by this note and roundly abused Mr. Wilson, but the statesmen and others well informed recognized the soundness of his position and the fact that the withdrawal of America from further concern in the peace settlement would be disastrous. The allied council sent a reply to Washington which, while it urged the difficulty of inducing the rival interests to consent to the December solution, was exceedingly conciliatory in tone and asked the president to indicate what practical steps can be taken to carry out the earlier agreement, under which Fiume was to be created into a free state under the League of Nations and the principle of self-determination was to be applied to the Dalmatian coast. The situation is extremely delicate and there are not a few who predict that the outcome will be another war, with Italy and Jugo-Slavia as the contenders. From the beginning Mr. Wilson has insisted that Jugo-Slavia should not be shut off from the sea by Italian territory, and in this country, at least, this contention is generally supported. There is no unfriendliness toward Italy, but a feeling that she has already enough seaports; and the sympathy with the new republic of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes is marked. The American government wished to make public the notes exchanged in this affair, and took steps to obtain the consent of Great Britain, France and Italy. This is in accord with the principle of "open covenants openly arrived at" which Mr. Wilson vainly tried to make effective when he went to Paris the first time.

It is known that the president holds that America, as a co-belligerent in the war, is actively interested in the settlement of the Adriatic dispute, despite the fact that it has not ratified the peace treaty. Also, he holds that we are equally interested in the questions concerning the breaking up of the Turkish empire. Consequently he may have something to say about the agreements reached by the supreme council last week that the sultan shall be permitted to retain Constantinople and to reside there, provided the massacres of Armenians are discontinued; and that the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus shall be internationalized. It is not known, however, that he opposes these arrangements. It is said that in the future all sessions of the supreme council will be attended by an American representative, who will keep Washington informed of developments.

The allies so far yielded to the protestations of the Germans against the surrender of war criminals as to tell Berlin that the accused might be first tried before the German supreme court in Leipzig. But the allies reserve the right to reject the results of such trials if they believe there is any miscarriage of justice and in such cases to enforce the terms of the treaty and themselves try the offenders. It is stipulated, also, that the verdicts at previous trials of German war criminals must be annulled and the cases remanded for retrial. This would reopen the Fryatt case, in which the verdict was that the murder of the British merchant ship captain was not a violation of international law. The conservatives in Germany declare this offer of the entente is quite unacceptable. It is inconceivable to the Germans that they could put on trial their national heroes.

The government of the Netherlands was put in a rather uncomfortable position by the reiteration of the demand for the extradition of the former kaiser, and though it prepared a reply repeating its refusal, there was much discussion of plans for the internment of the fugitive in some Dutch possession far from Europe. The place most favored seemed to be Curacao, an island in the Caribbean sea north of Venezuela. If Wilhelm intends to do any plotting in his retirement he would find a congenial atmosphere in Curacao, for it has long been the refuge of would-be revolutionists from the Latin-American republics. It may be, however, that Holland will merely intern the ex-kaiser in his new house at Doorn, keeping him under strict military guard.

Germany is having so much trouble with revolutionists and labor agitators that the entente has extended the time limit for the reduction of her army to 100,000. Minister of Defense Noske has issued an order applying to Berlin and Brandenburg province threatening imprisonment or heavy fine for inciting strikes that affect food production. In the Saar region, which is occupied by the French troops, fresh disturbances resulted in the proclamation of martial law.

If soviet wireless dispatches from Moscow are to be believed—and in this instance they probably are—the revolutionists are in full control of Vladivostok and most of eastern Siberia and are putting into effect a program which is in favor of union with soviet Russia. In southern Russia the volunteer army is reported to be ravaged by typhus and falling back in disorder to the Sea of Azov before the red troops. The bolsheviks are said to have proclaimed a soviet republic in the part of the Ukraine they occupy and the formation of an "eternal brotherly union" with soviet Russia. Petrovsky is president of the new state. Sevastopol, the great port of the Crimea, is panic-stricken fearing the fate of Odessa.

Poland while still maintaining the barrier against the bolsheviks is taking steps toward a general peace between the allies and the Moscow government, and in this it probably has the support of the nations of western Europe. The negotiations will be taken up deliberately and the results submitted to the peace conference in Paris.

In Roumania, where royalists and radicals are struggling for control, the conditions are not promising. The radicals are in secret accord with the Russian bolsheviks, who already are creeping across the border, and the recent mobilization of the Roumanian army has not checked the peril. The monarchists of Hungary, who are numerous, would like to help those of Roumania, but cannot do so for fear of the bolsheviks in their own land, and also because of the national hatred of the Roumanians engendered by their looting of Hungary.

Somewhat disheartened by the international complications, the treaty compromisers in Washington attempted little last week and made less progress. But congress entered on another struggle that promised to be lively. This was brought on by the submission to both houses of the conference report of the railway reorganization bill. It came up in the house Saturday and a long and heated debate ensued. The measure was scheduled for consideration in the senate on Tuesday if the house should not reject it.

Opposition to the bill was led by the officials of the Federation of Labor and of the railway brotherhoods. They were against the whole measure in the first place because they favor government ownership and operation; and specifically they object to the section providing for compulsory investigation of wage disputes and decisions by a labor tribunal, which, while not binding, are likely to have the support of public opinion and to that extent will deprive strikes of public sympathy. They also object to the financial provisions which labor views as a validation of water stock and guarantee of abnormal profits. Representatives of railway investors said they were satisfied with the financial provisions.

Something of a jolt was administered to the war department by the report of the subcommittee of the house which had been investigating aircraft production and expenditures; but the department has had so many such jolts that it probably has become callous. The report finds that there was "woeful extravagance, total incompetency, utter failure and a wild riot of waste." Secretary Baker, Colonel Disque, who supervised spruce production, and Director Ryan are severely criticized. The subcommittee strongly recommends the creation of a separate air service. Virtually all of the facts of the collapse of aircraft production during the war have been known to the public for a long time. They do not make pleasant reading and the American people would like to forget them, since it seems impossible to punish those to blame; but they make fine campaign ammunition.

Disregarding the many and loud protests, the United States shipping board tried to pull off its proposed auction sale of 30 former German passenger liners. Bids were received for single vessels and for groups, but all of them were so low that they were rejected. Then a temporary injunction against the sale was granted by Associate Justice Bailey of the district supreme court in Washington. He said the statutes did not show an intention on the part of congress to place in the president or the shipping board the power to sell the ships. The board has asked congress for authority to offer the vessels for sale again. Vice Chairman Stevens is the only member of the board opposed to the sale. He says their true valuation has never been worked out and that they are worth $75,000,000, whereas less than half that amount was bid. Chairman Payne and the other members thought the ships should be sold to relieve the government of the expense of reconditioning them and also because the future market for ships is uncertain.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio has withdrawn from the race for the Democratic nomination for president, alleging important business in the senate and the impossibility of his obtaining a solid Ohio delegation. He never had much chance, anyhow. Mr. McAdoo has declared that he is not a candidate, but admits that if nominated he would be proud to accept. In many Indiana cities petitions are in circulation to have the name of Vice President Marshall placed on the Democratic presidential preference ballot. This is done without the knowledge and consent of Mr. Marshall who said he would not seek the nomination. On the Republican side about the only important development was the decision of the Lowden managers to keep out of the North Dakota primaries. This is at the request of the Republicans of the state, who fear that a party contest would help their enemies of the Nonpartisan League. Senator Johnson probably will follow Lowden's example, and General Wood may do the same.

World's Diamond Crop Worth Billions

Statistical Expert Estimates Value of Gems at Approximately $13,906,642,000

If all the diamonds mined in history and existing today as cut and polished gems were gathered from the ends of the earth, they would form a pile about as large as a wagon load of coal dumped on the sidewalk, says a Chicago statistical expert.

The pile would contain 46,355,474 carats and the gems would weigh ten and one-half tons. If the pile were in the form of a cone, it would have a base diameter of eight feet and a height of five feet. Reckoning the diamonds at $300 a carat, it would have a value of $13,906,642,000. It would contain 710 1-3 gallons worth $5,539,023 a gallon; or 76 1-3 bushels valued at $51,570,729 a bushel. All the world's diamonds could be packed in an ordinary clothes closet or a kitchen pantry.

This estimate is based on an approximation of the total output of rough diamonds in the world's entire history. India, it is estimated, has produced, all told, 50,000,000 carats; Brazil, 15,000,000; South Africa, 170,574,000; Borneo, 1,000,000; British Guiana, 50,000; Australia, 150,000; China, 2,000; Siberia, 500; United States, 500. This is a total rough output of 236,777,374 carats, or 55 3-5 tons avoirdupois.

Only about fifty per cent of rough diamonds are cut into gems and lose about sixty per cent of their weight in being cut and polished. Diamonds are practically indestructible and the first diamond ever mined may possibly still be in existence. But the estimate allows for the loss of at least 1,000,000 carats by flood, fire, shipwreck and other disasters. These reductions and losses leave the total of cut and polished diamonds at 46,355,474 carats.

The estimate of $300 a carat is the minimum price at which diamonds can be bought today. The popular demand for diamonds was never so great and they have become the gem of the working people as well as the wealthy classes. They are worth three times as much now as before the war and sell at from $300 to $1,000 a carat.

TIME TO LAUGH

Invisible.

"Yes, they have invisible ink."
"I must have gotten hold of some of it by mistake."
"How so?"
"The magazine people can't seem to see the poetry I write."

His Heroic Act.

Mrs. Henpeck—To think that I once considered you a hero! Oh, la-la-la!
Mr. Henpeck—I suppose the thought struck you on the evening I performed the death-defying and foolhardy feat of proposing marriage to you.

Between Friends.

"Why are you pawing over the library?"
"I'm lookin' up the term, congenital idiot."
"What's the matter? Has somebody called you one?"

Considerate.

Her Father—I hear you've been looking up my rating. What for?
Her Suitor—I wanted to see if I should be the right sort of son-in-law for you.

The Situation.

Parent (from the adjoining room)—Edith, aren't you going to light the gas in there?
Edith—Yes, mamma! Charlie and I were just speaking of—er—striking a match.

Doomed to Dumbness.

"Money talks," said the political grafter.
"Well, if this does any talking," said the bribe giver, handing it over, "it will be the last you will ever get."

Advance Two Theories in Origin of West Indies

The origin of the West Indies is to be studied by a naturalist who recently sailed from New York City for Jamaica. Scientists hold two supportable theories in this matter. The first theory makes Cuba, Jamaica, Haiti and Porto Rico mere fragments of the American continent. It supposes that they were isolated by depression below sea level of the surrounding areas. The second theory sees the islands as independent uprisings from the ocean bed, caused by a combination of volcanic upheavals, foldings in the earth's crust, and coral growth.

RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS

Doing something for others.
Doing it without expecting a return.
Always look on the brighter side.
Keeping eternally busy at something.
Never taking too much of anything.
Contentment with your lot.
Reverence for older folks.
Making your middle name "Cheerfulness."
Companionship of a good dog.

World's Debt Has Increased From $40,000,000,000 in 1914 to $200,000,000,000 in 1920

The world's debt has been estimated at $200,000,000,000 compared with $40,000,000,000 in 1914.

Paper currency throughout the world has increased 600 per cent since 1914, while the gold reserve behind it has increased only 40 per cent, according to statistics. The face value of paper currency of thirty principal countries, which totaled $7,250,000,000 in 1914, has increased to $40,000,000,000 at the time of the armistice and to $50,000,000,000 in December, 1919, exclusive of $34,000,000,000 issued by the Russian soviet government.

Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria show an advance in note circulation from $1,200,000,000 in 1914 to $12,300,000,000 at the close of the war, and $18,770,000,000 if December, 1919, the gold reserve falling from $600,000,000 in 1914 to $327,000,000 in 1919, the ratio of gold to notes declining from 49.7 per cent in 1914 to 5.5 per cent in December, 1919.

In the eight principal countries of the allies, paper notes increased from $1,166,000,000 in 1914 to $2,420,000,000 in 1919, while the gold reserve increased from $516,000,000 to $1,450,000,000, a ratio of 44.3 in 1914 and 59.9 in 1919.

"Gallery of Mirrors" Named From Glasses Which Were More Precious Than Rubies

"Galerie Des Glaces," or the "Gallery of Mirrors" at the Palace of Versailles, gets its name from 17 beveled mirrors, which were more precious than rubies before glassmaking was reduced to a science. Opposite each mirror is a window, these windows overlooking the famous gardens which were scenes of royal revelries and regal pomp.

In these gardens all the sculptors of standing in France were commanded for innumerable pieces. Piped waters spout from mouths of gilded frogs and lizards, fauns play flutes, and dragons kidnap cupids, while stately old trees give one touch of nature against this supremely artificial setting in these gardens.

The mirrors are framed in works of art and surmounted by paintings. One series of these paintings depicts in flamboyant scenes the career of Louis XIV. Originally tables and chairs in this hall were of solid silver. The ensemble was typical of the emptiness of the yoke from which France freed herself.

Man Must Be Busy—Have Hobby or Be Entertained

Man can rise only as he grows out of limiting habits. This is the highest test of worth. Habits become so much a part of the individual that it is hard to throw them off. They are the builders of character. Let alone, habits determine our conduct and set the limits of our possibilities. The wholesome habits—habits of industry and balance—we want to cultivate and develop. Habits that create appetites, set limitation and resultant weakening of the powers we want to grow out of. Man must be busy. If he has surplus unengaged time he must have a hobby or be entertained. He must grow out of idleness into industry.

Highest Village.

The little village of Karzok, in Kashmir, India, is believed to be the highest in the world. Its altitude is 14,948 feet.

Home Town Helps

BENEFIT OF LOCAL COUNCILS

Deal With Matters Which Vitalize Affect Welfare of Every Member of the Community.

Are you a lonesome citizen or are you a neighborly citizen?
Are you and yours getting a square deal in your district?

Are the pavements, the street cars, the gutters clean and giving good service?

Are the prices you pay for meat, potatoes, milk and bread, in your opinion, fair and right?

Is the school furnishing your child a good education in return for your taxes?

Is the landlord pronteering on your rent?

These, according to the councils, are a few of the important matters of everyday city living which should have a satisfactory answer if a man is to remain a satisfied citizen in his community. To get a satisfactory answer he must be a member of his local council. "In these times," says a circular explaining the organization, "the community council is a ray of hope. It is a nonpolitical, nonsectarian neighborhood organization of the people—the voice of the neighborhood."

Parenthetically, it may be added that a large part of the voice is feminine, thousands of housewives being enrolled in the various locals.—Exchange.

TO PREVENT LOSS BY FIRE

Simple Rules, If Properly Observed, Will Lead to an Enormous Annual Saving.

Use only safety matches and make it impossible for children to get them. Always place burned matches in metal receptacles; never throw them on the floor or into waste baskets.

To smoke in garages, in bed or around stables containing hay is deliberately to invite disaster.

One or more approved chemical fire extinguishers should be placed in every home. They must be protected against freezing.

It is well to see that the garden hose may be attached to the kitchen faucet.

Have the telephone number of the nearest fire station on a special card at your telephone.

Familiarize the family with the operation of the nearest fire alarm box. After operating a fire alarm stay near it to direct the firemen to the fire. Every minute is important.

Don't fail to notify the chief of the fire department of anything you may see in the neighborhood that is dangerous or liable to cause fire.—Exchange.

Plea for Home Ownership.

From Portland, Ore., a western view of what the own-your-own-home campaign means to the nation has been received by the United States department of labor.

William A. McRae of the Bank of California writes:

"Whether the home is a cottage or a palace it equally shelters and enshrines the sacred love and devoted affection of all that is best and worthiest in our common humanity. Why should every married man own his home?"

"First, to give his wife a chance to make a home, which is the natural desire of the normal woman, who in the cramped quarters of the boarding house or apartment lacks sufficient breathing space. Secondly, to supply his family with an environment where paternal love and devotion may have ample room and the privacy so essential to enable parents to train their children by setting before them in their plastic stage an example worth while."

Old, but Ever True.

It is in part to help the spiritual growth and to teach the "young idea" of community spirit "how to shoot" that the chamber of commerce published in its monthly bulletin lines like these:

If you like to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.

It isn't the town, it's you.
Real towns aren't made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbors can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see,
It isn't the town, it's you.

Many Small Homes Built.

The building projects of 1919 figure up to $2,600,000,000 for the whole country, according to a New York authority. The most interesting feature of the matter is the fact that an unprecedented percentage of the building was in the building of small homes.

Community's Big Four.

The church, the school, the county agent, the local newspaper—these are the Big Four in community life.

FAMED OLD SPEEDWAY OPENED TO MOTORS

The famous old Speedway now the new Speedway running along the Harlem river, New York city, from 155th street to Dyckman street, was recently opened for the first time to passenger automobiles.

The speedway was originally constructed for the accommodation of trotting horses and racing horses twenty-one years ago. Many of the most famous trotting races in New York were held on the famous dirt course. It was sacred to light horse-drawn pleasure vehicles.

Owing to pressure and the lengthy discussion of its uses it was reconstructed and thrown open to the automobile. The commissioner of parks was recently empowered by the state legislature to open this and other roadways at his own discretion.

USEFUL POINTS
FOR CAR OWNER

Automobilist, by Careful Observation of His Machine, Can Save Garage Bills.

REPAIRS ARE EASILY MADE

Many Small Irregularities Can Result in Serious Breakdowns if Not Watched—Some Instructive Little Odds and Ends.

Following are a number of useful points that all good motorists will be glad to learn:

When the engine, after being started, runs for a minute or two and then stops, the first place to look for trouble is in the gasoline feed line. A partial stoppage in the pipe will lessen the flow of fuel so that the float chamber fills slowly. On being started the motor at once consumes this gasoline and then has to wait for more. There is another possible cause of this trouble, and that is the float of the carburetor sticking. Of course, if the float is stuck in a high position the flow of fuel will be greatly lessened or even stopped.

Use for Old Files.
Occasionally it becomes necessary for the man who operates his own car to file a piece of cast iron that has been subjected to friction and has acquired a glassy surface of "skin." The best way to get through this skin is to use the edges of an old file, as using a good file on such surfaces will spoil it.

To Clean Spark Plugs.
An excellent method of cleaning spark plugs, or in fact any mica surface, is to wash them first in a 10 per cent solution of acetic acid, which is an infallible solvent of grease and carbon deposits. The plugs should then be washed off with gasoline and finally dried by rubbing them with a cloth.

Bluing Metal.
The car owner who does his own repair work sometimes finds it's necessary to "blue" small bright objects, such as screws. This may be done by placing them on a piece of sheet iron and holding them over a fire until they assume the desired color.

Cleaning Contact Points.
It is sometimes difficult to find a really satisfactory agent for cleaning the contact points of ignition apparatus or the surface of a commutator on a starting motor or a lighting dynamo. There is something known as "cuttlefish paper," which is finer than the finest quality of sandpaper and which is very well adapted to this operation. Cuttlefish paper is not regularly carried by hardware stores, but it may be obtained from dental supply houses.

Interior Wire Break.
On rare occasions it happens that a wire breaks inside its insulation, giving no exterior sign of the trouble. The car owner thinks the ignition system has gone bad, changes spark plugs, sends the magneto to the service station, etc., when all the time this interior wire break is the cause. In the event of an obscure ignition trouble remember this.

Leaking Tube.
Sometimes an inner tube receives a puncture big enough to allow the tire to become deflated after a brief interval, but not visible to the naked eye. When this happens to the garage the bucket of water tells the tale at once, but on the road about the only way of locating the leak is to inflate the tube and hold successive portions of it close down to the dust along the surface of the road. When the puncture is brought into this position the outflow of air will ruffle the dust and indicate the position of the leak. The varnish on the new car tire quently becomes speckled after its first encounter with a rainstorm. These spots are hard to get off, but a treatment with raw oil, applied with plenty of elbow grease, will come as near turning the trick as anything.

Cause of Knocking.
In motors with detachable cylinder heads great care should be taken to see that the gasket used to pack the joint does not project into the combustion chamber. When this occurs the gasket is likely to become incandescent, causing preignition knocks and even back-firing in the carburetor.

Home-Made Cement.
Four parts of iron filings, two of lime and a fifth part of common salt mixed to a paste with vinegar make an excellent cement for spark plugs, for connecting pipes, etc. When carefully mixed this cement will stand compression and heat and can be air dried.

COASTING DOWN LONG GRADE

It Is Dangerous Practice Unless Driver Is Thoroughly Acquainted With Highway.

Coasting down a long grade with many curves is dangerous, unless you know the road, especially if the engine is running in neutral. Deep sand, a wet spot in the road, or any of a number of conditions might be met that would require quick work to prevent an accident. The driver has better control if the engine is running and the clutch engaged. Poor brakes help to keep the doctors and undertakers busy.

DRAINAGE FOR CRANK CASE

Accumulation of Grit, Particles of Carbon and Dirt Should Be Removed With Oil.

All new cars and those which have been run a few hundred miles should have the cylinder oil drained from the crank case. It is good economy to have this oil drained after the first 500 miles, on account of the accumulation of grit, particles of carbon and dirt from bearings in the oil. This grit is kept in circulation and acts in the same manner as emery, cutting the bearings.

SLOW DOWN AROUND CORNERS

Enforcement of Rule Not Only Protects Pedestrians, but Saves Wear and Tear on Cars.

The traffic rule requiring cars to turn corners at four miles an hour is not merely to protect pedestrians, but is for your benefit as well. Turning corners at high speed strains the tires, spokes and axles, and may result in skidding, followed by an overturned car. So slow down and coast or go into second gear.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Missouri has one motor truck to every 40 farms.

There are 2,121 automobiles registered in Tokio, Japan.

The Japanese are considered skillful automobile drivers.

In the past twenty years 7,700,000 automobiles have been produced in the United States.

Motor trucks distribute 12,000,000 gallons of gasoline daily to supply motor vehicles in the United States.

Police authorities in Brazil keep a record of all careless automobile drivers through a sort of Bertillon system.

In many makes of cars using battery ignition it is possible to keep the car running without the use of the battery.

NEW ENGLAND NEWS
IN TABLOID FORM

Items of Interest From All Sections of Yankeeeland

By 97 votes Marblehead, Mass., went wet for the first time since 1880, the vote standing 546 to 449.

Stoughton Bell placed on record as against the bill the Boston and the Massachusetts chambers of commerce.

Two Boston men were held in the sum of $1,000 in the Malden, Mass., district court on a charge of having stolen a 10-cent pocketbook containing one cent.

A Waterbury, Conn., man who was arrested after seizure of the largest illicit still yet uncovered in New England, was fined $200 and costs for keeping liquor with intent to sell.

Gov. Milliken will call special session of the Maine Legislature, if necessary, to provide for enrollment of women voters; believes they will have full suffrage before June primary.

S. Edward Ferry, 70 years old, a retired farmer, Canton, Mass., committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. Despondency due to ill health is thought to have been the cause.

The factory and contents of the J. W. Steers Organ Company, Springfield, Mass., one of the oldest of its kind in the country, were destroyed by fire with a loss estimated at $100,000.

Mrs. Mary B., widow of Joseph C. Robinson, recently observed her 101st birthday at the family home, 206 Washington street, Malden, Mass. She enjoys good health and reads the daily papers.

Joseph W. Laurie, 44, an accountant at the Quinsigamond wire mill of the American Steel & Wire Company, Worcester, Mass., was drowned in a big tank containing thousands of gallons of oil.

Failing to get any heat in her apartment and being unable to rouse the janitor, a woman occupant of an apartment house in Lynn, Mass., called police headquarters. The police found a poker game going on.

Mrs. Theodore Burnett, a French stowaway, who was married at sea to a member of the ship's crew, and ordered deported from Boston by the immigration department, has been admitted to the U. S. on $2000 bail.

Information that the Massachusetts quota of the national guard will number 12,000 instead of 4000, as at first ordered, has been received by high authorities in the military service of the state, from Washington sources.

The British Avro biplane, which made a record trip from New York to Boston in 2 hours eight minutes last month and has since been reposing on the ice-covered Charles river basin, Boston, broke away from its mooring.

From articles found in the rooms of John Noccia and Anthony Forleson, who were shot and killed in a pistol duel in the cellar of a South Beach, Conn. house, the police connect them directly with at least eight burglaries.

News that his mother, ill with blood poisoning in a Boston hospital, was not expected to recover, led 15-year-old Philip V. Abbott of Franklin, Mass., to commit suicide by firing a bullet into his mouth from a small hunting rifle.

The will of Henry B. Endicott, which is dated Dec. 24, 1919, has been filed in Dedham, Mass., for probate. With the exception of certain bequests to his old servants and some personal friends, the entire estate is left to his immediate family.

Through the watchfulness of Dr. William H. Spear, the veterinary inspector of the Portland, Me., board of health, Portland people were prevented from eating pork from a herd of 200 hogs in the vicinity of that city afflicted with hog cholera.

George J. Pierro of No. Adams, Mass., has taken steps to annul his marriage with Miss Margaret Kennedy of that city at Pownal, Vt., on Feb. 1, claiming that he was drugged at the time of the ceremony and did not know that he was married.

A carrier pigeon pursued by gulls alighted on the steam trawler Sea Bird, 175 miles east of Cape Cod, its leg band bearing the inscription, O F B 292, 1915. On reaching T wharf, the pigeon was liberated and, after getting bearings, flew in a westerly direction.

Representative E. Gerry Brown of Brockton, Mass., appealed to the House to give the farmers a square deal and to protect their interests by creating a commission to investigate the agricultural resources of the state and to report upon the causes that have contributed to its decadence. The committee on agriculture had reported adversely on his petition, and Mr. Brown asked the House to substitute the bill.

Although the cost of living in Massachusetts has increased 92 per cent. since 1914, there has been almost no profiteering, declares the state commission on the necessities of life in its report to the Legislature. The great increase in prices, according to the commission, has been due chiefly to increased demand and decreased supply, both of which it calls natural outcomes of the world war. The commission recommends no legislation designed to control prices directly, declaring it believes such laws would be worthless and likely to do more harm than good.

Mrs. Anna Tomaskiewicz of South Hadley, Mass., was arrested on a bench warrant charging her with murder in having caused the death by poisoning of her husband, Andrew T. Tomaskiewicz, who died last August under peculiar circumstances.

The Massachusetts House has passed to be engrossed the bill requiring towns to provide transportation for school children or to pay for their tuition in nearer schools in adjoining towns, when the town schools are remote from the homes of such children.

An official inspection of the First Company, Rhode Island State Guard, of Woonsocket, will be made April 19 at the Woonsocket Armory by Adjutant General Charles W. Abbot, Jr., and the commanding officer of the company, according to general orders.

Colonel Edward L. Logan, commander of the American Legion in Massachusetts, urged the Legislative Committee on Military Affairs to support bills to care for the graves in France of the Massachusetts men and women who gave their lives to democracy and for erecting there a suitable memorial in their honor.

Working their way through almost impassable snow drifts, the selectmen of Concord, Vt., succeeded in recovering the body of John Leclair, 76 years old, who was killed by one of his cows, which died from starvation. Leclair's body lay in the barn for five days before it was discovered by a hunter who stopped at the farmhouse while making a round of his traps.

The plant of G. H. Grimm & Co., Rutland, Vt., manufacturers of maple sugar-making utensils, was destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $50,000. In an attempt to save valuable papers in the office, Chief A. A. Courcelle put on a gas mask and entered the building, but he was partially overcome by smoke and had to crawl out on his hand and knees.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels intends to establish a Summer training school at Newport, R. I., this Summer, according to information received by Governor Beechman, Secretary Daniels states he will request appropriations not only to continue the Newport station, but to utilize it for the training of young men desiring to enter the navy or the naval reserves.

Landlords in Massachusetts would be required to maintain a temperature of 68 degrees from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night during the period of the year between Oct. 15 and April 15, under the terms of a bill which was favored before the Judiciary committee by Health Commissioner Woodward of Boston, Mayor Adams of Melrose, representing the commission on the necessities of life, and Representative Silbert of Boston.

Mrs. Patrick J. Sullivan, 49, of Springfield, Mass., was accidentally shot in the left side by her 6-year-old son, Edward, in her home. The youngster was playing about the house and found a 22-calibre loaded revolver in a bureau drawer. He took it to his mother and asked her what it was. She told him to put it back. As he was about to do so he pulled the trigger in fumbling with the weapon and the bullet struck Mrs. Sullivan.

What is in effect a strike vote was taken among the thousands of mill hands in Lawrence, Mass., who are members of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America. The move is believed to portend a nation-wide strike of textile operatives by April 1 at the latest. The ballot circulated among the local workers did not mention strike. It seeks to find out how many workers want the forty-four-hour week and a 50 per cent. increase in pay.

Abolition of some of the present holidays, so that Nov. 11 in Massachusetts can be observed as a day commemorating the ending of the great war was suggested to the committee on legal affairs by Representative Hartshorn of Gardner in support of his bill providing that Armistice day be designated as a legal holiday. Mr. Hartshorn believed it might be possible to merge armistice day and Thanksgiving. Edmund W. Longley, vice-president of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in opposition, said the institution of another holiday would cost the people $5,000,000 in loss of wages.

Acquisition by the Central Maine Power Company of a majority of the stock issues of public utilities controlled by Maynard S. Bird and Hugh J. Chisholm of Portland, Me. is being effected, subject to the approval of the public utilities commission. These corporations include the Androscoggin Electric Company, which operates the interurban electric railroad between Lewiston and Portland; the Oxford Electric Company, furnishing electrical power in Norway, South Paris and Mechanic Falls, and the Knox Electric Company, which operates the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden street railway, and supplies power and light to Knox county towns in the vicinity of Rockland.

Former Senator Arthur Harrington of Charlestown, Mass., gave the members of the legislative committee on election laws a graphic word picture of how the political game is played in ward five, formerly ward eight, Boston, if his charges are true. He charged extreme colonization of voters, stating that in a building on Causeway street, a room 30 feet square had been fitted up with 16 double bunks, which were occupied on the evening of March 31 in each year by at least 30 men who at other times lived elsewhere.

They couldn't be built
now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives

Those desiring information concerning the railroad situation may obtain literature by writing to The Association of Railway Executives, 61 Broadway, New York

The B & B Garage

AUTHORIZED FORD SERVICE STATION

Washington Square, Weymouth.

FORD PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

All Ford work at contract prices guaranteed.

Eagle Oil and Grease

Winter Storage of Cars

Car service, night or day, at reasonable rates. Careful drivers.

R. E. O'Connor & Co.

Telephone, Weymouth 397-M

FOR HEAT

Selected Stock

COAL

Fresh Mined

CLEAN COAL

IS.

Our Specialty

J. F. Sheppard & Sons, Inc.

EAST BRAINTREE

QUINCY

Telephones:—BRAINTREE 25

Quincy 232-W or 2420

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER!

POPULAR PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE

CLASSIFIED "ADS" INCLUDING LOST, FOUND, WANTED.
TO LET AND FOR SALE THAT BRING RESULTSOne Week 50c. Three Weeks 75c—Terms in Advance
But nothing less than 50 cents for One Week

WANTED

ROOMS WANTED
Unfurnished, 4 or 5 rooms or small single house in South Weymouth. Address, Marion F. Low, 144 W 4th St., New York. 4t,9,12

BABY CARRIAGE WANTED
WANTED—A good second hand baby carriage. Tel. 79-W. Weymouth, or write to Box 26, Weymouth. 3t,9,11

WANTED TO BUY
Cottage in Weymouth or Braintree, state price etc. in first letter. John W. Hedden, Lake Shore Park, Weymouth. 4t,9,12

WANTED
YOUNG MEN for Railway Mail Clerks $110 month. Experience unnecessary. For free particulars examinations, write J. Leonard (former Government Examiner) 548 Equitable Bldg., Washington, D. C. 1t,9

WANTED
Stitchers on light power machines. Also good Handsewers and pressers. Light work and good salary to start. Steady employment.
Apply to Ideal Neckwear Co. Inc., fifth floor, 109 Kingston St., Boston, Mass. 2t,9,10

SALESMEN WANTED
To solicit orders for lubricating oils, greases and paints. Salary or commission. Address the Todd Oil & Paint Co., Cleveland, O. 1t,9

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

WANTED
Owing to financial conditions of the American Legion, it is impossible to obtain a typewriter which is needed very much. Any individual or society who feel they could donate one, may be assured it would be greatly appreciated. Address, Mrs. Kathryn B. owley, East Weymouth. 3t,8,10

MAID WANTED
Maid wanted for general work. No washing to do. Good wages. Apply any day between 5 and 7 P. M. to Mrs. Frank J. Perry, 15 Summer St., Weymouth. Tel. Wey. 252-W 3t,8,10

WANTED
Young man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

HELP WANTED
Girls for general work. Good wages. Pray & Kelley 2tf

GIRLS WANTED
Girls over 18 years of age at the factory of Edmund S. Hunt & Sons Co., Weymouth. 50tf

WANTED
Men or women to take orders among friends and neighbors for the genuine guaranteed hosiery, full lines for men, women and children. Eliminates darning. We pay 50c an hour for spare time or $24 for full time. Experience unnecessary. Write, International Stocking Mill, Norristown, Pa. 5tf

My Hat Is In The Ring Again
The call of the paint brush has proved too strong. Customers will be glad to know that

W. M. SWEET is now operating at the old stand.

371 Washington St., cor Congress Weymouth. Tel. Wey. 118-M

Invite your patronage. Colors mixed to order from the best lead and oil. I represent the best wall paper houses in the State. Ceiling work and paper hanging a specialty. Estimates given on house painting and glazing. 9,1f

LET THE Quincy Awning Company

furnish estimates on your awnings. Now is the time to place orders for Spring delivery. Phone or write

E. M. Woodbury

113 Marlboro Street : Wollaston Quincy 2783-M 1f,4

M. MIRKIN UPHOLSTERER

is the one who will give you the full satisfaction in work and prices of repairing furniture, mattresses and cushions, 1025 HANCOCK STREET, near the Quincy High School. Tel. Quincy 501-W

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 12.)

PORTER M. E. CHURCH

Lovell's Corner

In the absence of the pastor next Sunday, Mr. Wm. Hessel of Boston University will preach at both the morning service at 10.30 and the evening service at 7.00.
Bible School at 11.45
Junior League at 3.30
Epworth League at 6.15.
Prayer service is held on Thursday evening at 7.30.

EPISCOPAL

Trinity church, Weymouth. Rev. William Hyde, rector. Services and sermon Sunday at 10.45. Sunday school at 12. Lenten Services Friday evening at residence of Mrs. William Adams, Washington street, Weymouth.

THE WHITE CHURCH

(Congregational)

Edward Torrey Ford pastor. The usual Sunday services will be held, weather and walking permitting. Morning worship at 10.30 with sermon by the pastor.

Church Bible school at noon. Sunday evening service at 7 with brief message by pastor. The annual meeting of the East Congregational Society will be held in the chapel Thursday evening at 7.30.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL

East Weymouth
Frank Kingston, pastor. Morning worship at 10.30 with pastoral sermon on "The Unforgivable Sin." Church Bible School at 12. Probationers' class at 3.30. Epworth League service at 6; topic "The Letter to the Philippians." Leader Miss Dorothy Green. Evening worship at 7 with evangelistic message on "The Paralysis of Fear."

Monday, 8 P. M., the monthly business meeting and social of the Epworth League Society.
Tuesday, 7.30 P. M., weekly fellowship meeting; topic, "Two Conversations of Christ." This meeting will be followed by the election of our delegate to the Lay Electoral Conference.
Wednesday, 8 P. M., Probationers' class at the parsonage.
Thursday, 8 P. M., cottage prayer meeting.

All these services belong to everybody and we welcome all who are interested in the affairs of Christ. Come and see us.

OLD SOUTH UNION CHURCH

South Weymouth

O. A. Price, pastor. Service of worship at 10.30 with sermon by the pastor. Sermon subject: "The Modern Interpretation of the Call of God to His Service." Here is a quotation from "What Shall I do with My Life?" a pamphlet by F. M. Sheldon: Margaret Fuller once said, "I accept the universe." Carlyle replied "Egad, she'd better." There isn't anything else to do. We may try to ignore it or even imagine it is naught, but always we must take account of it and finally, work with its laws to our making or against them to our breaking.

"Much the same thing is true of life. We must accept and do something with it, even if it be nothing more than to destroy it. Whatever we think or whether we think at all or not, two things we cannot escape: we must become something and we must wield some kind of an influence. Life does not wait on thought. Life cannot be judged, it must be lived. Every business occupation or calling, which makes really useful contribution to life, may be made a Christian service. And surely the only adequate reason for doing any kind of work in the world is to make a happier and better manhood and womanhood. Every person's life should make the particular calling may be." The Christian spirit should be embodied and expressed in every vocation, in all work. The Christian leadership callings are wanting men and women, men and women of consecrated culture and education. "The task of making the world Christian is the most difficult anywhere to be found. This is true because the program of Christianity goes deeper, is more revolutionary, is bigger and more far-reaching than any other program in the world."

"Sunday Evening," by Herbert C. Hunt of Rockland.
"The Regular Irregulars," by Harold Lincoln of East Weymouth.
"Any Remarks on the Motion," by Bowdoin B. Smith of Porter.
"Our Banner," by Harold E. Norris of South Braintree.
"The Chairman of our Committee," by Simon B. Rideout of East Braintree.
"Rhapsody in E Major," by Ernest C. Drake of Hingham.

At the service in the auditorium, Rev. James Devadasan of India delivered an address on "A Breath from the Orient." Mrs. Addie Chubbuck played the organ and Myron P. Ford sang. W. B. Foley of Cohasset presided. The banner for the largest attendance went to the South Braintree League.

Christian endeavor service in the vestry at 6 o'clock. Young people are urged to come, all are most heartily welcome.
Prayer and devotional service at 7.30 P. M. Thursday evening.

SCHOOLS NEED THE MONEY

Editor Gazette and Transcript:

After reading the Town Warrant, and then reading under the heading of "Important Articles in the Town Warrant" in your paper of the 20th, I think that Articles 14, 15 and 16, which are to benefit our school children, are the most important, and not Article 9 as selected by your writer which calls for the erection of a Memorial Building.

This project can well wait another decade; the schools cannot! When the war is declared over, and the feeling for a new building is more universal in all parts of the town, than it is at the present time, then we can act.

I am not going to take up the space in your paper; for or against Article 9, as that will be well talked over at the town meeting, Monday night, March 1, but I have two suggestions to propose, which I hope as a voter and tax payer, that our citizens in town meeting assembled will consider well before voting to accept Article 9, namely:

1st—That the Town buy the Fogg Building at a cost not exceeding forty thousand dollars, which the present owners will sell for, a building which cost one hundred and twenty thousand dollars to build in 1888 and could not be duplicated today for twice that amount. The net income from same, in a few years, will more than reimburse the town for any present outlay and would never be an expense for the care and maintenance of same, which cannot be said of the building, as proposed in Article 9.

2nd—At the town meeting, let the voters instruct the Selectmen to procure plans and estimates for a building suitable for our different boards of town officers, to be located on land now owned by the town in East Weymouth, adjoining the Police station near Jackson Square at a sum not to exceed twenty five thousand dollars, and to report at some future town meeting. This building could be built and ready for occupancy long before the present lease of the rooms in the Savings Bank Building expires.

This also would not be a burden on the town as the saving in rents and expenses of the present offices, could be applied to the new building and as it would be adjoining the Police station; one heating plant could take care of both, and I think all should concede, if a new building is to be erected, it should be in the immediate vicinity of Jackson Square.

If we vote to erect a new Memorial Building, it means an annual expense of five thousand dollars or more, forever, for the care and maintenance of same.

The interest and sinking fund requirements for the first year, on the new building, would be upwards of twenty five thousand dollars.

So I suggest using this sum for a new town office building, and if we have any extra money, to spend it on our schools, where it is most needed.

Yours respectfully,
F. W. HOWE.
South Weymouth, Feb. 25.

LENTEN SERVICES

The Union Church of Weymouth and Braintree announces its program for the season of Lent as follows: Sunday mornings at 10.30 there will be given a series of sermons on the Great Themes of our Faith with subjects:

Feb. 29 "The Re-discovery of God"
March 7 "The Dynamics of Faith"
March 14 "Why Men Pray"
March 21 "The Living Word"
March 28 Palm Sunday "A Saviour who Saves"

April 4 Easter Day "The Promise of Life after Death."

Sunday evening programs at 7 with chorus choir, orchestra and special musical and program features:

Feb. 29 "The Modern World's Need."
March 7 Travelogue No. 2 with 71 colored slides, stereopticon lecture: "Japan, the Land of the Lotus Flower"
March 14 The Church's call to men who are men, with Men's chorus and male quartet.

March 21 Stereopticon lecture with 52 beautifully colored slides: "The Life of Jesus in Art."
March 28 Musical program of Triumph, by combined choir under the direction of Mr. Garey, organist.

Thursday night meetings of prayer and meditation at 7.30: "The Character of Jesus."
March 4 "Jesus, the Light the Truth the Way."
March 11 "Jesus in Times of Trouble."

March 18 "The Sign of the Christ."
March 25 Character Studies from Hoffman's Paintings, illustrated by 28 beautiful slides.

Passion Week meetings at 7.30. Tuesday, March 30 Rev. Harry Grimes of the First Church, Braintree, will give the address.

Wednesday, March 31, Mr. Allan C. Emery, wool merchant and formerly manager of Evangelist Sunday's Boston Campaign will speak.

Thursday, April 1, Rev. Frank Kingston of the First Methodist Church of Weymouth will preach.

Friday, April 2, Good Friday, the minister of Union Church.

A cordial invitation to all. Invest your life in the big things, and God will give you power.

NEEDS OF WEYMOUTH

Editor Gazette and Transcript:

It is to be regretted that for the past few years so few of the voters have attended our town meetings, in fact it has at times been impossible to count a quorum when important matters were under consideration.

In order to impress upon the voters the importance of attending the town meeting on next Monday, may I be permitted to state a few facts in regard to the article in the town warrant calling for the appropriation of $250,000 for a new Memorial Hall.

I venture to assert that nearly all of the citizens of the town would be willing to appropriate a reasonable sum for a municipal building which would serve as a memorial for our soldiers, but unfortunately under the existing circumstances the appropriation of such a large amount as $250,000 or possibly $300,000 must be considered from a business standpoint.

Like other towns and cities, we are facing a very much larger tax rate, and it would not be surprising if we had to pay a tax around $30 per thousand this year, as almost every department in town will necessarily require more money, however conservative it may be in its expenditures.

A very important thing to be considered in regard to raising the $250,000, is that most of this money will have to be borrowed and while it may be possible to do this without exceeding the town's borrowing limit which is fixed by law, we shall have so nearly reached that limit that it will be impossible for the town to borrow any more without asking the Legislature to pass a special act authorizing our doing so.

Now the time is near at hand when the town will be absolutely obliged to borrow more money for school houses, as the situation in North Weymouth is very pressing, and while portable school houses may answer for the time being, a new building will have to be built there in the near future. This will probably cost at least $100,000 on today's price of labor and materials.

The High School is becoming very much congested and must be enlarged before long. We certainly cannot afford to neglect our schools, under any circumstances we must give our children the best possible education even if we have to economize elsewhere. Do we want to put ourselves in a position where we will have to go without suitable schools or ask the Legislature to allow us to borrow more money with which to build them?

Furthermore with our increased population and new industries moving into town, we shall be obliged to borrow a large amount of money in the near future for a sewerage system which is becoming badly needed at the present time.

What rate of interest will we have to pay, how will our town bonds sell when we have reached our debt limit? These are questions that are worthy of careful consideration, and it would seem to be the duty of every voter of the Town of Weymouth to make an effort to attend the town meeting at South Weymouth on next Monday evening.

Yours truly,
FRANK N. CLAPP.

ANGIE CRANE NEWTON

Angie Crane, wife of Herbert A. Newton, passed away at her home in Weymouth, Mass., on Tuesday, Feb. 17, after an illness of only a few hours. Mrs. Newton was born in Quincy on July 26, 1852. She was educated in the public schools of Quincy residing there until her marriage to Mr. Newton of North Weymouth in 1873. After her marriage she became a member of the Pilgrim Congregational church and took an active part in all its work. Her sterling qualities endeared her to all whom she came in contact with. She was a friend to all in need and always ready to lend a hand.

Nine years ago she and Mr. Newton left town to make their home with their daughter Clara (Mrs. Charles V. Glynn) of Weymouth, Mass. Here she became a member of the First United Brethren church, and was active in social and religious work. Her death, caused from dilation of the heart, came as a great shock to her large circle of friends.

Services were held at her late home in Weymouth on Thursday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Butterwick of the First United Brethren church, assisted by Rev. Ritz of the Lutheran church. The body was brought to Weymouth for interment and services were held at Pilgrim church on Saturday afternoon. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Burial was at the Old North cemetery.

February 1920

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who were so kind to me during my wife's illness; also the Visiting Nurse Association, and the nurse who helped me, and who found such a good place for my wife at a private hospital in Quincy; also to those at the hospital for their kindness to my wife and myself; to those who contributed flowers; also to Miss Sargent and Miss Howe who sang at the chapel for their old friend who thought so much of them.

Mr. Charles Cottle.

654 Front street

BORN

RUUD—In South Weymouth, Feb. 18, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ruud.

MACONICHE—In North Weymouth, Feb. 20, a daughter to John and Margaret (Lester) Maconiche of 17 East avenue.

MULVEY—In East Weymouth, Feb. 22, a son to James B. and Goldie Rousseau Mulvey of 88 Grant street.

VILLANOVA—In East Weymouth, Feb. 23, a daughter to Thomas and Annie (Garofalo) Villanova of 22 Shawmut avenue.

CLAWSON—In Weymouth, Feb. 12, James Stark son to Thomas I. and Catherine (Stark) Clawson, of 134 Washington street. [The report that the baby had died was erroneous.]

DIED

HART—In Weymouth, Feb. 26, Loretto (nee Williams) wife of John B. Hart of 45 Hunt street.

BENKENDORF—In Pondville, Feb. 25, Mary J., wife of Frederick G. Benkendorf, formerly of North Weymouth. Funeral services at Pond Home, Friday, Feb. 27, at 2.30 P. M.

DENEILL—In Weymouth, Feb. 21, Margaret G., daughter of James H. and Mary A. Hennessey of 140 Broad street.

LENST—In Weymouth, Feb. 17, Louise Francis, daughter of Edmond A. and Mary J. Lenst, of Phillips street, aged 10 months.

BLANCHARD—In Tewksbury Jan. 14, Martha Blanchard of Weymouth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Blanchard, aged 64.

COX—In Weymouth, Feb. 16, Emma J. Cox of 16 Pequot road, aged 40.

BROWN—In Boston, Feb. 18, Mrs. Laura Brown, widow of Edward Brown of North Weymouth.

NEWTON—In Weymouth, Feb. 17, Angie Crane, wife of Herbert A. Newton, formerly of North Weymouth, aged 67.

HAYDEN—In South Weymouth, Feb. 22, Louise J., wife of Luther C. Hayden of 22 Central avenue.

CLAPP—In Weymouth, Feb. 25, Miss S. Jane Clapp of Front street, in her 89th year.

Willard J. Dunbar & Son

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS

802 BROAD ST., EAST WEYMOUTH
Automobile service when desired.
Telephone Weymouth 93

C. C. Shepherd

FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER

Lady Assistant Automobile Hearse Telephone Connection
134 Pleasant St. Weymouth

DANIEL H. CLANCY

UNDERTAKER

4 Richmond St., Cor. Washington, Weymouth
CARRIAGE AND MOTOR SERVICE
Telephone, Weymouth 814 W

C. L. RICE & SON

Funeral Directors AND Embalmers

294 Union Street, Rockland

Telephones
Office 56W Residence 56R
Residence 831M Night Calls 56R
Rockland Exchange

Milne & Hector

MONUMENTS
Granite and Marble
Over 100 Satisfied Weymouth Customers.

Order Now for Memorial Day and save money.
Nightingale Ave., QUINCY
Telephones: Quincy 1690 and 2014-M

28 Head Cattle at Auction

Helm Bros., Wessagusett Farms
SOUTH WEYMOUTH, WILL SELL AT AUCTION

Tuesday, March 2, at 10 A. M.

Their Entire Herd of Cattle consisting of about 28 head, milkers and springers: One thoroughbred Guernsey bull, three horses, milk route, utensils and all farming tools that go with an up-to-date farm. This is to be a bonafide sale. Every article must be sold. Terms—Cash. Sale starts at 10 A. M. sharp, Tuesday, March 2, rain or shine. Can be sold under cover.

21, 8-9

ERNEST LEACH, of Bridgewater, Auctioneer.

TIE UPS

Regardless of tie ups and Severe Winter Conditions we have rendered our usual SERVICE.

Are YOU on our list?

WEYMOUTH TRUST CO.

Telephone, Weymouth 67

FLEXIBLE FLYERS AND STEERING SLEDS

IN WEYMOUTH

25 styles PYREX — the modern cooking dishes.

50 styles Pocket-knives, 75c to $3.50. Carving Sets, Manicure Sets, Coffee Perculators. All popular sizes of the Ever-ready Flash-lights, Bulbs and Batteries.

EVERYTHING IN GOOD TOOLS

J. H. Murray Hardware Co. Inc.

759 Broad Street, East Weymouth, Mass.
Tel. Wey. 272-S

Sternberg Motor Car Co.

Nathan Sternberg, Proprietor, successor to Bicknell's Garage

Sole Agent for

CHEVROLET CAR

in the Weymouths and Hingham

TIME PAYMENT TO RESPONSIBLE PARTIES

Look Over Our Stock of Slightly Used and Rebuilt Cars

AGENTS FOR

Goodyear, Goodrich, and United States Tires, Mobiloids and Greases

Exceptional Bargains in all Automobile Supplies at a Saving of 15 to 25 per cent

Water Street East Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 330 for Service Car

THE G. O. P. BIG SIX

Candidates Prominently Mentioned for the Republican Presidential Nomination.

Appropriation Committee Is Severely Criticized

Editor Gazette and Transcript:

At the regular morning service of the First Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday, resolutions were adopted denouncing the action of the Appropriations Committee of the town in holding a public meeting of their committee on Sunday. That committee knows that it had no right to hold such a meeting in that its action was contrary both to the laws of God and the statutes of Massachusetts.

If our town itself cannot keep the laws, let us abandon our police force and not keep up a pretence of loyalty, hypocritically. These resolutions were moved by Myron P. Ford, and seconded by B. B. Sylvester.

To the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the Town of Weymouth:

Whereas, in violation of the ordinances of God, and the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you have this Sabbath Day called a meeting of your committee to discuss publicly matters of town policy.

Therefore, we, the members and adherents of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, in congregation assembled do protest most earnestly against what we consider an unwarranted and sinful action on the part of yourself and your committee. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of Wisdom."

(Signed) FRANK KINGDON.
East Weymouth, February 22, 1920.

GOLDEN WEDDING

At their home, No. 11 Linden place, East Weymouth, Sunday, Feb. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Levangia celebrated their golden wedding with many friends and relatives attending. Among the many gifts received was a purse of gold. Mr. and Mrs. Levangia have been residents of East Weymouth for the past thirty years. Ten children have been born to them.

Among those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. William Keefe of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. S. Levangia of Somerville, Mrs. Fleming and son of Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Levangia, Mr. and Mrs. Sulis of Boston, Mrs. J. Cushing of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Butler of Duxbury, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. S. Hurley, North Weymouth, Miss M. Levangia of East Weymouth; also children and grandchildren.

During the afternoon dinner was served and music was furnished by Mr. Butler and Mr. Sulis and piano solos by Master Harold Fleming of Whitman.

REAL ESTATE SALES

G. Willard Bartlett to Albert Hall, Farm street, 2 parcels.

D. Arthur Brown to Hugo G. Gottlieb, Lake Shore drive.

Freeman P. Brown to Ralph W. E. Thompson, Pleasant street.

Ida M. Hodsdon to John V. Scott, Wessagusett road—rel. tax.

James Rubolino to Joseph Arena et ux, Pleasant street, Sanderson avenue.

John V. Scott to Axel E. Johnson, Wessagusett road.

Marie L. Taylor to Roy W. Pendleton, Greenvale avenue.

Lucena H. Torrey to Adam Clawson, Neck street, Stanley street.

Frederick L. Alden et al to Alden Walker & Wilde Inc., Filomena, Broad & Madison streets.

READ THE GAZETTE ADS.

AMERICAN GIRLS AT PLAY

Social and athletic activities in behalf of girls form an important feature of the program of Community Service, which is seeking to make American communities better places to live in. Under auspices of the girls' work department of Community Service, the young women take part in athletic meets, dances and sing. They get instruction in useful professions and in commercial subjects. Thousands of them are cooperating with Community Service in its peace time program, serving in information booths, canteens and clubs.

Rubbers! Rubbers!

For the Family

Every Style

First Grade

— ALSO —

ARCTICS

And RUBBER BOOTS

Are You Prepared for Snow?

W. M. TIRRELL

Broad Street

Jackson Square

East Weymouth

Wanted

Young Man to learn the printing business. High school graduate preferred. Good pay. Apply to Mr. Prescott at Gazette office.

Some of the Reasons Why You Should Make The East Weymouth Savings Bank Your Bank:

Bank is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. daily except Saturdays; Saturdays from 9 A. M. to 12 M.; and on Monday evenings from 7 to 8.30 for YOUR accommodation.

The Bank will take United States Government bonds of depositors for safe keeping without charge.

The Bank has Safe Deposit Boxes to rent to persons at reasonable rates.

The Bank will buy Liberty bonds for its customers who feel obliged to sell them.

The Bank has money to lend on first mortgages.

The officers and clerks of the Bank are ready to extend every courtesy within their power to depositors or friends of the Institution at all times.

Any amount from one dollar to two thousand dollars will start an account.

F. L. ALDEN, President.

H. J. T. PRING, Treasurer.

Here's the plant behind OAK HILL Food Products

OAK HILL CANNED GOODS

OAK HILL COFFEE

OAK HILL TEAS

CLEAN, WHOLESOME, HONEST FOODS handled, packed and labeled in—and delivered from this up-to-date building.

Remember too—no product bears the OAK HILL Trade Mark UNLESS it is Par Excellence—the Best Obtainable.

Buy of your neighborhood dealer.

E. C. HALL CO., - Brockton, Mass.

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

GREAT NEED IS PRODUCTION

Men Must Be Given Inducement to Work and Guaranteed Fair Deal in the Distribution of the Result.

Article VI.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

The world lives by two kinds of work, the work on the soil and the labor spent in making things. In this way we get the things we eat and wear. We have eaten up our surplus. The world's reserve is gone. We are literally living from hand to mouth. To overcome the food shortage we must put every inch of available ground into production. Only by doing this can we live and gradually get back the surplus which stood as a protection against crop failures.

Production is not automatic, it is the work of man. There is not anything complex about it. You can't use magic. To grow things men must plow and gather. The will to work is our greatest need. The land is available. God furnishes the sunshine and the rain. To get the plows, tractors and farm tools we must look to the industrial arm of life. Here again is the call for men. We are short of man power. Men were killed and crippled in the war. The men who survived the war must help do the work that would have been done by those who did not come back. In their present frame of mind they do not will to work, at least under the old conditions obtaining before the war. It is necessary to furnish them with an inducement to work. There was little inducement for men to work before the war. The discontented are not kicking at work. Their objection goes to the unfairness shown in distributing the result. It isn't any secret. They are shouting it from the housetops of Europe, they demand a larger share of the things they produce, or they refuse to work. There is a good deal of human nature in it, too. It is only human nature to think of self. There isn't anything unnatural in the workman looking for reward. Willingness to work is largely based on the thought of working for oneself.

Five things are necessary to start and keep production going. In other words, to get the clothes, shoes, stockings, coal and comforts of life, to give the farmer the tools he needs for agricultural production, so that we may eat; to provide the transportation necessary to collection and distribution, to bring the city to the country and the country to the market we must do five essential things.

Production's First Need.

First, we must have plants, and I use the word in the most general sense. These plants must be equipped with machinery and tools, they must be ready for work.

Second, a plant is useless and stands idle unless we provide raw material, the thing furnished by nature that man and machine work into the finished product.

Third, we must have coal. Coal runs the machine and keeps warm the home of the man who runs the machine. The helplessness of the world without coal is brought home to me while I am writing these articles. The miners have left the pit. The government, through the courts, has tried to force them back. The effort is a failure. The streets are dark at night. The houses are cold. Business is crying out against necessary restrictions imposed because of the coal shortage. I realize as I never have before how dependent we are on the men who pick and dig the coal. All of the intelligence and culture, the courts, the gold, are but symbols of power. When the coal miners folded their hands and set their teeth things stopped.

Fourth, transportation is necessary to the gathering, collecting and delivering of raw material and the distribution of the finished product.

Fifth, and last, but first in importance, is man power. The purpose of production is man. He is master of it at every stage. In every department. Without him production is impossible. The business men who proceed on the theory that men could not live without their business, its pay roll, forget the first and greater truth that there would be no business without the workers. Man cuts, digs, gathers and hauls the raw material. He hews the wood, builds the plant. He mines the ore, he makes the tools, the machinery. He oils it, sets it in motion. He runs it. He makes the furnace and the boiler. He digs and shovels the coal which makes the power. He defies the heat of the furnace. He builds the locomotive and pulls its throttle. He makes the freight car and stands in the sleet in the dangerous railroad yard with the signal of safety.

Railroads All Worn Out.

Transportation in Europe is partly paralyzed. During the war railroad tracks and roadbeds were allowed to deteriorate. It could not be helped, but the fact that it was unavoidable doesn't alter the situation. Roadbed and rails have fallen to pieces. There is a terrible shortage of cars. Everywhere on the Continent this is felt.

They have less than a third of the rolling stock necessary to meet normal requirements. The demand for transportation facilities will necessarily increase during the period of reconstruction. I have seen locomotives sneezing, coughing, expiring every few miles. Old, broken-down engines, the kind one expects to find in a museum. I was on a de luxe train, a diplomatic express. I commented upon the condition of the locomotive, which came to a full stop every once in a while. I commented upon the condition of the coaches. The chief of the train looked at me, smiled and said: "If you think this one is bad you ought to see some of the others."

The war disarranged plants and factories. The demand was for munitions. Peace gave way to war and plant equipment efficient for peace production gave way to plant construction necessary to manufacture the weapons of war. Plants were commandeered. Machinery was torn out, new machinery put in. A complete reconstruction and reorganization was effected. Now that the war is over and the demand for everything is great, it is necessary to change these plants back and fit them for the production needed. It is expensive, it takes time, it retards production.

It is strange that, while everyone can see and understand the difficulties and delays incident to reorganizing and rearranging machinery and plants, many people cannot see or understand the problem of rearranging men's lives, who for four years have been living abnormally. The effect of the war upon plants and equipment is conceded by the very men who refused to see any effect of the war on the men who were in it.

Women in Labor World.

During the war women answered the roll call. They left their homes and went to work. There is hardly a kind of work that I can think of that I have not seen women doing in Europe. I have seen them loading boats, shoveling coal, washing windows, driving wagons, cleaning streets, conductors on trams. Many of the women who went into the industries were young women. Now that the war is over and the men have come back there is a demand on the part of the men that the women retire to their homes. This is impossible in many cases, for these women have grown dependent upon their jobs for their living. Then, too, there is a shortage of marriageable men. Some employers of labor have taken advantage of this situation. They pay a woman less money than they pay a man for the same work. This makes both dissatisfied. The woman has the sympathy of the working man. He doesn't want her to compete with him to the extent that his wages will be lowered, neither does he want the boss to discriminate against her.

Women have come into the world of work to stay. If there is any meaning in the phrase "class conscious," they are living examples of it. They are more outspoken about their demands than men. They sense a wrong long before a man can see it. They have brought their intuition into the labor world. They are more radical than men, and they stimulate men to action. They have brought to the labor problem a new and interesting angle.

The key to the future is in the hands of these men and women. Production is the door that must be opened. Men and women must work, or winter and want will make a No Man's Land of Europe before the sun of 1920 thaws the frost from the ground.

Children crying for bread, shivering in the cold these bleak winter nights, are praying that men will work when they pray to God for good and warmth. Their help cries are smothered by a great blanket—unrest. Will men hear them?

So I sought to find the causes of unrest, knowing it would bring me close to the heart of the trouble.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

Dickens' Tribute to the Cow.

If civilized peoples were to lapse into the worship of animals, the cow would certainly be their chosen goddess. What a fountain of blessing is the cow! She is the mother of beef, the source of butter, the original cause of cheese, to say nothing of shoehorns, haircombs and upper leathers. A gentle, amiable, ever-yielding creature, who has no joy in her family affairs that she does not share with man. We rob her of her children, that we may rob her thereafter of her milk; and we only care for her when the robbery may be perpetrated.—Charles Dickens.

Approaching the End.

Cicero in his dialogue entitled "De Senectute" makes one of his interlocutors say that all men wish to attain old age and yet complain of the fact when they have attained it. He adds that one of the grievances of the old is that age steals over them more rapidly than they expected. It is pointed out that we cannot prevent time from passing, and that even if we lived eight hundred instead of eighty years the past time, however long, cannot when it has flown away be able to "soothe with any consolation for an old age of folly."

A Sister Wilhelm Did Not Like.

Princess Charlotte of Meiningen, sister of the ex-kaiser, who died recently, had been a sufferer for years and had undergone many operations. She passed most of her time on the Riviera. Indeed, the princess was a woman who couldn't miss. She wore bobbed hair, when no other woman had ever dreamed of such a thing, and talked democracy, and smoked all the time. The ex-kaiser was rather alarmed at her vagaries and preferred his other sister, Queen Sophie of Greece, who is more his sort.—London Mail.

SCRAPS of HUMOR

SAD CASE.

"I think you'll do," said Mr. Jagsby to the new maid, "but there's one thing I want to impress on you."

"What is that, sir?"

"Whenever you see me retire to my cellar for—ahem—prayer and meditation, no matter who calls you must say I'm out. Do you understand?"

"Perfectly, sir," replied the maid, with a knowing smile. "At the last place I worked sir, the gentleman of the house—ahem—prayed and meditated so much my mistress had half a dozen doctors in to see him, sir, and I was told they had to put him into a kind of jacket."

A Guess.

"I saw Snubb kiss a girl the other night!"

"What! Why, he told me today he'd never kissed one single girl in his whole life."

"It's very probable. I remember thinking at the time that she was too good-looking to be single."

UNDISTURBED POSSESSION.

"Every man is entitled to his opinions."

"Quite true; and in many cases they don't appear to be of the slightest use to anybody but the owner."

Some Weep.

We sometimes pity Argus, That hundred-eyed old sinner; Just think if wife made him peel The onions for his dinner.

Practical Version.

He—I'm trying to think of that famous line about the moth's desire for something. Do you happen to know it?

She (with a recent experience in mind)—Why, yes, dear. "The desire of the moth for the fur," isn't it?

The Remedy.

He—We will have to call another meeting of the club because last night we found we had no quorum.

She—Then why don't you buy one and keep it where you can get at it handy when you need it?

A Haunted House.

"This house is haunted."

"Haunted? Do you really believe that?"

"I do. It is haunted by the thought that the landlord is going to raise the rent."

Not Sure About It.

"You are giving your daughter a musical education, aren't you?"

"Well, I can't say that exactly, but I am paying for one."

HIS DELUSION

"Is your husband a member of any secret society?"

"He thinks he is, but he talks in his sleep."

History.

Oh, history repeats itself! It is a well-worn text. But just the same no earthly elf Knows what it will say next.

What Did We Mean?

First Member—Would you mind if your wife should tell you you couldn't go?

Second Member—I certainly would. —Cartoons.

A Seaside Hotel.

"I hear your new hotel cost $2,000,000."

"Yes, the stockholders are somewhat disappointed."

"As to what?"

"They expected to get it back the first season."

In a Double Sense.

"I thought I knew a lot about managing my salary."

"Well, what of it?"

"But since I married I must say I have to hand it to my wife."

BOATING IN STREETS WHEN THE SEINE OVERFLOWS

The Seine has been indulging in its annual overflow, and in the outlying sections of Paris all sorts of boats have been pressed into service, as is shown in this photograph.

PACIFIC ENTRANCE OF THE PANAMA CANAL

View from Sosa hills, showing the Pacific entrance to the Panama canal and the 360-acre fill made by dumpings from Gaillard cut. A village, wireless station and army quarters are now located on this fill.

MRS. E. C. A. REED

Mrs. E. C. A. Reed, wife of the American consul and chief of the United States passport bureau in Paris, accompanied her husband to Washington where they are spending a few weeks before returning to France. Mrs. Reed is a home product, though her dress is unmistakably Parisian.

PRIZE HEN HELPS WIN COLLEGE FUND

Prof. Henrietta E. Hooker and one of her four Buff Orpington hens. This hen captured first prize at the New York poultry show, and its value immediately jumped to $1,000. Professor Hooker has announced that money from the sale of the hens, or any prize money won by them will be given toward the $3,000,000 endowment fund of Holyoke college, Massachusetts.

BELIEVES ATLANTIS EXISTED

Prof. Edgar Lucien Larkin, director of the Lowe Astronomical observatory, Mount Lowe, Cal., using his splintarscope on a chart of the stars in the region around the north celestial pole. The scientist, one of the best known of American astronomers and authorities on the heavens, believes that the continent of Atlantis once existed, being located between Africa and South and Central America.

ICE YACHT RACERS TAKE A SPILL

"Rattler," one of the speedy ice yachts entered in the Long Branch carnival race, taking a bad spill when attempting to make a sharp turn.

The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY HALL

(Copyright by Dodd, Mead & Co., Inc.)

"EVEN STEPHEN!"

Synopsis.—Dick Morgan of Syracuse, N. Y., a failure in life, enlisted in the Foreign Legion of the French army under the name of Henry Hilliard, is disgraced by shrapnel. The French surgeons ask for a photograph to guide them in restoring his face. In his rage against life he offers in derision a picture postcard bearing the radiant face of Christ. The surgeons do a good job. On his way back to America he meets Martin Harmon, a New York broker. The result is that Morgan, under the name of Hilliard and unrecognized as Morgan, goes back to Syracuse to sell a mining stock. He is determined to make good. He tells people of the death of Morgan. He finds in Angela Cullen a loyal defender of Dick Morgan. He meets Carol Durant, who had refused to marry him. She does not hesitate to tell him that she had loved Morgan.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

It was perhaps five minutes before that door was reopened, and during the interval, Hilliard had an opportunity to wonder if the doctor had revised his office hours; otherwise, he should now be down in the Physicians' building, receiving patients. It occurred spontaneously to Hilliard that both Carol and her father were conceivably harassed by contrition, but as he estimated the extent to which their sorrow might go . . . judging by Carol's distress of last night, and the potential tranquility of the doctor today—he was possessed of gripping emotions. Had they cared so deeply for him, then? Angela and Carol had said so; but he had doubted what he most wanted to believe. Was this additional proof? Had the doctor cared so deeply that in order to hold converse with Dick Morgan's sole executor, he would interrupt the sacred routine of his practice? Too late! Too late to care, too late to sympathize, only the winter garment of repentance was left for them! Hilliard couldn't comprehend why, when he had risen this morning so refreshed in mind and body, he should now be so unutterably wearied in both.

Carol returned, followed by a gentleman of sixty; and as the doctor entered, the room was suddenly permeated by an atmosphere of calm, and kindly peace. He was a large man, large of feature, and large of instinct; his forehead was that of an intellectual; his eyes were those of a dreamer; his chin denoted rugged capabilities, and the stubbornness of unswerving ethics.

"Mr. Hilliard?" His voice was pitched low, but its resonance was striking. Thirty years ago the doctor had been a famous baritone; and there was still one church in town which dated its musical supremacy from the choir he had organized and directed.

"Doctor Durant!" The two men clasped hands firmly. Hilliard, experiencing the dreaded sinking sensation which came upon him as often as he exposed himself to yet another old acquaintance, hardened as he perceived no recognition in the doctor's eyes. The inevitable reaction left him momentarily weak.

"It was good of you to take this trouble, Mr. Hilliard. I appreciate it." Hilliard's denial was highly courteous; it was harder to hate the doctor than he had planned.

"No, doctor—it would only have been blamable if I hadn't."

"I insist that it's good of you. . . . You knew Dick intimately, I understand."

Hilliard nodded. "Very intimately, sir, considering the length of time." He perceived that Carol was holding the letter lightly folded in her hands; she intercepted his glance, and colored proudly.

"It . . . it did belong to me," she said, subdued. "And I can never thank you enough . . . never."

"My daughter," said the doctor, presently, "has told me the one great fact." He paused, then went on gravely. "I accept it, and it needs very little comment. What most concerns me now is to know the lesser facts. I have some hope, Mr. Hilliard, that you can make the lesser seem the greater; and the greater, the less. I want you to clear up the one cloud that still dims our knowledge. I hope you can tell us something about Dick's reasons for doing this thing—for going abroad at all, and for enlisting, and for—"

Hilliard winced; the doctor's autopsy on his character was considerably more disconcerting than Mr. Cullen's had been.

"Doctor Durant, I can't think it's fair to put Dick's motives under the microscope like that! Why not forget everything but the attending circumstances to the one great fact. He—"

"I'm not unfair," said the doctor slowly. "I've never been unfair if I could help it, and certainly not to this man, above all others. Here is a case in which a man who left us most unheroically comes back to us, in spirit at least, as a hero. The particular thing he did is a fact. I'm proud of him for it—and so far, for that, and for that only. But it isn't true that by itself alone it made him a hero. And when I said that I'm interested in the lesser facts, I mean that Dick's reasons for going into the war at all may be the proof that he was a hero—and that any physical bravery he may have shown has nothing whatsoever to do with it. Please don't misjudge us. We're not trying to belittle anything Dick did; it's neither fitting nor possible. But what we want to know is where the credit lies—with Dick, a reasoning, inspired, determined man, or with Dick, intoxicated by danger. In the latter case, his heroism would appeal to us as a detached incident, having no relation to his earlier life or to our own; it would be something to bring us pride for that, but for nothing else. In the other case, the knowledge of the why, in addition to the what, would bring us . . . But about Dick?"

"You can be happy, then," said Hilliard uneasily, "because he went over, I believe, in the firm conviction that every man has two countries—his own and France."

"Yes?" The doctor sat down abruptly.

"As long as you're interested in what he did before he was wounded—"

"And afterward, Mr. Hilliard."

"—Rather than how he was hurt, let me assure you that as far as I know, from the first day he landed, I don't believe he thought once about his own misfortunes. He had them, I know. But if you've got any manhood in you, you can't think of your own troubles, over there. It's too fearful. The Carrel-Dakin solution heals all sorts of wounds, Doctor Durant, all but the worst wound of all—and that's what every man who has any humanity and any sympathy about him gets when he first sees France. His heart is torn clear out of him. He can't sleep, he can hardly live with his own thoughts. And that quiet resolution you speak about—it's enough if it comes to a man there! I don't care what he had in his mind when he left you; I don't care what it was that led him to go overseas; I don't care what his purpose was when he sailed; I know that when he stood on French soil there wasn't an atom of selfishness or self-pity in him. It wasn't a question of adventure; it wasn't a question of drowning his sorrows; it was a question of his doing anything and everything he could to help out. Let me tell you something." Hilliard sat on the edge of his chair. "It's possible that you never thought of Dick Morgan either as a martyr or a fatalist. Nor do I think he was. But when he was brought low, but his resonance was striking. Thirty years ago the doctor had been a famous baritone; and there was still one church in town which dated its musical supremacy from the choir he had organized and directed.

"I hope you agree with your father, Miss Durant—that eventually he'd have succeeded in Syracuse?"

"I never doubted it," she said loyally.

And then the three of them fell simultaneously to musing, and for the space of a minute or two there was quiet; the sort of quiet which comes just after the benediction. It was the benediction which Carol had bestowed upon a wretched sinner who sat there wondering how he could ever escape from the toils of his own cleverness.

"How long are you to be in town, Mr. Hilliard?" inquired the doctor, irrelevantly.

"That I can't say, sir. I had no other errand than this."

"You've never been here before? That is, you haven't friends here?"

He had expected this question and prepared for it.

"Several years ago," he said casually, "I came to Syracuse half a dozen times one winter—on business. I suppose I could find my way around even now, if I had to. But comparatively speaking, I'm a stranger."

"You're a business man, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I told you he was, dear," said Carol.

Hilliard nodded.

"Yes, Doctor Durant. That is—I was. I have no business connections now. That's why my plans are so uncertain."

Again a heavy silence. Hilliard was cursing the impetuous haste which had caused him to lie himself into an invulnerable network.

"I'm sorry," said the doctor, rising abruptly, "but I've a consultation at half-past twelve. Thank you again, Mr. Hilliard, for coming to us; you've lightened my heart tremendously. I hope we shall see you again before you go."

"I hope so," said Hilliard, dully. He was whipping his brain to find a way out; but how could he explain those manifold, cruel falsehoods which once he had thought to be his retribution?

The doctor gave him a cordial smile, a parting pressure of the hand, and went out directly, leaving the two young people quite alone.

Hilliard, impelled to go and equally constrained to stay, fidgeted in his vacillation. He was uncomfortable and unhappy, yet curiously enough he had no inclination to depart. He assured himself that he cared not the snap of his finger for Carol Durant; on the contrary, he was intolerant of her very presence; still he lingered, wishing that he hadn't stultified himself.

"And you really came all the way up here just to be kind to us?" she said.

"Just to be kind to Dick," he corrected.

Carol was winking hard; Hilliard sprang to his feet. He could never demically—if you didn't go so far beyond the actual facts."

"How do you mean?"

"Why," said Hilliard, "for one thing, in laying so much stress on his grandparents, Dick was the one who went overseas; his grandparents didn't! And his grandparents didn't go into action on the western front singing Stevenson's 'Requiem' at the top of their lungs and knowing that it was mighty appropriate, as Dick did!"

"What?" said Carol, straightening. "What's that?"

"No." The doctor's negative was quiet, but decisive. "A man doesn't rise to heights of glory without some reason for it, Mr. Hilliard. But a man can resist his inheritance for a good many years, and suddenly stop resisting and revert to his family type. He can do it voluntarily or involuntarily. It's what we call atavism." He paused and smiled sadly. "The pity of it," he said, "is that in spite of his having failed in everything he tried to do in Syracuse, he would have made us proud of him, sooner or later, if he had stayed on here. I'm positive of that."

"Pity!" Hilliard straightened. This was the third time in two days that he had caught the intimation that he could have come home decently and humbly and been forgiven.

"Not that I pity him for what he accomplished, or what it cost him," warned the doctor. "I don't; I was very fond of the boy, Mr. Hilliard, but I wouldn't for the world have had him do anything else than what he did. No—but I do pity him because he can never know what we think; because he can never know how much we gladly forget; because he can never know why we are proud of him."

Hilliard's pupils were distended.

"You were rather harsh with him, doctor, as I'm—"

"But if you recall the gist of Portia's speech . . ."

"I do!" The doctor regarded him pacifically. "And it's very seldom that mercy is asked to temper justice except after it's become evident that justice is actually going to be just. Let's not deceive ourselves. And let's not put each other in the position either of attacking or defending Dick. It's not the time for that now. He's done all that any man can do, and he was a most lovable boy—most lovable."

Hilliard nervously addressed himself to Carol.

"I hope you agree with your father, Miss Durant—that eventually he'd have succeeded in Syracuse?"

"I never doubted it," she said loyally.

And then the three of them fell simultaneously to musing, and for the space of a minute or two there was quiet; the sort of quiet which comes just after the benediction. It was the benediction which Carol had bestowed upon a wretched sinner who sat there wondering how he could ever escape from the toils of his own cleverness.

"How long are you to be in town, Mr. Hilliard?" inquired the doctor, irrelevantly.

"That I can't say, sir. I had no other errand than this."

"You've never been here before? That is, you haven't friends here?"

He had expected this question and prepared for it.

"Several years ago," he said casually, "I came to Syracuse half a dozen times one winter—on business. I suppose I could find my way around even now, if I had to. But comparatively speaking, I'm a stranger."

"You're a business man, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I told you he was, dear," said Carol.

Hilliard nodded.

"Yes, Doctor Durant. That is—I was. I have no business connections now. That's why my plans are so uncertain."

Again a heavy silence. Hilliard was cursing the impetuous haste which had caused him to lie himself into an invulnerable network.

"I'm sorry," said the doctor, rising abruptly, "but I've a consultation at half-past twelve. Thank you again, Mr. Hilliard, for coming to us; you've lightened my heart tremendously. I hope we shall see you again before you go."

"I hope so," said Hilliard, dully. He was whipping his brain to find a way out; but how could he explain those manifold, cruel falsehoods which once he had thought to be his retribution?

The doctor gave him a cordial smile, a parting pressure of the hand, and went out directly, leaving the two young people quite alone.

Hilliard, impelled to go and equally constrained to stay, fidgeted in his vacillation. He was uncomfortable and unhappy, yet curiously enough he had no inclination to depart. He assured himself that he cared not the snap of his finger for Carol Durant; on the contrary, he was intolerant of her very presence; still he lingered, wishing that he hadn't stultified himself.

"And you really came all the way up here just to be kind to us?" she said.

"Just to be kind to Dick," he corrected.

Carol was winking hard; Hilliard sprang to his feet. He could never demically—if you didn't go so far beyond the actual facts."

"How do you mean?"

"Why," said Hilliard, "for one thing, in laying so much stress on his grandparents, Dick was the one who went overseas; his grandparents didn't! And his grandparents didn't go into action on the western front singing Stevenson's 'Requiem' at the top of their lungs and knowing that it was mighty appropriate, as Dick did!"

"What?" said Carol, straightening. "What's that?"

"No." The doctor's negative was quiet, but decisive. "A man doesn't rise to heights of glory without some reason for it, Mr. Hilliard. But a man can resist his inheritance for a good many years, and suddenly stop resisting and revert to his family type. He can do it voluntarily or involuntarily. It's what we call atavism." He paused and smiled sadly. "The pity of it," he said, "is that in spite of his having failed in everything he tried to do in Syracuse, he would have made us proud of him, sooner or later, if he had stayed on here. I'm positive of that."

"Pity!" Hilliard straightened. This was the third time in two days that he had caught the intimation that he could have come home decently and humbly and been forgiven.

"Not that I pity him for what he accomplished, or what it cost him," warned the doctor. "I don't; I was very fond of the boy, Mr. Hilliard, but I wouldn't for the world have had him do anything else than what he did. No—but I do pity him because he can never know what we think; because he can never know how much we gladly forget; because he can never know why we are proud of him."

Hilliard's pupils were distended.

"You were rather harsh with him, doctor, as I'm—"

"But if you recall the gist of Portia's speech . . ."

"I do!" The doctor regarded him pacifically. "And it's very seldom that mercy is asked to temper justice except after it's become evident that justice is actually going to be just. Let's not deceive ourselves. And let's not put each other in the position either of attacking or defending Dick. It's not the time for that now. He's done all that any man can do, and he was a most lovable boy—most lovable."

Hilliard nervously addressed himself to Carol.

"I hope you agree with your father, Miss Durant—that eventually he'd have succeeded in Syracuse?"

"I never doubted it," she said loyally.

And then the three of them fell simultaneously to musing, and for the space of a minute or two there was quiet; the sort of quiet which comes just after the benediction. It was the benediction which Carol had bestowed upon a wretched sinner who sat there wondering how he could ever escape from the toils of his own cleverness.

"How long are you to be in town, Mr. Hilliard?" inquired the doctor, irrelevantly.

"That I can't say, sir. I had no other errand than this."

"You've never been here before? That is, you haven't friends here?"

He had expected this question and prepared for it.

"Several years ago," he said casually, "I came to Syracuse half a dozen times one winter—on business. I suppose I could find my way around even now, if I had to. But comparatively speaking, I'm a stranger."

"You're a business man, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I told you he was, dear," said Carol.

Hilliard nodded.

"Yes, Doctor Durant. That is—I was. I have no business connections now. That's why my plans are so uncertain."

Again a heavy silence. Hilliard was cursing the impetuous haste which had caused him to lie himself into an invulnerable network.

"I'm sorry," said the doctor, rising abruptly, "but I've a consultation at half-past twelve. Thank you again, Mr. Hilliard, for coming to us; you've lightened my heart tremendously. I hope we shall see you again before you go."

"I hope so," said Hilliard, dully. He was whipping his brain to find a way out; but how could he explain those manifold, cruel falsehoods which once he had thought to be his retribution?

The doctor gave him a cordial smile, a parting pressure of the hand, and went out directly, leaving the two young people quite alone.

Hilliard, impelled to go and equally constrained to stay, fidgeted in his vacillation. He was uncomfortable and unhappy, yet curiously enough he had no inclination to depart. He assured himself that he cared not the snap of his finger for Carol Durant; on the contrary, he was intolerant of her very presence; still he lingered, wishing that he hadn't stultified himself.

"And you really came all the way up here just to be kind to us?" she said.

"Just to be kind to Dick," he corrected.

Carol was winking hard; Hilliard sprang to his feet. He could never demically—if you didn't go so far beyond the actual facts."

"How do you mean?"

"Why," said Hilliard, "for one thing, in laying so much stress on his grandparents, Dick was the one who went overseas; his grandparents didn't! And his grandparents didn't go into action on the western front singing Stevenson's 'Requiem' at the top of their lungs and knowing that it was mighty appropriate, as Dick did!"

"What?" said Carol, straightening. "What's that?"

"No." The doctor's negative was quiet, but decisive. "A man doesn't rise to heights of glory without some reason for it, Mr. Hilliard. But a man can resist his inheritance for a good many years, and suddenly stop resisting and revert to his family type. He can do it voluntarily or involuntarily. It's what we call atavism." He paused and smiled sadly. "The pity of it," he said, "is that in spite of his having failed in everything he tried to do in Syracuse, he would have made us proud of him, sooner or later, if he had stayed on here. I'm positive of that."

"Pity!" Hilliard straightened. This was the third time in two days that he had caught the intimation that he could have come home decently and humbly and been forgiven.

"Not that I pity him for what he accomplished, or what it cost him," warned the doctor. "I don't; I was very fond of the boy, Mr. Hilliard, but I wouldn't for the world have had him do anything else than what he did. No—but I do pity him because he can never know what we think; because he can never know how much we gladly forget; because he can never know why we are proud of him."

Hilliard's pupils were distended.

"You were rather harsh with him, doctor, as I'm—"

"But if you recall the gist of Portia's speech . . ."

"I do!" The doctor regarded him pacifically. "And it's very seldom that mercy is asked to temper justice except after it's become evident that justice is actually going to be just. Let's not deceive ourselves. And let's not put each other in the position either of attacking or defending Dick. It's not the time for that now. He's done all that any man can do, and he was a most lovable boy—most lovable."

Hilliard nervously addressed himself to Carol.

"I hope you agree with your father, Miss Durant—that eventually he'd have succeeded in Syracuse?"

"I never doubted it," she said loyally.

And then the three of them fell simultaneously to musing, and for the space of a minute or two there was quiet; the sort of quiet which comes just after the benediction. It was the benediction which Carol had bestowed upon a wretched sinner who sat there wondering how he could ever escape from the toils of his own cleverness.

"How long are you to be in town, Mr. Hilliard?" inquired the doctor, irrelevantly.

"That I can't say, sir. I had no other errand than this."

"You've never been here before? That is, you haven't friends here?"

He had expected this question and prepared for it.

"Several years ago," he said casually, "I came to Syracuse half a dozen times one winter—on business. I suppose I could find my way around even now, if I had to. But comparatively speaking, I'm a stranger."

"You're a business man, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I told you he was, dear," said Carol.

Hilliard nodded.

"Yes, Doctor Durant. That is—I was. I have no business connections now. That's why my plans are so uncertain."

Again a heavy silence. Hilliard was cursing the impetuous haste which had caused him to lie himself into an invulnerable network.

"I'm sorry," said the doctor, rising abruptly, "but I've a consultation at half-past twelve. Thank you again, Mr. Hilliard, for coming to us; you've lightened my heart tremendously. I hope we shall see you again before you go."

"I hope so," said Hilliard, dully. He was whipping his brain to find a way out; but how could he explain those manifold, cruel falsehoods which once he had thought to be his retribution?

The doctor gave him a cordial smile, a parting pressure of the hand, and went out directly, leaving the two young people quite alone.

Hilliard, impelled to go and equally constrained to stay, fidgeted in his vacillation. He was uncomfortable and unhappy, yet curiously enough he had no inclination to depart. He assured himself that he cared not the snap of his finger for Carol Durant; on the contrary, he was intolerant of her very presence; still he lingered, wishing that he hadn't stultified himself.

"And you really came all the way up here just to be kind to us?" she said.

"Just to be kind to Dick," he corrected.

Carol was winking hard; Hilliard sprang to his feet. He could never demically—if you didn't go so far beyond the actual facts."

"How do you mean?"

"Why," said Hilliard, "for one thing, in laying so much stress on his grandparents, Dick was the one who went overseas; his grandparents didn't! And his grandparents didn't go into action on the western front singing Stevenson's 'Requiem' at the top of their lungs and knowing that it was mighty appropriate, as Dick did!"

"What?" said Carol, straightening. "What's that?"

"No." The doctor's negative was quiet, but decisive. "A man doesn't rise to heights of glory without some reason for it, Mr. Hilliard. But a man can resist his inheritance for a good many years, and suddenly stop resisting and revert to his family type. He can do it voluntarily or involuntarily. It's what we call atavism." He paused and smiled sadly. "The pity of it," he said, "is that in spite of his having failed in everything he tried to do in Syracuse, he would have made us proud of him, sooner or later, if he had stayed on here. I'm positive of that."

"Pity!" Hilliard straightened. This was the third time in two days that he had caught the intimation that he could have come home decently and humbly and been forgiven.

"Not that I pity him for what he accomplished, or what it cost him," warned the doctor. "I don't; I was very fond of the boy, Mr. Hilliard, but I wouldn't for the world have had him do anything else than what he did. No—but I do pity him because he can never know what we think; because he can never know how much we gladly forget; because he can never know why we are proud of him."

Hilliard's pupils were distended.

"You were rather harsh with him, doctor, as I'm—"

"But if you recall the gist of Portia's speech . . ."

"I do!" The doctor regarded him pacifically. "And it's very seldom that mercy is asked to temper justice except after it's become evident that justice is actually going to be just. Let's not deceive ourselves. And let's not put each other in the position either of attacking or defending Dick. It's not the time for that now. He's done all that any man can do, and he was a most lovable boy—most lovable."

Hilliard nervously addressed himself to Carol.

"I hope you agree with your father, Miss Durant—that eventually he'd have succeeded in Syracuse?"

"I never doubted it," she said loyally.

And then the three of them fell simultaneously to musing, and for the space of a minute or two there was quiet; the sort of quiet which comes just after the benediction. It was the benediction which Carol had bestowed upon a wretched sinner who sat there wondering how he could ever escape from the toils of his own cleverness.

"How long are you to be in town, Mr. Hilliard?" inquired the doctor, irrelevantly.

"That I can't say, sir. I had no other errand than this."

"You've never been here before? That is, you haven't friends here?"

He had expected this question and prepared for it.

"Several years ago," he said casually, "I came to Syracuse half a dozen times one winter—on business. I suppose I could find my way around even now, if I had to. But comparatively speaking, I'm a stranger."

"You're a business man, Mr. Hilliard?"

"I told you he was, dear," said Carol.

Hilliard nodded.

"Yes, Doctor Durant. That is—I was. I have no business connections now. That's why my plans are so uncertain."

Again a heavy silence. Hilliard was cursing the impetuous haste which had caused him to lie himself into an invulnerable network.

"I'm sorry," said the

Town Clerk's Notice — TO — Physicians, Midwives and Parents Birth Returns

Town Clerk's Office,
Weymouth, Feb. 5, 1920.
Attention is called to the following
law in relation of births which was passed by the legislature of 1912.
CLAYTON B. MERCHANT,
Town Clerk.

[CHAP. 280, ACTS OF 1912] AN ACT RELATIVE TO REPORTS AND RECORDS OF BIRTHS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Physicians and midwives shall, within forty-eight hours after the birth of every child in cases of which they were in charge mail or deliver to the clerk or register of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a notice stating the date and place of the birth, giving the street and number, if any, the number of a ward in a city and the family name. Failure to mail or deliver the said notice shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense. The notice required by this section need not be given if the notice required by the following section is given within forty-eight hours after the birth occurs.

Section 2. Physicians and midwives shall make and keep a record of the birth of every child in cases of which they are in charge and shall within fifteen days after the birth: mail or deliver to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which the birth occurred, a report of the birth, stating the date and place, the name if any, of the child its sex and color, and the names, ages, places of birth, occupations and residence of the parents, giving the street number, if there be any, and the number of a ward in a city, the maiden name of the mother, and whether or not the physician or midwife signing the birth return personally attended the birth. If the child is illegitimate, the name and other facts relating to the father shall not be stated except at the request in writing of both the father and the mother filed with the return. The record to be kept by the physician or midwife, as above provided, shall also contain the facts hereby required to be reported to the city or town clerk. The fee of the physician or midwife shall be twenty-five cents for every birth so reported, which shall be paid by the city or town where the report is made upon presentation to the city or town treasurer of a certificate from the city or town clerk stating that the said birth has been properly reported to him. The report required to be made by this section is in addition to the report required to be made by the preceding section, and as above provided, it made within forty-eight hours of the birth, the report required by the preceding section shall not be required. A physician or midwife who neglects to make and keep the record hereby required, or who neglects to report in the manner specified above, each birth within fifteen days thereafter shall for each offense forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars. The city or town clerk or registrar shall file daily with the local board of health a list of all births reported to him giving the following facts: date of birth, sex, color, family name, residence, ward, physician or midwife.

Section 3. Section three of chapter twenty-nine of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter ninety-three of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and ten is hereby repealed. [Approved March 21, 1912.] 4t,6,9

"THE MUSIC LOVER'S SHOP"
Victor Victrolas and Records
M. Steiner & Sons Pianos
EAST TERMS
1454 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
TEL. 1120

RAY O. MARTIN Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Ranges, new and second-hand; also Repairs.
Agent for the famous
"GLENWOOD RANGES."
Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of work.
Washington Square, Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 103-R

E. E. Lunt & Son Builders

52 Church Street, Weymouth Heights
Estimates Given.
All Kinds of Repairs
Promptly attended to.
Telephone Connection.

Carey & Curran
HIGH GRADE
PLUMBING AND HEATING
GENERAL REPAIRS
815 Broad Street - East Weymouth
Tel. 926-R 4t, 4

CHURCH NOTES

(Other churches on page 8.)

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Weymouth
Sunday morning service at 10.30.
Rev. E. A. Lewis of Lyndonville, Vermont who is a candidate will occupy the pulpit on Sunday morning.
Sunday School at 11.45 A. M. Miss Esther Bicknell superintendent.
The annual Men's Club Supper is to be held on Tuesday evening, March 16th, the tickets for which will be ready for sale by the end of this week.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Lincoln Square
Rev. C. W. Allen, pastor, Morning service at 10.30; subject "Walking with God."
Sunday School at 12 o'clock.
Junior C. E. at 4 o'clock.
Senior C. E. at 6 o'clock.
Evening service at 7 o'clock; subject: "Ruth and Boaz" or "Love and Religion."
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening, which will be preceded by a supper, this being the covenant meeting.

PILGRIM CHURCH

(Congregational)
North Weymouth.
Rev. Thomas Bruce Bitter, minister. Morning worship at 10.30; subject, "The Challenge of the Church."
Church school at 11.45; classes for all ages, and an unusually good staff of instructors. The Men's Fellowship is proving a center of interest; subject for discussion today, "The Administration of Pilgrim Parish." For next Sunday, "Right Uses of Money."
Junior Endeavor at 3.45 under the competent leadership of Miss Alice Nason.
Senior Endeavor at 6.00.
Evening praise service at 7.00; a brisk song service followed by a short talk by the pastor.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7.30.
The Ladies Circle will hold a covered dish party in the vestry Wednesday noon at 12.30.
Our second Every-Member Canvass will be conducted next Sunday afternoon. The splendid results last year lead us to hope for an equally good record on this canvass. We are looking to the friends of Pilgrim to rally to the cause and make it a real season of rejoicing for us all.
The sermon Sunday morning will deal especially with the canvass. Plan to attend if possible and get the situation clearly before you.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL

Weymouth and Braintree
Sunday morning at Union church the minister will give the first of a series of sermons during Lent on the great theme of our faith: "The Rediscovery of God." This at the time of the morning worship 10.30.
At 12 o'clock the Church School meets and the red-hot Blue Contest begins with the choice of the two captains.
At the Young Men's Forum at 12.15 William Hennessey will be pitted against Eugene Williams in the debate on the Welfare of China.
More seats will be available for the Young People's Meeting at 5.45, since every seat was taken last week.
The social half-hour and luncheon provided by the young people for everybody at 6.30 offers a splendid opportunity for you to bring your friends and introduce them.
The 7 o'clock Sunday evening program, besides chorus choir and orchestra will have for special music: a duet on violin and cornet by Malcolm and Kenneth Mosher, with Miss Alice Mosher accompanist; and Mrs. Kinna, our soprano soloist will sing. The address by the minister will be on the subject: "Does the modern world longer need Christ? Shall we look for another religious leader? Or, do we need one at all?"
Next Thursday at 7.30 in the study of the character of Jesus. He will be considered as The Light, the Truth, the Way. John 5. At 8.30 the conference on personal fellowship will be held.
The meeting of the Social Club will be held on Wednesday, March 3. Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock. Tickets 25 cents. It is hoped that as many as possible will purchase their tickets in advance from Mrs. C. Lincoln Abbott. John F. Vining has charge of the entertainment which will be a fine musical program by the O. C. Orchestra of South Weymouth. Come, bringing your friends.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Quincy, 20 Greenleaf street, Morning service and Sunday School, at 10.45. Subject of the lesson-sermon: "Christ Jesus." Golden text: John 14:6. I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.
Testimony meeting every Wednesday evening at 7.45. Free public reading room, Hancock building, City square, 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. every week day, holidays excepted.

Colleges Now Being Organized For Work in the Nation Wide Campaign of the Episcopalians

Illustrated Lectures on Church History and Parish Activities Available For Parishes Everywhere to Quickened Interest in Movement

MRS. REGINALD W. BIRD
Who is One of the Two Women on the Executive Committee of the Church's Call

The great missionary opportunities of the Episcopal Church in Eastern Massachusetts is the theme of Bishop Lawrence's Fourth Letter to the Clergy, which has just been sent out as a part of the work of The Church's Call. It is here pointed out that there are thousands of Italians, for instance in this section, who were definitely Protestant before they came to this country, as well as tens of thousands who came here without definite church connections. Hence there are masses of people of this nationality to whom the Episcopal Church has an historic and missionary duty, which, if it will transform its temper and methods in some respects, it can admirably discharge.

Similarly, to other peoples of South-eastern Europe and Asia, the Episcopal Church can and should render great service. "The only time that I have ever seen Trinity Church, Boston, packed with a congregation almost all of whom were men," writes the Bishop, "was about two months ago; the congregation in question being made up almost entirely of Armenians who are fast becoming loyal Americans, many of whom gave their lives for America during the war, and whom we should count it a privilege to work with and for in the upbuilding of an American Christian character and of the Church." It is further pointed out in this letter that the Diocese of Massachusetts has more communicants among the colored people than the total number of those in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kansas, and the State of Texas. The Nation-Wide Campaign will emphatically have failed of its mission if it does not deepen and strengthen its relations to these people the Bishop points out.

Perhaps the comfortable Episcopalians of Massachusetts need to be stimulated to their duty towards these neighbors from overseas by hearing the wonderful things which have been accomplished in the western states through the campaign.

The ratio of one member of the Episcopal Church to 600 non-members in Oklahoma against one in 45 in Massachusetts shows that if the campaign was a striking success in the former state, it certainly should be even more of a success here. Bishop Thurston, who is one of the younger missionary bishops of the Episcopal Church, and who has been in Oklahoma for more than nine years, has been chosen by those in charge of headquarters of the campaign in New York as one of the men particularly equipped to go out into the field and to put clearly before many parishes the aims of the campaign.

He shows that the movement sprang in a way out of the war, because it showed the power of the church to do things which it had always wanted to do, but never before felt that it could. The activity of the Church having thus been aroused, it was decided to launch an intensive drive to keep alive this power and ability to build up the Church itself. The designs of the campaign primarily, he points out, are two: first, to use to the limit of their capacity, the services of every man, woman and child in each and every parish for God and the Church; second, to mobilize the work of the Church. As a result of surveys taken in other parts of the country, it has been found that there is a great deal of power which has never been used in the Church, and it was estimated that about two-thirds of the members of the Episcopal Church were not regular attendants at Church services, being satisfied to be carried along by the other one-third. "More people were content," says Bishop Thurston, "to enjoy the name of being Episcopalians than there were members actually willing to work for the Church of their choice or birth." This great loss of power is one of the things which the campaign will seek to correct, and the very first effort will be directed toward getting every member of the Church to attend services regularly on Sundays. The next step will be to enlist every member in some form of work connected either with the Church or with the community.

Bishop Arthur C. A. Hall of Vermont, in his recent annual Pastoral Letter to the Clergy and people of his diocese, has particularly stressed the removing of obstacles to health and morality as part of the work of the Nation-Wide Campaign. He points out that Episcopalians may well co-operate in this with all earnest persons of the several communions, not as members of different religious bodies, but as citizens at this time, in that it is Principles, not particular Programs, which the Church is to uphold. For he recognizes that with people's minds informed, and their consciences stirred, increased offerings both of money and of personal service will, of course, follow. "It must fill us with shame," he writes, "that the Episcopal Church throughout the country, gives on an average about three cents per communicant for the work of General Missions through the General Board, and about the same to Diocesan Missions. Two-thirds of the Church's people are giving nothing regularly and systematically for church work."

Possibly this is because the Church has been remiss in the past in letting its people know about the varied work which it is carrying on in the field of foreign and domestic missions. This neglect is being remedied at the present time, inasmuch as through the Church Officers' Training Corps, through circulars and book clubs, and through lectures with slide illustrations, definite information in regard to missionary enterprises of all kinds is readily accessible. The lantern slide bureau which has just been organized at 1 Joy Street, under the direction of Frederick A. King, offers an admirable means of education in regard to the Church in action, the history of the Church, and the story of foreign domestic and diocesan missions. Mr. King, upon application, sends out sets of these slides already to use, and in some cases can send a stereopticon also. He is in great need, however, of more photographs covering boys' camp work, work with prisoners, Church school activities, pageants, open air services; any aspect indeed of the varied undertakings of the Episcopal Church in this section of the country. The Board of Education feels that lectures which may be given with these slides as illustrations, are a very important part of the Nation-Wide Campaign, and trusts that in a district so rich in historic material as is Massachusetts, there will be many people interested to send in old manuscripts, pictures of early churches, and much that has a bearing on the development of the Diocese, as well as large numbers of parishes which desire to borrow and use the slides.

Colleges Now Being Reached.
Under the direction of Rev. Byrle J. Osborn, of the staff of clergy of St. Paul's Cathedral, groups of undergraduates in the various colleges and preparatory schools about Boston have been organized. At a luncheon recently given at the Vendome to the chairman of the College Committees, representatives were present from Tufts, Simmons, Institute of Technology, Harvard, Radcliffe, Conservatory of Music, and Dana Hall, and great interest was shown in the work of the Nation-Wide Campaign as college men and women may have a share in it. At Simmons College, a program of five meetings has already been organized.

Another interesting series of services are those which have been planned especially to reach social workers, which will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral every other Sunday afternoon for four weeks. "Americanism" is to be the subject, February 28th.

THAT MORNING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on East Weymouth testimony.

J. W. Snow, gardener, 73 Chard St., says: "I strained my back lifting some two years ago and it affected my kidneys. My back ached and was lame and sore mornings. When I straightened up quickly, a stitch took me in my back. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions and they were highly colored and burned. I had headaches and dizzy spells, too. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. Two boxes of Doan's entirely cured me and I haven't had any kidney trouble since." Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Snow had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

(Advertisement) 2t,8,9

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the next of kin and all persons interested in the estate of

LILLIAN A. HATCH

of Weymouth, in said County, and to the Massachusetts Commission on Mental Diseases:

Whereas, Arthur E. Hatch, conservator of the property of said Lillian A. Hatch, has presented his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, certain real estate therein specified of said Lillian A. Hatch for investment.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the seventeenth day of March A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each of you, fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F27,M5,12

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

MARY J. REAMY

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to William M. Reamy of said Weymouth without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

GAZETTE ADS. PAY BEST

PROBATE NOTICES

Probate court is held in Norfolk county on the first four Wednesdays of the month. At Dedham, the first Wednesday; at Quincy, the second Wednesday; at Dedham the third Wednesday; and at Brookline, the fourth Wednesday.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

LUCIUS M. NEWCOMB

late of Weymouth in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, not already administered, to Laura E. Libbey of said Weymouth, or some other suitable person.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of

FRANCIS S. TORREY

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased;

Whereas, William J. Holbrook the administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased;

You are hereby cited to appear at a probate court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the third day of March, A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested, in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

MARY J. REAMY

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to William M. Reamy of said Weymouth without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F13,20,27

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript, a newspaper published in said Weymouth, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty. J. R. McCOOLE, Register. 3t,F20,27,M5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

ALICE M. CURTISS

late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Harold M. Curtiss of Milford in the county of Worcester, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of March A. D. 19

A MODERN HOUSE IS EQUIPPED FOR ELECTRIC SERVICE

WHEN YOU MOVE, BE SURE YOUR NEW HOME HAS electric service. House owners will improve the value of their property if they wire for electricity. It means a better class of tenants that will stay longer and owners will save money on decorations.

WEYMOUTH LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY
Jackson Square East Weymouth, Mass. Phone 62-W

EMERSON COAL & GRAIN COMPANY

EAST WEYMOUTH. Tel. Weymouth 430

COAL GRAIN FLOUR

All Rail—Best Quality

Special
ANTHRACITE "BOULETS"

TRY OUR
Mixed Grain or Scratch Feed

E. A. CO.

$1.90---E. A. CO. FLOUR---$1.90

Anything in Printing at the Gazette Office

"This is the Time for America to Correct Her Unpardonable Fault of Wastefulness and Extravagance."

—Woodrow Wilson.

THE COLLECTION of telephone bills that remain unpaid after the reasonable specified date is—

WASTEFUL—Because it consumes in work that should be unnecessary, time, effort and expense that might be better devoted to necessary work.

EXTRAVAGANT—Because it lavishes upon work that should be unnecessary, the time, the effort, the expense, that might otherwise be concentrated on the important business of keeping telephone service up to standards.

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS can make a large part of this collection work unnecessary, just by paying their telephone bills within a reasonable time.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

M. L. FLYNN, Commercial Manager.

THE LIBERTY CALENDAR

EXACTLY FOUR WEEKS IN EVERY MONTH
13 MONTHS IN A YEAR

Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa	Su
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

THIS IS THE WHOLE CALENDAR. EVERY MONTH JUST LIKE THIS FOR A MILLION YEARS.

New Year Day is not included in any week or month.
"Correction Day" once each four years not included in any week or month.
The remaining 364 days divided into 13 months of exactly 4 weeks each, every month commencing with Monday. A Bill already in Congress.
The months are January, February, Liberty, March, Etc.

Anniversary Column

10 YEARS AGO

Gazette Feb. 25, 1910

Delphi lodge, Knights of Pythias, observed 40th anniversary with a banquet, entertainment and dance in Pythian hall.

Puritana whist club met at the home of Miss Carrie S. Robinson, on Loud avenue.

Mrs. Ann M. Burgess was given a dinner party by her daughter, Mrs. F. L. Spear at her home on Pearl street. Mrs. Burgess was 78 years old.

"Knights of King Arthur" defeated the "Invincibles" at basketball by the score of 31 to 12 in the Union church gymnasium.

Ladies Social Circle of M. E. church held supper and entertainment in the vestry of church.

Annual banquet of Old Colony Circuit League, held in Methodist church. Mrs. Mary E. Mahoney fell on the ice and sustained a broken arm and other injuries.

Deaths, Miss Matilda Bates, Daniel Lyons.

20 YEARS AGO

Gazette, March 2, 1900

Delphi lodge K. of P., celebrated 30th anniversary.

New organ dedicated at church of St. Francis Xavier.

Miss Minnie White on leaving the employ of M. C. Dizer & Co., was presented with a gold watch.

Commonwealth Club purchased new billiard table.

Surprise party tendered Mrs. A. A. Linton, before she started for her new home in Indiana.

Mrs. Ella C. Richards and Mrs. Rose Harkins attended the ninth annual continental congress at Washington, D. C.

Edward Rowell tendered a surprise party.

Lester Cushing fell and broke his leg.

Willey lodge, I. O. O. F., observed 25th anniversary.

30 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 28, 1890

Frank Cowing returned to his duties as station agent after a short illness. The C. L. S. C. met with Mrs. E. H. Holmes.

Mr. McElwain gave an address at a special service at Baptist church.

Union lodge, order of Aegis, started with a charter membership of fifty.

Horace Hamilton very ill.

Charles G. Sheppard was chosen secretary of Monatiquot Yacht Club.

Fishermen on Fore river were meeting with great luck in smelt catching.

Ladies G. A. R. Sewing Circle met with Mrs. Oliver Houghton.

Ladies F. L. T. circle held a dance in Masonic hall.

Z. L. Bicknell Hose Co., held a social in Masonic hall.

Mechanics Temple of Honor celebrated 23d anniversary.

Epworth Literary League met with Mrs. W. P. Ames.

Loyal Temperance Legion celebrated Washington's Birthday in Temperance hall.

Dora Smith entertained a party of friends at her home on Ridge hill.

North Weymouth cemetery circle met with Mrs. H. A. Davis.

District State Police visited Weymouth and inspected the Athens, North High and Hunt schools.

Movement on to form Co-operative Bank at Weymouth Landing. Petition signed by Francis Ambler and Dr. W. L. Roberts being circulated.

Messrs. B. S. Lovell and C. S. Redmond, present flag to Washington school.

Orphans Hope lodge, F. & A. M., celebrate Washington's birthday with large gathering of members and ladies. Supper was served followed by dancing.

Fair and entertainment by Universalist Society at North Weymouth. A drama and farce were given for entertainment.

Thomas Barnes lost 25 chickens which were roasted to death when his chicken house caught fire.

Mrs. William A. Drake entertained the "Jolly Twelve."

Deaths, Abbie A. Rice, Sarah J. Graves, Stephen S. Bradford, C. Bryon Hunt, Mrs. Susan Farrington, Lewis Flanagan, Andrews Lane, Moses W. Faxon, Katie A. Bates, Ellen A. Ryan.

40 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 27, 1880

Entertainment by young people of the Union Church, Miss Lena Bagley, reader.

Preliminary meetings for the coming town meeting called forth a caucus of citizens of Ward 3, which organized with Darius Smith moderator, and Patrick Whalan as secretary, and nominations for town officers were made.

A meeting of the registered women voters was held at Mount Pleasant Grammar school.

At a general caucus James Humphrey was chosen to preside and Mrs. Eleanor F. Holmes as secretary.

Pilgrim lodge, K. of H., held anniversary meeting with visiting state officers present.

Eureka Dramatic Club gave entertainment at Wilder Memorial, with original songs by George H. Bicknell and a guitar solo by Webster Bass. Music was enjoyed at the entertainment given by the Ladies Circle in the Old North Church, Howard M. Dow at the organ, songs by Mrs. Long, Mrs. T. Cobb and Mrs. George C. Preston. Young Men's Republican Club held annual meeting.

Annual meeting of South Weymouth Piscatorial Association.

Town statistics for 1879: Total Receipts, $197,144.95; Expenditures $163,559.30; net town indebtedness $25,105.13; births, 228; deaths, 162; marriages, 84.

Married, Ada F. Colby to Robert F. Shaw.

Deaths, Mrs. Hannah Wheeler Miss Mary Pool, Annie Bates, Lauretta Clapp.

50 YEARS AGO

Gazette, Feb. 25, 1870.

Monatiquot Young Ladies Seminary of East Braintree gave an entertainment for the benefit of "The Consumptives Home" in Boston.

The jurors from Weymouth for the Supreme court of this county, Richard A. Hunt and Benjamin F. Locke.

Fire started in stable attached to Jotham Saulsbury's residence which destroyed the dwelling, and the Methodist Episcopal church.

The children of the Trinity Parish gave a sale and festival in Lincoln hall.

The express team of Reuben Lowell was stolen. The wagon contained $150 worth of provisions.

A small fire in the dwelling of Alverdo Mason.

Hon. Richard H. A. Dna lectured in the Trinity Church course.

Mrs. Whitely underwent an operation for a large tumor on her shoulder and back.

Dr. T. H. Dearing was presented with a valuable and handsome volume of music by Rev. Dr. Storrs.

The Robinson & Pease partnership was dissolved by mutual consent, and T. J. Pease was authorized to settle all outstanding accounts.

When you are "wide awake as an owl" at night, and can't "keep your eyes open" in the daytime you certainly need

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Self-poisoning by imperfectly eliminated food-poisons is a very common ailment. Beecham's Pills correct it. Largest Sale of Any Medicine in the World. Sold everywhere in boxes, 10c., 25c.

Trustworthy

Oh, my yes! you can trust us with your fine linens and your delicate fabrics. We will treat them with as much consideration as they receive in your own home. We will call for and deliver the washing and can assure you that you will be pleased with the moderate cost.

Monarch Wet Wash Laundry
EAST WEYMOUTH
Tel. 530-769-M

For Sale
6 Room Dwelling and Store

It is centrally located, near the square, railroad station and electric cars. Will pay 12% on investment. Price

$3,200

Russell B. Worster
REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

AUTO SUPPLIES

Tube Vulcanizing
GOODRICH TIRES
LOUIS H. ELLS
160 Main Street, South Weymouth
Telephone, Weymouth 581W

Insure Your Automobile
AGAINST

Theft Collision, Fire, Liability,
WITH

H. FRANKLIN PERRY

104 Front Street, Weymouth, Mass.
Tel. 513-M

Best Companies Lowest Rate
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Thomas Carrigg & Son

Designers and Manufacturers of

ARTISTIC MONUMENTS

In All Kinds of Granite

ALSO BUILDING WORK
JOBGING

SHOW YARDS AND WORKS:
WEYMOUTH STREET

HOLBROOK, MASS.

TELEPHONE
RANDOLPH 196-W

SAVE AGENTS COMMISSION

Buy off the man who does his own work, with thirty-six years' experience.

Telephone or write and auto will go any distance to show you our stock on hand.

JOHN NEILSON
Jeweler

Jackson Square East Weymouth

PIANOS TUNED

Expert player-piano repairer

Work Guaranteed

Edward E. Nash

777 Broad Street - East Weymouth.
Tel. 522-R

Formerly Inspecting tuner with Hallet & Davis. Expert Repairing. Felting. Stringing. Examine Free.

T. J. CONNOR
Practical Plumber

Steam, Hot Water and Warm Air Heating
Sheet Metal Work

General Repairing

Estimates cheerfully given.

Satisfaction guaranteed.

25 Pleasant St., South Weymouth
Tel. 312-W

W. H. FARRAR & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Stoves and Repairs

Tin Roofing and General Jobbing.

ESTIMATES GIVEN

Business Established 1883

Peakes Building. Jackson Square.
Telephone Connection.

If you have any Insurance to write, you will do well to communicate with

E. D. SWEET

(BROKER)

371 WASHINGTON STREET

WEYMOUTH, MASS.

I handle all lines and am able to quote lowest rates obtainable, representing any company in the State of Massachusetts and authorized agents of any foreign Insurance Co.

Tel. Weymouth 118-M; Main 5076

Weymouth Deliveries

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

Storage Rooms

For Furniture and Other Merchandise

—AT—

C. W. JOY'S

Bonded Storage Warehouse

159 Middle Street, East Weymouth
Second Hand Furniture For Sale

Tel. 242-M

ROGERS & GOODSPEED
Furniture and Piano
Moving

ALL KINDS OF TRUCKING
Promptly attended to.

Pneumonia
often follows a Neglected Cold KILL THE COLD!

HILL'S
CASCARA QUININE
BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy for 20 years
—in tablet form—safe, sure, no spasms, no griping, no cold in 24 hours—relieves grip in 3 days.
Money back if it fails. The genuine box has a picture of Hill's top with Mr. Hill's picture.

THE "BLUES"

Caused by
Acid-Stomach

Millions of people who worry, are despondent, have spells of mental depression, feel blue and are often melancholy, believe that these conditions are due to outside influences over which they have little or no control. Nearly always, however, they can be traced to an internal source—acid-stomach. Nor is it to be wondered at. Acid-stomach, beginning with such well defined symptoms as indigestion, belching, heartburn, bloating, etc., will, if not checked, in time affect to some degree or other all the vital organs. The nervous system becomes deranged. Digestion suffers. The blood is impoverished. Health and strength are undermined. The victim of acid-stomach, although he may not know the cause of his ailments, feels his hope, courage, ambition and energy slipping. And truly life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman who has acid-stomach. Get rid of it! Don't let acid-stomach hold you back, wreck your health, make your days miserable, make you a victim of the "blues" and gloomy thoughts! There is a marvelous modern remedy called EATONIC that brings, oh! such quick relief from your stomach troubles—sets your stomach to rights—makes it strong, cool, sweet, and comfortable. Helps you get back your strength, vigor, vitality, enthusiasm and good cheer. So many thousands upon thousands of sufferers have used EATONIC with such marvellously helpful results that we are sure you will feel the same way if you will just try it. Get a big 50 cent box of EATONIC—the good tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy—from your druggist today. He will return your money if results are not even more than you expect.

EATONIC
(FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH)

Tobacco—Chewing, 65c lb.; smoking, 50c lb.;
postpaid. Buy direct, save tax. Mr. J. C. Lee
Lee Cox, Tobacco Farm, Calvert City, Ky.

SOUNDED ALL RIGHT TO HER

Prisoner's Defense Naturally Had a Lot of Weight With the Fair Prosecutor.

The case looked black against the prisoner, who was charged with loitering suspiciously at the railway station. Presently the magistrate said sternly:

"This lady says you tried to speak to her at the railway station."

"It was a mistake," pleaded the man in the dock. "I was looking for my wife's young niece, whom I've never seen, but who'd been described to me as a handsome young lady, with golden hair, well-cut features, fine complexion, perfect figure, beautifully dressed, and—"

With a charming blush, the principal witness against him interrupted his flow of eloquence.

"I don't wish to prosecute the gentleman, sir," she said to the magistrate. "Any one might have made the same mistake."

Mean But True.

"That was a nasty thing the cook said to me before leaving."

"What was it?"

"Just as she was leaving the house she turned back in a rage and said: 'Well, I've got it on your husband, anyhow. I don't have to stay here.'"

The Challenge.

He—A kiss is the language of love
She—Dummy.—Boston Transcript.

The surest sign that a man has begun to succeed is when his rivals begin knocking him.

Hard Work Tires
muscles and nerves,
and then to whip them
with coffee, with its drug caffeine, makes a bad matter worse.

POSTUM CEREAL

is a drink for workers that contains no drug,
but furnishes a finely flavored beverage, full-bodied and robust, pleasing to former coffee drinkers.

Two sizes At grocers
Usually sold at 25¢ & 15¢

Made by Postum Cereal Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

It is easier to find a fault than it is to lose it again.

Since it is worth while to be well, take Garfield Tea, Nature's medicine.—Adv.

Novel.

"I have a novel idea for a film play."

"What is it?"

"The husband and wife in the plot have no serious marital difficulties."

The Reason.

"You look depressed this morning."

"Yes; when I went to look at my private stock this morning I found I was out of spirits."—Baltimore American.

Sampling the Cellar Stock.

"Has Bill changed much since he got out of the army?"

"Not much. He still spends a great deal of his time in a dugout."—The Home Sector.

A Bear Defined.

Friend—A bull, then, is an optimist and a bear is a pessimist.

Operator—Well, not exactly. I should call a bear an optimistic pessimist. He thinks things are going to smash and hopes to make money if they do.

The Retort Courteous.

"I went to call on that newly rich upstart, Mrs. Allcash, at the refined and artistic apartment she has leased, and she had the impertinence to send me word she was not at home."

"What did you do?"

"I sent her word back by the maid that I did not suppose she would be in such surroundings."

Not a Flirt.

A friend of mine while motoring in the East had an amusing experience which he related to me recently. Driving through New Hampshire he stopped pityingly when he saw a woman beginning the climb of a mile-long upgrade. My friend is considerably under thirty and the woman was sixty or more, snail, squirrel toothed, crooked and bony. He raised his hat and asked: "May I give you a ride, madam?" She glared and snapped: "No, sir, you can't. I'm none of your city flirts, I'd have you know."

AMATEUR NIGHT

By EDWARD W. GILBERT

(Copyright.)

Clarsie paused, trembling at the forbidding little stage door of the London Theatre, on the Bowery in New York.

Nothing but the memory of her landlady's last grim words, "Tomorrow I want the room, or the rent," would have given her courage to enter. But a long-sickness, dull times in the paper-box trade (making it impossible for her to get a job), and the end of her meager savings, had brought her to the problem of where to shelter on the morrow, and how to eat; her last meal having been the previous evening.

She had often seen the flaring posters of the amateur nights at the London, setting forth the cash prizes to the best act, and a wild hope had grown in her mind that she might win, not, perhaps, the first prize of five dollars, but perhaps the second, and that would mean shelter for another week and enough food to keep her fluttering soul and frail body together, and so she stood hesitating on the threshold of her greatest venture.

She might have lacked courage to enter, but the doorkeeper, happening to look out, saw the wavering little figure and asked, not unkindly:

"What d'ye want?"

Clarsie murmured something in which he heard the word "amateur."

"Got your name down?" asked he.

"All right, go on in, Jim, put this lady wit' the amateurs."

She found herself one of a line of people, mostly boys, standing with their backs to the wall of a narrow passage. In front of her was a typical East Side boy, in little cap, green sweater, and depressed-looking canvas shoes. Along the line ran a buzz of conversation, rough jokes, and Bowery slang.

"This your first time, lady?" asked the lad ahead of her.

"Yes," said Clarsie faintly.

"What's your act—singin'?"

She nodded faintly.

"I'm buck-dancin'," said her new acquaintance. "This is my fourth time."

A crash of music from the front, and the chorus trooped past, off the stage, and scattered to the dressing-rooms. Clarsie heard dimly, as from an immense distance, a voice say:

"Gentlemen, the amateurs will now perform. We have a large list tonight, and I think you will be much entertained."

She opened her eyes and saw, standing at the entrance to the stage, a gentleman with a tired and cynical expression. Beside him stood a figure which, to Clarsie's eyes, was the most magnificent she had ever seen. The lady was of great height and thinness.

"Good night," said this apparition to the man in evening dress, and then, as her eye fell on the line, "Ah, the amateurs. What, a girl, too?"

"Oh, we have them sometimes," said her companion.

The white hussar shrugged her shoulders and walked past them, but just as she passed, her eyes met those of Clarsie, and the look of fright, pain and helplessness that she saw there startled her. She stopped suddenly.

"Don't be so frightened, little girl," she said, "or you'll go up in the air."

She gave her a rough, friendly slap on the shoulder, turned and stepped back to the wings just as the manager, with his list, stepped out on the stage. "We have first," came the voice, "Barney Dooley, buck-dancer."

"That's me," said the youth in the green-and-red sweater, as he ran on to the stage.

A noise, like the roaring of the sea, greeted him. Cat-calls, hisses, hand-clapping and wild whoops were mingled in a continued roar.

"You here again?" "Oh! Barney, why don't you die." "Take it away, take it away."

During this infernal concert, Barney gravely footed it, and, as a hail of small coin descended upon the stage, without losing a beat of his feet, he stooped and gathered them into his cap.

"Take it away, take it away, take it away."

"Scuse me," said a man at Clarsie's elbow, pushing past her. In his hands was a ten-foot pole with a red iron hook on the end, and, while she looked with horror, he placed it around Barney's neck and dragged him from the stage, amid sounds like the roar of a menagerie.

The manager, who had never changed his expression of weary indifference, glanced at his list, and said, coldly: "We have next, Miss Clarsie Ellis, in songs."

A cry greeted this announcement.

"Oh, Clarsie! oh, Clarsie!"

"Come out here, Clarsie."

"We dare you, Clarsie."

"Go on," said the white hussar. "Don't let them buffalo you."

The next moment Clarsie found herself facing a whirling mass of tobacco smoke.

The leader shook his bow, the orchestra played, and she stood dumb. Her lips opened; her throat worked convulsively, and she went through the motions of singing, but she was still dumb. She would have run, but she was anchored with fright. Something struck Clarsie on the cheek and fell tinkling to the stage. With the clearness of sight that the dying are said to possess, she saw that it was a silver coin.

"Oh, how cruel," she said, and raged in her and drove out all fear.

"I will sing," she thought, and she threw back her head, proud and brave, and her voice rose and soared clear and triumphant over that sea of cruel faces.

At the first words of the old song, the noise broke out afresh, and some called insistently for the hook, but the high voice of the Dispenser of Doom in the gallery called, "Shut up; give her a show," and the noise died down. She was no longer frightened, and the golden voice rang through the theater:

Saddle my horses and call out my men. Open the west gate and let me go free Where there's room for the bonnets of bonny Dundee.

At the end of the verse, a pause, and then came a crash of applause, repeated again and again. One malcontent called "Aw, the hook," but twenty voices roared, "Drop on yourself."

She sang her song through, and at its close there came a whirl of hand-clapping, stamping, and the gallery boy's whistle, high-pitched, and a rain of coins.

Clarsie turned and walked blindly toward the exit, but the manager stopped her.

"Go back and bow and take your encore," he said. "You've made good; don't you hear them? Go back and pick up your money."

Shaking with revulsion, fighting hard to keep down hysteria, she turned again, bowed right and left, and sang again—and again the crash of hand-clapping.

"Pick up your money," called friendly voices. "Pick it up, take your time, get it all; it's yours; it belongs to you; don't be bashful."

She picked up the money till her hands were full, and, taking a hint from poor Barney, she took off her shabby little sailor hat and poured the coins into it. Then, smiling and crying together, she bowed again and stumbled off.

A strong hand caught her and she heard, all faint and far, the white hussar saying, "Get a drink of water, somebody. Don't you see she's dying?"

"No, I'm not," said Clarsie. "I'll—I'll be all right soon."

"Guess you will," said the other.

"You're all right; first prize for you. All you wanted was to be woke up, but you'd be there yet, planted, if I hadn't fired the quarter at you and got you going."

"Here," she continued, "let me tie your dough in your handkerchief."

"Not—not—that quarter," stammered Clarsie; "I—I want that to keep."

"Well," said the white hussar, "I'm going. Good night!"

She gave her a strong handclasp, and swaggered off.

Clarsie turned to a boy in the line and asked, "Who is that?"

"What," said he, "don't you know? That's Lola Rivers. She owns the show that was playin' here tonight. She's a bird; makes ten thousand dollars a year with her show."

Through the wet streets Clarsie stumbled homeward, in a dream. The hard bundle of coins she held tightly.

First, at a little oyster-house, she ate, breaking a fourteen hours' fast. Then, to her room, where she counted her earnings. Seven dollars and sixty-five cents, and five dollars first prize, not much to you, perhaps, who read this, but to her the gift of life, of shelter and food for a month to come.

Next day, she met the dragon of the furnished-room-house without shrinking, and paid her. She still felt weak and sick and remained indoors all day to rest.

As dusk was falling there came a stately step up the rickety stairs and a knock at her door.

"Can I come in?" asked a voice that she knew well, though heard for the first time the night before.

She opened the door, and all tremulous with timid gratitude, she ushered Lola Rivers into her room.

If Lola had looked tall in her hussar dress, she looked taller in the little room. Her head seemed almost to touch the ceiling. Her presence seemed to fill the mean room with light and warmth. She was magnificent and arrayed like the lilies of Solomon.

She sat on the edge of the bed, looked long at Clarsie, and said:

"You made good last night. You've got the voice, and know how to use it. Good singing is always a paying act, and all you need is to learn acting and dancing, and that I'll teach you myself. I'll take a chance on you, and take you out with me, and pay you—yes—I'll pay you twenty-five a week this season, and if you don't get the swelled head and are willing to learn, there's no reason why, in two years, you shouldn't be on Broadway. All my girls get there in time. What do you say?"

What did Clarsie say? If Mansfield said to a suitor: "You shall support me next season," if Kipling said to you: "My boy, that's a good story of yours, will you collaborate with me?" What would be the reply? Well, then, you know what Clarsie said.

That is all, except that if you doubt this to be true, when next you go to see a certain young star who has had a rapid and amazing success, look at her closely, and you will see that she wears around her neck a fine gold thread, on which there hangs a silver quarter.

Grasping.

"How do you suppose the grain of wheat got in the mummy's hand?"

"Probably some Egyptian profiteer overdid it in limiting the supply and holding out for the highest price."

Decidedly Not.

"It is sometimes necessary," said Jud Tunkins, "to wallop a mule. But the man who breaks a rib or a leg doin' it is no good disciplinarian."

"DANDERINE" STOPS
HAIR FALLING OUT

Hurry! A few cents will save your hair and double its beauty.

A little "Danderine" cools, cleanses and makes the feverish, itchy scalp soft and pliable; then this stimulating tonic penetrates to the famished hair roots, revitalizing and invigorating every hair in the head, thus stopping the hair falling out, getting thin, scraggly or fading.

After a few applications of "Danderine" you seldom find a fallen hair or a particle of dandruff, besides every hair shows more life, vigor, brightness, color and thickness.

A few cents buys a bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter.—Adv.

The fact that his wife uses a little powder is no excuse for a man's coming home shot.

NAME "BAYER" IS ON GENUINE ASPIRIN

Take tablets without fear, if you see the safety "Bayer Cross."

If you want the true, world-famous Aspirin, as prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years, you must ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin."

The "Bayer Cross" is stamped on each tablet and appears on each package for your protection against imitations.

In each package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are safe and proper directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain in general.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

The worst thing a man can do is to do something his friends are sure he would never do.

SHE THOUGHT DYEING WAS OLD FASHIONED

But "Diamond Dyes" Made Her Faded, Shabby, Old Garments Like New.

Don't worry about perfect results. Use "Diamond Dyes," guaranteed to give a new, rich, fadeless color to any fabric, whether it be wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods—dresses, blouses, stockings, skirts, children's coats, feathers—everything!

Direction Book in package tells how to dye with diamond dye over any color. To match any material, have dealer show you "Diamond Dye" Color Card.—Adv.

An hour lost in the morning has to be run after all day.

CAME NEAR DYING

Finally Used Doan's and Was Restored to Health. Has Been Strong and Well Since.

"Malaria fever weakened my kidneys when I was a young man," says L. W. Garrison, 23 F St., Anderson, S. C. "Finally, ten years ago, I was in such bad shape that I expected to die. Medicine wouldn't help me any more. My back pained as if it were pierced with a knife. Many times I have fallen in the street and didn't have any strength to move until the awful misery was eased up. I couldn't sleep in bed for two years. The kidney secretions passed every few minutes and scalding hot water couldn't have burned any worse. I thought I was doomed to die, but a friend pleaded with me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I owe my life to his visit. Doan's helped me from the start and eleven boxes made a permanent cure which has lasted eight years. I have not had one sick minute since, nor missed a day from work." Sworn to before me.

H. S. Shumate, Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

GOLDS are unnecessary—but if you feel one coming on take immediately

HURLBURN'S Camphor Pills and stop the cold at the very start.

50 Cents at All Druggists

THE KILLS COMPANY, Newburgh, N. Y.

Bronchial Troubles

Soothe the irritation and you relieve the distress. Do both quickly and effectively by using promptly a dependable remedy—

PISO'S

MURINE Night and Morning. Have Strong, Healthy Eyes. If they Tired, Itch, Smart or Burn, if Sore, Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for infant or Adult. At All Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
FOR INDIGESTION

BETTER DEAD

Life is a burden when the body is racked with pain. Everything worries and the victim becomes despondent and downhearted. To bring back the sunshine take

GOLD MEDAL
HAARLEM OIL
CAPSULES

The national remedy of Holland for over 200 years; it is an enemy of all pains resulting from kidney, liver and uric acid troubles. All druggists, three sizes. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation

CURES WHILE YOU SLEEP
NO PAIN. NO TROUBLE.
IN USE OVER 30 YEARS

— KOHLER —

ONE NIGHT

CORN CURE

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE

PRICE 15 CENTS EVERYWHERE

AT DRUG STORES AND

GENERAL STORES

Kohler Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Mother Gray's Powders
Benefit Many Children

Thousands of Mothers have found MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS an excellent remedy for children complaining of Headaches, Colds, Constipation, Stomach Troubles and Bowel Irregularities from which children suffer at this season. These powders are easy and pleasant to take and excellent results are accomplished by their use. Used by Mothers for over 30 years. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Trial package FREE. Address, THE MOTHER GRAY CO., Le Roy, N. Y.

DR. STAFFORD'S
olive tar

heals sore throat. Don't cough all night—a few drops gives quick relief. Never fails.

HALL & RUCKEL, Inc.

215 Washington Street

New York

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

The Reason.

"Press agents rarely go into bankruptcy." "No wonder. Their liabilities are also their assets."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 3/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

A woman is always grateful to the man who gives her a chance to refuse him.

Good health cannot be maintained where there is a constipated habit. Garfield Tea overcomes constipation.—Adv.

The best you can get is probably better than you desire.

END OF EIGHT YEARS MISERY

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Recovered.

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had an organic trouble and treated me for several weeks. At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and limbs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered on and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine and tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and your Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking them to advantage. You can use my name for a testimonial."

Mrs. THELMA COVENTRY, 75 Burnett St., Newark, N. J.

You are invited to write for free advice. No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

Coughs and Colds Mean Restless Nights which sap the vitality. Danger lurks in every hour a cold is allowed to run. Assist nature in bringing your children quickly back to health and strength and avoid serious complications by the prompt use of Gray's Syrup—over 60 years in use. Always buy the Large Size.

GRAY'S SYRUP
RED SPRUCE GUM
Manufactured by D. WATSON & CO., New York

OLD SORES, PILES AND ECZEMA VANISH

Good, Old, Reliable Peterson's Ointment a Favorite Remedy.

"Had 51 ulcers on my legs. Doctors wanted to cut off legs. Peterson's Ointment cured me."—Wm. J. Nichols, 49 Wilber Street, Rochester, N. Y.

Get a large box for ten cents at any druggist, says Peterson, of Buffalo, N. Y., and money back if it isn't the best you ever used. Always keep Peterson's Ointment in the house. Fine for burns, scalds, bruises, sunburn, and the surest remedy for itching eczema and piles the world has ever known.

SHILOH
30 DROPS STOP COUGHS

WE CAN SELL YOU TEN ACRES OF GOOD LAND, suitable for growing oranges, for five dollars per month, give you possession when first five dollars is paid and guarantee to resell it for you at a profit if you are dissatisfied. Investigate, then invest. Central Florida Real Estate and Investment Company, Inc., Orlando, Florida.

"CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP" IS CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at tongue! Remove poisons from stomach, liver and bowels.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

Mother! You must say "California."—Adv.

Hasty Figuring.

"I took Prof. Jiggs out for a ride in my car the other day."

"Yes?"

"He's fully as absent minded as you said he was. He was thinking about something all the time we were riding and never once opened his mouth."

"I think I can explain that. He was probably counting the number of jolts you were giving him and calculating how much energy was wasted every time he was hurled into the air."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CONVENIENT!

If Constipated, Bilious or Headachy, take "Cascarets."

Cascarets never gripe, sicken or inconvenience one like Salts, Oil, Calomel or harsh Pills. Feel bully! Be efficient! Don't stay sick, bilious, headachy, constipated. Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your breath bad and stomach sour. Why not spend a few cents for a box of Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest laxative-cathartic you ever experienced? They work while you sleep. Adv.

Oh, Dear!

She was going down in the elevator. Her voice had a touch of sadness that almost approached emotion.

"Hardly a bit of use for me to go out to lunch," she said to her girl friend. "Everything I like I can't eat—turnips or sauerkraut—well, I ain't so crazy about boiled cabbage, but it does taste kind o' good. Oh, dear!"

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER.

Constipation invites other troubles which come speedily unless quickly checked and overcome by Greer's August Flower which is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. It is a sovereign remedy used in many thousands of households all over the civilized world for more than half a century by those who have suffered with indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, sluggish liver, coming up of food, palpitation, constipation and other intestinal troubles. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Try a bottle, take no substitute.—Adv.

The Poor Married Hick.

"Before marriage my husband was so susceptible to flattery."

"Yes?"

"And now he is susceptible to nothing but fresh cold."—Florida Times-Union.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher In Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Mere Tyro.

"I suppose you think I have a great many kicks?"

"Not at all," said the hotel clerk. "I know of plenty of kicks you've never thought of."

How's This?

We offer $100.00 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Sold by druggists for over forty years. Price 75c. Testimonials free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Its Present Use.

"What's a menu, pa?" "It is a printed paper with the prices of food to show you what you can't get."

For Constipation use a natural remedy. Garfield Tea is composed of carefully selected herbs only. At all drug stores.—Adv.

Judicious diet and exercise will frequently improve a man's opinion of his neighbors.

TO REVIVE INTEREST IN STEEPLECHASING

Plans to revive interest in both amateur and professional steeplechasing were considered by a special committee appointed at a meeting of more than one hundred horsemen under the auspices of the National Steeplechase and Hunts association.

The army's interest in the sport was indicated by the presence at the meeting recently held in New York of four officers from the general staff at Washington. Various speakers declared that the weights were too low, the fences too small and the races too short. Many speakers asserted that the jockey club did the sport an injustice by not allowing open dates for the hunts meetings instead of having them conflict with racing at different tracks.

The low scale of weights was held to blame for the fact that certificates were issued to only 25 amateur riders last season.

The photograph shows three horses taking a hurdle at the Plumpton course, England, and is remarkable inasmuch as it shows the three horses in midair at the same time.

FAVORS LEGIONNAIRES

The boys of the American Legion are not regarding Jack Dempsey with favor, since he managed to evade military duty in the great war. They are right. Carpenter, the Frenchman, wears the honors of distinguished service and we are with the legionnaires. We hope he will knock Jack's block off.—George M. Bailey in Houston Post.

BEZDEK STILL IN BASEBALL

Hugo Bezdek, former manager of the Pirates, says he is not out of baseball, although he was dismissed as manager. This is taken to mean that he hopes somebody else will offer him a job. Bezdek was a successful scout before becoming an unsuccessful pilot.

COURTNEY RETAINS POSITION

Has Devoted 35 Years to Development of Oarsmen at Cornell—Assisted by Hoyle.

Although he is seventy years of age Charles E. Courtney still retains his position as rowing coach at Cornell university, where he has devoted 35 years to the development of oarsmen. A few years ago it looked as if the veteran coach would have to quit, but his health has improved, and he is looking forward with keen interest to the 1920 races. He will be assisted by John Hoyle.

Charles E. Courtney.

LITTLE PICKUPS OF SPORT

Harvard has built 13 squash, tennis and racquet courts.

Wesleyan, Conn., has recognized golf as a minor college sport.

The Murphy stable has won $785,000 in purses during the last nine years.

Ironwood, Mich., is after the 1921 National Ski association's tournament.

National league baseball nines used 17,676 baseballs during the 1919 season.

George Sisler will outdo Cobb as a hitter this year, according to St. Louis fans.

Yale probably will accept an invitation to send a track team to England.

The Yankees it is said, have spent $250,000 for players in the last few years.

C. W. P. Reynolds has been re-engaged as football coach by Bucknell college.

Three members of the Iowa football team have refused appointments to West Point.

Harry Shriver, pitcher, has been turned back to Saginaw for another year by Providence.

Jim Thorpe, great Indian star, declares he will play in the major leagues or nowhere.

University of Wisconsin has offered University of Washington a date on its 1920 football schedule.

The Indians are favored in the winter book to win the American league pennant this year.

Memphis Country club has been awarded the western amateur golf championship tournament.

George Trafton, center of the Notre Dame football team, has been disqualified for playing pro football.

Miller Huggins will soon make another effort to coax Frank Baker into playing baseball another year.

New York A. C. athletes won 19 national and 30 district Amateur Athletic union championships last year.

Harvard football players have elected Arnold Horween of Chicago captain of the Crimson eleven for next year.

The New York A. C. athletics won 8 national and 30 district Amateur Athletic Union championships last year.

The Harlem and Heights Athletic league, of New York city, has set aside fund of $1,000 for the promotion of sports.

Hamilton, Ont., is to have a modern stadium for athletics. The by-law authorizing the expenditure was passed at the recent election.

A series of exhibition games has been arranged between the Washington American league and Indianapolis American Association clubs.

Jack Price, a former winner of the Powderhall (Scotland) Marathon, has challenged Alfred Shrubbs for a match at 15 miles. Shrubbs is coaching the Oxford university cross-country team.

THREE YEARS WITHOUT HOPE

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to Health. It will do you good to read it

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rozalia Kania of 39 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh affects the mucous membranes in any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply of blood and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membranes and health returns.

For coughs, colds, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possession of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of prevention and protection.

Sold everywhere in tablet or liquid form.

A Sign.

"I understand the old lady yonder is under suspicion."

"Why so?"

"Don't you see she is wearing corkscrew curls?"

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes. That itchy and burn with hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointments of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each everywhere.—Adv.

No woman can tell whether her hat is becoming to her until she ascertains the price.

New We Have ARRESTED Your Attention

Let us sell you five acres of good land near the city of St. Cloud, Florida, for $150, payable $10 monthly. With each tract we will give you a city building lot free. Investigate. Box 1131, Orlando, Florida.

IF YOU WILL INVEST IN A GOLD MINE showing promise of raising another crop of millions, write the Mountain Flower Gold Mine Company, St. Joseph, Missouri.

FOR SALE—$3,000 1st mortgage, Colo. farm land. 6% interest. Security through bank. For particulars, E. T. Sheppard, Marcus, La.

$1.00 Wonderful Ouija Board

Tells your thoughts. Doyle Co., 232 St. Paul, Balto.

SONGS Latest Hits, 3 for 25c. Send for list NOW. R. L. Music Co., Box 55, Woonsocket, R. I.

W. N. U., BOSTON, NO. 9-1920.

Thousands of Happy Housewives in WESTERN CANADA are helping their husbands to prosper—are glad they encouraged them to go where they could make a home of their own—save paying rent and reduce cost of living—where they could reach prosperity and independence by buying on easy terms.

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 an Acre

Land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre. Hundreds of farmers in Western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth more than the whole cost of their land. With such crops come prosperity, independence, good homes, and all the comforts and conveniences which make for happy living.

Farm Gardens—Poultry—Dairying are sources of income second only to grain growing and stock raising. Good climate, good neighbors, churches, schools, etc., give you the opportunities of a new land with the conveniences of old settled districts.

For illustrated literature, map, description of farm opportunities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, reduced railway rates, etc., write Department of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or Max A. Bowly, 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; C. A. Laurier, Manchester St., Manchester, N. H.; L. N. Asselin, Biddford, Me. Canadian Government Agents.

GETS MONEY FROM RUBBISH

Invention of Englishman Has Proved Its Practical Value in a Number of Towns.

One of the most remarkable machines in the world has just been invented by an Englishman, W. P. Hoyle. It converts dust into cash—or, more correctly speaking, it extracts what is worth saving from rubbish and prepares it for redistribution. Cinders are washed, dust is converted into fertilizer, tins are cleaned, and paper and rags are sorted. Another bit of machinery used in this wonderful "refuse recovery plant" deals with clinkers, turning them into molded concrete blocks for building. It has been proved that every hundred tons of waste produce $100, and since a town of 75,000 inhabitants discards about one hundred tons of rubbish daily one can easily work out the municipal revenue that such a plant would produce. Not a few towns in the United Kingdom have already installed a Hoyle rubbish converting plant. Aberdeen in one day collected $3,000 worth of discarded bottles, a week's jam-jar collection in the city of Sheffield realized $600, while Glasgow estimates that one year's conversion of its rubbish will bring in $20,000.

Poor reputations are due to the fact that good intentions are seldom credited.

Happiness is something a fellow has to earn for himself; no one else can hand it to him.

TOWN LONG WITHOUT BANK

Colorado Community, in Existence More Than a Century, Is Now to Have Institution.

The little Spanish town of San Luis, the county seat of Costilla county, Colo., in the lower end of the valley, will welcome its first bank when the State bank of San Luis opens its doors for business. This little town is more than one hundred years old, and was one of the farthest outposts of Spanish settlement that followed the northward push of the Spanish residents of Santa Fe and vicinity.

For nearly fifty years before the first contingent of Americans, under command of Gen. Frank Baldwin, now a resident of Denver, arrived over La Veta pass and established the military posts of Ft. Garland, San Luis had been a flourishing little settlement, surrounded by highly developed farms.

In the last few years the progress and development of the town and community has been more rapid, until now the town is considered to be large enough to need a bank. The majority of the residents of the vicinity are Spanish-speaking people of the old school, polished, courteous, energetic and prosperous. Some of the wealthiest men of the valley are to be found in the town and its close environs.

What the dew is to the flower, kind words are to the heart.

The man who loses his shadow gets ahead of the detective.

The Sweet Cereal Flavor of Grape-Nuts

is not produced by adding sugar to this blend of wheat and malted barley.

The sweetness is due to actual grain sugar, self-developed by the processing and long baking of this great food.

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts.

TEAS and COFFEE

FRUIT and NUTS

Come Here For Meats

IT'S HERE QUALITY
NOT QUANTITY COUNTS

Home Cooked Corned Beef

WHITE AND GOLD
CANNED GOODSBroad St.
E. Weymouth F.H. SYLVESTER Telephone
Wey. 121

CREAMERY BUTTER VEGETABLES in season

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT

Published every Friday by the
GAZETTE AND TRANSCRIPT
PUBLISHING COMPANY

FRANK F. PRESCOTT

Managing Editor

At 52 Commercial Street, Weymouth

Telephone Weymouth 143

Subscription per Annum, $2.50

Advertising rates on application

The Gazette and Transcript is the home paper of ALL the Weymouths: North Weymouth, East Weymouth, South Weymouth, Weymouth Landing, Weymouth Heights, Weymouth Centre, Lovell's Corner, Nash's Corner, Wessagusset, Fort Point and Rose Cliff.

Entered in the Post Office at Boston, Mass. (Weymouth Station) as Second Class Matter.

WEYMOUTH, FEBRUARY 27, 1920

CUT OUT EXTRAVAGANCES

Under existing conditions everyone insists on less work and higher wages when the only salvation of an organized universe is hard work and more of it, combined with genuine public and private economies. There will be indeed a disastrous crash unless Governments and individuals cut out the extravagances which have been going on so long and awake to the imperative need for greater production. England, France and Italy have reached the point where they fully appreciate the importance of increasing the national production and the elimination of the buying of luxuries. Our troubles, like those of Europe, arise mostly from the fact that we are trying to pay war wages with peace time profits. Government expenditures during the war period were so prodigious as to make it very difficult for the average legislature to think in terms of pre-war finance. High taxes make high commodity prices necessary and as the finance Ministers of various countries have said, the high cost of Government is an enormously important factor in the high cost of living. For these reasons the world is preparing as best it can for the most important readjustment in the history of international finance. It is an interesting procedure, and although attended with some vicissitudes the world will be the better for it after the orderly readjustment has been completed.

—Banker and Tradesman.

"WEYMOUTH IS PROGRESSIVE"

The above caption reads good. It is from the Hull East Wind, which published the following editorial article Feb. 13:

There is an article in the Weymouth town warrant for the coming March meeting which calls for $250,000 to erect a soldiers' memorial building, which shall also be the starting point of a civic center for the town. While some of the prominent residents think the figures are extremely high, they also think that as payment will extend over a period of at least ten years the town will directly and indirectly be receiving a benefit from the building, which will be an addition to the town from every point of view.

The fact that the Edison Company have bought about 25 acres of land at the place formerly called New Downer's Landing (and previous to that, Lovell's Grove), and will begin this Spring to erect at least a $3,000,000 plant which will call for more dwellings in Weymouth, and thus make it not only advisable, but imperative, to start a Civic center as the town is one of the largest in the state, and growing all the time. This plant will in no way conflict with the present splendid electric light plant it is stated.

Obiter dictum, the writer of this article learned to trip the light fantastic toe at this grove when it bore the name Lovell's Grove. She was nine years old and her visits to this famous grove were made sub-rosa or surreptitiously, as it were, in company with several of her girl schoolmates. These were rare moments of pleasure and all were happy while trying to express the poetry of motion.

It gives one a sort of thrill to think such wonderful progress is being made in one's native town, and such deeds are being consummated upon one's old playground. The writer never motors to Quincy without feeling a sense of being part of a big enterprise, just because she remembers when the banks of the "broad Monaquot" as a companion who had a poetical bent called it, where now stands the big Fore River Shipyard, where battleships are made, was viewed by her childish eyes as a peaceful meadow with pasturage for dreamy eyed, peaceful kine.

In the wildest and most jagged flight of her rather vivid imagination she did not dream that years hence she would marry the Captain of one of the excursion steamers, Rose Standish, which used to bring the picnickers down from the Hub. By way of history, it may also be of interest to know that of the bunch of girls who used to go to Lovell's Grove only one girl ever knew the Captain the writer afterwards married. The writer did not know him until 12 years after. Who can say destiny is not waiting just around the corner for one?

READ THE GAZETTE ADS.

SEA SCOUT SHIP YANKEE BLADE

Seascope Ship "Yankee Blade" met at the East Braintree Fire Engine House on Thursday evening under Junior Officer, Edwin S. Gould. The Scout Executive visited the ship and inspected the work and found that Boat No. 1, under coxswain Henry Dugan was making good progress. There are still several vacancies in Boat No. 2. Captain Ernest M. Vaughan is anxious to hear from boys of good size who are willing to sign up. This ship expects to be qualified by April when they will receive their new boat from the Navy Yard. It is planned to have a cruise to Buzzard's Bay where the troop will have two weeks camp during July. Scouts are learning a great many arts including knot tying, splicing, needle whipping etc. Petty officers from the U. S. Receiving Ship of Hingham will be detailed as instructors. There have been two British Seascope on each White Star Liner crossing the ocean during the last year. It is hoped that when qualified, the American Seascope will be likewise attached to the American Shipping Board's Ships. A Seascope has not only to be a first class land scout, but has to pass the Red Cross examination in life saving, splicing, knot-tying, rules of going to sea, parts of a boat, sloop, barkentine and ship, 32 points of the compass, weather rules, how to make soundings, different kinds of buoys, and lights on coast. Boys of the required weight, good eyesight can obtain further information by applying to skipper, Ernest M. Vaughan.

WEYMOUTH COLONY IN FLORIDA

Mrs. A. L. Spinney writes from Buena Vista, Miami, Florida, under date of Feb. 17:

Dear Gazette:

While Weymouth was snow-bound and in the grip of a very severe storm we Miamians were bathing in the surf at fashionable Miami Beach. We indulge in this pastime every day in the year.

It is a fascinating way for spending leisure time. Last Saturday was a perfect day for bathing, the temperature of the water being 78. Among those seen in the surf was Mrs. H. B. Bachelier of Weymouth and other members of her party. Many groups of children were seen in the water and little Edith Baker enjoyed a swim. Out-door life is typical of this section and no where in the U. S. is found such even temperature.

All the Weymouth party are choice friends of bygone days and my Southern villa by the sea is always open for their comfort and happiness.

With many good wishes for Gazette and our friends in Weymouth.

BLAMES ADMINISTRATION

Charles Sumner Bird, in a statement regarding the industrial situation, particularly the coal shortage, censures the government administration of the railroads severely as having "starved and strangled, misgoverned and bungled" the transportation system of New England.

"Since our national government took control of the railroads—which, by the way, even as a war measure, as I see it, was unnecessary and unfortunate—the transportation system of New England defective as it may have been under private ownership, has, during operation by the government, been starved and strangled, misgoverned and bungled, until today chaos prevails, business is halted and the people are disheartened and indignant almost to the breaking point.

"The administration has been riding on silver-lined clouds, visioning and dreaming about world controversies thousands of miles across the water, while here at home insistent and vital problems relating to labor and capital, industrialism and bolshevism, have been growing more ominous and more urgent until today it must be apparent to any thinking man that the day has come when it is imperative that we must give more time and thought to our own housecleaning and less to the concerns of other nations who may prefer to work out their own civilization and salvation along lines of their own choosing.

"If the people have at last awakened to the danger of government ownership and operation, the price that the country has paid for the waste and inefficiency under government control has not been too high."

TREMONT THEATRE

Hail! Hail! The gang's all here! And at the head of the gang is Elsie Janis, America's beloved comedienne and the "sweetheart of the A. E. F.," bringing her own bomb proof musical revue in two acts to the Tremont Theatre, Boston, for an engagement of positively two weeks only, with the usual matinees each week. To mark her reappearance on the American stage, Miss Janis has prepared a unique offering, which she elects to call a bomb proof musical revue, adding that there are some songs, some jokes, some hoofing and some soldier jazz band. And incidentally, some girls. Gen. Pershing once remarked that Miss Janis was worth a whole division to the Allied cause by reason of her entertainment work among the soldiers, and there is certainly no figure on the American stage today that holds a higher place in the affections and esteem of the theatre-going public. Among the men of the Y. D. she is especially beloved.

—The address of the Weymouth Gazette and Transcript is Weymouth 88, Mass.

CORSETS

Front Lace—GOSSARD
Back Lace—NEMO, R. & G., WARNER, REGAL
AND OUR OWN STYLE LYNETTE

A model and price to fit every figure.
EXPERT FITTERS always in attendance
Special Attention to
Medical and Maternity Fittings.

HOME SERVICE IF DESIRED AND

Brassieres

that are so necessary to complete the FIT of the Corset.

The Corset Shop

S. E. DUNPHY
8 MAPLE STREET
QUINCY

OAK AND PINE WOOD

$12 per Cord—Cord Length

$13 per Cord—Sawed

BY CORD OR HALF CORD

Delivered in Weymouth or Braintree.

Hingham Wood Co.

Telephone, Hingham 226-M

A Good Bank in a Good Town

Member American and Massachusetts Bankers
Association

WE BELIEVE we have one of the most serviceable banks in one of the best towns of its size in the state.

Our continually increasing number of satisfied customers is the best evidence that we are serving each one individually in a satisfactory manner.

Our Officers and Directors are men of good sound business judgment, well and favorably known throughout the community.

We endeavor to work for the betterment of our town and district, as well as for the interests of the individual.

The Hingham Trust Company

B. A. ROBINSON, President. SETH SPRAGUE, Treas.

Why Not Enjoy Your Sleep?

Bedsteads
Mattresses
and Comforters

Ford Furniture Co.

Broad Street

East Weymouth

Phone Wey. 272-M

Local News FIRST in The Weymouth Gazette

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

WE ARE PREPARED TO MEET YOUR REQUIREMENTS

Eveready Tungsten Batteries
ALWAYS IN STOCK

ELECTRIC AND GAS
IRONS

Frank S. Hobart & Co.

Hardware, Paints, Oils and Greases

WASHINGTON SQUARE, WEYMOUTH

Tel. Wey. 807-M

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Here is the Ford Runabout, a perfect whirlwind of utility. Fits into the daily life of everybody, anywhere, everywhere, and all the time. For town and country, it is all that its name implies—a Runabout. Low in cost of operation; low in cost of maintenance, with all the sturdy strength, dependability and reliability for which Ford cars are noted. We'd be pleased to have your order for one or more. We have about everything in motor car accessories, and always have a full line of genuine Ford parts—give genuine Ford service.

Roy E. Litchfield

Authorized Ford Dealer
Weymouths, Hingham, Hull,
Hanover

TELEPHONE HINGHAM 3

"DON'T LET THE MEN KNOW"

They're a jealous lot, but we make such attractive portraits you can't blame them, just phone your appointment and when they see the proof it'll be such a pleasant surprise they'll tell you to order "Oodles" of them.

SUE RICE STUDIOS

PORTRAITS GIFTS UNUSUAL

WONDERFUL BOOKS FOR THE KIDDIES—REALLY UNUSUAL.

Don't forget our Framing Department. Framing done and frames made by expert hands. ENLARGEMENTS